The resolution's sponsors were Ald. James Hamilton and Melville Turner.

SOCIETY IS ACTIVE HERE

Peterborough Branch of Upper Canada Bible Society Has Been Reorganized—An Address

The Peterboro Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society has been re-organized and has been conducting an active work during the past few months. Few citizens of Peterboro realize that this is one of the oldest institutions in the city, it first having been organized about 1838. For many years Sheriff James A. Hall was the treasurer. He assumed the office following the relinquishment of the position by his father. The largest givings from the city in any one year during the past 25 year were something less than $700. This year one congregation has given nearly $900.

On Sunday January 29th, speakers representing the Upper Canada Bible Society addressed the services in the interests of the Society, in St. John's, St. Luke's, and All Saints Anglican churches; St. Paul's and Knox Presbyterian churches, Murray street Baptist church, George street Methodist Church and Bethany Tabernacle Interesting information about the world-wide work of the Bible Society was given The Society in connection with the British organization is conducting work in all parts of the world. Translations have been made recently of the Gospels into the language of one of the Esquimo tribes in the far north. The missionary organizations of all the leading Protestant denominations work through the Bible Society in securing new translations of the Scriptures and extra copies for their work.

On Sunday afternoon, January 29, Rev. F. G. Hassard of the Canadian Society addressed the members of the Executive Committee of the local branch, in the Y. M. C.A. Parlors. Plans were laid for conducting a more energetic campaign in Peterboro. It is understood that the four churches which have not as yet had speakers will arrange to accept them in the spring. The committees which had been appointed to complete organization reported at the meeting, with the results that the following officers were confirmed in their positions: Honorary President, Sheriff James A. Hall; President, J. M. Greene; Vice-President A. Zavitz; Secretary, H. B. Cowan Treasurer, J. Walter Worth; Representatives from church congregations, St. Johns, H. Rush, Robt. Fair; All Saints Walter Worth, B. B. Morden; St. Luke's, not yet named; St. Paul's, D. Moore H. B. Cowan; St. Andrew's G. A. Gillespie, W. A. Richardson; Knox, Andrew McKenzie, J. F. Morrison, George street, E. E. Ingall, H. G. Walker; Trinity, J. M. Greene, A. Brown; Mark street, Chas Stenton, John Speer; St. James, Wm. McLaren, Wesley Rose; Murray street, A. Zavitz, L. Pettit; Park street, A. Follis, A. Scott.

It is proposed to hold an annual meeting each year and to make this an important event in the work of the local branch. Prominent outside speakers will be secured. Residents of Peterboro desiring to contribute funds to Society are advised to do so through the Treasurer, Mr. J. Walter Worth, Barrie Bldg, George street.

"BROOKLYN? WHO'S HE?"

Margot Asquith is Bored Beyond Words—Women in Politics.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Margot Asquith, wife of the former premier of England, whose recently published diary caused all kinds of spicy gossip about the British upper classes, lighted a fresh cigarette today and then expressed her opinion on women in politics.

"Ladies do not go into politics" Mrs. Asquith, who is here on a lecture tour, announced between puffs. Previously she had parried questions seeking her opinion of Lady Astor.

Kansas, Eh, What's That?

A kindly reporter, after watching Margot light another, advised her to cut out tobacco, if she would go to Kansas, explaining that it might land her in the hoosegow or something.

"Kansas?" said Margot, raising her left eyebrow, "what is that?"

After delivering the opinion that New York was the "peer of cities", some one asked:

"And have you seen Brooklyn?"

"Brooklyn—who is he?" asked Margot coldly.

Did she think America crude after her experience with her first audience the other afternoon?

"Oh, no indeed;" she said "Americans were "tremendously interesting."

Women in her first audience frequently interrupted Mrs. Asquith with remarks. Now, did Mrs. Asquith believe these hecklers belonged to the Irish element?

Pon My Soul, No!

"It is my opinion", she declared "that the discourtesy which marked my first appearance before an American audience came from the fashionable ladies in the orchestra seats. They were bored; that is all."

Speaking again of women in politics, she intimated there wasn't a woman in the English Parliament who amounted to a row of beans. While she didn't believe ladies should go in for political careers, she indicated she was strong for the election of labor women to Parliament, expressing her admiration for Margaret Bromfield, one of the woman leaders in the British Labor Party.

Mrs. Asquith is said to have been the inspiration of Sir William Watson's famous poem. "The Woman with the Serpent Tongue." She was one of the organizers of the "Souls" a group in London with included Arthur Balfour and other distinguished men and which caused much talk. As she sat in her hotel suite surrounded by interviewers, Margot looked as if reporters and such things bored her beyond words.

What do you think of American reporters?

"They're quite extraordinary" said Margot after a bored puff at her cigarette.

Did she mean interesting? Margot haised her eyebrows and looked as if she was going to say "My word!" Instead:

Oh, yes, tremendously in resting' she said finally.

She will next visit Washington, where she may spend several days with her son-in-law, Prince Bibesro, Rumanian minister, and her daughter, Princess Bibesco. Later she will tour the country, or a portion of it.

Brighter London Society To Fight Fog; and So On

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The "Brighter-London Society," just formed, has undertaken what an American who was asked to join termed it a "pretty tall order." It is nothing less than to make London, to quote a phrase used by one of its founders, the "magnet of the world," and thereby attract to it multitudes of people with plenty of money to spend—especially rich Americans.

The society is the outgrowth of recent discussion among business men at the Savoy Hotel, deploring the fact that American tourists were not so numerous as they were before the World War.

Then they fell to contrasting London with New York—Oxford street with the "Great White Way."

Compared with New York—even under prohibition—London's aspect was decidedly "drab" and its night life "dull," it was generally agreed. Everybody was of the opinion that London needed brightening, and as the result the new organization was born and christened.

THE DUMMER SWAMPS HID A REAL STILL

Churchill Lytle Was Apparently in Charge of the Liquor Making Industry--Police Garner in Evidence.

PLEADED GUILTY

For the third time in four years the Inland Revenue officers and police discovered a still on the premises of Matthew Lytle, lot 13, 12th line of Dummer, ten miles north of Norwood, when under suspicion they searched the place again yesterday. The outfit, which was very crude, was found about 5.30 yesterday afternoon in a dense bush on the farm by W. H. Buller, Inland Revenue Officer, License Inspector Joseph Stewart and County Constable A. R. Moore.

The approach of the officers in a cutter was seen by Churchill Lytle, grown-up son of Matthew Lytle, who has twice been fined for illegally operating a still, and the young man ran to the bush, upsetting the mash and "swamp" whiskey on the fire that was burning under the mash and generally attempted to leave no trace of their ill cit distilling. County Constable Moore, who saw Lytle run for the woods, followed him and interrupted him in dismantling the outfit. Lytle escaped, but there was every sign that the still was actually in operation when the owner upset it and endeavored to hide all trace of it having been operated before the officers arrived. The can that evidently held the mash was so hot County Constable Moore could not put his rand on it.

The distilling appartus was not even under a roof, but was located in a clearing in the centre of the dense bush. The officers seized the still and it was taken into Norwood last night and brought up by W. H. Buller this morning. Churchill Lytle returned to the house about 10 o'clock and gave himself up and was placed under arrest. The County Constable, License Inspector and prisoner drove back to Peterborough last night, arriving here about 4 a.m. to-day after a 35 mile drive in a sleigh.

Pleaded Guilty.

Charged with illegally operating a still on Monday, Feb. 6, Churchill Lytle appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley to-day and promptly pleaded guilty. Joseph Wearing, who represented the Inland Revenue Department, asked that sentence be not imposed till Saturday as he had certain facts to present to his Worship. The Magistrate consented and Lytle will spend a few days in the county gaol mourning the loss of his still and ruminating on the misfortunes of his family in the home-brew industry.

For company he will have Charles Beavis, who was sent down for two months on a charge of vagrancy today, and Charles Belverere, a young man similarly charged, and a destitute looking character who the police believe has escaped from St. John's Industrial school, Toronto. The police will take steps to ascertain his antecedents. He was remanded for a week.

RETURNING HOME.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. — Among passengers sailing on the Aquitania to-day for Southampton were Arthur James Balfour, Lord Lee and Lady Lee, and Rear-Admiral Chatfield, of the British delegation at Washington.

Acid Test For Optimism.

As the movie director would say, can you register joy—

When chasing your hat through the mud on a windy, rainy day?

When you have a tooth pulled?

When the duty agents raid your cellar?

When you make out your income tax report?

When the boss bawls you out?

Well, if you say can, you can have the Presidency of the Ananias Club.

STRIKE SITUATION SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

LONDON, Feb. 7.—(Canadian Press). — Despatches from South Africa to-day report an apparent calming down of the mine strike situation, at least in so far as it had resulted in demands for a proclamation of a Republic. A message says a mass meeting held at Johannesburg Town Hall Monday developed a reversal of feeling against the resolution passed Sunday favoring a Republic.

IS NEARING GUILLOTINE

Landru Waits the Early Morning Summons to the Knife Block—Spirits Low.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Bluebeard Henri Landru has lost his plea to the Court of Appeals and the next he knows about the progress of his case may be the whispered summons at dawn some morning to come along to the guillotine.

On hearing the decision of the Court of Appeals as he sat drowsing under a financial debate in the Chamber of Deputies, Moro Giafferi, Landru's counsel, was electrified into action. He rushed to a telephone and called the secretary to President Millerand to demand an interview with the president himself on Landru's behalf. The lawyer wished to submit to the president the report of the alienists on Landru's sanity, together with the jury's recommendation of clemency.

But the interview probably will be held in abeyance until the pardons committee and the minister of justice make their formal report. Regardless of their recommendation, if they insist on the death penalty. The president may, if he desires, commute Landru's sentence to life imprisonment at hard labor.

Landru's Spirit Low.

Landru will not be informed of the progress of his case, unless sentence is commuted, until the hour for the execution arrives.

"I haven't seen him for weeks," said Giafferi, "but my secretary reports that he is very low in spirits."

Atrocious as Landru's sordid crimes are to the Americans and the English, they were and still are a comical topic to the French. The man who is to go to the guillotine for killing 10 women and the son of one of them and then burning their bodies in his stoves at Gambais and Vernouillet, each not far from Paris, for months was the talk of Paris; and the humorous side of his brutality does not escape the keen-witted Parisians.

Landru's own records show he had corresponded with 283 women. There is no means of knowing whether he killed any more.

His method was simple and always much the same. He opened communication with some woman who wanted to be married, perhaps through a newspaper advertisement. At the first or second meeting he would propose marriage and then persuade his victims to go to his home where, shortly after, their bodies would be burned in his little stove. Before this, however, he was careful to ascertain how much money or property they had that he could get. Jewels and clothing taken from his victims he would bestow on those to come, to please them an give them confidence in him. Landru was always able to get his victims' full confidence.

So far as is known his killings began in 1914. Mme. Cuchet and her son, Andre, were the first victims. In this instance, as in all the others save one, no one ever made investigation to determine where the disappeared persons had gone. There followed eight others, and then Mme. Marchadier, who, Landru's book shows, was killed Jan. 13, 1918. Had not the sister of one victim begun an investigation Landru might have continued to this day.

Theatres Play Landru

It is difficult for the American mind to understand why the French should consider these most gruesome crimes and their perpetrator in a humorous light. A dull, middle-aged, repulsive looking, bald-headed, Assyrian, bearded man—it is doubtful if any other country could afford anything so singular as the cynical relish shown in France over Landru's case.

No French music hall is complete without at least a song about him and acts which feature "Landru and his wife eradicator" are immensely popular. The revues are fully of Landru hits; he is the hero of countless sketches and comic cinema films; a visitor to Paris theatres would conclude that the entreprenen had the choice of Landru or bankruptcy. The whole atmosphere is that of cynical levity.

KIWANIS TO HELP YOUTH OF COUNTRY

A NEW MEMBER

The Peterborough Kiwanis Club received added impetus to-day when Kiwanian J. B. Hay, of London, Ontario, district governor for Ontario and Quebec, addressed the local gathering at the regular weekly luncheon in the Empress hotel. Kiwanian R. C. Widdifield presided in the absence of Kiwanian F. Whitehouse, president of the local club. To-day's visitors included Kiwanians J. B. Hay and Hugh Murray, both of London. One new member was initiated in the person of Leslie Stevens.

Kiwanian Hugh Murray addressed the local club on some of the big things that Kiwanians all over Canada are doing to promote the interests of the community in which they live. Chief among these efforts is the work on behalf of underprivileged children which includes boys and girls. Underprivileged children differ from delinquent children, but Kiwanis takes care of both. Boys of the first class are directed through the proper channels of good citizenship and when the boys reach their educational objective in life they repay the money that has been expended for their benefit and the good work goes on.

Kiwanian J. B. Hay.

Kiwanian Hay gave a stirring address on the aims and objects of Kiwanis, which first saw the light of day in Detroit in 1915, and now consists of 627 clubs in the United States and Canada and a membership of 60,000. The spirit of Kiwanis is community service, and in order to properly promote this spirit Kiwanians must have something definite to do besides meet at weekly luncheons and sing Kiwanis songs. By consistent effort in the way of service Kiwanis justifies its existence. One of the main ideals is the development of community service. Kiwanis makes better citizens and creates a better feeling between countries and communities. Every boy and girl needs a chance, and it is along this particular line that the present Kiwanis movement and power is directed.

CO-EDS WILLING TO WED HUSBANDS ON $2,500 A YEAR

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 3.—University of Wisconsin students are dissatisfied with themselves, with their studies, their activities, their philosophy—with the whole plan of creation in general.

Only half of the seniors feel they are getting enough from their education. Eighty per cent of the men and 90 per cent of the women are despondent.

These statements are made in a University of Wisconsin student magazine, in announcing the results of the most comprehensive widely-answered questionnaire ever circulated in the university.

Lacks Objectve.

Aimlessness in study and lack of a definite objective are declared to be outstanding qualities of the student of today, and an extra curricular board is advocated to act as employment agency, or as "a connecting link between the university and the world."

Seventy-five per cent of the underclassmen and 45 per cent of the upperclassmen do not know what they will do after they are graduated.

Ninety per cent of the underclass women and 80 per cent. of the upperclass women have no idea of their future occupations, they said.

250 Won't Marry.

That half of the women will marry a man on a salary of $2,500 was another interesting fact revealed. Only an average of one woman in seven demanded a husband with a salary of more than $5,000 a year.

Freshmen women are eager and willing to be married at the age of 22, while senior women declared 27 the proper age.

Two hundred and fifty manhaters" avowed their intentions of never marrying were unearthed. The men apparently viewed marriage more tolerantly. Three-fourths of them declared they intended to marry between the ages of 26 and 30. Sororities were scored by the editors of the magazine when it was declared that the non-sorority girls read more good books, went to more movies, read more editorials and book reviews and wrote more letters to their homes.

Dancing Popular.

Ninety-six per cent of the sorority girls dance, while only two-thirds of the unorganized women attend dances.

Other interesting facts divulged by the "Mirror" included: Foot ball is the most popular sport by a big margin; 86 per cent of the fraternity men and 64 per cent of the non-fraternity men dance; 2,000 of the 7,000 students go to bed at 10.30; 200 at 11 p.m.; 400 at 12 and most of the remaining 2,600 at 1 a.m.; women spend more time studying than men; less than half of the men smoke; room and board costs more than $30 a month for half of the students; 15 per cent live on $35 a month for these items; the majority of students desire to make their home in big cities; half the students do not know faculty members outside the classrooms.

ATTACKED BY ARMED MEN.

CORK, Feb. 7. — (Canadian Press).—Returning from superintending the embarkation of British troops at Queenstown last night, General Higginson, British Commander of Cork District, was attacked by armed men. His fellow-officers repulsed the attackers, but the driver of his automobile was wounded.

City Council Adopts Parks Committee's Report to this Effect—Solicitor Pronounces Deal Legal, but Railways Board Must Ratify It.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Decision has been reached by the City Council to lease the Riverside Park for one year, at a rental of $800, to the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association. This was the recommendation of the Parks Committee last night, adopted unanimously after hearing City Solicitor Widdifield's advice that such a course would be legal under the Municipal Act if approved of by the Ontario Railways and Municipal Board. And so, after having acquised that endorsation, Council will enter into an agreement with the P.A.A.A. by which sports may be contested in the Riverside Park as heretofore and an admission fee charged. Earlier in the evening George Leader in a communication protested against this projected action on the ground that it would be contrary to the purpose for which ratepayers voted the money with which to purchase this public park. He held that it would be illegal to lease the property to the P.A.A.A. that they might collect a gate for baseball and other matches without first repealing the present park purchase by-law and submitting to the ratepayers another measure defining that the grounds might be rented for sport occasions. Mr. Leader's opinion, however, was overruled by that of the City Solicitor.

All-Night Meet.

Last night the second meeting of this year's Council was featured by a chamber full of deputations seeking quite substantial grants, the hearing of which deferred even a glance at a staggering slate of routine business until 10.30, just one-half hour short of the constitutional hour for adjournment. Consequently, time was extended, by resolution, several times from 11 o'clock until one this morning, when the majority of Council concluded that there really is such a place as "Home Sweet Home," and insisted on adjournment. By this time Aldermen Jones and Hamilton were part of the way downstairs, where hats and wraps invited patronage.

Hydro Matters.

Mayor Maguire of Toronto telegraphed Mayor Taylor that a general meeting of municipalities interested in Hydro matters is called for Friday, the 10th February, at 1.30, in the City Hall, Toronto, and he invited representation from Peterborough.

The foregoing reminded Ald. McIntyre to inquire what steps had been taken to interview Sir Adam Beck regarding transportation to and from East City as a part of the street railway system, by motor bus or otherwise.

Ald. Gainey replied that an appointment with Sir Adam Been to meet a deputation in this regard last Wednesday had been arranged, but the Mayor, finding it impossible to attend, owing to unavoidable circumstances, he had notified Sir Adam to that effect and wired for a meeting this week.

A motion here by Ald. Hamilton authorised the Mayor and Ald. Gainey to arrange for a deputation attending the meeting of municipalities in Toronto on Friday, and also to endeavour to meet Sir Adam Beck the same day, if possible, on the transportation matter.

Gasoline Pump.

A. T. Millard's request that he be permitted to install a gasoline pump outside his premises on Hunter Street went to the Board of Works.

Refund License.

Mrs. Bertha B. Munro's request for the refund of a $30.00 billiard table license, she having removed one table, went to the Finance Committee.

Total amount deposited	692,543.30
Balance	$26,726.68
Total amount collected during January	$1,851.46

Buckhorn Road.

Council endorsed the County Council's projected petition that the Provincial Government make a special grant of $2,000 for work on the Buckhorn Road, north of Ketchum Lake, to the northern boundary of Cavendish, a route opening up tourist traffic. This was the motion of Ald. Jones and Turner.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"

It had been the Marquis of Laidley himself who had suggested getting hold of this most celebrated performer, who had apparently never been in England before. And since the Marquis of Laidley's coming-of-age was the cause of the whole evening's entertainment, his suggestion had been hailed with acclamation. How he had heard about the Indian, and from whom, were points about which he was very vague; but since he was a very vague young man, the fact elicited no comment. The Main thing was that here, in the flesh, was a dark, mysterious performer of the occult, and what more could a house party require? And in the general excitement Hugh Drummond crept closer to the open window. It was the Duchess he was concerned with and her pearls, and the arrival of the Indian was not going to put him off his guard. Then suddenly his jaw tightened: Irma Peterson had entered the room with young Laidley.

"Do you want anything done, Mr. Ram Das?" asked the Duchess—"the lights down or the window shut?"

"No, I thank you," returned the Indian. "The night is still; there is no wind. And the night is dark—dark with strange thoughts, that thronged upon me as I drew nigh to the house—whispering through the trees." Again he fixed his eyes on the Duke. "What is your pleasure, Protector of the Poor?"

"Mine?" cried that pillar of the House of Lords, hurriedly stifling a yawn. "Any old thing, my dear fellow. You'd much better ask one of the ladies."

"As you will," returned the other gravely, "but if the gods speak the truth, and the sand does not lie. I can but say what is written."

From a pocket in his robe he took a bag and two small bronze dishes, and placing them on a table stood waiting.

"I am ready," he announced. "Who first will learn of the things that are written on the scroll of Fate?"

"I say, hadn't you better do it in private, Mr. Rum?" murmured the Duke apprehensively. "I mean, don't you know, it might be a little embarrassing if the jolly old gods really do give tongue; and I don't see anybody getting killed in the rush."

"Is there so much to conceal?" demanded the Indian, glancing round the group, contempt in his brooding eyes. "In the lands that lie beyond the snows we have nothing to conceal. There is nothing that can be concealed, because all is known."

And it was at that moment that the intent watcher outside the window began to shake with silent mirth. For the face was the face of the Indian, Ram Dar, but the voice was the voice of Lakington. It struck him that the next ten minutes or so might be well worth while. The problem of removing the pearls from the Duchess's neck before such an assembly seemed to present a certain amount of difficulty even to such an expert as Henry. And Hugh crept a little nearer the window, so as to miss nothing. He crept near enough, in fact, so as to miss nothing. He crept near enough to steal a look at Irma, and in doing so saw something which made him rub his eyes and then grin once more. She was standing on the outskirts of the group, an evening wrap thrown loosely over her arm. She edged a step or two towards a table containing bric-a-brac, the centre of which was occupied, as the place of honour, by a small inlaid Chinese cabinet—a box standing on four grotesquely carved legs. It was a beautiful ornament, and he dimly remembered having heard its history—a story which reflected considerable glory on the predatory nature of a previous Duke. At the moment, however, he was not concerned with its past history, but with its present fate; and it was the consummate quickness of the girl that made him rub his eyes.

She took one lightning glance at the other guests who were craning eagerly forward round the Indian; then she half dropped her wrap on the table and picked it up again. It was done so rapidly, so naturally, that for a while Hugh thought he had made a mistake. And then a slight rearrangement of her wrap to conceal a hard outline beneath, as she joined the others, dispelled any doubts. The small inlaid Chinese cabinet now standing on the table was not the one that had been here previously. The original was under Irma Peterson's cloak.

Havelock, February 7. — Campbellford's return game at Havelock ended after two periods in a fiasco, Campbellford withdrawing from the ice, and claiming rough play.

Havelock looked like the winners, and the withdrawal of their neighbors was disappointing to the railroad town supporters. The home boys started out with heavy body body checking and the control of the game soon slipped from the referee. This was especially noticeable at the end of the second period when several bouts took place.

It has been suggested that this game be played off on neutral ice, probably in Peterboro.

The line up—

PETERBORO GIRLS BEAT LAKEFIELD.

The Peterboro girls hockey team won their second game of the season at Brock street rink last night, when they defeated the Lakefield girls by 2 goals to 1 before a big crowd. It was a real game and honours were even despite the Peterbor victory for the Lakefield team beaten 3 to 1 on their own ice showed much improvement and there was little to choose between the two on the night's play In fact the hockey displayed by the teams was a surprise to most of the spectators, the Peterboro team being much better than last year's outfit, the improvement in skating and stick handling being very marked.

For the visitors Mary McKenzie at centre was the shining star She was a clever stick handler, making a number of telling rushes while her checking stopped many a Peterboro attack. Stella Lennox did some very effective work on the defence and the rest of the team tried hard all the way.

Eva Outram and Miss Currie were the best for Peterboro. The former was probably the fastest skater on the ice and she was a tireless worker Miss Currie's speed and stick handling also featured.

There was no score in the first period although both teams came close on several occasions. A good stop by Alberta Curtis after her defence was beaten keeping the Peterboro record clean.

Lakefield shot to the front early in the second period when Miss Northey camped in front of the Peterboro nets took a pass from the corner and scored from close in. The reverse only caused the Peterboro girls to renew their efforts and after several rushes had been wasted Eva Outram tied the score when she carried the rubber in alone and batted it in to the net after a determined rush.

Almost from the face off Miss Currie stick handled through the Lakefield defence in clever style and her shot beating Miss Dixon for the winning goal.

The last period was scoreless although both teams tried hard. Lakefield came close to evening up the count when Mary McKenzie got away nicely and drove the hardest shot of the night at the Peterboro nets only to have Miss Curtis make a clever stop.

It was a good game and both teams are to be congratulated upon the showing they made. Incidentally they gave the boys' teams a lesson in sportsmanship for they gave each other three cheers at the close of the game.

THE BONSPIEL AT LAKEFIELD STARTS TODAY

Spirit of Warm Welcome Pervades Whole Hospitable Village—New Brass Band—Personal Mention

The whole village is interested in the bonspiel which takes place today, and Wednesday. Not only the curlers but the entire village at large has entered into the spirit of a hearty welcome for all visitors.

Nothing has ever contributed as much to a community spirit as the new rink. If you didn't skate or curl and at least be a spectator you are out of class in the village now. One prominent man said last week, "It's the best thing the village ever had."

New Brass Band.

The newly re-organized Lakefield brass band played at the rink on Saturday evening. It was a very successful occasion, and a very large crowd, including many spectators were present. With a good band in town the village is now independent of outside bands.

Card Party.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. held a very successful card party on Friday evening last. The prize winers were: Miss Doridge and Mr. Trude Waldon, while Chief of Police Robert Webster, won the consolation prize.

Evangelism.

Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Gunton, of Toronto, began their week's evangelistic meetings in the Baptist Church on Sunday. Mrs. Gunton sings very nicely and her singing of gospel hymns was a special attraction.

Mr. George Sherin of J. C. Sherin & Sons store has been awarded a valuable prize for the excellence of the window dressing he designed for the store during Dr. Scholl's National Demonstration week, October 22-29th.

This was a contest in which thousands of window trimmers of the leading Shoe stores in the U.S. and Canada participated and it is indeed an achievement to have gained one of the awards.

The display in question was notable both for artistic conception and striking arrangement and was indeed a credit to its originator.

Personal Mention.

Miss E. M. Corkery spent the week end in Peterboro.

Miss Penberthy of Peterboro was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Leggott for the week end.

Pope Prays For Peace In His First Invocation

Universal Pacification the Special Intention of Benediction Given By Pius XI.—Coronation on Feb. 12th.

ROME, Feb. 7. Canadian Press. — Pope Pius' first benediction after his election was bestowed from the outside balcony of St. Peter's where he was acclaimed by the great throng assembled there, while the troops presented arms. Shortly afterwards Prince Chigi-Albani, the Marshal of the Conclave, by order of the Secretary of the conclave, issued the following:

"His Holiness Pope Pius XI., while making every reservation of the inviolable rights of the Church and the Holy See, which rights he has sworn to defend, has given his first blessing from the exterior balcony overlooking the Square of St. Peter's in the special intention that his blessing should be addressed not only to those in Rome and Italy but to all nations and all peoples, and should bring to the whole world the wish and the announcement of that universal pacification we all so ardently desire."

CORONATION NEXT SUNDAY.

ROME, Feb. 6.—The coronation of Pope Pius XI will take place February 12th, it was officially announced this evening.

Cardinal Gasparri, who served as Papal Secretary of State under the late Pope Benedict XV, has been retained in the same office by Pope Pius XI., it was announced to-night.

NATIVE INDIAN POLICE KILLED AND PROPERTY DESTROYED BY RIOTERS

Reports of Rather Widespread Disturbances in India During the Week-End—Ghandi Demanded Liberation of Political Prisoners.

Mob Stormed Bengal Police.

LONDON, February 7 (Canadian Press). — Renewed rioting in several parts of india, involving the killing of at least 17 police officials and four members of attacking parties, in addition to the wounding of a number of persons and some destruction of property, occurred over the week-end, simultaneously with the issuance of a declaration by the Non-Co-operationist leader, Ghandi, that civil disobedience would become effective unless the Government granted amnesty.

On Saturday police officers at Chauri, on the Bengal North-Western Railway, were stormed by Indian Nationalist Volunteers. The mob of 2,000 killed the entire staff and a watchman, and eighty armed policemen who were rushed to the scene to give aid to the staff.

Then the Nationalists burned the officers and stripped the bodies of those killed and burned them.

DEADLOCKED OVER ULSTER BOUNDARIES

MAY MEET GRIFFITH.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—After a number of important conferences in London to-day between the South Irish leaders, Premier Lloyd George and members of the British Cabinet, between Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, and the members of his Cabinet, and finally late this afternoon between Sir James and Mr. Lloyd George, a solution of the difficulty over the question of fixing the Ulster boundaries apparently had not been found.

Statements issued to-night by Michael Collins, head of the provisional government in Ireland, and the Ulster Premier, indicate that they still are far from an agreement.

Parliament reassembles to-morrow and the new Irish crisis threatens embarrassments to the Government. In official cirles it is expected that Mr. Lloyd George will comment on his interviews with Mr. Collins and Sir James Craig in the course of his speech before the House of Commons to-morrow.

The Conflicting Claims.

"The majorities must rule," the provisional government head re-affirmed in a statement to the press regarding the boundaries controversy. The Ulster Premier, on the other hand, in a letter which he sent to

A GOOD YEAR'S WORK.

The members of the Peter Robinson Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, are to be congratulated upon their splendid work accomplished last year as revealed by the reports presented at the annual meeting. This enthusiastic organization of girls is an asset to the community, for a glance over the reports indicate that nearly every movement for the welfare of Peterborough has been financially assisted by the Peter Robinson Chapter. Over $800 was expended by the chapter during the past year in grants to various organizations, and the officers and members deserve great credit for what they have been able to accomplish by their unselfish efforts on behalf of others. The extent of the work carried on by the Peter Robinson girls was undoubtedly a surprise to those who read last evening the annual statements.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

The importance of the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training and the necessity of having this work co-ordinated and directed in Peterborough so as to produce the best results among the boys of the community, are sufficiently weighty reasons for again calling attention to the meeting tomorrow night for the organization of a Mentors' Club. It is fortunate that the services of the sports director of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association are available in connection with the development of C.S.E.T. here, and with Mr. Smaill at its head and the enthusiastic backing of a number of the city's big men who are interested in boys, there is every reason to expect a campaign that will have lasting effects upon the community. Boys who are trained with an eye to a four-fold development are about the best asset a city could have, for they grow up into citizens of the finest type. That is why the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training has been enthusiastically acclaimed wherever it has been introduced, and why the work has been growing by leaps and bounds. Every Sunday School in Peterborough should be represented at tomorrow night's meeting in order that the local drive may get away with an impetus that will be bound to carry it through to success.

THE UNEMPLOYED SINGLE MEN.

Mr. G. N. Gordon's suggestion that in the case of the unemployed single man who is in destitute circumstances the Relief Committee should pay in cash for his board, is the logical way of dealing with this particular phase of the unemployment problem. However, the Drury Government has chosen to be illogical and has laid down the principle that no cash doles or lodging fees shall be paid, an attitude which means that, if Mr. Gordon's plan were to be followed, the whole cost of carrying out the scheme would have to be assumed by the municipality. It is not easy to follow the line of thought that has led the Ontario Government to decline to pay a share of the money expended upon board for single men. What other method of looking after such cases could be devised that would be as simple, satisfactory and economical? It may not be too late yet to have the Drury Government revise their policy in this respect in order that the best method of dealing with the problem may be carried out. Otherwise the municipalities will have to decide between the two alternatives of paying the whole shot themselves or of establishing a hostel for out-of-work single men. The latter plan has drawbacks that readily suggest themselves and should only be adopted as a last resort.

MATRICULATION STANDARDS.

With the resolution passed by the Council of Lincoln County protesting against the proposal of the Provincial Educational Department to raise the standards for matriculation into the universities, it is to be imagined there are many in accord. The more pupils who can take advantage of a course in the university the better it will be for the country at large, and most people cannot see why there should be talk of closing the doors of the colleges to many who are anxious to enter. The present standards would seem to be quite high enough, and as the Lincoln resolution puts it, the proposed change would mean that "many young men and women of average ability, and many of only moderate means, would be debarred from the advantages of university education to the detriment of the best interests of our people and the future of our country." It may be that changes are necessary in order to solve the probem of providing for the higher educational requirements of the community, but these should not take the form of restricting the facilities for education, but rather of increasing the accomodation. By all means let the entry into the universities be not made too difficult; the opportunities for acquiring an advanced education should, if anything, be made greater, not lessened. The Lincoln County Council has done good service for the Province at large by calling attention to this proposal and pointing out the defects it contains.

INDICATIONS OF A STORM.

That the Farmer and Labour sections of the Ontario Government have been working together amicably up to the present has been a rather surprising development to many political observers. They are so diametrically opposed to each other on several important points that it was not considered possible that they could long operate as a team, and frequent prophesies were made that a split would not be long in coming. So far these predictions have been proven false, but there are at present indications of a storm brewing as a result of the Government's refusal to adopt a fair wage clause in connection with public works. This policy, long a pet of organized labour and carried out for many years by the Laurier Government and its successors at Ottawa, stipulates that when Government work is being carried on the wages and working conditions that are normally met with in the vicinity shall be adopted. This clause the Ontario Government, it is stated, has refused to insert in contracts for Government work, taking the position that restrictions such as asked for would constitute a form of "slavery." As a result, the Labour group in the Legislature is to be told by the Unions in no uncertain terms that a protest against this attitude of the Drury Government is expected of Labour's representatives. Labour leaders regard the refusal of the Government as a challenge, and there promises to be some fireworks if the Ontario administration persists in its present attitude.

THE QUESTION OF BASIC WAGES.

The attempt to establish a basic wage in Australia seems to be ending in failure. New South Wales, which was the leader in the expriment, fixed the basic wage for male adults at £4 5s. a week. The example was followed by Queensland, but South Australia never legalized the finding of its basic wage tribunal, while Western Australia and Tasmania refrained from passing any legislation, although such measures were introduced in the Legislatures.

It was found that under the fixed basic wage costs of manufacture were much higher in New South Wales than in Victoria and other States of the Commonwealth. As a result manufacturers in New South Wales were at a disadvantage as compared with their competitors in Victoria. The States which failed to establish the basic wage could send cheaper goods into other States and had also an advantage in export. Moreover the basic wage system materially increased the cost of production and aggravated unemployment by reducing the purchasing power of unskilled labor. Even the New South Wales Parliamentry Labor Party and the United Laborer's Union have demanded repeal of the legislation. It is admitted that many mines have been closed by high basic wages. The situation became so serious that the Prime Minister of the Commonwealth refused to give effect to the recommedations of a Federal Appeal Tribunal on the ground that the industries could not give the wages prescribed and remain solvent.

It is explained that the industrial unions, when dissatisfied with a State award, arranged by federating with kindred inter-State bodies to have the dispute extended beyond the borders of the State in which it arose and thus brought under federal jurisdiction. From these manoeuvres such difficulties arose that the Prime Minister of the Commonwealth and the State Premiers have agreed to abolition of the New South Wales Board of Trade and the Queensland and South Australian basic wage fixing tribunals. In place of the State Boards a Federal Industrial Court will be established to determine the basic wage and standard hours of labor in all industries, but will take no authority over State employees and State undertakings. It is believed that when such federal legislation is enacted the whole basic wage system will be abandoned and that the new tribunals will be content to fix such wages as industries can afford.

Australia goes from experiment to experiment in Labor legislation and in regulation of industries, but never finds the perfect system. Compulsory arbitration has failed again and again. Wage courts have been defied alternately by workers and employers. Measures which seemed to promise industrial peace have backfired, aggravated industrial warfare and widened the area of conflict. There is something in human nature which resists coercion even by Governments and when workers are determined to resist an award the "resources of civilization" are never exhausted. When all is said, the Lemieux Act of Canada has produced as good results as any measure of industrial legislation that ever was enacted. And that Act secures its results primarily and chiefly by conciliation and conference. One is reluctant to admit that a whole community must suffer by a prolonged quarrel between miners and mine owners, between transportation companies and their employees, or through the interruption of any service which vitally affects the daily lives of multitudes of people. But at least no dependable machinery to compel industrial peace has yet been discovered. There are evidences, however, that the costs of industrial conflict are being more clearly realized alike by employers and workers, and that all are setting a higher value upon the human relation in industry. What is gained by conference and conciliation is generally more lasting than any victory achieved by compulsion and in increasing recognition of the fact lies perhaps the best hope of a more stable and a happier relation between employers and employed in the future.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Prosperity is just around the corner.

The International Burr Company is to locate in Belleville. That sounds like a concern that should stick.

G. Howard Ferguson is still looking for hides in spite of the fact that he has practically lost his own since he started on the war-path.

Having had a mocassin dance, why not a goloshes ball as the next novelty in Peterborough?

At least, however, it must be admitted that the wearing of unbuckled goloshes gives a real meaning to the word "flapper."

Doubtless the Aldermen must sometimes wonder if the deputations which wait upon them for grants are composed of people who on other occasions grumble about the tax rate.

Belleville has landed seven new industries in a year. The problem with factories just now, however, is not to have them coming, but to keep them going.

The new numbers on the motor cars are easier to see, but it is doubtful whether they will make the cars any easier to dodge.

A Hamilton policeman has been fined $500 for having a still in his possession. We've often heard of silent policemen, but still ones are a new type.

THE WINTER GARDEN.

When wild the winds of winter blow,
In whirling wreaths a-sweep,
Beneath its coverlet of snow
My garden lies asleep.
There summer long the roses grow,
The hollyhocks and golden glow,
And radiant o'er my bungalow
The morning-glories creep.

There heavy-headed peonies
Bend low to summer showers,
And borne upon the passing breeze,
The fragrance of the flowers.
The feathered choir amid the trees,
The drowsy murmur of the bees,
Are now but cherished memories
Of golden summer hours.

So while my garden lies asleep,
I breathe to God a prayer,
The Garden of my Heart to keep
As fragrant and as fair.
For gracious thoughts implanted deep,
Will in the heart a harvest reap,
And while my garden lies asleep,
I strive to plant them there.

Moonshine Whiskey Still Found in Sydney School

SYDNEY, N.S., February 7 (Canadian Press). — As teaching the young idea how to "brew" is not a part of the regular curriculum, the school authorities last night were somewhat at a loss to account for the discovery in the Sydney Academy of a copper "worm" and certain materials such as are used in the manufacture of moonshine whisky which were eized by J. W. Kennedy, Inland Revenue officer, and Amos Martin, Nova Scotia Temperance Act inspector, in a raid there yesterday. The School Board has ordered an investigation.

WHEAT REACHED PEAK PRICE SINCE SEPT., 1921

Report of Higher Foreign Prices Strengthened Chicago Quotations.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—New climbing of prices in the wheat market yesterday resulted in the highest level being reached since September 27, 1921. The ascent was preceded by word of a fresh upturn in grain values at Liverpool and Buenos Aires. Closing quotations here were firm 2 1-8 to 3 1-2c net higher, with May at $1.28 to $1.28 1-2 and July at $1.10 to $1.10 3-4. Corn scored a net advance of 2 1-8 to 2 5-8c and oats, of 5-8 to 1 3-8c. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 12c higher.

Optimistic views expressed by leading authorities here had a good deal to do with causing a somewhat general impression among wheat traders that strong concerted efforts were in progress to bring about a better outlet for farm products at remunerative prices. Announcement therefore, that prices were higher at foreign centers tended to give the market here a decided upward swing. Furthermore evidence was at hand that a liberal export business was under way, and it was apparent also that instead of an increase which had been looked for in the United States visible supply total, a material decrease was certain. Continued unfavorable conditions for the domestic winter crop in the Southwest operated as an additional factor in sending prices up-grade and preventing any important setback during the last part of the day.

Reports of stoppage of selling on the part of rural holders of corn led to urgent bidding from shorts in the corn market Besides, export demand for corn was again active. Oats ascended with corn

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.— A half-million dollar liebl suit against the Chicago Opera Company was filed in Federal Court yesterday by counsel for Madam Johanna Gadski, wife of Captain Hans Tauscher, a German subject.

Madam Gadski charges that the Opera Company, after contracting with her to sing the role of "Isolde" in two Chicago performances of "Tristan and Isolde," at $1,500 each, publicly cancelled the contract on the ground that patrons of grand opera would refuse to hear her sing because of the presence in America of her husband, a former German army officer. Policyholders of the Mutual Life of Canada Enjoy a Record Year of Financial Prosperity

Striking Statements from Addresses

Mr. Hume Cronyn, President:—

"From time to time we have evidence that the gospel of mutuality is leading the insurance world into the higher paths of an ideal system. The latest convert, The Provident Life and Trust, of Philadelphia, following the notable examples of the Metropolitan, Prudential, Equitable and Home, has announced its intention of redeeming its stock and turning over to its policyholders one hundred and twenty millions of assets and over half a billion of business. Thus does this firmly established and well managed concern bear testimony to the strength of altruistic cooperation."

Mr. R. O. McCulloch, 1st Vice-President:—

"This Company has always had complete faith in our Great West and nothing in the present situation shakes our confidence in its tremendous agricultural possibilities and its ultimate progress and development. We recognize that the West is going through a period of adversity but it will survive this setback as its people are industrious, stout-hearted and confident. We know that our agricultural prosperity is necessary for the growth and development of Canada and our policy, as far as we can follow it, consistent with the principle of safety, is to continue to invest in first mortgages on improved Western farms."

Mr. C. M. Bowman, Chairman of the Executive:—

"The bond purchases made during 1920 and 1921, many of them being of unusually long term and high interest yield and representing fully sixty per cent. of the Company's total bond holdings, will be an important factor in connection with the return from invested funds for many years, thus enabling participating policyholders of the Mutual Life to look forward with confidence to the future."

Mr. Charles Ruby, General Manager:—

"No finer demonstration could be desired of the solid foundation upon which a well managed life insurance company rests than this quick rebound from the financial strain occasioned by the late war and influenza epidemic. Nor could there well be a better augury in regard to dividends to policyholders in the coming years. While there may always be discussion on the general topic of whether the participating or the non-participating system in life insurance is the better plan for an applicant, the experienced holders of participating policies in the Mutual Life of Canada, at any rate, will have no difficulty in satisfactorily settling the question so far as they are concerned."

Unprecedented Profit Earnings

A REMARKABLE increase in the surplus earnings of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was shown by the Fifty-Second Annual Statement, as presented at the Annual Meeting of the policyholders held in the Head Office of the Company at Waterloo, Ontario, on Thursday, February 2nd.

The entire net profits, or Surplus earnings of the year's operations will be, as usual, ultimately distributed to the policyholders of the Mutual in cash or applied to the reduction of their premiums or added to the face values of the policies, as per policyholders' individual option. Three factors have combined to bring about this red-letter year in the annals of the Company.

1. Decrease in Expense Ratio

The percentage of the Total Income required for operating expenses was reduced from 20.45% in 1920 to 18.60% in 1921.

2. Increase in Interest Earnings

The average rate of interest earned by the investments of the Company shows an increase from 6.41% in 1920 to 6.60% in 1921.

3. Highly Favorable Mortality

The mortality rate of 1921 was the lightest experienced by the Company in recent years, being relatively 20% less than in 1920.

Surplus Earnings of $2,243,038, being $46.47 per $1,000 of Total Assets

The combined effect of these three different factors in the Company's experience for 1921 was to increase the surplus earnings from $38.67 per $1,000 of assets to $46.47 per $1,000

The most significant item in the annual reports of a life insurance company doing business on the participating plan is not the amount of Surplus shown by the Balance Sheet but the Surplus Earnings for the year.

NATIVE INDIAN POLICE KILLED

Fired on the Mob.

On the same day rioting took place at Bareilly, in the Middle United Provinces, where several attempts were made by a large crowd of Volunteers to seize the Town Hall. Insufficient police forces charged them without success, and then were ordered to fire. The mob eventually was put to rout after two persons had been killed and five others were wounded, among them the District Magistrate and the Superintendent of Police.

Demands Release of Prisoners.

Ghandi's declaration was made in a letter to the Viceroy. He said he was prepared to advise postponement of civil disobedience until the whole situation was considered anew, if the Viceroy was ready within seven days to declare all political prisoners liberated and the freedom of association and the press restored. He asserted the Government's repressive policy made the adoption of civil disobedience immediately imperative and that the Non-Co-operators under the existing circumstances were unwilling to attend the proposed conference.

Peasants Paying Taxes.

The Government of Madras has issued its first statement regarding the progress of civil disobedience in Guntur, showing that at the end of January peasants were beginning to pay taxes previously withheld, and that even some of the leaders of the agitation were coming forward with their taxes, lest their property should be confiscated.

Reports received in London on Saturday's rioting indicate the events occurred when the Prince of Wales was at Bhopal, the second in importance of the Mohammedan Indian States. He was the guest of the Begum of Bhopal, the only woman ruler in India.

Aga Khan's Statement.

Arriving in Bombay on Saturday, Prince Aga Khan, spiritual head of the Mohammedans of India, declared he was working his hardest to secure a favourable settlement of the Khalifat question. He counselled the Indians never to despair, but that it was necessary that Co-operators and Non-Co-operators should work together in the interests of the country.

Anaemia

Thin, watery blood is no more nourishing than thin, watery milk—skim milk.

But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. G. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes:

"For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. My circulation was poor, my gums and lips were pale, and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, seemed restless and easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I went to a doctor, who told me I was anaemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."

THE STIRLING TEAM WON FROM MADOC

The Score Was 7-3 and the Game Was Fast and Clean

STIRLING, Feb. 7.—Last evening Stirling defeated Madoc by a score of 7 to 3. The ice was in good condition, considering the weather. The first period was fast, and good clean hockey was played by both teams. The period ended with Stirling in the lead. Score, 4-1.

Madoc played hard during the second period and did their best to score, but could not break through the defence. Stirling scored three more goals, and the period ended 7 to 1 in favor of Stirling.

The third period started fast Stirling leaving many openings for Madoc to get through. They certainly took advantage of it and scored two goals, making the score 7 to 3 in favor of Stirling.

The line-up:

Stirling—Goal, Hulin; defence, Whitty and Conley; centre, J. Ackers; wings, Wallace and H. Ackers. Sub., Forbes.

Madoc—Goal, Bannister; defence, Hough and Holway (Belleville); centre, Moon; wings, Gordon and Twiddy. Subs., Frolicker and Phillips.

Referee — C. Holmes (Campbellford).

DEADLOCKED OVER ULSTER

Premier Lloyd George after the Ulster Cabinet meeting, declared the Ulsterites could not consent to alteration of the boundary, except by mutual agreement, failing which the Government of Ireland Act, of 1920, must be looked to in defining the boundaries of any disputed area.

Sir James said the Ulsterites would adhere to the principle laid down by the Prime Minister himself in a letter to Eamon De Valera last July namely, that an Irish settlement must fully recognize the Ulster Government's existing powers and privileges, which only Ulster could abrogate.

A significant point about the letter is that it invokes the Government of Ireland Act as governing boundary disputes and fails to allude to the treaty, which provides for a boundary commission.

Subsequently Sir James told Mr. Lloyd George personally that the decision of the Ulsterites must stand. Special despatches from Belfast report that strong representations are being forwarded to the Ulster Premier from all sections of Ulster Unionists to the effect that there must be no further conferences with Sinn Feiners, and urging that Ulster, not being consulted regarding the treaty, must stand by the 1920 Act.

May Meet Griffith.

In view of these developments, there is keen interest in whether Arthur Griffith, who remained in London while Mr. Collins and the other Southern representatives returned to Dublin to-night, will meet Sir James. Griffith's presence in London is commented on as indicating that not only the boundary, but the whole question of the relation of the six counties to the Free State is being discussed.

Mr. Collins and his colleagues went to Dublin to lay before the provisional government, the arrangements made to-day regarding procedure for giving effect to the treaty with Great Britain. Mr. Griffith will remain in London a day or two.

When interviewed this evening, Mr. Collins said the morning conference with representatives of the British government was devoted principally to the details of taking over complete control in Ireland. He declined to disclose whether the Ulster boundary question was discussed, but intimated it possibly would form part of the conversations of Arthur Griffith and Sir James Craig, if an interview between them were arranged.

Collins Reiterates Claim.

Asked if the situation arising from the hitch in the boundary negotiations with the Ulster Premier had improved, Mr. Collins declared:

"I can only reiterate that the majorities mus trule, and it is for that principle the treaty stands. Our attitude has been made perfectly clear—we will not coerce any part of Ulster desirous of remaining in the area elected by the Northern Parliament, but neither will we allow coersion of any part of Ulster which votes itself into the Free States."

He would not say whether the Belfast boycott would be reinstated stating: "I cannot tell in advance what our policy would be in the event of certain developments. We are reasonable people, and if the other people prove reasonable there will be no difficulty."

In addition to the morning conference, Mr. Collins, Mr. Griffith Eamon J. Duggan and Kevin O'Higgins saw Winston Spencer Churchill at the Colonial Office this afternoon.

Cattle Driving Reported.

Further disorders in Ireland were reported to-day, most serious of which was cattle driving on a large scale in the Tipperary district. Early on Sunday large numbers of cows, sheep and horses were driven off several estates, the object apparently being to compel owners to break up grazing lands. Notices signed "Captain Moonshine," were posted stating that anyone found driving the cattle back or repairing the walls and gates would meet with instant death. The Irish Republican Army has announced its intention of severely punishing the perpetrators.

The railway strike is to be extended to the Macroom line to-night, isolating the central part of Cork county.

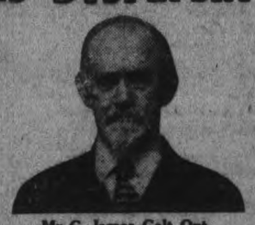
STOPS 50 YEARS' DYSPEPSIA

Mr. James amazed at quick results with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin.



Mr. G. James, Galt, Ont.

Sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion often think they can get permanent relief by chewing charcoal tablets, mint lozenges and such things. But constipation usually accompanies dyspepsia and a medicine is required that contains ingredients for both conditions.

Mr. G. James of 5 Norfolk Ave., Galt, Ont., found such a fortunate combination in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which gave him relief from 50 years of dyspepsia. With the same remedy Mrs. Ellen Laira of Pictou, N. S., now in her 87th year, freed herself from a lifetime of chronic constipation.

This remarkable medicine is a vegetable compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin, the greatest of all the digestants. It acts mildly and gently and does not gripe, and hence it is ideal for old people. It is so safe, however, that thousands of mothers give it to babes in arms. Every druggist sells Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and a dose will cost you less than a cent. People who once use this medicine never afterwards resort to strong physics, calomel, etc.

HALF-OUNCE BOTTLE FREE

Few escape constipation, so even if you do not need a laxative at this moment, let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Laxative Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. The committee decided that while there were some good points in favour of the extension, that it was not advisable at present. On motion a copy of the report will be forwarded to the Provincial secretary. It was moved and carried that the chairman of each committee appointed at the first meeing of 1922 report monthly at each session of the council.

A saving of $300 was considered worth looking into, in trying to reduce expenses. Deputy Reeve Stone stated the position of road foreman was a yearly position, although payable monthly. The salary of Chief of Police was also brought up but no action in either case. On motion Council did then adjourn.

The Dread Pyorrhea Begins With Bleeding Gums

Pyorrhea's infecting germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this.

Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

MONTREAL ROAD HOUSES RAIDED BY RUM SQUAD

Two Waiters Arrested in Notorious Cote St. Michel District.

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Following raids on three road houses in the Cote St. Michel district, in the north end of this city, over the week end, Hon. G. A. Simard, chairman of the Quebec Liquor Commission, under whose authority the raids were engineered, stated yesterday that it was the intention to watch all road houses, especially in that vicinity, with particular vigilance.

"There has been much crime in the Cote St. Michel region recently," said Mr. Simard, "and liquor traffic there has to be stopped, if not by anlone else, then by us."

Trial of two waiters, Francois Belley and Henri Rousseau, arrested in connection with the above raids, was commenced here to-day. Both men were allowed bail of $1,000 each and further trial fixed for February 14.

Pondicherri Mill Workers Strike and Cause Trouble

LONDON, February 7 (Canadian Press Cable). — A serious riot of mill workers in the Pondicherri Settlement of French India took place on Thursday, according to a London Times despatch from Madras. Several thousand men employed in the mill demanded more pay, and many of them went on strike. Then the extreme section barricaded themselves in the mill and assaulted the supervising staff.

Police reserves were summoned, and are reported to have fired on the crowd, but inflicted no casualties. The Governor of Pondicherri and the Mayor interviewed the strikers, but could not bring them to terms. There was a further collision with the police, and the mills, owned by a prominent Madras firm, are now closed.

SARATORIAL SPLENDOUR FOR SOVIET DELEGATES

Barbers and Haberdashers to Trick Them Out for Genoa Conference.

MOSCOW, Feb. 7.— (Special instructions have been issued to the Russian Soviet delegates to the Genoa Conference— that long hair should be trimmed and leather jackets and top boots discarded and that those in the party should dress in a dignified manner. All the delegates are buying new clothes in order to present a good appearance and to show the world, as one of them expressed it, that the Bolsheviki are like "ordinary people." Money has also been provided for adding to the stock of clothes at Genoa.

The Soviet delegation is preparing to leave Russian by way of the Black Sea, going direct to Genoa in order to insure against attacks to which it might be subject if the overland route were taken. Much secrecy is being observed concerning the port of embarkation and accompanying the delegates will be a number of men and women members of the Cheka in disguise.

SUMMARY OF TREATIES ADOPTED AT CONFERENCE

Compendium of Covenants Signed By Nations at Washington—Resolutions and Declarations of Policy Also Included.

An Epochal Convention.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Six completed treaties, two others agreed to in substance, fourteen resolutions, and ten separate or joint declarations of national policy, comprise the formal and tangible contribution of the Arms Conference negotiations to history.

By the major agreements of the Conference, the Great Powers put a limit on their naval strength in capital ships, abjure submarine warfare against commerce and use of poison gas; give China a new bill of rights based on territorial integrity, and the open door, and set up a new international concord to preserve peace in the Pacific. In addition, Great Britain declares her intention to restore Wei-Hai-Wei to China and Japan hands back Shantung and promises to withdraw from Siberia as soon as conditions there are stabilized.

Naval Limitation

These are the six treaties which, during the twelve weeks of negotiations here, have been brought to final completion:

1.—Naval limitation treaty, by which the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France, and Italy agree to scrap or convert 68 capital ships, and so limit future construction that, after a ten-year building holiday, their first line naval strength will remain at 525,000 tons, 525,000 tons, 315,000 tons, 175,000 tons and 175,000 tons respectively. The respective tonnage of airplane carriers is limited to 135,000 tons each for the United States and Great Britain; 81,000 tons for Japan, and 60,000 tons each for France and Italy. Individual capital ships are to be no larger than 35,000 tons and carry no guns in excess of 16 inches. Aircraft carriers are limited similarly to 27,000 tons, and auxiliary craft to 10,000 tons, and neither can carry a gun larger than eight inches. A fortifications "status quo" is est up in the Pacific, under which the United States agrees not to further fortify the Philippines and Guam, and Japan agrees to observe the same restrictions in Formosa, the Bonins and Pescadores.

Poison Gas Treaty

2.—The Submarine and Poison Gas Treaty, to which the same five powers are signatories. By its terms the powers agree as among themselves not to use submarines "as commerce destroyers," in all cases to observe the rules of visit and search, and to regard as a pirate, any submarine commander who violates existing law. As among themselves, they outlaw use of poison gas altogether.

3.—The Four-Power Pacific Treaty, by which the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France agree to respect one another's rights in relation to their insular possessions in the Pacific, and to meet in consultation whenever these rights are threatened. The Anglo-Japanese Alliance is automatically abrogated when the new treaty finally is ratified.

The Far East

4.—The General Far Eastern Treaty, between the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy, China, Belgium, Portugal and The Netherlands, binding each of them to respect China's integrity; the open door policy is to be applied in detail, and every opportunity is to be given the Chinese people to develop a stable government. It is agreed that no treaty infringing these principles is to be concluded; that no contracts violating them are to be upheld, that discriminatory practices in the Chinese railways is to end, and that China's rights as a neutral are to be respected in future wars.

5.—The Chinese Tariff Treaty, adhered to by the same nine nations, providing international machinery for an immediate revision of Chinese customs duties on a basis of five per cent. effective, and periodical revisions thereafter, together with changes which will permit imposition of surtaxes.

6.—The Shantung Treaty, between Japan and China, by which Shantung is restored to Chinese control.

Yap Cable Privileges

By one of the uncompleted treaties agreed to in substance during the Conference Japan gives the United States the long-sought cable and wireless privileges on the Island of Yap and by the other the five principal powers and The Netherlands allocate the former German-owned cables in the Pacific so that one goes to the United States, one to Japan and one to The Netherlands. Briefly, the 14 resolutions given Conference approval, embody the following decisions:

Other Undertakings

Agreement for withdrawal of foreign post offices from China on January 1, 1923, provided China maintains an efficient postal service and continues in office the present Foreign Co-Director General.

Establishment of an international commission to investigate the judicial system of China with a view to abolition of extra territorial rights.

Authorization for a consultation between foreign diplomats and Chinese officials at Peking with a view to withdrawal of foreign troops from China.

Relinquishment to China of unauthorized foreign radio stations on Chinese soil, with the stipulation that all plants are to be used for official messages only except in emergency.

Agreement to exchange full information among the nations regarding all international commitments that affect China.

Creation of a board of reference, to consider cases arising under the open door and railway provisions of the General Far Eastern Treaty.

Convening of a special commission of the five powers to meet in the near future and consider rules to govern the use of new agencies of warfare. By a second resolution on the same subject it is declared that the commission shall not "review or report upon" the submarine and poison gas rules laid down in the treaty on that subject.

Protect Chinese Railway

Recommendation that "better protection" be given the Chinese railway. Another resolution attached, but not subscribed to by China, declares the Chinese Government must be held responsible for its obligations regarding the road. Expression of hope that the Chinese railways may be developed toward a unified system under Chinese control.

Request on the part of the other powers that China reduce her military forces.

Supplementary agreement to the Naval Limitation Treaty, declaring the nations "in honor bound" not to dispose of ships which are listed for scrapping, before the treaty is ratified.

Japan and Siberia

Of the "declarations" made by the various delegations and formally spread on the records of the Conference, chief interest attached to those relating to Siberia and the "Twenty-one Demands." Regarding Siberia, Japan disavowed any territorial designs on Russia and pledged herself to withdraw her troops from Siberia as soon as stable conditions warrant. While the United States reasserted its hope that the withdrawal would not be long delayed, the famous "Group Five" of the "Twenty-one Demands," was abandoned by Japan, along with other concessions relating to economic and political questions in Manchuria and Mongolia. China filed a protest against the remaining portions of the "Demands" and the United States reiterated its intention not to recognize any of them which might abridge American rights.

The British declaration of readiness to withdraw from the leased territory of Wei-Hai-Wei was not elaborated but will be taken up in diplomatic exchanges between London and Peking. As a supplement to the Far Eastern Treaty, China declared her intention not to alienate any additional portions of her territory and as a supplement to the tariff treaty she agreed to retain the present maritime customs system. In two supplements to the radio resolution, China declared she recognized no right to install foreign radio plants without her express consent, and the other powers declared that in future wirelwss disputes the open door policy must be applied.

VETERANS PONDERING ALTERNATIVE SCHEMES

Appoint Committee to Report on Perfective Mermits of Federation and Amalgamations.

WINNIPEG, Man., February 7 (Canadian Press). — After a discussion which lasted nearly three hours, covering many phases of the proposed federation as against complete amalgamation, delegates attending the conference of Veteran' organisations, decided late this afternoon to appoint a committee to bring in concrete proposals on both schemes, to be presented to the conference tomorrow morning.

The whole point of difference this afternoon seemed to be concerning instructions given delegates representing the various organisations prior to coming to the conference. A motion was put forward by C. G. MacNeill, of the Great War Veterans' Association, calling for immediate action in forming a federation, having in view ultimate amalgamation, and an amendment was introduced by J. H. Craig, of the Canadian Legion, asking for two committees to investigate the merits of each form of unity. Both were tabled and substituted by the motion as indicated above.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(Canadian Press)—The annual winter fur auction was opened here Monday with an offering of 400,000 skins, which sold at prices from 25 to 30 per cent. higher than similar skins bought last year. Most of today's offerings were muskrat, with a sprinkling of fisher, marten, otter, lynx and mole. Sales will continue through the week, a total of about 1,600,000 skins being offered.

THE IRISH CONFERENCE

It Is Believed Plans Will Be Made to Hold an Election in Ireland to Confirm Treaty.

ULSTER SITUATION.

DUBLIN, Feb. 7. — (Canadian Press.) —The conference in progress in London between members of the British Cabinet and Southern Irish leaders, is believed in well-informed quarters here not to be concerned principally with the question of Ulster. This question is considered to have been disposed of by the terms of the Anglo-Irish Treaty, approved of by the King, the Lords and the Commons. The fact that the result is disagreeable to Ulster, it is pointed out, was contemplated when the treaty was made, and its nature was estimated as a useful leverage for inducing Ulster to come within the Free State, while retaining her present boundaries for local administration.

The immediate urgent question is the method of bringing the new State into existence together with arranging for a prompt election at which the people may vote for or against the treaty. Government circles here express belief that the majority of the Irish people favor the treaty, but so far no legal means are in existence by which an election to decide this point could be held. The holding of an election of members to the Parliament of the Free State would be effective in this respect, but that Parliament has not yet been constituted and it may be months before the necessary British legislation can set the machinery in motion.

MOSCOW, February 7 (Canadian Press). — The Congress of Far Eastern Peoples, in session here for the past two weeks, with delegates from Japan, China, Korea, Mongolia and the Far Eastern Republic of Siberia in attendance, removed to Petrograd to-day where, after a reception, adjournmen was taken.

The Congress is considered a failure, as the important delegates did not attend, and but scant attention was given those attending by the Soviet Government and the Third Internationale. No important action was taken regarding the work of the Congress and the funds expected were not donated.

HOW TWO WOMEN ESCAPED OPERATIONS

Doctor Advised Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Happy Results in Both Cases

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"Both of my sides swelled and hurt me so that I could not move or do any of my work. There was heavy pressure and pains through my lower organs and the doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for these troubles. He said I had this one chance, and if the Vegetable Compound did not help me nothing but an operation would. After taking several bottles, I felt it was helping me and now I am able to do my own work. If my testimonial will help others I shall be glad for them to read it and hope your Vegetable Compound will do them as much good as it did me." Mrs. Wm. Lockman, 513 N. 4th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

White Plains, N.Y.—"I had such a pain that I could hardly walk and the doctor said that I needed an operation. I was sick for a year before I started taking your medicine and I could not work. I saw your advertisement in a little book and that is how I came to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and the capsules and prescription recommended. I am doing all my work and have gained twenty pounds. I am taking the medicines still, but I feel fine. You have my permission to use this letter for the good of others." Mrs. Mary Mark, 37 Hamilton Ave., White Plains, N.Y.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the commoner ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors, or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

When disturbing ailments first appear, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

QUESTIONS FOR BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Proceedings Will Likely Be Overshadowed By Prospects of General Election.

LONDON, Feb. 6. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—The forthcoming session of the British Parliament, the opening of which takes place to-morrow, is generally regarded as likely to be overshadowed throughout by prospects of a general election. This event, however, will probably not happen until May. The furore which arose recently on the subject, it is now declared, was a false alarm, and the recent speeches delivered by Ministerialists show that whatever breaches in the Coalition had been revealed have been temporarily smoothed over.

There is considerable scepticism apparent as to whether or not the question of the reform of the House of Lords will be seriously tackled at this session of Parliament. According to some observers a deal has been arranged on this question among differing members of the Cabinet whereby the number of Parliamentary lords will be reduced to about 150. This would be accomplished by the self-election process.

Authority of Speaker.

Another question upon which an agreement is said to have been reached concerns the power of the Speaker of the House of Commons to declare on his own authority that any bill is a money bill. This power is to be given to a joint committee of both Houses of Parliament. It is even possible that the Cabinet may consider the question of joint sittings of both houses in cases of disagreement whereby measures which have been passed by a large majority in the House of Commons would be certain of becoming law.

If Viscount Grey takes the part which is expected of him in the House of Lords, questions regarding Egypt and India as well as the European situation generally will come prominently before the public.

Lord Birkenhead, the Lord Chancellor, and other Cabinet ministers have already warned the public that "we are not yet out of the Irish wood."

The Daily News (Asquithian Liberal) seems to support the belief that there is a want of finality in the situation, and this may cause a disturbance among the members of the present Cabinet.

Economic Problems.

Sections of the Press which are inimical to the present government, declare that the resolutions of the Geddes Economic Committee, which aimed at a reduction in Government expenditure of about £200,000,000,

HEADS THACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, which has been on the market for the past forty five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dummer, Ont., writes: "My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

DANGER OF JUST LETTING A COLD RUN ITS COURSE

Common Coughs and Colds That Hang on Persistently Are Apt to Lead to Serious Complications, Declare Authorities.

Public Warned to Beware of a Three Days' Cough and Break It Up Before It's Too Late, by Taking Asprolax, the New Scientific Discovery.

Money Refunded in Every Instance Where Asprolax Fails to Bring Relief.

Leading authorities are using every effort to arouse the public to the danger of letting common colds just run their course, for it is now definitely known that many serious lung complications such as pneumonia, grippe, etc., develop from colds that hang on persistently.

Colds are curable and preventable and Asprolax provides the safest, surest and quickest, as well as the most practical, treatment for colds yet discovered.

Asprolax is almost magical in its effect. The first dose usually stops the tendency to sneezing and coughing and relieves the feeling of discomfort, and the second and third doses usually suffice to stop the progress of a cold altogether.

The wonderful efficiency of Asprolax in breaking up a cold is best shown by the fact that all druggists are instructed to refund money wherever it fails to giv satisfactory results.

DIRECTORS RETURN AND ARE OPTIMISTIC

Enthusiastic Report of Visit to Oil Properties by Messrs. W. J. Braund and W. R. Cowain.

Messrs. W. J. Braund and W. R. Cowain have just returned from studying the possibilities of their Petrolea leasehold. The result is that they are more enthusiastic than ever, if that were possible.

They arranged with a driller to commence operations as soon as he could get his machinery to work. This may take a week when the second well will be developing. They find it better to have three wells in before installing a pumping station.

From this time on it is development as fast as the money in the treasury will let us.

What is the explanation The French are not an unfeeling people. They are an extremely civilized people. Yet they are extraordinarily prone to a kind of jesting—it is much older than Rabelais—that often makes the rest of the world shudder. One element of the Landru joke may be the satire it constitutes on the right propriety of French bourgeois life. Marriage in France is a most serious undertaking, hedged round with all sorts of formalities and precautions in the interest of both parties. But the case with which Landru could entice women within his net was only equalled by the ease with which he could dispose of them.

But these things are only incidental. Probably the true key to the puzzle is that passion for seeing things as they are—an abiding French characteristic. This characteristic enables a Frenchman, while being idolatrously fond of, and submissive to, a particular woman to free himself of all sentiment concerning the sex as a sex. The Frenchman is perhaps as near a sexless being as any man can well be. For him there is only one woman at a time. He is not, like Americans, and English, pay a vaguely sentimental homage to all women.

An American is consumed with disgust for the monster, not because he has killed human beings so much as because he has killed women. Had he killed men the disgust would have been of different kind. The disgust is because he destroyed women and turned to his profit womanhood's most sacred impulses. The woman is envisaged as giving her all for love and receiving a cruel death as a reward.

Why Is It a Joke?

In the converse case: Suppose a female Landru had enticed a number of rather characterless, sensual and self-seeking men to her, killed them and lived off what money and property her victims might have given her or yielded after death. Americans would look on the murderess with horror, but would have no sympathy for the victims. They might even not feel a revulsion were the whole matter given a broadly humorous treatment.

American women, viewing their sex wihtout emotional bias, doubtless have some of this feeling for Landru's victims; the man is detestable and contemptible, but the women are little better. Not so the American man.

Again the joke may be because the French still have a lingering belief in the superiority of private to public justice—which still makes the duel a more respected institution than action for damages.

At any rate, whatever the answer is to what we see as brutality instead of humor, it is due to the hardness of the French head-rather than of the heart. A country where children are worshipped, as in France, is certainly not deficient in human feeling.

CHINESE BANQUET CHURCH FRIENDS.

Provide a Feast That Any King Might Lean To.

A unique and interesting evening was held in the school-room of Murray Street Baptist Church on Friday. The Chinese department of the school had expressed the desire to be hosts at a banquet with their teachers and representative officers of the church as their guests. At seven-thirty a company of about one hundred had assembled. These included all the teachers of the Sunday school, the two superintendents and the secretary, the deacons of the church, and one or two guests from without the church. In each case the wife or husband of the officers was also a guest.

The school-room was decorated with flags and flowers, including the Chinese flag. Four tables in special formation were beautifully set. The menu was of the very highest order: mock turtle soup, fish, roast turkey and joints, pastry, ice cream, fruits, etc. The Orientals had spared neither pains nor expense to make a "a feast a king might lean to." The catering had been undertaken by Mr. Charlie Chue, of The Class Cafe, Simcoe Street, and certainly did him credit.

The waitresses who served in a complimentary way were the young ladies of Mrs. T. Stenton's Sunday school class, who use as their class name the significant term, "The Others."

Mr. L. J. Pettit, B.A., is superintendent of the Chinese department, and was master of ceremonies. Miss Florence Scott and Mrs. Carl S. Browne furnished the music and were so appreciated that they had to come back at the call of the people.

Mr. Lee Tou read the fifth chapter of Matthew in English, after which several complimentary and instructive addresses were given.

Mr. Pettit spoke of the pleasure it gave him and his associates to see the faithfulness of these Chinese to their classes in the school and of their loyalty not only to those who are seeking to help them but to each other. Their appreciation, manifested in so many ways was also dwelt upon.

Mr. Joseph Wearing, as superintendent of the school, made the hosts of the evening understand that the Chinese are regarded as a real part of the organization and that the incident of foreign birth does not place them in any other circle.

The gist of the addresses was interpreted to the Chinese boys by Miss Shearer, who having spent some years in China, has splendid command of the language. She also made a very bright address. Mr. Harry G. Webber represented the deacons and their wives, as he discoursed on the certain results of work among these people. If they remained in this country they were Canadianized and Christianized and helped to better citizenship, and should they return to China, they would carry with them new ideals.

The pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, discerned some contribution which the Chinese people could make to those who are their teachers, and to all with whom they are associated.

Again the joke may be because the French still have a lingering belief in the superiority of private to public justice—which still makes the duel a more respected institution than action for damages.

At any rate, whatever the answer is to what we see as brutality instead of humor, it is due to the hardness of the French head-rather than of the heart. A country where children are worshipped, as in France, is certainly not deficient in human feeling.

Mr. R. H. McCarten in an address that spark led with humor, seconded the sentiments expressed. Mr. Lee Kam replied in English, using well-chosen terms to express the appreciation which all his friends felt in view of what Murray Street Church is doing for them. The evening was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR MUTUAL LIFE.

Annual Statement Should Give Policyholders Cause For Satisfaction.

The 52nd Annual Statement of the business of the Mutual Life of Canada of which Mr. S. C. Gray is the local representative, has just been published, and the policyholders of the company may well congratulate themselves on the results of the last year's operations.

The statement shows that the surplus earnings have been the largest in the history of the company, and when we remember what a record the Mutual Life has already achieved this statement cannot fail to be impressive.

The business of the company is now more than $228,000,000, having increased by $22,000,000 during the year that has past. Another such year will place the company among those having a quarter of a billion dollars of business in force.

But the amount of business written, although satisfactory, is less important than the financial results attained.

Surplus is mainly acquired through the operation of three factors, namely—a low expense ratio, high interest earnings and low mortality. Now it happened that in the year 1921 all these factors operated so as to produce maximum results. The expense ratio, that is the ratio of expense to income, fell from 20.45% to 18.60%. This means that the company's affairs have been economically handled.

The investments were so carefully placed that the interest earnings have risen from 6.41% to 6.69%, that is to say the interest earned on invested assets was on the average 6.60% during the year. Considering the variety of securities the company handles, this average interest rate is exceptionally good. The third feature is notable, because intelligent observers had predicted a heavy mortality in the years immediately following the war. That forecast has proven to be incorrect, and the disbursements for death claims during 1921 were only 41% of the amount that the standard tables of mortality might have led them to expect.

Thus we have in the experience of the Mutual Life during the past year three potent factors at work to increase the profits of the company by the largest amount that has ever been earned in the company's fifty-two years of beneficient work. The company being established on a purely mutual basis, makes this result all the more interesting, because the whole of the surplus is used either to reduce premiums, to increase the amount of the insurance or is paid in cash.

The statement shows that for every $1,000 of invested assets, the company this year has earned $46.47, as against $38.67, in the preceding year, a truly astonishing result. The assets amount to $48,211,203.99, having increased over the preceding year by $5,363,926.73.

By every test the Mutual Life of Canada is in a stronger position today than it has ever been before, and this is saying a good deal, for every one of its fifty-two years has witnessed steady progress, not only in financial standing, but also in the extent of the company's operations. It has been a wonderful year for the policyholders of this popular Canadian Company.

The real test of a life insurance company operating on the participating plan, is its surplus earnings from year to year, and the Mutual has achieved a remarkable record in this respect.

Sermon on Right Thoughts of God

"How shall we think of God?" was the subject of a sermon by the minister of St. Paul's Church on Sabbath evening. It was the first in a series of which he intends preaching on "Some of the Great Doctrines of the Bible." He said in part:

The question, "how shall we think of God?" is no abstract one. There is no more practical question, as it relates to life and experience, than how a man thinks of God. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." As a man thinks of God so is he. "Upon the conception that is entertained of God will depend the nature and quality of the religion of any soul or race." A soldier said to his chaplain during the war, "I'm a Christian, all right, padre; it's what the parsons say about God that stumps me." If the parsons had given the men right views of God such a speech as that would have been impossible.

There are wrong and inadequate views of God. Many have no clear ideas of God's personality. They do not think of Him as their creator and preserver, their father and friend. In fact, many do not think of God at all. They have gotten into the habit, as one has put it, of shelving God. Others think of God as indifferent to the world He has made, or as powerless to interfere. The war was responsible for this idea. "If God be all-powerful," men asked, "then why did He not strike the German Emperor dead or annihilate his army at Leige, as He did the army of Sennacherib?" They renounced faith in God as Job's wife wished her suffering husband to do when she told him to curse God and die. H. G. Wells, to get over some of the difficulties which were created by the war, suggested the idea of a Finite God, a God who was boundless love, boundless courage, and boundless generosity, but a God who was limited in His operations and hence was powerless to put an end to the world struggle.

True Idea of Bible

Over against these wrong and imperfect ideas of God is the true idea of the Bible. Here we learn that God is a Spirit, and as such, He fills immensity, and is able to minister to the wants of all His creatures in all parts of His creation. And He is a personal spirit. As such He can love and pity. He can reward goodness and punish evil doing. As a personal spirit He can make Himself known to our spirits so that we can have fellowship with Him. And He is an almighty spirit. Jesus said: "All things are possible unto Thee." There is one thing God does not do. He does not interfere with the actions of His children in such a way as to destroy the freedom of their wills. And so He allowed Judas to betray Jesus. He allowed His saints to be martyred. He allowed an European war to break out, not because He did not foresee every corollary it would involve, every soldier who would fall and the effect of his falling upon those who loved him, not because as Almighty God He could not have prevented it, but because having created a world of free spirits and made them almost the equal of Himself in the power of choice which they possessed, He would not take from them the high gift of their free agency, and the moral accountability which such a gift involved.

Holiness and Love

Two other elements in God's character are His holiness and love. "Nobody fears God nowadays," said a great preacher to a friend. The reason of that is that people fail to see that God is the infinitely holy one. But God's holiness alone repels rather than draws. But when we say God is holy love, almighty and holy love, then the most guilty draws near to Him and prays, "God be merciful to me a sinner," and knows, as he prays, that his prayer will be heard and that God will forgive his sin, and take him into fellowship with Himself. "He that hath seen me," said Jesus, "hath seen the Father." And the two things which stand out in the picture Jesus gives us of God are holiness and love. His kindness towards the sinner, His longing to uplift, to console and heal, His sympathy with the fallen, His willingness to forgive the repentant soul, are everywhere seen in the Gospels. And we see in Him also the power of God. God's power was seen as much in His miracles of grace, in the transformation He wrought in human lives, as in His miracles in nature. He could not only still the waves on the stormy lake of Galilee, but He could speak peace to the troubled soul. He could not only cleanse the leper, making his flesh like the flesh of a little child, but He could cleanse his soul, also making it like the soul of a little child.

How shall we think of God? We shall think of Him as He is revealed in Jesus Christ. Only in Jesus Christ can we think of Him as almighty and holy love. Not by hard thinking is the knowledge of God which is necessary for a life of peace and joy to be gained, but by looking to the Jesus of the Gospels, by opening our hearts to the reception of the Jesus of the Gospels, and laying bare our lives to the impression left by Jesus in the Gospels.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless, if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, pancreatin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can get almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow, and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

You have weak and dizzy spells, sinking sensations, are nervous irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk up stairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

We know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as will

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes, "I had palpitation of the heart, and the least exercise such as going upstairs or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip hammer and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near.

A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I procured three boxes and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now, although in my 66th year I feel like a young girl; no dizziness or heart-thumping and can walk miles without fatigue. At time of sickness I weighed 120 pounds, now I weigh 150."

The Brigade laid 1,300 feet of hose, used 27 gallons of chemical extinguisher, and 60 feet of ladders. The horses were drilled twice daily, 308 inspections of buildings in the business section were conducted by the department, and the Chief made 22 factory inspections, 10 hotels and 10 inspections of institutional buildings. One member was off duty because of an injury received in the performance of his duty, from Nov. 18 until the time of writing. His place was filled each day by a member of the off duty platoon.

The report for January read that there were 21 fires, with a total damage of $1,774.65. The Brigade laid 3,150 feet of hose, used 51 gallons of chemicals, and used 20 feet of ladders. The horses were drilled twice daily during the month. The men were sent in platoons to visit the Canadian Packing Company's factory on the 9th and to the Quaker Oats on the 11th and 13th. SALE OF MERCHANTS BANK WEDNESDAY IS FORECAST

Sufficient Majority of Shareholders Have Given Approving Proxies.

MONTREAL, February 7 (Canadian Press). — It is learned on good authority here to-day that proxies for the special meeting of the shareholders of the Merchants' Bank on Wednesday next in this city to the number of over 82,000 shares have been received so that the success of the plan of sale to the Bank of Montreal is asured. The total number of shares outstanding is 105,000, so that anything over 70,000 shares would be sufficient to give the two-thirds vote required to put the deal through as proposed.

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water and 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not colour the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INS. STAFF

Hold Annual Convention Meeting

Mr. N. A. Kastner, manager of Peterborough district for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., has returned from the New York annual convention of managers, and held a meeting of this district's representatives.

After a special banquet was served he gave the record of the company's achievements for 1921.

The year just past was truly a remarkable one, in that the Metropolitan wrote $1,564,789,607.00 of insurance, a sum that is larger than any other company on the American continent has ever placed in one year.

This, added to the amount of insurance in force, reaches the tremendous sum of $7,005,707,839.00, and much larger than any other company in the world. A very substantial gain was made in the surplus of the company, which is now $47,241,179.50.

The policy-holders this year of this company will share in dividends to the extent of almost 15 millions of dollars, due to the careful management by the executive officers in New York.

To give some idea of the scope of the Metropolitan's business, they paid 1,071 claims a day, and they also issued 15,008 new applications per day, and these produced $5,181,423 of new insurance per day, and last, but not least, a sum of $445,928.94 was added to the assets of the company each day, which are now the prodigious sum of $1,115,583,024.54, larger than any life insurance company in the world.

The record of the Peterborough district was reviewed by Mr. Kastner and some splendid records were made. One representative placed in the ordinary department $323,000, and at this junction the record of Medric Monast was commented upon, who placed over 2 million and a quarter, without including group insurance.

Peterborough stood ninth in Canada, and, considering the period of re-adjustment, the showing was splendid.

One unique feature of this company's work was the free nursing given by the company to industrial policy-holders, and the number of visits by our nurses was 2,116 875 in 1921, and when you consider that 322,171 sick people were cared for by expert nurses, we should feel that we have certainly played a helpful role in our different communities.

The company also held numerous picnics for policy-holders, at which thousands availed themselves of a brief relaxation from their duties.

During 1921 you distributed 25 million copies of health literature, and thereby imparted medical knowledge and preventative measures to millions of people, who might otherwise have become ill and thereby suffered loss through being away from their work.

You also helped to save 55,000 people from dying, due to the intelligent co-operation of yourselves with the nurses, and, as I have said, to putting this literature in the hands of the people who followed out the suggestions contained therein.

There is no doubt that the year 1922 holds great possibilities for us in Peterborough district, and already signs point to a revival of business in all lines.

Mr. J. A. Tedford, assistant manager, spoke on the investment feature of this company in Canada, showing where they have invested $62,000,000, thereby exceeding by over $22,000,000 the amount received by the company in premiums from the Canadian policy-holders.

Other features were touched on by Mr. Tedford, who felt there was much reason to feel optimistic for the coming year.

Assistant Manager Tobin laid down some vigorous plans for this year in the line of ordinary and industrial production, and stated that the time to boost our records was the present. He also reviewed the company's progress in the last ten years, and pointed out the contrast in representing this company now to what it was in those times.

The meeting closed with cheers for the Metropolitan and for Manager Kastner and Assistant Managers Tobin and Tedford.

Benny Leonard's Crown Is Safe So Far as Joe Benjamin Is Concerned

(By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Benny Leonard becomes more of a champion every time one of the rising young contenders shows himself.

Instead of bringing him to that well-known top of the hill, each day seems to dig the lightweight titleholder deeper in his domain.

The most recent of the young pretenders to the throne to show himself far away from the crown is Joe Benjamin, the good-looking boy from the coast.

Benjamin bumped his toe on that champion hope-wrecker, Johnny Dundee, and he lost a 15-round decision last night in Madison Square Garden.

The junior lightweight champion showed the fastidious Joe that he doesn't possess the speed, the skill, or the knowledge to lift a hand against Leonard.

Just twenty-three, Benjamin has a chance to make something out of himself. He's game, has a fairly good punch and gets around well—but he doesn't know enough now for a crafty fighter like the two leaders of the lightweight division.

Benjamin is the best-looking boy in the ring and he has to be game to overcome it. Such things as "Pretty boy," 'Where's your powder puff?" hurled at him from the mixed crowds that always pack the garden, made the going hard for him, but he made the grade.

The arrival of Tommy Gibbons in town caused more pugilistic talk to get to the front. The St. Paul light-heavyweight is here to find out what Tex Rickard knows about Carpentier's contract. Gibbons says that all the challenges that have been hurled at him have come to his notice only in the papers. He has not heard any real talk straight from Harry Greb, Gene Tunney or any of the other light-heavies.

Tom's brother, Mike, who has been campaigning on high speed among the middleweights for a year, can have Dave Rosenberg, the former amateur, any time he wants him, according to a challenge issued today by Rosenberg's manager.

SPORT GOSSIP

Pete Darch, the Port Hope hockey player, has been repatriated. Since the memorable game in Oshawa three weeks ago, when the Hopers won in overtime, Darch has been in the hands of the enemy with a fracture of the leg. Now he is home again for the Picton-Port Hope series.

Uxbridge, winners of group four, play at Toronto to-night in the first game of the second round series with Toronto A. C.

Lindsay Midgets came out on top at Cobourg last night, winning by 4 to 3. The Cobourgers blame the soft ice for their defeat.

The local O. A. B. A. junior team left for Belleville at noon, to play the second game with the Quinte town five. All the regulars made the trip.

Lakeviews and Holy Name went through their Junior City Hockey League games last night without scoring. Ther opponents also failed to beat the goalers, and the standing of the two teams remains unchanged. Neither team has been defeated. Tuxis Boys got a counter in the second period of a lively game with Duffus Devils, and were returnei winners.

A meeting of the P.A.A.A. will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

A Little Sporting Gossip

The P.A.A.A. is branching out into a new line of activity this week when boxing and wrestling classes will be organised. A meeting has been called for Wednesday night at 8 o'clock of all those who are interested in the mitt game or the mat pastime. The session will be held in the Chamber of Commerce, and there should be a good attendance. The new branch of the P.A.A.A. promises to be a success, as there is a good opening in Peterborough for training in these lines.

Neither of the leading teams in the Junior City League has yet been beaten, but both had a close call last night. The Lakeviews played a scoreless tie with the Young Men's Club, while the Holy Name and Canadian Woollens also ran into a drawn game. The hockey in the Junior loop is improving every week, and the games from now on should be full of interest.

Chris Bergoine, goalkeeper of the Senior Lakeviews, and Jimmy McMartin, defence man of the same team, had a great time rooting against each other in the Junior City League game between Lakeview Juniors and the Young Men's Club last night. Bergoine is manager of the latter organisation, while McMartin keeps a fatherly eye over the activities of the Lakeview youngsters. Honours were even last night, for neither team was able to score.

"Lakefield is now in Peterborough's class, and, like them, can hang up their sticks for the season, so far as the O.H.A. is concerned."

After reading that, the Petes will realise they are being kidded by experts.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"Don't go on the ice until the band starts." — Jim Coursey.

Fans who like to wager on unusual features of hockey can perhaps make up a bet as to when the Lakeviews are going to score a goal at the south end of the rink. The winners of the first section have yet to register one in that net.

Fred Martin's Lindsay Midgets are still wearing their winning smile. They walked right into Cobourg last night and beat the Horse Show town kids by 4 to 3, and should have little trouble in passing on into the next round. Although you never can tell about Junior games.

That the Junior City League teams are evenly matched is shown by the fact that in the five games played last night there will be three drawn contests and in the other two the winners only had a one-goal margin. No team scored more than two goals, and the total counters hung up in the five fixtures only amounted to twelve.

Down in Picton to-night the Canners and the Finnegan Hills outfit from Port Hope will engage in mortal combat. Both teams expect to win handily, but on their record the Ontario's should be good enough to annex the round. It will not be an easy task, however, if Croft is as good as he was in the Peterborough series.

Joking aside, the local girls are to be congratulated upon the improvement their playing is showing. Most of them are fast skaters, and the stick-handling of the team is rapidly growing better. They play Campbellford on Friday night, and their rivals of last season will find themselves up against a much more difficult proposition than last year.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"You don't see a picture like that every day", said someone coming from the matinee at the Capitol Theatre yesterday afternoon, and the crowd that gathered in the evening was sufficient witness to the public desire to see the screened version of the loves and adventures of Lady Babbie, Barrie' winsome madcap heroine, and the "Little Minister' of Thrums, with his serious young face and his devotion to the "Auld licht" ministry.

"Comin' thru the Rye" and other of the old Scotch songs sung through the scenes where Babbie, in her gypsy costume, bewitches the dignified young minister, where she causes him to give the signal that warns the rebellious weavers of the approach of the hated red-coats, makes him shield her against his will by declaring that she is his wife, and thus, unknowingly, sealing them both in the bonds of matrimony by the ancient Scotch rite, befools and beguiles him, and then admonishes the rioters to "dinna heed this little mon", the "little" being the constant thorn in the life of Gavin Dishart.

"You are everything that a woman ought not to be", he tells her sternly and then we find him kneeling in the wood, to pray that he may be given strength to resist her, with the final plea to "please guard her and guide her, for she's so bonny."

Audrew Maelmaker, the weaver who prays so well on Sunday and fights so valiantly during the week; the old Nanny, shrinking from the poorhouse; and the three high-hatted elders, who witness most of Gavin's shy courtship, and then meet in solemn conclave to call him to account for his treachery to the sacred ministry; are all human and lovable touches. The three regard him as a lost soul when they discover Babbie's rose in his Bible, but prepare to tear up their long inscribed indictment when he confesses that he gave the signal that roused the rioting weavers, and they finally defy the old laird, Babbie's grandfather, to separate the lad and lassie. Human interest, the loveable and sweet emotions of young and innocent hearts, the victorious triumph of love over duty, in some lovely backgrounds of Scottish beauty, make this a really unforgettable presentation of the whimsical Barrie masterpiece.

A laughable comedy and the usual excellent short reels round out a most enjoyable programme.

AT THE GRAND.

'BECAUSE SHE LOVED HIM SO

If you want to have a really good laugh, you don't want to miss this week's offering at the Grand by the ever popular Rex & Co.

"Because She Loved Him So" is the title of this delightful little comedy of every day life that can, might and does, happen to young married couples in nearly every walk of life.

Rex, in the part of Oliver West the young benedict and Zana Vaughn as his ever suspicious young wife, are both admirable in their parts, while Miss Winters and Wm. Yule as the old Mother and Father of the jealous young bride, who had never had a cross word in their 30 years of married life, but decided to pretend to have a real good fight in order to show the young couple the folly of their ways, were excellent in thir respective parts.

The other minor parts were all handled cleverly by the balance of cast, and the scenic effects were especially good this week.

Altogether this week's offering will stand out as on of the best yet presented by the Company. Miss Williams gave us another one of her inimitable character Specialties and the Park kiddies were as pleasing as ever.

As Rex announced last evening, next week would end the Company's engagement in Peterboro for this season as they have to fill a previous contract for the balance of the season in Belleville. Peterboro' playgoers should make a special effort to witness the present offering of "Because She Loved Him So" and the farewell performance of "Stop Thief" billed for their closing three days next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

AN EXQUISITE FILM FROM "EVANGELINE"

Those interested in pictorial and dramatic beauty will find much that is exceedingly worth while in the William Fox motion picture version of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's exquisite poem, "Evangeline" — a classic the world over, which will be presented at the Grand Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

First of all must be noted the beauty of the production. The land of Acadie and the little village of Grand-Pre are wonderfully visualized as are the wanderings of the unhappy Acadians after their exile.

Much credit is due Miriam Cooper for her interpretation of the title role. Her mobile face reflects every thought of the unfortunate heroine from the happy days in Acadie through the agony of the exile to the final reunion in old age with her lover Gabriel.

Spottiswoode Aiken appears as Evangeline's father, James Marcus as Basil the Blacksmith, and Paul Weigel as Father Felician. R. A. Walsh has certainly gained new aurels by his direction of this charming picture.

That a poetic masterpiece of the delicate texture of "Evangeline" should be adapted for the screen without the sacrifice of any part of its charm as literature is an astonishing feat—and one that places William Fox several steps further forward in the true advancement of motion picture.

An added attraction will be the singing of Hilda Frances Kilgore, a concert soprano soloist of New York City. Peterboro is to be favored with this her second appearance in Canada.

AT THE ROYAL.

The Foolish Age, at the Royal, is a comedy drama in which comedy of a high and refined class predominates. It is the story of a girl who tries to mix oil with water. The girl is daughter of a rich man and, on her day of graduation from college, hears an address which advocates making the down-trodden of the world all happy. With the enthusiasm of youth she renounces her wealthy fiance and goes in for mission work in the slums. The gangsters and tough element take advantage of her well meaning but unwisely palmed efforts. At last the girl is brought to her senses and the play terminates happily. Moral Fible is a drama that savors of Moliere or Racine. It seems to carry a distinctly French atmosphere throughout. A girl and her brother live in a small town or village. To the town comes a vision of beauty clad in the most recent styles. The visitor poses to the brother as being a single woman. He falls madly in love with her and just as he is about to ask her hand in marriage the beauty's husband arrives on the scene. The young man, heart-broken by the duplicity of this siren, commits suicide. His sister vows she will make the other woman pay in full for deceiving her brother and the play shows how she does it. Bettina in the serial, 'Breaking Through,' last night was greeted with applause as she carried out more of her death-defying stunts. Larry Semon in The Bakery, kept the audience in a roar of laughter.

"BEHOLD MY WIFE!" APPEALING PICTURE OF BIG NORTH-WEST.

Sir Gilbert Parker's Novel Is Translated to Screen by George Melford.

An appealing story of the Canadian North-West is promised in George Melford's latest production, "Behold My Wife!" which will be seen at the Regent Theatre to-day. The picture was adapted from a novel by Sir Gilbert Parker.

The action centres around the incongruous marriage of Frank Armour, the younger son of an aristocratic English family, and Lali, granddaughter of an Indian chieftain, whom he meets while serving as an officer of the Hudson's Bay Company in North-Western Canada. On his return to the comapny's trading post from a hunting expedition, Armour receives word that his fiancee in England has jilted him, largely on account of his family's opposition to her. In a moment of drunken rage, Armour marries the Indian maiden and sends her back to England to humiliate his family. How, through the efforts of Frank's elder brother, she develops into a beautiful and polished young woman and how young Armour himself is regenerated forms the theme of the story.

Director Melford has developed the story amid a rugged atmosphere of rare beauty, thoroughly in keeping with the theme. The notable cast includes Elliott Dexter, Mabel Julienne Scott, Milton Sills, and Ann Forrest. The picture is a Paramount.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Market News

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(Canadian Press.)— With few exceptions the stock market made further substantial gains at active opening of today's session. Junior Rails, Independent Steels and Oils again led thes advance. Erie First Preferred rose 1 1-4 points, and accumulation of St. Paul Preferred, St. Louis South Western Preferred, New Haven and Rock Island was in progress. An early rise of 1 3-4 points in Gulf Steels was soon increased to 2 3-4 points. Great Northern Ore also coming briskly forward. Marland was strongest of Oils with Mexican and California Petroleums.

Among these were Cocoa Cola, Owens Bottle, United States' Cast Iron Pipe, Martin Parry and Kelsey Wheel Preferred. Pressure against Pierce Arrow Preferred extended to Common, and Woolworth reacted, despite its favorable annual statement. Tobaccos also gave way on selling of Sumatra, and Standard Steels and Equipments reflected realizing sales.

AKIN TO BEING LOST IN THE SAHARA

KHARKOFF, Feb. 2.—(Associated Press.)—Being a foreign prisoner in the Ukraine is akin to being lost in the Sahara.

The Mustapha Kemal government at Angora, Turkey, recently negotiated a treaty with the Ukraine under the terms of which there was to be a mutual exchange of prisoners.

A delegation of Turks came to Kharkoff and after paying diplomatic courtesies inquired at the Foreign Office for a list of the Turks who were imprisoned in the Ukraine. But neither that office, the war office nor the wardens of the prisons had any list.

"Go in and ask the prisoners," the wardens told the Turks.

So the Turkish delegation went shouting through prison corridors for all Turks to come forward and rounded up 1,300 Turkish subjects who were sent back to the land of Mustapha Kemal.

Most of these Turks were officers and crews of small ships which had entered Ukainian ports with merchandise. After they had sold their goods they were arrested by Ukrainian officials who confiscated their money and sent the Turks to Kharkoff, the new capital of the Ukrainian republic. The Turks say they were honest merchants. The Ukrainians say they were smugglers.

PARLIAMENT RE-OPENS.

King George Looks With Favour Upon the Results of the Washington Conference.

LONDON, February 7 (Canadian Press). — The Imperial Parliament, which prorogued on 19th December, to await the action on the Irish Treaty by the Dail Eireann, was re-opened to-day with the reading of the Speech from the Throne by the King.

Regarding the Treaty, the King said Parliament would be called upon to consider "such measures as may be necessary to give effect to the agreement."

He also touched upon the negotiations for a pact with France, and paid a high tribute to the accomplishments of the Washington Conference.

A GOOD THOUGHT.

"When the doors were shut—Jesus came." When the disciples locked the doors to prevent interruption, Christ knew that He was sure of a welcome. He had been waiting for this opportunity to manifest Himself unto them. He could not speak to His friends in the presence of His enemies. He could not get their ear on account of the din and confusion that came through the open doors. Have you ever tried to carry on a conversation over the telephone in a room full of uproar? Then you know why "Jesus came, when the doors were shut." Closing the door to the world is opening the door to the Master. He is always passing by thse doors that are wide-open to all the frivolity and vanity of men; but whenever he finds the door shut to these things, He seeks admission —He knows there is room for Him on the other side of the closed door.

COMFORTABLE BED SHOES.

Outing flannel bed shoes or slippers are a real luxury in winter to old and young who are troubled with cold feet. They are cut like the foot of a stocking, coming up well over the ankle, where an elastic or ribbon is run in to hold them in place. They should be made double with an interlining of wadding. Finish the top with a narrow crocheted wool, lace or a narrow binding of fur if you happen to have it.

These bed shoes make very acceptable gifts to old people, being both comfortable and convenient, as they can be rolled up in the night robe in the morning and are always at hand upon retiring.

NO CANADIAN "UNKNOWN."

OTTAWA, February 7 (Canadian Press). — It is now believed here that the proposal to buy a Canadian "Unknown Soldier" at the Capital will not be carried out by the present Government.

KEEP EGGS FRESH

Eggs may be preserved for home use in a solution of water glass. A standard grade of water glass can be obtained at drug stores for about 75 cents per gallon, if bought in moderately large quantities. Each quart of water glass should be diluted with 10 quarts of water which has been boiled and cooled. Only strictly fresh, newly laid, clean eggs should be placed in the solution. The eggs may be packed in stone jars which have been washed thoroughly in scalding water, and the water glass solution poured over them, or the eggs may be placed daily in the solution by putting them down in it carefully by hand so as to avoid breaking them. The solution at all times should cover the eggs to a depth of at least two inches. The jars should be put in a cool, dark place before the eggs are deposited in them, and should not be moved, because breakage and loss may result. The water glass solution may become cloudly, but this is a natural condition and should cause no alarm. Eggs may be kept fresh for many months in this way.

HIS WIFE WAS ILL WITH HEART DISEASE

BUT NOW HE PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Jules Fouquereau Claims that His Wife After Using Dodd's Kidney Pills Gained 25 Pounds. That's Why He Recommends Them.

NOMINIQUE, Nord, Que., Feb. 6.—(Special)—Few persons in Canada are more enthusiastic in their praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills than Mr. Jules Fouquereau, pere, a well-known and respected resident here.

"Yes' Dodd's Kidney Pills are good" he almost shouts. "It was my wife who was ill of heart disease. She took Dodd's Kidney Pills and she has gained twenty-five pounds.

"I am only too glad to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Heart disease is not kidney disease, but like dropsy, rheumatism, urinary troubles, etc., it is caused by by diseased kidneys, failing to strain the impurities out of the blood. The natural way to treat is to treat the kidneys. Make the kidneys healthy and they will strain out the impurities and the cause of the trouble is gone.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make sound, healthy kidneys.

THE NEW POPE.

ROME, Feb. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—When some of the Cardinals attached to what has become known as "irreconciliables," attempted to persuade the newly-elected Pope not to appear on the balcony to bestow Papal blessing shortly after his election was announced, he waited for a few moments without speaking. Then he said with a firm tone: "Remember I am no longer Cardinal. I am supreme Pontiff now."

REMOVES HAIRY GROWTHS WITHOUT PAIN OR BOTHER

(Modes of Today)

It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these beauty destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment, be careful to get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

YOUTH WOOS DEATH WHEN LOVE BARRED

"Holy Roller" Student Takes Poison When Mission Breaks Up His Engagement.

RENOUNCED BY GIRL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—This is a tale of the course of true love as a boy and girl found it in the Beulah Mission, a seminary in North Bergen, N.J., here missionaries and ministers of the Pentecostal faith, better known as "Holy Rollers" perfect themselves in their calling. The affair met all the proverbial requirements about the bumps in true love's course. Its culmination came when the boy, Ralph Ballard, attempted suicide by drinking iodine.

In his cell in North Bergen Police Headquarters Ralph told his story. He described how he "had heard the call" and had entered Beulah Mission from Philadelphia last October to study for missionary work in Japan. In the same month Grace Furbish of Old Orchard Me., had listened to the same "call" and had enrolled in the Bergen institution. They had discovered a mutual liking that soon ripened into love.

Ralph related how their courtship had been carried on mainly by letter due to the fact that on practically every occasion they had seen each other the teachers and students of the mission had been around them. Their correspondence had been and the two were forbidden to speak or to comunicate in any way. Then the end came.

They Pray Over the Girl.

Students and teachers, so Ralph said, exhorted the pair to "get rid of the evil spirit that possessed them." They were advised to submit to the ordeal of being "prayed over." This Ralph refused, because, he said, he felt he had done nothing wrong. He loved Grace and wanted to marry her as soon as they had completed their studies. Except for the inconvenience of being forbidden to communicate with one another he was glad that everybody should learn of the whole business.

Grace agreed to try the efficacy of prayer. Ralph said that he did not witness the ceremony but later was informed by students that it had been eminently successful. His sweetheart they told him, had recanted, had failed him as he saw it. He was taunted with this fact he said, until he felt that there was nothing in the world to left for him but to die.

He took the bottle of iodine and was about to swallow the poison when three students seized him. The police were sumoned. Attempted suicide is a felony in New Jersey and Ralph was taken to headquarters.

The lad is slightly built and under-sized. He is nervous his mouth twitching under the strain of excitement so that at times it is hard for him to speak. He explained that a few years ago he suffered a complete nervous break-down but was getting much better now.

Only Once He Kissed Her.

"She overlooked my infirmity" he he said. "She urged me to stick to it and be a man and promised that we would be married just as soon as we got through our studies. They said that our love took our thoughts from God. It did nothing of the kind. It just opened our hearts.

"I can't tell exactly when we began to love each other. I think, though, it was at Christmas time. I sent Grace a note of cheer. Then she wrote me that she feared she loved me with more than a Christian love. And I told her I loved her the same way. You see, we had to work all the time ,except for our classroom periods and a period of day for recreation. I only saw Grace when the others were with us.

"No, that's not entirely so. Once

Eleven Causes Exist For Moral Standard

Crime Causes Traced to the War—Breakdown of the Mental Barriers—Standard Is Lower To-Day.

EFFECT BOLSHEVISM

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Eleven causes exist for a lowered moral standard which has become reflected in the wave of crimes throughout the United States during the last two years, according to William B. Joyce, President of a large concern here.

Each of these causes can be traced to the breakdown of the mental barriers under which people were formerly able to repress the passions of greed, envy and malice, and to stifle criminal impulses which are now permitted to run riot, he believes.

Figures compiled through recent records of the company in its business of "underwriting honesty," show that five times the number of embezzlements and 10 times the number of burglaries recorded in 1910 occurred in 1920. In his statement, Mr. Joyce shows how the war was a contributing factor to this increase in crime, directly and indirectly, and offers some suggestion for means of combatting the evil, foremost among which is "a changed attitude and spirit among the American people themselves."

His 11 Causes.

The 11 causes are cited as follows:

"Widespread lessening of respect for law and property. This follows every war and is manifested today throughout the country, and the entire world by individuals in many social classes, both high and low.

"More opportunities for dishonesty exist. Millions of dollars worth of negotiable securities have been carried through the streets with insufficient protection.

"Much discontent exists. A revengeful spirit has been bred by published reports of great fortunes amassed through the war.

"Criminals drafted into the war have returned more skilled in the use of firearms and more indifferent regarding their own and other people's lives.

"High war wages led to extravagant standards of living. The wages are gone but extravagant tastes, breeding desperate impulses, remain.

"Thousands of people who were attracted to the big cities by high wages have refused to return to their home towns, and as their savings and earnings have decreased, their discontent has bred criminal impulses.

"Published reports of enormous flotations of investment securities have made many people think they are not getting their real share of the nation's wealth, and they nurse the thought as a real grievance.

Bolshevism's Effect.

"The doctrines of Bolshevism have furnished a false but potent cause for many crimes.

"Inadequate accounting methods in business have arisen out of the building up of "big" business too quickly.

"Employing without investigation dangerous criminals and former prison inmates who posed as clerks, servants and ex-service men.

"Lavish and unseemly display of valuables in public places has produced envy and resentment among the unfortunate and evil-minded. It has also made robbery easy."

Joyce urged the enactment of more severe penalties, including life sentences for all burglars, and "common sense methods by employers and those owning valuables" as a means to checking the wave.

Prohibition is, temporarily, causing much incidental crime in the United States, in his opinion. But he was anxious to make it plain that this fact—"which everyone knows"—can not be construed as an argument against the present prohibition law.

SKELETONS STREW STEPPES IN HEAPS

UFA, Volga Region, Russia, Feb. 8.—When the snows melt next spring the Russian steppes will be strewn with skeletons. They will resemble the high prairies of the Canadian cow country in the days when big cattle outfits had insufficient hay to carry their stock through a hard winter.

But among the skeletons of cattle and camels there will be the bones of hundreds of thousands of men, women and children who fell exhausted in their quest for bread; who lived the simple lives their peasant ancestors lived for centuries and had little conception of the political upheaval which made this famine more terrible than that of 1891.

They wandered, and millions of them are still wandering. There was nothing to eat in their homes, so they started on the trek for bread. Some drifted westward to the Volga and found death in the typhus-ridden railway centres, or among the horrors of refugee camps along the Volga; others started for Turkestan, still others moved eastward toward Siberia, the land of gold and wheat, which has always been so alluring to the Russian mujik who heard little of its vastness, its hardships and its heartlessness.

The peasants knew nothing of modern ways. They were unable to buy tickets on the railways, unable to get permits to ride on trains burdened with the Red Army and food for Moscow and Petrograd. When their animals dropped dead the families walked on, always hoping that food lay over the next knoll.

Have No Grain.

But the country districts have no grain or, if peasant families have a small supply, they conceal it in the effort to prolong their own lives until another crop is harvested. In the larger towns there is food for sale at fabulous prices, but the starving refugees have neither money nor goods to exchange and can only sit down to await death or trudge on till they sink of exhaustion.

The bodies which lie along the railroads are collected on cars and hauled to centres where they are piled in frozen, snow-covered heaps to await burial. Freezing refugees remove all garments from the dead, so the frozen bodies are nude when the scavengers collect them.

Families drift apart and wander aimlessly on to their inevitable fate. Human instincts are lost, and they become little better than beasts. The city and town populations are so hardened to suffering that they are little moved by the misery which lies all about them. Death seems more merciful in the country for the refugees; they sink into the white covering of the endless plain and wolves strip their bones.

From Perm and Ekaterinburg to the Caspian Sea death is stalking over the steppes. Russians, Cossacks, Kalmucks, Kirghiz and Tartars alike are meeting their end with the hopelessness and patience begotten of centuries of unequal strug-

DETECTIVE STEALS WIFE AND LETS HUSBAND PAY BILLS FOR SUPPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Accustomed as he is to hearing tales of unusual domestic tangles, Judge Arnold Heap in Morals Court, dropped his jaw and gasped when Dr. Sebastian Becker told his troubles.

The doctor swore out a warrant in the court for the arrest of Ray W. Smedley a detective.

He said that his wife disappeared several weeks ago and Smedley came to him offering to find her. There began then, he said, what he thought was a cross-country search for the wife, for bills came from cities all the way to the Atlantic coast.

When Smedley had spent $900, Dr. Becker said he became disgusted and secretly put the search in the hands of another agency.

This agency straightway found Mrs. Becker living with Smedley, the detective, the irate husband charged, in a South Side residential hotel.

The money he had paid out, he said, had been used by the detectives to support the woman, for whom he as supposed to be looking.

"I consider that going a little too far" Dr. Becker complained. "He stole her and made me support them."

TWO SESSIONS.

The Orangemen of the County of West Peterboro met in Victoria Hall yesterday afternoon and evening. The meeting was attended by a large number of members from the county. The afternoon was taken up particularly with the appointing of committees to go over the reports of the year just closed, which proved to be a very successful one in the history of the Orange Order. The evening session, which was presided over by the Worshipful County Master Bro. George Porter, was resumed at 7:30 p.m. Routine of a business character was taken up after which the County Master gave a very interesting address and a report of his work during the year just closed. He outlined the work for the officers elect for 1922. Bro. Porter expressed his appreciation of services rendered him by every member of the Order and gave an invitation to every member and their friends to attend a meeting in Victoria Hall next Tuesday evening. He then declared all offices vacant and called upon Bro. J. H. Spence, Past County Master, to take the chair and proceed with the election and installation of officers, which resulted ts follows:

Special mention was made of Bro. George Bartley's services to the county and the Orange Association at large, Bro. Bartley as Rec.-Secretary, having been in office without a rival since 1910, and during that time he has been warmly commended for the way in which the books of the order are kept.

Bro. Reid also gave an address going into details concerning the work of the order and outlining the benefits received, as from the Sentinel.

MAINTENANCE COST OF SCHOOLS TO BE HIGHER

Estimates Presented to the School Board Last Evening — Still Considerable Sickness Due to Epidemics of Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria — Close Watch on Schools.

REPORTS PRESENTED.

For maintenance of the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute in 1922 the Board of Education is asking the Council for $195,000. This is $3,900 more than in 1921. Last night, at the February meeting, the Board passed upon the estimates for this year, and the following resolution, moved by J. M. Greene, chairman of the Finance Committee, and seconded by R. Denne, was adopted:

"That pursuant to the Public Schools Act, Section 46, and the High Schools Act, Section 37, the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough be and they are hertby requested to pay the Treasurer of the Board of Education in monthly instalments, the money to be used for current expenses for the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute for the year 1922 as follows:

January 15th	$20,000.00
February 15th	16,000.00
March 1st	16,000.00
April 1st	16,000.00
May 1st	16,000.00
June 1st	16,000.00
July 1st	16,000.00
August 1st	9,000.00
September 1st	16,000.00
October 1st	22,000.00
November 1st	16,000.00
December 1st	16,000.00
	$195,000.00

and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the City Council."

Public School Estimates.

Mr. Greene pointed out that the estimates for the Public Schools called for some $5,000 less than in 1921. The estimates for the Collegiate Institute were up because of the convertion of the old South Central School to their use. The upward grading of salaries, extra fuel and the elimination of fees to resident pupils accounted for the increase of $9,000 in Collegiate requirements this year. While the total asked for was $3,900 greater than in 1921, Mr. Greene said there was a gain in attendance of 200.

THREE OVERCOATS FOR MEN FASHION.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—Three overcoats, to say nothing of the raglan or polo ulster, are essential to the well dressed man, according to a fashion committee of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America, whose report setting forth the styles for 1922 has been adopted by the association.

"Three overcoats are neede by the proper dresser," says the report, "one for town use, one for dressy occasions, and one for traveling or country use. The town overcoat should hang moderately straight from the shoulders and not define the figure too closely at the waist-line. The collar should be of the same material as the coat. The dressy overcoat should fit the form more snugly, with the collar and turned back cuffs of the same material as the coat. The overcoat for the country or travel may be single or double-breasted, hanging loosely."

THE SPITE HOTEL FOLLOWS REFUSAL

Sale of Famous Hotel Recalls Story of How Million Dollar Structure Was Built.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The recent sale of Hotel Kaaterskill recalls to old New Yorkers the story of how this million-dollar hostelry at the highest point in the Catskill Mountains was built through revenge.

James McArdle, a building contractor, who worked on the hotel when it was built in 1882, tells the story.

George Harding, a multi-millionaire patent attorney of Philadelphia, with other wealthy men, visited a small mountain hotel in the Catskills every summer." Mr. McArdle reminiscensed "The lawyer's wife was an invalid. One summer in the mountains she showed marked improvement. She had not eaten a substantial meal for months, but at 4 o'clock one morning she called her husband and told him she would like some roast chicken.

"Overjoyed at her sudden turn for the better, Mr. Harding asked the night clerk and the chef for some chicken. He was referred to the proprietor, a surly fellow who catered to no one.

If you want roast chicken at this hour of the morning why don't you build a mountain resort of your own?" the innkeeper sarcastically demanded. Harding thought the matter over and a few days later went to the proprietor and said:

"I have thought over what you said the other morning and have decided to build a litle mountain resort." A few days later Mr. Harding bought up all the land about the little mountain house, so that the man who incurred his wrath didn't even have a road down the mountain.

"Then he started in to build a hotel that would make the old mountain house look like a deserted railway station. A railroad was built to ascend the mountain. There were all possible accommodations. A band played all day and an orchestra all evening. The hotel was so big that the band playing at one corner could not be heard at another.

"The small mountain house soon went out of business, but later Mr. Harding gave the man he had rebuked at the cost of a million dollars a job in his hostelry."

A Large Number of Leading Unionists Were Kidnapped and Taken to An Unknown Destination.

ACTION THREATENED.

BELFAST, Feb. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—A large number of leading Unionists of the Counties of Fermanagh and Tyrone in Ulster, including Major Anketell Mourtry, head of the Tyrone Orangemen and former High Sheriff Carson of County Fermanagh, were kidnapped from their homes early to-day and taken to an unknown destination. Fifteen arrests have been made and forces known as "B Spreads," have been mobilized in Tyrone and Fermanagh and rushed to the scenes of the kidnapping. The Ulster government has announced drastic measures. Carson resisted for over an hour, but was wounded and carried off. A merchant named Elliott, at Enniskillen, fired on the raiders, and it is believed he wounded one of them. He made his escape.

A party of "specials" was ambushed near Newtonbutler last night by a party of armed men and in an engagement which followed both sides sustained casualties. While this fight proceeded other constables in the district were carried off by the raiders.

Warning Recalled.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Developments in the Irish situation have brought back forcibly to the public mind the words of Bonar Law used last session in the House of Commons as he made the peace treaty completely safe by coming out in its support.

"This is not the time for throwing caps in the air," he added. "Six months hence, I do not think this treaty will be a political asset to the Prime Minister, but I hope that in the distant future, by the verdite of posterity, it will be found to be a triumph for him.

"It is absurd to think we have settled the Irish question. Ireland is in a state of demoralization and chaos as great as has ever occurred in the history of any country. There are going to be terrible difficulties, but I see this prospect for us at any rate. Up to now there has never been any public opinion in the South of Ireland except hatred of this country. Whatever else happens we are more or less out of the picture. If they must fight they will fight each other."

Apart from the actual problem of how the boundary difficulty is to be overcome, speculation in political circles is turning to-day on the extraordinary hurry that seems to be considered necessary, and the question is being asked, "What has happened to cause such sudden haste?" For on the face of it the boundary question is not pressing.

According to the articles of agreement before it can come up the treaty must be drafted and ratified by both Parliaments and Ulster must vote herself out. Only then will her separate existence be finally determined and the need of appointing a boundary commission will arise. Yet with all this work in the future first Michael Collins arrived in London and arranged a Sunday meeting with the British Ministers on the boundary dispute. Then the Premier was fetched from his week-end rest at Chequers for a Sabbath evening conference, and finally such an unexpected summons was dispatched to Griffith that the boat train from Holyhead to London had to be delayed for him to catch it.

It is believed here that such extraordinary evidences of haste can only mean the appearance of a political situation of the greatest delicacy. The apparent growing strength of the republican opposition to the treaty and the necessity of some counterblast by the Provisional Government is considered one of the most significant features of the general opposition.

SHOULD IMPROVE FARM CONDITIONS.

Tom Moore Dissatisfied With Ontario Cabinet's Wage Policy.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8. — (Canadian Press Dispatch).—"The predominant idea in the minds of the majority of the Ontario cabinet seems to be that city conditions must be brought to the level of labor conditions on the back lot farms in order to prevent an exodus from what are in many instances unsatisfactory conditions on the farms to work in the city While labor is equally interested in preventing an influx to the city from farms, and desires to encourage the back-to-the-land movement, labor believes this should be done by improving conditions on the farm to be attractive and remunerative. Mr. Drury and his followers evidently believe in a policy of degrading the city worker until he will return to the farm to avoid starvation"

What Tom Moore Thinks

Thus Mr. Tom More, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress expressed disappointment at the reception of the provincial cabinet to the provincial labor representative, made just before Mr. Moore went to Washington to meet the leader of the A. F. of L.

Mr. Moore said he was in no way satisfied with the position taken by the cabinet They had been friendly to the proportional representation principle, and promised relief to those out of work who were in danger of losing equity in their homes, but in the fixing of a fair wage for provincial road work, the enactment of legislation in harmony with the decisions of the international labor organization, though they displayed familiarity with the subjects, the government showed little inclination to pass such legislation.

Liquor and Automobiles Swell Hull's Court Record

The offences coming under the scope of provincial laws numbered 138 violations of the Quebec Liquor License Laws, 113 against the Quebec Alcoholic Liquor Act, 112 against the Quebec Motor Vehicles Act, 35 against the Quebec Game Laws, two for trespasses and one for refusing to pay toll, making a total of 399 offences.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"

Evidently the scene was now set—the necessary props were in position—and Hugh waited with growing impatience for the principal event. But the principal performer seemed in no hurry. In fact, in his dry way Lakington was thoroughly enjoying himself. An intimate inside knowledge of the skeletons that rattled their bones in the cupboards of most of those present enabled the gods to speak with disconcerting accuracy; and as each victim insisted on somebody new facing the sands that came from beyond the mountains, the performance seemed likely to last indefinitely.

At last a sudden delighted burst of applause came from the group, announcing the discomfiture of yet another guest, and with it Lakington seemed to tire of the amusement. Engrossed though he was in the anticipation of the main item which was still to be staged, Drummond could not but admire the extraordinary accuracy of the character study. Not a detail had been overlooked; not a single flaw in Lakington's acting could he notice. It was an Indian who stood there, and when a few days later Hugh returned her pearls to the Duchess, for a long time neither she nor her husband would believe that Ram Dar had been an Englishman disguised. And when they had at last been persuaded of that fact and had been shown the two cabinets side by side, it was the consummate boldness of the crime, coupled with its extreme simplicity, that staggered them. For it was only in the reconstruction of it that the principal beauty of the scheme became apparent. The element of luck was reduced to a minimum, and at no stage of the proceedings was it impossible, should things go amiss, for Lakington to go as he had come, a mere Indian entertainer. Without the necklace, true, in such an event; but unsuspected, and free to try again. As befitted his last, it was perhaps his greatest effort. And this was what happened as seen by the fascinated onlooker crouching near the window outside.

Superbly disdainful, the Indian tipped back his sand into the little bag, and replacing it in his pocket, stalked to the open window. With arms outstretched he stared into the darkness, seeming to gather strength from the gods whom he served.

"Do your ears not hear the whisperings of the night?" he demanded. "Life rustling in the leaves; death moaning through the grasses." And suddenly he threw back his head and laughed, a fierce, mocking laugh; then he swung round and faced the room. For a while he stood motionless, and Hugh, from the shelter of the bushes, wondered whether the two quick flashes that had come from his robe as he spoke—flashes such as a small electric torch will give, and which were unseen by anyone else—were a signal to the defunct chauffeur.

Wrote Wife He Was Dead; Curate Sentenced to Jail

REGINA, Feb. 8. — (Canadian Press)—Gwylyn E. Williams, formerly a curate of an Anglican Church at Oxbow, Sask., was sentenced to nine months in Regina jail with hard labor at the opening of the jury sittings of the Court of King's Bench yesterday. Through counsel he pleaded guilty to sending a false cablegram to his wife in England telling her of his own death.

He also pleaded guilty to forging a letter claiming to be signed by an official of the Anglican Church giving the wife full details of his own alleged death and funeral. Admission was made also of the forgery of a death certificate all with the intention of leading his wife to believe he was dead.

22 RINKS COMPETE FOR TROPHIES AT LAKEFIELD'S FIRST BONSPIEL

Thirteen of Them From Visiting Clubs—Playing Ten-End Games — First Day's Work Advanced Well Into the Two Major Competitions — Three Cups Offered By the Lakefield Club.

Scores in First Rounds.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 8.—The Lakefield Curling Club yesterday realized its great ambition, when the first annual Lakefield Bonspiel was launched amidst great enthusiasm. For years the club has struggled along on a small scale until this year when the new rink was built and the curlers were given scope for their activities. With six ices provided in the fine new rink the curlers saw no reason why their ambition could not be realized and preparations began for the great event.

Old curlers who participated yesterday stated that they could not recall the last Bonspiel that was held in Lakefield. Back in the misty past somewhere, R. C. Strickland, the veteran Lakefield curler thought there had been a Bonspiel but he could not remember when it was.

Twenty-two rinks were represented when the draw was made Tuesday morning by Harry Armstrong of Lakefield. Nine of them were from the local club, eight from Peterboro, four from Keene and one from Millbrook. The skips are Lakefield—R. C. Strickland, J. C. Strickland, C. S. Tanner, G. O. Crawford, J. W. Ridpath, R. Ball, D. Charlton and B. Q. Dench.

Peterboro—George Benor, Walter Oke, George Stevenson, R. G. Sturgeon, J. M. Bacon, J. W. McDermid, R. M. Hamilton and J. E. A. Fitzgerald.

Keene—Fred Eason, Gilbert Howson, Sam Comrie and W. Fletcher.

Millbrook—R. H. Edmunds.

The Dawson Cup.

The first draw was for the Dawson Cup competition which was started at 10 a.m. "Dad" Moran had a fine sample of ice in the six rinks, and it hardened as the colder weather made itself felt. The results of the first round were as follows:

The trophies donated by A. E. Dawson, W. J. Charlton and A. C. Lawless are very splendid ones, and in their donation for annual competition the Lakefield men have shown a commendable effort to materially "boost" Lakefield curling.

The three silver cups and the individual prizes that accompany them were yesterday displayed in the rink and were the object of many admiring eyes. The Lawless Cup is in a slender chaste design and mounted on a silver base, stands about 24 inches high. The Dawson and Charlton Cups, more broadly set, are distinguished by their handsome lines. The trophies are in the finest silver, gold lined and embody the best jeweller's craftsmanship.

Players on the rink winning the Dawson trophy will receive miniature silver cups that should long serve to remind them of the eventful first Lakefield bonspiel.

Handsome nickel-plated quart thermos bottles go to the players on the running-up rink. Aecompanying the Charlton trophy are cut glass cream and pitcher sets, the product of the Colonial Glass Co., Lakefield, cut especially for the Lakefield presentations. The regular pattern was varied for the curlers by adding crossed brooms and a stone on each piece. These appropriate prizes will be especially valued by the winners.

The players on the running-up rink in this competition will receive aluminum coffee pots that should come in useful around a curler's home.

The prizes are all splendid ones, and in themselves should induce keen competition. It is not for prizes, however, the rinks contended. The curling battle spirit ran strongly in Lakefield yesterday, and not a game but was hard fought.

The Bonspiel Committee.

The Bonspiel Committee, which is largely responsible for putting the first Lakefield 'spiel over so successfully, was presided over by T. O. Crawford. Other members of the committee in addition to the Executive were:—Dr. Gibson, T. Braden, J. W. Ridpath, N. A. Moore and J. C. Strickland. The efforts of these men as well as those of President Robert Jory and Secretary W. W. Leonard account for the great local and district interest in the event.

The commodious rink that accommodates the Lakefield curlers and skaters was much admired by the visiting players, and between games the building came in for a good many inspections. Lakefield's undaunted confidence of the place the popular winter sports hold in the make-up of its people, came in for much praise. The evident intention of the citizens to put the village on the winter sporting map was warmly commended.

Mission Band.

Mission Band was held in the Sunday School Room of the Methodist Church on Monday afternoon, with 28 members present. Mrs. N. Duetta gave a most interesting blackboard talk to the children on the subject of the "Bad Heart" and the 'Good Heart.'" The little ones were delighted with her talk, and also with the solo she sang.

Laid at Rest.

A highly respected citizen of Manvers, in the person of Miss Catharine Rainbird, passed quietly away on Saturday, 4th February, at the age of 85 years. The funeral service was held in St. Paul's (English) Church on Monday, 6th February at half-past one o'clock, when a number of old friends and neighbours gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased. Rev. A. T. Weir, rector of the church, conducted the funeral service. The pallbearers were Messrs. Isaac Fallis, T. J. Jackson, J. Porteous, R. Johnston, M. Weatherilt, and Wm. Rowan. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Cavan.

Special Services.

The first week of special services in the Methodist Church were well attended. The ministers who helped with the services were Rev. S. Rorke, Cavan, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, Pontypool, Rev. Geo. Ross, of Mark Street Church, Peterborough, and Rev. S. T. Tucker, of Millbrook, owing to the illness of Rev. J. E. Beckel, pastor of the church. Mr. A. H. Monk led the song service for the first half-hour of these meetings.

On Sunday, 5th February, Mr. N. Duetta, of Trenton, evangelist, commenced on the two weeks of special services for which he is engaged. Mrs. Duetta assisted in the service of song. The large choir of mixed voices also adds greatly to the success of these meetings. Mr. and Mrs. N. Duetta will be in the village until 17th February.

FIRE DESTROYS APSLEY HOME.

Mother and Three Children Were Alone When Fire Was Discovered.

APSLEY, Febuary 8. — The house owned by M. Hugh McColl, about two miles north of the village, was destroyed by fire on Monday morning about ten o'clock. Mrs. McColl and her three small children were alone at the time, her husband being away in the lumber camp. The roof caught fire from the overheated chimney, and Mrs. McColl at once telephoned to the village for help, and then pluckily set to work to remove the household goods, and was successful in saving almost everything on the ground floor, except the cook stove and other heavy articles.

By the time the first neighbour arrived, the whole house was ablaze and nothing could be done.

The house was a log stucture, cased with lumber, the original homestead of the Steele family, and built about fifty years ago. It is understood that the house, but not the contents, was insured. Mrs. McColl deserves great commendation for her heroic efforts, as otherwise, in all probability, her little ones would have perished in the flames.

Sunday Services.

On Sunday evening, at the Methodist Church, Rev. W. Hall gave a very interesting address on "Community Betterment," a subject that should arouse great interest in these outlying rural districts.

Gave a Lecture.

Another good attendance marked the weekly meeting of the A.Y.P.A. on Saturday evening, when a lecture, entitled, "The Difference Between Rome and England," was given by Rev. C. A. G. Spence. Next Saturday the evening will be devoted to a Valentine social.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Downing are visiting in Peterborough for a couple of weeks.

Held Up Bootlegger for $2,500; Gets Five Years

WINDSOR, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Five years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence meted out to William Rowan, 23, of Walkerville, in Judge Coughlin's court at Sandwich Tuesday afternoon for highway robbery. Wilfrid Adams, of Amherstburg, identified Rowan as the man who held him up and at the point of a revolver compelled him to hand over $2,500. Adams intended using the money, he said, to purchase liquor.

ICEBREAKER CONTRACT IS CANCELLED

New Government Will Save Million Dollars By Purchasing Serviceable Vessel.

Was Ballantyne's Deal.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—The contract for the construction of an icebreaker, awarded to the Canadian Vickers, Ltd., in November last, and signed by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries on December 14, 1921, has been ordered cancelled, and the Government, it is stated by officials of the Marine and Fisheries Department, will thereby save over $1,000,000. Instead of constructing the new vessel, the Government has authorized the purchase of the icebreaker "John D. Hazen," which was sold in an unfinished condition to the Russian Government, but which got no further on her way to Russia than Cherbourg, France, from where she is to be returned to Canada.

Work on the construction of the new icebreaker at Montreal was ordered suspended shortly after the King administration took office, and deputations which came to Ottawa from Montreal, urging that the work be allowed to proceed, were given little hope in that regard.

Tender Was Excessive.

In the fiscal year 1920-21 an appropriation was made of $2,000,000 for the construction of an icebreaker for use on the St. Lawrence. Tenders were called for at that time and the Wallace Shipbuilding Company, Ltd., of Vancouver, with a price of $2,200,000 was the lowest tenderer. This figure was considered to be excessive and nothing was done on INDIAN DIES AT REPUTED AGE 137.

John Smith, a Chippewa, Was Married Eight Times.

CASELAKE, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press)—John Smith, a Chippewa Indian, whose native name was Ga-BeNah-Gewn-Wonce, said to mean, "Wrinkled meat" died here yesterday at the reputed age of 137 years. Smith claimed to remember the war of 1812, and often recalled the days when he was scout for the Chippewas in war with the Sioux. He boasted that he had never fought against white men.

Smith was eight times married, but his only survivor is an adopted son. He paid his first visit to a city at the age of 133 years, and later went to Chicago to the automobile show. The greater part of his young life was spent in the northwoods of Minnesota, where he fished in the same lake for more than a century.

VETERANS HEAR ALLIANCE PLAN

Retain Identity Until Complete Amalgamation Is Accepted.

WINNINPEG, Man., February 8 (Canadian Press). — A concrete plan for organising the existing Canadian veterans' bodies into a federation to be known as the "Canadian Veterans' Alliance," was proposed to the Winnipeg conference this afternoon by C. G. MacNeill, secretary-treasurer of the Great War Veterans' Association. It was a plan by which organisations adhering to the alliance would preserve their identity temporarily while an education campaign would endeavour "to harmonise the views of all groups of ex-service men on the question of complete amalgamation."

After a brief discussion the proposal was left with a committee for a report to-morrow morning.

Mr. MacNeill summarised his proposal in a resolution which read as follows:

"That the organisations represented at this conference hereby agree to unite in the establishment of a federated body to be known as 'The Canadian Veterans' Alliance."

"That it be agreed to maintain such form of federation only until such time as complete amalgamation may be finally accomplished.

Purpose of Alliance.

"Th t the purposes of the alliance be defined as follows: United service to Canada and the Empire; united service to ex-service men, and dependents. United and immediate effort to accomplish amalgamation and united and immediate action on any legislative question relating to the

PATIENCE WITH IRELAND IS LLOYD GEORGE'S PLEA

World's Nerves Are On Edge and People Belligerent He Says—Infinite Patience Needed to Settle Anything.

Parliament Re-opens.

LONDON, Feb. 8.— (Associated Press Despatch.)—Parliament re-assembled at noon yesterday for a session in which the political situation loomed largely as affecting the present government's tenure of office. The King and Queen again, as in December, opened the session in full state, with all the pomp and ceremony of pre-war days.

The session was opened with the reading of the speech from the throne by the King. Regarding the Irish treaty, the King said parliament would be called upon to consider "such measures as may be necessary to give effect to the agreement." He also touched upon the negotiations for a pact with France to guarantee action in the event of "an unprovoked attack by Germany," and paid high tribute to the accomplishments of the Washington conference.

Captain Douglas Hacking and Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, in moving and seconding the address of thanks to the King for his speech, paid tribute to the results attained at the Washington Conference.

John Robert Clynes, Laborite, expressed the hope that further conferences would bring not only the limitation of armaments, but the actual disarmament of the world. In his opinion the Washington Conference "kept rather too closely to the arithmetic of the instruments of war." He did not believe there was any chance of maintaining the peace of the world by any process of measuring the weapons of war.

Mr. Clynes asked what was the British Government's attitude toward the French policy, declaring that the Labor Party believed in no pact or alliance which held out merely the prospect of maintaining the security of one country, and not of all. The Labor Party was prepared to give the Government every aid to accomplish the Irish settlement, and he suggested that if the boundary question could not otherwise be settled a plebiscite should be held.

Sir Donald MacLean, Liberal, alluding to the Washington Conference hoped that the United States would be brought into closer relations with Europe.

"Nothing could be more disastrous for the general peace of the world," he added, "than that the United States should maintain her traditional attitude that she had no real responsibility, nor could render any useful service by entering into arrangements with the old world." He

TO INVESTIGATE RETURNED MEN'S PROBLEMS AGAIN

New Committee to Explore Whole Matter of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

Will Have Free Hand.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Shortly after Parliament meets next month it is expected that the Government will announce its intention to appoint a committee representative of all three parties in the House, which body will be required to investigate the whole matter of soldiers' civil re-establishment and recommend whatever changes it may find necessary in the existing legislation. From the indications which have already been given, it is understood that this committee will be given practically a free hand in the matter of where it begins and ends its probe, but that it will also take into consideration much of the evidence taken before the committees which sat during the preceding sessions of Parliament.

Representatives of the war veterans' associations will in all likelihood be called upon to give evidence, asi in former years, and there will also probably be many individual witnesses before this body with matters which in their opinion require investigation.

There will be a great change this year in the personnel of the committee, as most of the members of last year's body are not members of the present Parliament, and of those who remain, two are Ministers of the Crown, in the persons of Hon. H. S. Beland and Hon. A. B. Copp, and as such are not likely to be asked to act upon this year's committee.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8. — (Canadian Press)—A demand for a speedy trial after they had been committed to stand trial at the spring term of the criminal assizes, was granted by Magistrate Miller in Hull Police Court Tuesday in the case of Ernest Provincial, Alonzo Guerin, Henri Laballe, Rene Mondou, and Patrick Kingsbury, five Hull youths charged with attempted burglary. The trial was set for February 10. The youths are alleged to have attempted to burglarize the grocery of Tore Desjardine, Champlain Street, last December.

A SENATORSHIP FOR PETERBOROUGH.

The City Council does well in officially calling the attention of the Dominion Government to the fact that Peterborough believes that her interests have been overlooked and neglected in the matter of representation in the Senate. As the resolution passed by the city fathers put it: "Peterborough is the largest business and manufacturing community between Toronto and Ottawa and is the centre of a large agricultural and dairy district." It has never been represented in the Upper House, and the Council is merely voicing the unanimous opinion of the people of this city in pressing for consideration of Peterborough's claims when the question of a successor to Senator Beith is being decided by the Government. The district of which this city is a centre will undoubtedly agree with the terms of the resolution, and will endorse the appeal to the Government. Other local bodies should follow the lead of the Council in order that the powers-that-be at Ottawa may be impressed with the fact that there is a strong demand from this section of Ontario for proper representation in the Senate. Peterborough has been neglected too long in this regard.

A WAGE-CUTTING CAMPAIGN.

When the appropriations for this year are being taken up an effort to reduce the overhead so far as the civic administration is concerned may be looked for. Several of the Aldermen are preparing a campaign along this line, and they will propose a cut in salaries all through the municipal machine. From His Worship the Mayor, who receives an allowance of $1,000 a year, down through the whole list, the pruning knife is to be applied, in pursuance of an appreciation of the fact that the present is a lean year and if there is to be any real economy it must commence with the municipal staffs. Firemen and policemen will be included in the cut, it is promised, the former being directly under the control of the Council, while the police can be reached by a reduction in the appropriations for the department that will necessitate reduced remuneration for the blue coats. Wage-cutting is not an operation that draws much applause from those directly affected, but the taxpayers who have been groaning at the length of their tax bills are liable to look with a good deal of approval upon the proposal. Whether a majority of the Council will favour a general slicing of civic salaries, to the extent of about 20 per cent. in the case of those earning over $2,000 and with a smaller cut for those whose salary is below that figure, remains to be seen, but, at least, it is certain that an opportunity is to be given the Aldermen to show where they stand on the question.

A QUESTION OF EFFICIENCY.

At the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council tonight the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee in regard to the investigation into the circumstances surrounding the recent fire at St. Andrew's manse will be presented. The occasion would seem opportune for a general discussion in regard to the Fire Department. Frankly, there are many citizens who are not satisfied with conditions in that branch of the civic administration. The Aldermen cannot be blind to that fact. They must hear from day to day doubts expressed as to the efficiency of the brigade, as to the physical capabilities of the men, as to their training and discipline, as to the ability of the department to cope intelligently and effectively with a fire. The department is and has been expensive. A lot of money has been spent each year in connection with fire protection. Are the members of the Council satisfied that we are getting value for the thousands of dollars we pay each year to maintain the Fire Department. Tonight would seem an appropriate occasion for a review of the whole question, not only in connection with the manse fire, but as to the general condition of affairs in the department. If the results that the citizens have a right to expect are not forthcoming, and if the efficiency and smartness and discipline that should mark a city brigade are missing, it is time that the situation was officially revealed. On the other hand, if the department is up to the mark in every respect, it would be as well to have that fact established in order to stop the undercurrent of grumbling that is so often to be heard. It is about time for a show-down.

THE MATTER OF CIVIC GRANTS.

At Monday night's meeting of the City Council requests were made for civic grants on behalf of various organizations that totalled between $9,000 and $10,000, and several other societies have yet to be heard from in regard to civic aid. All the objects for which assistance is being asked are doubtless worthy of aid from the municipality, and the requests cannot be attacked from that angle. The crux of the matter, however, expressed briefly, is that it is idle to expect the Council to be economical and to lower the tax rate and at the same time to ask the Aldermen to vote away $10,000 or more in special grants. If the people of Peterborough want to support these causes to the extent asked for, that is their business, but they cannot look for a lower tax rate if they sanction inroads of this kind on the Treasury. The problem is one that the Council should carefully consider. It is not an easy matter to resist the appeal of organizations whose record is good and whose work is above reproach; yet it is in the long run easier to turn down the grants than it would be to accede to the request of every deputation and then hope to keep the civic expenditure within reasonable grounds. If economy is to be the watchword this year, it must apply with as much force to special grants to to other channels of expenditure. It is an open and shut proposition, and the facts may as well be faced squarely. The ratepayers must understand that if they want all the things for which civic assistance is being urged they will have to pay for them, and there is only one way of paying—through the tax rolls.

The hatter and the shoemaker may not be divinities, but they shape the ends of men.

INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

The Macmillan Company, publishers of The Round Table, have just issued in booklet form a reprint of an article which appeared in a recent number of that valuable quarterly, under the title of National Prosperity and Industrial Peace. The subject is treated from the viewpoint of the resident in the British Isles, but its arguments are just as applicable to people in this country and in every other civilized community. It would be well if a copy could be placed in the hands of everyone engaged in industry, for it is, perhaps, the most thoughtful, sane and impartial examination of industrial conditions in current literature. There is no special pleading for any particular class; rarely has the capacity to "see both sides" been more strikingly exhibited in one writer. The "capitalist," no more than the employee, escapes his trenchant criticism. The object is to show where both have been and still are wrong, and to bring them to a sense of what is required.

The present industrial system, based on capitalist enterprise, is found to be the best for the good of society as a whole and for the general progress of humanity. Communism has been tried out in Russia, and has proved a hideous failure; first, because free individuals will not submit to "abandon all private liberty in favor of bureaucratic regimentation," and, secondly, because "even where the population is willing or can be compelled to obey orders, bureaucratic initiative is found no substitute for private enterprise." Socialism, as distinct from Communism, can only succeed in competition with private enterprise, if it can prove itself to be a more efficient and more economic system. Where it has been tried on a partial scale, it has often demonstrated its inferiority; though, under certain conditions, it has been a success. There is one consideration with regard to state management as compared with private enterprise which is frequently overlooked, and that is that, in the event of failure, the loss is borne by those who have invested capital in the case of privately owned concerns, whereas Socialism "can never write off its failures. It raises money on municipal or national credit and whether the enterprises on which the capital is expended fail or succeed, it must still continue to pay interest on its bonds." Moreover, "individualism, and individual initiative, is the very foundation of British character."

The great achievements to the credit of the capitalist system, which have brought the civilization of the world of today to its present high standards, are weighed against its undoubted defects. The trouble has been that capital has taken more than its just share from industry. While the competitive system has given the workers cheap food, cheap transportation, cheap literature and cheap amusements, "the capitalist and employing classes as a whole have abused the power and privilege of their position . . . . they have been terribly callous and indifferent to the well-being and happiness of the millions whom they have employed. Property rights have prevailed as against human rights." Though things are very much better than they were in this respect, due principally to the efforts of organized labor to improve its status, "things are not right yet, or nearly right." On the other hand, Labor is pursuing a thoroughly unsound policy. War against capitalism is a suicidal course. Without the capitalist, nothing can be done. There is but one way to solve the industrial problem "and provide employment for all at adequate wages"—"enterprise, efficiency, saving and hard work on the part of all." Both sides must recognize that they must work together on fair terms. "Capital has to make up its mind to take Labor into partnership, treat it as an associate equally concerned with itself in the success and conduct of business, and distribute the proceeds on a basis which is just, and recognize that the well-being and contentment of the employee are as important an end as efficiency and dividends. Labor, on the other hand, has to drop the class war and the social revolutionary millennium, and accept partnership with capital on terms which secure it a fair share in their joint enterprise, and then do its best to make the partnership a success."—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Prosperity is just around the corner.

John Rockefeller, Jr., wears his suits fifteen years. He is rich enough to be able to afford to do so.

Nowadays if a poet ventured to write about still waters they'd think he was talking about moonshine.

The return of W. F. Nickle of Kingston to the Legislature is a good thing for the whole Province. Men of his type are badly needed in the Ontario House.

The American Banker thinks that the trouble is that more people are looking for positions than jobs and more are after jobs than work.

The lemon crop is said to be a failure. That means the public, as well as the lemons, is likely to be squeezed.

A Belleville contemporary runs a department headed "Other Editors' Opinions." The heading would be more effective if it were used at the top of the editorial columns of the journal in question.

Two million, sixty-six thousand, one hundred and ten people voted against the Meighen Government at the last election. Evidently they did not believe the bill-board warnings.

Reminds us of the story of the Chicago man who blew a whistle and eight policemen responded. "Too bad," he murmured. "I only want a pint."

She Does Not Understand

Westminster Gazette: It is not of "militarism" that we need accuse France at this time. It is merely of the sin of incomprehension. She seems to have misconceived grotesquely the whole nature of our mutual relations. She seeks to make friends with us by frightening us, and actually believes—if we may judge by the French press, which has been commenting gleefully on "British nervousness"—that she has succeeded in frightening us. The misconception is fundamental; it is as bad as the worst psychological misconception of which Germany was guilty during the war. We do not imagine that there is a single person in these islands to whom the idea of being frightened by the French submarine threat has even yet occurred. But, in any case, if we were frightened, the inevitable result would be not a reconciliation, but an irreparable breach. It is true that we are very sensitive about sea-power, but we are also extremely confident—possibly too confident.

Beyond Being Shocked

London Morning Post: As a matter of fact, it is a hard task to shock the British public nowadays: most of our wits, apparently, are finding it easier to preach at them. For after four years and a half of war, after bombs and Bolshevism, after seeing their Empire jeopardized by those who were placed in office to preserve it, after being told on the highest legal authority that murderers are often very fine fellows, the wretched British public can be worried and even bored, but not easily shocked.

Voice Of The People

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir:—I would like to draw the attention of the citizens of Peterboro to the fact that large quantities of bread are being shipped in from outside points, and while it is sold at a much lower price than our Peterboro bread, I do not think it is displaying loyalty to our Peterboro manufacturers.

I believe that bread manufactured in Peterboro should be consumed by Peterboro citizens, and if we ever want to become an enterprising City we must be loyal to one another.

Much has been said through the press regarding "buying at home" and surely here is one chance where the citizens of Peterboro can show their loyalty by purchasing Peterboro made products. A food stuff which is used on the table three times per day, in every house in Peterboro, and in purchasing Peterboro made products we keep Peterboro labour employed.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am,

Yours very truly,

LOYAL CITIZEN.

VACANT LOT QUESTION

Editor Examiner:

Sir:—In a recent issue of the Examiner Mr. T. Tooms cites the increase of values in city lots as a cause of industrial depression. He also intimates that the holders of these lots are profiteers on the public, parasites on industry, and obstructors of moral and religious progress.

Under conditions some years ago when vacant areas in cities and towns were assessed as "farm lands" this sort of arraignment had some foundation, but under our present taxation system the holding of vacant lots for a rise in value is rightly made an unprofitable venture, although some of our citizens will continue to lose more money on their holdings, before they fully realise that an unused vacant lot inside the city limits is a veritable white elephant on the owners hands.

The vacant lot at present is not an unmixed evil to the public, whatever it may be to the owner, the vacant lot pays its way according to frontage for water service, sewer service, sidewalk and paving, just the same as if occupied, and in addition is assessed according to value for general and school rates. As it is assessed at two thirds its selling value, and in some cases more it contributes to the general expense.

I would suggest that these lots be assessed at the owners cash selling price, then a prospective purchaser could ascertain the price of any lot he desired to acquire, from the assessors office, and save an estate dealers commission.

I know of cases in this city where owners of lots would have saved money by giving away their lots 20 years ago. A lot owner loses at least 6% on his investment plus the amount of taxes paid the city, and this means a yearly loss of from $25. to $100.00 per year according to value of lot. Take a ten years run at this rate an in nine cases out of ten it is impossible for the owner to sell at a figure that makes his holding an ordinary investment.

I recently advertised for some building lots and am flooded with offers to sell. The owners are of 3 classes, first the man who paid a good price for his lot, has carried it 4 or 5 years paid a lot of taxes on it and now wants to cover his loss and still make a profit, his price is out of sight so he will continue his yearly payments to the city treasury. Second the owner who counts his original cost plus interest and taxes and is anxious to get out on even terms. Third the owner who realizes that he made a poor investment and is willing to sell at original cost and lose all interest on his investment also taxes paid, and offers almost any kind of terms if you will only take it off his hands.

The average city lot is to-day (and right so) a mighty poor investment for the man who does not intend to use it. I notice the Rotary Club have some sentimental advice on the bill boards. Would not a few practical questions have more effect?

Suppose they ask Mr. Lot Owner: How much did you pay for the lot? How much have you lost in interest at 6% on your investment? How much have you lost in taxes and water rates to date? How much longer do you intend to stand this loss? Why not build and stop the leak?

The vacant lot question is not clogging the wheels of moral and religious progress as Mr. Tooms thinks.

The conditions of today are complex and world wide, and even a vigorous building program would only be a trifle in the numerous agencies required to restore normal conditions.

Mr. Tooms is right in saying poverty is not a necessary evil, but so long as we have great masses of the people disregard the necessity for thrift and economy during prosperity and prefer dress parade and amusement to home necessities we may count on poverty with every trade depression.

There is a general feeling that we must do our best to bring things to a normal basis. I would suggest that Mr. Tooms start a movement to have salaries of our Dominion and Provincial representatives reduced from the war level values they set for themselves to a figure in keeping with present day conditions. We are asking Capital to take a minimum of profit, and Labor to take a lower wage, the representatives of both Capital and Labor should do the same.

Yours truly,

A. B. CUNNNGHAM.

ALLEN THEATRES SALE WAS PREMATURE REPORT

Famous Players Corporation Negotiating But Haven't Closed Deal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press)—"It is quite true that negotiations have advanced to a considerable extent in connection with the possible purchase of the Allen interests in Canada by the Famous Players Corporation, but the deal has not been completed and the news which leaked out in Toronto, was entirely premature," said N. L. Nathanson of Toronto, managing director of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Ltd., when seen here yesterday.

Mr. Nathanson added that the deal would involve a sum in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, but that this would not likely mean a new issue of bonds, the corporation being able to finance the transaction themselves There would be no change of policy in the management of the Allen and Capitol Theatres here until the end of the present season.

Mr. Nathanson thought that in about a fortnight's time an authorized statement would be issued from Toronto.

If you were sitting in our office and asking most searching questions about The Mount Royal Hotel 6% Convertible Debentures we would tell you this:

That we, of W. A. Mackenzie & Co., Limited, spent several months investigating every legal and commercial phase of this security before we underwrote it.

That we sold the first $1,000,000 of these Debentures for cash to The United Hotels Company of America, who will operate the hotel, and who will necessarily be most interested in its financial success.

That we secured a Bond from the Building Contractors to complete the hotel.

That we have the financial and moral support of the large Montreal transportation and other interests.

We examined every estimate of earnings and expenditures before we printed them in our circular.

Everything that we possess of brain and money and reputation is intertwined with it.

We consider it the finest investment of its class that has ever been put before the Canadian public.

Is it any wonder, therefore, that we have so overwhelming a confidence in recommending it to you?

PATIENCE WITH IRELAND, ETC.

hoped that the United States would share with Great Britain the burdens of the world as a whole.

Lloyd George's Address.

After referring to the Washington Conference and the House of Lords, the Prime Minister passed to a review of the general situation at home and abroad. Of the proposed pact with France he contended that the British and French purposes were alike, though their methods might not always agree. He believevd that even Germany would not regard the pact with unfriendly eye, and argued that France must be assured that she is not isolated, nothing being more dangerous than the fear of isolation.

"Give confidence and you give calmness," said Mr. Lloyd George, "One of the greatest dangers for Europe would be for the young generation in Germany to be brought up with the thought of vengeance; you must make Germany feel that a policy of revenge would not pay and convince every German that such a policy would be fatal to his own country.

A Substitute Guarantee.

"England is in honor bound to give France some guarantee to replace the guarantee given by President Wilson and Mr. Balfour at Versailles to induce France to abandon what is known as the advanced Rhine policy."

This statement provoked expressions of dissent from the Opposition benches ,whereupon the Prime Minister announced that the House would be given an opportunity for full discussion of the matter and to either reject or ratify the proposal.

Replying to Mr. Clynes' criticism of the Government's unemployment policy and his contention that it would be impossible to reconstruct the world until the war debts were readjusted, Mr. Lloyd George said this did not depend upon the English alone. He was quite willing to enter upon a discussion of the problem if all creditor, as well as the debtor nations would come in; but for Britain to forego her claims when there were heavy claims against her was neither fair nor just. Britain would not fail either in generosity or justice if all the nations would come together, but she could not act alone.

Egyptian Question.

The Prime Minister, dealing with the economic report of the Geddes committee, admitted economy to be one of the vital subjects of the present session. He then turned to the Egyptian question saying he must speak with much reserve pending General Allenby's coming to London. He pointed out that Egypt had never been an independent nation, but a Turkish Province, and, owing to its geographical position as a corridor country, could not be given complete self-determination without reference to external conditions.

Dilating on the danger as independent Egypt would have been during the war, liable to be overrun by Turkish armies led by Germans and eventually perhaps becoming a Turkish or German province, he declared Egypt had been protected from that fate by British and Australian troops. He argued that whatever reasons had led Gladstone, who was no annexationist, to intervene in Egypt, had been enormously strengthened by what had happened in the last forty-five years, and it was useless to ignore fundamental facts merely to gain temporary peace at the expense of disastrous consequences in the future.

Urges Patience.

Turning to Irish affairs, the Prime Minisetr announced that a bill would be introduced very soon giving the provisional government the necessary powers to deal with economic and other matters. This bill would empower the leaders of the Irish Free State, if they so desired, to take the option of the Irish people on the treaty. He considered it needless to be despondent because the second meeting between Sir James Craig and Michael Collins was a failure. It was unfortunate, but even Englishmen, Welshmen and Scotchmen were not always able to arrive at an immediate agreement. In the present state of the world, infinite patience was necessary to settle anything; the world's nerves were on edge, and everybody was prepared to quarrel with everybody else.

The treaty had been ratified by both House of Parliament by overwhelming majorities, and in due course legislation would be submitted for the carrying into effect of what parliament had pledged itself to the people of Ireland, the Empire and the world, to perform.

CHICAGO WHEAT HOLDS FIRM.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Rushes to buy wheat today met with profit-taking sales in great volume. As a result, new advances in price were only maintained in part. The closing was unsettled, 1-8 to 5-8c net higher, with May $1.28 1-2 to $1.28 5-8, and July $1.11 3.8 to $1.11 1-2. Corn lost 1-4 to 1-2 at 5-8c; oats finished unchanged to 1-4c lower, and provisions at a decline of 12 to 30c.

At first, the wheat market here scored an upturn of about 2c, chiefly because of encouragement which buyers had received from word of a fresh rise in values at Liverpool and Buenos Aires. Advices were also at hand telling of the continued reduction of the small stock of wheat available at Liverpool. Eagerness to purchase was given further impetus owing to reports of probable heavy abandonment of acreage in Kansas and because of talk of the presence of the green bug pest in Oklahoma. The fact, however, that there had recently been an advance of 21c here was apparently believed by many traders to have discounted all factors enough. Selling to realize profits took on huge proportions, and for a time caused the market to lose more than the early advance. A moderate rally, which ensued during the late trading, was due in the main to covering by shorts.

Corn and oats, after touching in some cases the highest prices yet this season, gave way under profit-taking sales and an increase of country offerings.

Selling ascribed to packers weakers weakened the provision market after a small advance had been brought about through higher quotations on hogs.

WINNIPEG MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press)—Receipts yesterday totalled 110 cattle and calves; 440 hogs, 91 sheep. Trading on the cattle market was slow and inactive today with fat classes changing hands under a poor enquiry fully 25c below the close of last week and the bulk of stockers and feeders generally steady to weak.

On the hog market bidding maintained a steady tone, selects fed and watered up at $11.00.

The few mutton sheep for disposal were generally of fair quality and were priced at $5.25.

CANADIAN MARKET REPORT.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press)—Receipts are still much too light to supply consumptive demand, and the shortage is being supplied by importations of states fresh. The quality of local fresh receipts is reported to be good and the size is improving. In Ontario complaints are made of the large percentage of cracked eggs arriving. A break is anticipated in U.S. markets and this will affect Canadian markets.

Toronto steady, specials jobbing 54, extras 50 to 52. Ontario country shippers report receipts increasing. They are paying 40 to 42 to producers and stores and making sales at 40 to 45 f.o.b.

Montreal specials 48 to 50, storages extras 35, firsts 31.

Western markets unchanged.

Prince Edward Island country points 32 to 37.

Chicago fresh firsts 37, market weak.

British Cable:—(Prices shillings per ten dozen.

LONDON, Feb. 8.— (Canadian Press)—Market firm, English 31 to 34, Irish 30 to 33, Danish 32 to 34, Stprian 19 to 26, Egyptian 13 to 15, Morocco 1, Chinese 17 to19. No change in poultry prices.

MONTREAL GRAINS FIRMER.

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press)—The local market for cash grain showed improvement today with a good business passing. The undertone of the flour market was firmer. A good steady business prevailed in all lines of mill feed and the marked for rolled oats was firm. A fair business was done in baled hay. There is a good demand and a fairly active trade for eggs. The potato market was firm. There was no change in the butter market and the cheese market was firm.

Irish Women Want Franchise; De Valera Encourages Them

DUBLIN, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Eamon De Valera, replying to a deputation from the Sinn Fein Women's Association Tuesday asking for an extension of the franchise, said:

"I hold that there should be no discrimination between men and women in the matter of parliamentary franchise."

"Probably when the delegation has seen President Griffith," continued Mr. De Valera, "it will be found that there will be full agreement between us. I hope, therefore, that the decree of the Dail, which the delegation is seeking, will be passed unanimously."

ICEBREAKER CONTRACT

the contract at that time.

In October last, tenders were again called for and Canadian Vickers, Ltd., of Montreal, was given the contract to construct the icebreaker at the cost of $1,580,000. The then Minister of Marine, Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, was authorized on November 25, 1921, to sign a contract with the Vickers firm and the articles of agreement were signed on December 14.

Old One For Sale.

Subsequent to the first call for tenders, it is stated, it became ascertained that the icebreaker "John D. Hazen," built in the Vickers yards in Montreal and transferred to the Russian Government in an uncompleted state during the war, was lying at Cherbourg, France, and could be purchased. Lloyd's Agency was asked to make a thorough survey of the vessel and report as to her condition and value. After a special survey, it is stated, Lloyd's reported that the vessel "was in first-class condition and was estimated to be worth 305,000 pounds." An offer of this vessel to the Government was subsequently made for 95,000 pounds.

Government Will Buy It.

Officers of the department reported that the requirements of the department would be as well met by the purchase of this vessel as by the construction of the proposed new one, and that there would also be a saving of at least one million dollars by the time the vessel was brought back to Canada and placed in first-class condition. The purchase of the vessel now lying at Cherbourg for 95,000 pounds, together with the cancellation of the Vickers, Ltd., contract, was therefore authorized by the Government and approved by the Governor-General yesterday.

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seeley's Bay, Ont., writes: "For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

Equal Freight Rates Is British Columbia Demand

VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press)—"You may contradict the report that I am going to Ottawa because of the unemployment conditions in British Columbia. That is not my mission. I am going there for a number of reasons. The chief one is to help present the case of this province for equal freight rates," said Premier Oliver today when a dispatch appearing in eastern newspapers was brought to his attention. The Premier said he would take up a number of questions with the Federal Government and unemployment would be only one among the many.

MABEL NORMAND FAINTED AT THE TAYLOR FUNERAL

The Folk of Filmdom Attended Obsequies of Murdered Director.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press)—Miss Mabel Normand, the motion picture actress who visited the home of William Desmond Taylor just before he was cruelly assassinated last Wednesday, fainted yesterday when she viewed his body in the church vestibule after the funeral services, and had to be removed to her home. Henry Peavy, Taylor's negro houseman, also became hysterical and had to be taken back to the church and quieted, as the body was removed.

The large auditorium of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Pro- Cathedral was filled with friends of the dead man and with other persons. Of the many prominent motion picture women whose names have been brought into the investigation, Miss Normand was the only one in attendance, but almost everyone in filmdom attended. There were scores of motion picutre stars, nearly every director now in Los Angeles, and many other persons widely known over the country, including writers, producers, and theatrical people.

A crowd, estimated by the police more than 30,000 persons filled the adjoining streets and overflowed into Pershing Square, a small downtown park on which faces the Pro-Cathedral.

Newfoundland Development Encounters Strong Opposition

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 8.—(Canadian Pess)—The big Humber River project which has been under consideration by the Newfoundland Government for some time has encountered considerable opposition. Yesterday, Sir Robert Bond, former Premier, who retired from public life eight years ago, entered the lists with a lengthy letter published in St. John's newspapers in which he criticized the project. In some quarters this is looked upon as a possible intention on the part of Sir Robert to re-enter politics.

The promoters of the plan to develop electric power on the Humber River, on the west coast, and to establish paper mills and other large enterprises, are the Reid Newfoundland Company, operators of the Colonial Railway System, and the Armstrong Whitworth Company, of England. The principal opposition as voiced by Sir Robert and others is to a proposed Colonial guarantee of the annual interest on an esimated expenditure of $18,000,000 and repayment on the principal by a sinking fund effective at the end of 87 years.

Save the bird in hand—
The others may be hard to catch

With enough money, enough time and enough luck, a man may get back the health he has lost—or part of it.

It takes patience, too.

And then there may be no success, or only a little.

It's better to save what you have than hunt for what you've lost—as the most successful health-restorers will tell you.

Much of the loss of health is due to faulty, careless diet. Wrong meals at all times and right meals at wrong times load the long-suffering digestive organs with elements of destruction, or starve the tissues and glands of needed elements.

Grape-Nuts is a delicious cereal food which has the qualities of scientific nutrition. It supplies the full richness of those splendid food grains, wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral elements, so often lacking from foods. Served with cream or good milk, Grape-Nuts gives full nourishment without over-loading the stomach.

A splendid thought for breakfast or lunch, for those who would keep health—

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for ready-made preparations, and gives you a full pint of positive, effective remedy. It works perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, how-ever, by stirring and healing the membranes in the throat and the air passages. It promptly loosens the dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

J. J. Morrison, U.F.O. Secretary, Appeared on the Same Platform and Gave an Address.

TORONTO, February 8. Canadian Press. — Sir Adam Beck announced last night at a meeting of the Ontario Fairs and Exhibitions Associations that within the next 48 hours, he would issue a report on the feasibility of constructing radials in Ontario, prepared by the engineers of the Hydro Electric Commission. He was dubious about the value of the Sutherland Commission's findings to municipalities most vitally concerned and intimated that the time had come for a decision.

Speaking from the same platform J. J. Morison, U.F.O. Secretary, declared that class consciousness was at the very root of the success of the agrarian movement in Ontario, and attacked the tendency to pile up federal, provincial and municipal debts.

LIVER TROUBLE

BAD BILIOUS ATTACKS

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath bad, the stomach foul and sick, and bilious spells occur on account of the liver holding back the bile which is so essential to promote the movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood instead of passing out through the usual channel.

The only way to keep the liver active and working properly, and thus get rid of the nasty bilious attacks, is to keep the bowels regular by using

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take, work smoothly and gently, and there is nothing of the griping, weakening and sickening effects of the old fashioned purgatives.

Mr. John S. Caron Donavon, Sa writes: "I was troubled with my liver and had severe bilious attacks. A friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, so I took two vials and have had no more attacks."

FATALITY IN KINGSTON ELECTION ACCIDENTAL

Jury Exonerated Driver From Blame—Car Was Speeding.

KINGSTON, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—A verdict of accidental death was returned Tuesday evening by the Coroner's Jury in the death of Isaac H. (Dorwin) Love, who, together with his wife, was killed on Monday evening in an automobile accident as they were being driven to the polls to vote in the by-election.

At the inquest Stewart Patterson, driver of the car in which the two unfortunate couple were killed, stated that he was coming along Barrie street and that the axle of his car broke. He stated that he was not going over 20 miles an hour and tried by every means to regain control of the car, but was unable to. The result was the car crashed along the sidewalk and struck a tree. Mrs. Love was practically instantly killed, while Mr. Love died two hours later in the hospital.

Sergt. Woods, who witnessed the accident, stated that the car was going "faster than any car I ever saw," and judged that the speed was about forty miles an hour. He felt, however, that the accident was due to the broken axle and to the fact also that a large truck was standing in the road, and this forced Patterson to turn out.

BENEFIT CONCERT GREATLY ENJOYED.

Campbellford Audience Appreciate High-Class Programme.

CAMPBELLFORD, February 8. —The benefit concert given Monday evening in the Opera House was an unqualified success. A full house and a most appreciatve audience listened to the various numbers and heartily applauded each. Owing to an unavoidable delay, Mr. C. L. Owen, ex-M.P., did not occupy the chair at the beginning, but upon his arrival made a brief address, permeated with humor and concluded by congratulating the band and leader, Mr. Cowell, a band of which we are proud and second to none in the province, said Mr. Owen.

The opening number march, "10th Regiment," by the baud, as well as their second number, "Operatic Airs," showed careful training, and were well received. Mr. Charles Mitchell, a budding young musician, very charmingly rendered the saxophone solo, 'One Fleeting Hour." Miss Brunelle's solo "Angels Serenade' in French, was sung most sweetly. Miss Emma Meiklejohn, who in fine voice rendered "My Ain Folk," won a hearty encore. Mr. E. Brunelle delighted the audience with his sool, 'The Song That Reached My Heart," and his encore was a pretty little number in French. "Song by the French Army After the Armistice." Mr. George Lucy's number, "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses" was well rendered. The band selections, "Bonnie Scotland," "Bells of St. Malo,' and the concluding number, 'The Champion,' were all heartily applauded.

Mr. Cowell moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. R. H. Cole for his kindness in giving the hall free for the night. A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Alex. Hume, president of the Agricultural Society, seconded by Mr. T. J. Hopkins, to Mr. Cowell, the Band and all who assisted with the programme. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Mr. Cowell and Band deserve special mention for the music of such a high order they render so perfectly.

SUCCESS IS THE RESULT OF

WISE INVESTING

In the ladder of financial success, the first step is to earn; the second to save, and the third to make the savings earn for their owner.

Many men feel that 5% coupled with safety of principal is the limit of returns of an investment, and it is if you have a fortune to invest. But if you wish to acquire riches, your money must be given a chance to make big money.

Never has there been such opportunity as there is today, for investment in the OIL industry.

If you have but little money and want to build a fortune or acquire a competency, give your each $100 a chance to earn $10,000, and you will be on the right road to success.

No other industry offers the small investor so quick or such enormous returns from his investment.

I met her as she came out of the kitchen on the back steps to empty a waste basket. I was coming in from the poultry yard, that was one of the things I did, took care of the poultry. And I kissed her. That's the only time we kissed each other and I am not ashamed of it. And she wasn't either, then."

Ernest S. Newkirk of 1818 Newkirk Street, Pisifadelphia, said that it was he who had sent Ralph to the Beulah Mission. He told how he had found te boy in Philadelphia last July. Ralph, he said, as despondent and threatened suicide then.

Recorder Miles decided to suspend sentence.

"It seems to me this is the story of a poor unfortunate outcast" he said, "without a friend in the world to little girl."

Ralph is to go back to the mission, and there will try to regain his health and strength. He promised not to again attempt to correspond secretly with the girl.

FINANCE GIANTS ORDINARY PEOPLE.

Judge Discovers That They Shrink Under Inspection.

LONDON, February 8 (Canadian Press Cable). — Caustic remarks on the methods of some "giants of finance" were made by Mr. Justice Coleridge in giving judgment, with costs, to-day for Dr. William Farncombe, of Birmingham, in an action against Messrs. Sperling & Company, of London, claiming specific performance of an agreement to purchase his 13,782 ordinary shares in Baldwin's, Limited, at £3 per share or alternately, damages for breach of agreement.

Nineteen actions depend on this one, which is a test case, and the total shares involved are between 280,000 and 300,000.

The Judge, remarking on the contradictory character of the evidence, said he derived some consolation in the reflection that these giants of finance, upon closer investigation, finance, upon closer investigation, tions.

Continuing, his Lordship declared: "They transact business involving millions in a most unbusinesslike way. They meet for a chat, disappear without making any memorandum of what passes. They trust to memory alone to recall long and elaborate conversations and when finally they make a written contract they don't even make clear who are the contracting parties, and the terms which are said to be the foundation of the contract are intentionally omitted. They all vouched for one another's unimpeachable character, but when they appeared in the witness box they gave each other the polite lie."

SCHOOL BOARD CONSENTS TO STUDENTS' JAZZ DANCE

Disapproval of London Ministerial Association Was Overridden.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Despite the opposition of a deputation from the Ministerial Alliance, the Board of Education yesterday afternoon authorized the Students' Council to hold a dance in connection with the opening soon of the new Collegiate Institute.

Rev. Canon Sage, speaking for the deputation, said his objection to the proposed dance rested largely on modern dance music and modern dance steps. He held men of hebraic blood to be responsible for many modern evils. "Much of the modern jazz music," he said, "is due to that influence. When I hear that kind of music I feel I am looking at a snake. What is in this music that is wrong? Simply this—it puts the accent on the wrong thing. If we have jazz music we will have jazz morals, and jazz morals will make a jazz community."

E. A. Miller and J. H. Dorian of the Collegiate staff stated that while former opponents of the dance, they were now in favor, because the students were determined to hold the dance, and if held under sanction of the board it could be supervised. Otherwise there was danger. They chose the least of two evils.

The motion to sanction the dance was proposed by Trustee Silverwood and seconded by Trustee Rev. A. Bice (Anglican).

Young Lady Escaped Serious Injury by Burrowing in Snowbank.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8.—It was a confection in pink and gold that Miss Sadie Jenkins, of Brandon, wore in the form of a hat to the opening of the carnival tonight. Someone threw a lighted cigar from the ski slide. It lit in the huge cluster of make-believe fruit on the Paris creation. They were made chiefly of celluloid. The explosion followed promptly. Miss Jenkins dived into the snowbank and saved herself from serious injury. Then she filed a claim for damages with the Carnival Committee.

SOME $9,000 IN GRANTS ARE ASKED OF COUNCIL

Eight Local Organizations Seek Municipal Financial Support Ranging From $3,000 Down to $300.

NO CIVIC COMMITTAL.

Notwithstanding Council's advertised policy of retrenchment and economy all round this year, Monday night no less than eight deputations from local organizations waited on Council and advanced their claims for grants aggregating a grand total of $9,000, or thereabouts. And to each deputation the Mayor gave the same reply: "We'll give this our serious consideration when striking the estimates and making appropriations." In this His Worship enjoyed the silent assent of the whole Aldermanic Board.

The Salvation Army asked $1,000 for their Rescue Home and Maternity Hospital in Toronto.

The Peterborough Rangers' Band are hoping for $2,000, and will be happy with nothing less than $1,500.

The Children's Aid Society will be satisfied with their usual $600.

The Well Babies' Clinic ask for $1,000.

The Peterborough County Plowmen's Association expect at least the cost of a banquet for officials, contestants and others connected with the international plowing match if it is to come here—say, $500.

The Exhibition Board put in a claim for $3,000.

The Trent Waterways Development Association are seeking $600 toward publicity of the route and Peterborough.

And the Peterborough Poultry Show are requesting an extension of their annual grant of $75 to $300.

Well Babies' Clinic.

The association's claim for a grant of $1,000 was sponsored by Mrs. R. Harstone, Dr. Bernie, Dr. A. W. McPherson, Dr. N. H. Sutton and Mrs. Arthur Stevenson.

Mrs. Harstone after eulogizing local doctors for the time they devote to Babies' Clinic work, and declaring that 60 per cent. of infant mortality is due to preventable sources, said that where Well Babies' Clinics are established such mortality decreases. Peterborough's Clinic, she extolled, is excelled by none, but it is handicapped somewhat by lack of funds to enlarge its scope in advising and assisting inexperienced mothers as to the best methods for caring for children.

Dr. Jessie Bernie advanced that saving the lives of infants was really developing the best principle of immigration by assuring Canada of increasing population of a desirable class, viz., real Canadians. Following lucid statistics of infant and child morality from many preventable diseases, she declared that one Canadian child preserved to Canada is worth five immigrants. Explaining the crying need by the Clinic of increased nursing service, especially for maternity cases during their first week, Dr. Bernie eulogizing the Clinic's work—first, for developing the city by saving infant life; secondly, on the ground of sanitation; thirdly, because it fosters health and prosperity, and last, but not least, from a standpoint of economy.

Dr. A. W. McPherson contended that the full benefits possible from the Well Babies' Clinic are not obtainable by reason of the need for another nurse to assist in the task of combing the city in search of needy cases. There should be available facilities for a systematic survey of the community to the extent and time required, and so extending the organization's service with the Council's financial support that not a single child may die or be impaired in health because the Clinic fails to do its duty for lack of funds or staff service.

Dr. N. H. Sutton advanced that it is time for a forward movement by the Clinic to get the fullest possible results. Hence the request for financial aid from Council.

Mrs. Arthur Stevenson extolled the city's medical men here, who give up their time to the Clinic, as among the best in the Province, and they should be backed by both the people and Council, she said. In her opinion, $1,000 from the city would be the least the Clinic could pull through the present year with.

Peterborough Exhibition.

President Roland Denne of the Peterborough Exhibition Board advanced that while his organization should really ask a grant of $5,000, they will be satisfied with $3,000, the same as last year. Since Peterborough Exhibition in 1921 increased its prize list, this city is now entitled to the $2,500 Dominion Government grant, which elevates Peterborough's Fair into the same class with Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and London, explained President Denne. Over $40,000 are invested in the Exhibition Grounds and equipment, he pointed out, and there is no other Fair in Peterborough's category between Toronto and Ottawa.

G. N. Gordon, M.P., supported the projected grant and lauded our exhibition as a lasting monument to those who have made it a success.

Claiming that Peterborough's Exhibition encourages agriculture, the basic foundation of Canada's prosperity, Vincent Eastwood also emphasized local manufacturers' confidence in the institution by spending $7,000 on a manufacturers' building. As for the requested grant, he contended that this city's tax rate is not unbearable, and the $3,000, if voted, would be returned to citizens in results and with every dollar of interest.

Both Reginald Turner and President Denne denied that the Directors had charged for the use of the grounds by picnics and similar events, although a nominal fee is expected for cleaning up after such occasions. In this regard, the Canadian Woollens handed in a cheque for $20.

The Plowing Match.

Jos. J. Duffus headed a deputation from the Peterborough County Plowmen's Association, who asked support toward securing for Peterborough next fall the international plowing contest under the auspices of the Ontario Plowmen's Association. Pointing out that it had been listed that proper support coming from Peterborough would secure the big plow event for this district, Mr. Duffus declared if Peterborough misses the match next fall another opportunity may not be available for twenty-five years. Land for this project has been secured near Crawford's Grove, and from 4,000 to 6,000 visitors would be attracted to Peterborough by the programme preparing. Mr. Duffus explained that the deputation did not look for a cash grant, but hoped that Council would defray the cost of a banquet to the plowing contests' officials, visiting plowmen and friends. After computation by some Aldermen, it was figured that such a banquet might run up to $400 or $500. Farm implements and machinery and tractors would also figure in this international event.

Poultry Association.

H. T. Lush and T. Darrah capably presented their case in asking Council to increase its annual grant to the Peterborough Poultry Association from $75 to $300.

Trent Waterways.

Messrs. F. D. Kerr, Joseph J. Duffus, G. N. Gordon, M.P., L. K. Fraser, President, and Leon. Frazer, Secretary, respectively, of the Trent Waterways Development Association, led a large deputation in the interests of getting a grant of $600 from Council toward booklet propaganda, advertising the advantages of these waters for American tourists. Incidentally, attention would be drawn to this city as a desirable location for new industries. Fifty thousand of publicity booklets will be distributed in various ways.

Mr. Kerr exclaimed: 'This is not a scheme for entertaining strangers, but a commercial and business undertaking," and Secretary Leon. Frazer gave Mr. Gordon credit for securing from the Dominion Government 110 charts of the Trent Waterways for distribution among American and Canadian yacht and motor boat clubs. Peterborough's share of advertising space on these charts and in the booklets would be governed by Peterborough's contribution to the project.

President L. K. Fraser, who is going to New York's Motor Show at his own expense to boost the Trent waterways, testified to the growing popularity of these waters with Americans.

The Children's Aid.

John Edgar asked a grant of $600—the same as voted the past few years—in support of the Children's Aid Society, which only receives from the Government $40 a month toward the Agent's salary. The calls on this organization, he pointed out, are increasing, and there is not in the Shelter at present a vacant cot. Agent Powell dealt with 340 children last year, he reported.

Agent Powell, also in support of the request, gave figures showing the cost of maintenance per each ward, and said that the Municipal Act provides that a municipality shall adequately maintain its Children's Shelter.

The Band.

Col. A. W. McPherson and Major Bradburn each spoke lucidly to the question of a grant of $2,000 for the Peterborough Rangers Band. The former speaker, referring to the three band factions having been brought together in accord and harmony with a united interest in developing for Peterborough one of the best bands in the Province, asserted that no funds are available for financing the organization. All the government contributes are quarters, light, heat, uniform and the pay of a soldier for each member; and cash is needed for acquistion and maintenance of instruments and for the bandmaster's salary. The band purposed giving concerts in the parks as requested by Council, if the grant is allowed.

Col. McPherson was understood to remark to one alderman that he would be satisfied were $1500 voted the band.

PORTLAND, Maine, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—A tale of a honeymoon trip from Halifax to New York, on which he spent $1,700, only to learn that he had been the victim of a fake marriage ceremony, was told by Joseph McIntosh to immigration officers here today. He was ordered deported to St. John, N. B., because he had entered this country in violation of the immigration laws.

McIntosh, who said he was an overseas veteran and a member of the Eighth Canadian Artillery Regiment, stationed at Halifax, told the officers he withdrew his money from a savings bank in that city before starting for New York with his supposed bride. She disappeared, he said, leaving a note informing him that he might consider himself "single and fancy free," and that she was returning to Canada to be married to another man. He said he spent most of his remaining cash to get to Boston, whence he walked to this city, arriving with eighty-five cents in his pockets.

SAYS ACID STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION

Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Sours the Food and Forms Gases.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

COST OF REPAIRING FIRE CHIEF'S CAR.

Subject of Controversy Among Aldermen.

When Ald. Mel. Turner asked in council that Harry W. Moore's account of $435.83 for repairing what is known as the Fire Chief's Ford car, after its smash up at the corner of Water and Hunter streets, be itemised, he started a somewhat vexed controversy.

In discussion it was disclosed that the whole of this bill was not for repairs alone. There was $45 for the rent of a car before the damaged Ford was taken into Moore's garage for repairs, and $110 for the rent of a car while repairs were being made, together with another $30 for the use of two trucks while the large car was out of commission. The items total $185 to be substracted from the auctual repairs charge, and although Ald. Turner withdrew his motion, Ald. Morrison, Ald. Morrison, last year's chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, insisted that Council get every item of Moore's bill from the fire hall in satisfaction of all concerned.

This account had previously been referred to the Committe of the whole council, but Ald. Jones could see no reason for such action. The car, he said, had been repaired from time to time, there had been considerable talk of a new car; and consequently no doubt the machine had been let go without the attention which it would otherwise have received. In such circumstances, he said, when the car did get into the repair shop after the accident, it was found to need more overhauling than the council anticipated.

Tree-planting as Memorials to Oshawa's Dead Heroes

OSHAWA, Ont., Feb. 8.—A movement is now on foot to inaugurate a tree-planting campaign here with the opening of spring, for the purpose of beautifying the town and making the new streets more attractive. The movement is being fathered by Dr. Kaiser, one of Oshawa's prominent citizens, who hopes to carry out a plan whereby at least one thousand trees will be planted throughout the town.

During the Great War there were seventy of Oshawa soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice, and it is the intention that one tree shall be planted to the memory of each soldier, the tree to have a proper guard around it, on which will be fastened as memorial a plate bearing the dead soldier's name.

CHEAPER POWER ON THE ST. LAWRENCE THAN AT NIAGARA.

Henry L. Harriman Presents Estimates in Address to Water Power League of America.

NEW YORK, February 8. Canadian Press. — Figures to show that the entire cost of the proposed International St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project could be defrayed by sales of electric current at prices cheaper than those at which current can now be bought at Niagara Falls, were presented by Henry L. Harriman, president of the New England Power Company, in an address yesterday before the Water Power League of America.

Pointing out that the estimated cost of the project was $250,000,000, for a system which would include 1,500,000 horsepower of current, he said:

Comparison of Costs.

"The Government can certainly get its money for 4 1-2 per cent., to that should be added one-half of one per cent. for a sinking fund, making the fixed charges $12,500,000 a year. Adding $2,500,000 for operation the total annual cost would be $15,000,000. If the entire cost of the project is charged against power it is thus evident that the power will cost at the switchboard $10 per horse power, or a little over $13 per kilowatt. It is interesting to note that the lowest cost at which continuous power can now be purchased at Niagara Falls is between $15 and $20 a horsepower.

Much Less than Steam.

"Making allowances for transmission charges this power can be delivered on the 50 per cent. load factor at huge sub-stations in Central New England and New York at from six to seven mills per killowatt hour. This is less than half the price at which power can be generated in New England by steam and even less than it can be generated for at the mouth of the mines in Pennsylvania."

Mr. Harriman while admitting that there were certain local objections to the plan, particularly as to its water development phase, urged that local objections would be "more than made up by benefits which cannot now be foreseen."

Broad Considera°ion.

"No local considera°in," he declared, "shou'd stand in the way of a great economic development which will benefit much of the country, and Montreal, Portland, Buffalo and New York cannot expect permanently to receive toll for their individual benefit which increases the cost of moving the imports and exports of the world to and from the West."

Western manufacturers, merchants and farmers are insisting, he said, that traffic from the Great Lakes have direct access to the sea.

E. H. Sargent, engineer of the State Water Power Commission, opposed the St. Lawrence project, declaring it to be an encroachment on the rights of New York State. He pointed out that the State owns the bed of the St. Lawrence within its boundaries and consequently has the sole control of it.

The Big White Cap Electric Clothes Washer Demonstration

In our Economy Basement and Window, Continues To-morrow, Friday and Saturday.

SPECIAL CLUB TERMS

MORE WHITE CAP ELECTRIC WASHERS are made in Canada than any other TWO makes of Electric Washers combined. From Halifax to Vancouver this is the POPULAR machine. Any person who sees it properly demonstrated side by side with any other machine will know at once WHY it is popular.

Washes Faster

It washes a tubful of Dirty Clothes in TEN minutes — does a whole Washing in an Hour. The reversing mechanism in the tub swirls gallons of the hot water through the clothes 120 times every minute. It not only washes faster than any other machine, but it wrings faster. The Wringer rolls turn 60 revolutions per minute, whereas most others turn 40 and some only 20—it wrings THREE TIMES as fast as some machines.

Costs Less

It isn't popular any longer to pay a high price for things. Economy is the word of the day. People demand better value at a lower price. And that's just what they get in the WHITE CAP. It's a highly improved machine, with every modern convenience, at a Low Price. It has the quick release, the metal wringer, the handy switch, the covered gears, the tightener for belt. It is not a cheap machine. It is a high-class washer, sold as the very best that can be given by thousands of hardware and electrical stores across Canada. But the price is lower than others of the better class Washers.

Why is the Price Lower? It is lower because the machine is Made in Canada, from Canadian materials, with Canadian capital. It is a Canadian invention and manufactured by Canadian men. There is no 27½% duty, no 13% exchange, no duty on the exchange, no royalties to pay to American concerns, no interest charges or profits to dump into American coffers.

SPECIAL OFFER--During these Demonstration Days, which end Saturday, a strong Wood and Metal Tub Bench will be given FREE of all charges to every purchaser of a White Cap Electric Washer. See the Practical Demonstration To-morrow.

Shackleton and the Arctic Oil Sea

By Caspar LeBlanc (Field Adviser to the Central Ontario Oil Fields Ltd.)

Death of Sir Ernest Shackleton leaves mystery of Beaufort Sea unsolved—Was Mackenzie River once the "Amazon of the North?" "Do the wild geese migrate to the Arctic because ages ago it was their perpetual home?"

In the Southern Atlantic Ocean more than one thousand miles east of the most southerly extremity of South America, called Cape Horn, and about forty-five degrees from the South Pole, there lies the lonely Island of South Georgia, far removed from the bustling, busy world. One month ago to-day the intrepid British explorer, Sir Ernest Shackleton, entered the harbor of Gryuicken, the principal whaling station of South Georgia on board his world-famed ship "The Quest," and died.

Every lover of Nature's mysteries will feel deeply the passing of that great soul from his loved ship "The Quest," to begin that greater voyage into unknown seas, where untrammeled by the limitations of time and space the dauntless explorer will learn the secrets of the foundationss of the Universe and reach we trust at length the quiet waters of his long-sought Port of Everlasting Peace.

The Call of the Sea.

Those who have never heard the call of the sullen, ice-bound seas may wonder why great scientists leave home and fireside and friends, and launch out upon the wintry, storm-tossed ocean in a puny boat to search for hidden lands. I can only answer that every age has had its Ulysses, its Alexander the Great, its Columbus, its Hudson and its Shackleton who could no more remain upon the quiet, peaceful shore of some inviting Lotus Land than can the ocean's ceaseless tides. The wild sea calls to these intrepid men as do the planets to the waters of the ocean, and their responsive, fearless souls, answer the haunting summons of the deep,—no man knows why.

A Proposed Arctic Expedition.

How does the peaceful passing of that great explorer reflect upon the world's quest for oil. A year ago Sir Ernest asked the Canadian Government to finance an expedition into Beaufort, that last unexplored tract of sea in all the world, which lies to the extreme north of Canada. The Government recognized the fact that such an expedition might bring back records of great scientific value, but thought that the financial state of the Dominion did not warrant so heavy an expenditure at that particular time. Sir Ernest, therefore, was forced to give up this dream of Arctic conquest, and after fitting out his good ship "The Quest,' went southward towards the hidden continents of the Antarctic instead. It is however sufficient for us to know that a scientist as highly qualified as was that valiant knight felt that the unravelling of Beaufort's story of forgotten ages would in all probability do much towards solving the mystery surrounding a most important era in the geologic history of the world.

Are Arctic Explorations Useless?

But you say what could the Arctic explorer hope to find in that vast northern waste that would be of value to us dwelling here in the vicinity of the Great Lakes of North America? Would it not have been money spent in vain? I answer, no. Let me tell you about that great northern sea of Beaufort, and the ice-bound shores of its "hidden lands," that you may the better appreciate the quest of the explorer and perhaps catch the spirit of the northern wilds.

The Mystery of the North.

Where the great Mackenzie River pours its icy waters into the Arctic Ocean there lies the Ancient Beaufort Sea. In the long Arctic summer days the sun for weeks hardly sets upon its deep, blue waters, while in winter its white icy surface softly reflects the gleaming starlight of the polar constellations. Beneath the Sea of Beaufort in ages past lay the oil of the Arctic. Where it escaped, and when, unto this present year has remained a mystery to scientific men.

Beaufort has a history for those who read the story of its past for those who study oil-rock formations and listen to the whisperings of its murmuring shores. On every mountain height along its rugged coast, in every gloomy grotto on its shores, Nature in a queer, quaint hand has written a full account of Beaufort's story, a story of conquests and defeats, vicissitudes and struggles fraught with almost human interest.

A Perennial Tropical Summer.

Beaufort was not always as it is today, a silent lifeless polar sea wrapped in the mystic gloom of Arctic twilight. The Aurora Borealis (Northern Lights) has not always cast its crackling sheen of ghostly light upon its silent waters. the polar bear has not since the beginning of the ages roamed upon its desolate shores, for the polar sea of Beaufort once felt upon its shimmering waves the brilliant rays of a tropical sun and the wondrous light of the southern moon. The waters of the ancient sea of Beaufort were aglow with life and the sun-loving seals basked in the sunshine along its reedy shores. Even unto this day the wild geese and ducks in countless thousands return north every spring to their ancient home joyously there to rear their young in its vast solitudes. The wild birds of the air and the denizens of the deep have not forgotten the happiness of their northern homes through the mystifying ages of snow and ice that have since passed. Joyfully, eagerly each succeeding spring the birds and the seals hurry northward hoping to find there once again the fruitlessness that once has been, and is no more. Does this not adequately explain the migration of our birds?

The Nile of the North.

The Ancient Mackenzie River, which is now so cold and uninviting in that far-off past was the Amazon of this fruitful region. The crocodiles swam in its lazy current, the hippopotamus wallowed in its dense jungles, the rhinocerous sported and splashed in its shady, muddy, drinking pools, the mammoth tore great paths through its tropical forests and the Birds of Paradise fluttered among its palms and bamboos. Round the bamboos enormous boa-constrictors twined as stealthily as the tropical creepers from which orchids, dazzlingly beautiful hung over the river's tepid waters.

The Sea of Beaufort had been a tropical sea for ages before the Continent of North America rose from out of the ocean, and long after the Ancient Mackenzie River came into existence the tropical sun shone with unabated glory upon this veritable Nile of the North. For countless ages this ancient river enjoyed the bounties of perpetual summer sun, and the jungles bordering its shores rivalled those of the Amazon of our present day.

Nature's Ceaseless Change.

But a change came, so gradually at first as to be almost imperceptible. Alas, it was as relentless as it was slow. To every living creature in that great northern jungle along the Mackenzie River it must have been apparent that the summers were growing shorter and cooler and the winters longer and more severe. The sun was no longer vertically overhead at mid-day, and a more southerly region was beginning to enjoy the benificent rays of noon-day glory.

You can easily imagine with what unfeigned joy the wild life of this earthly paradise after countless centuries of happiness spent among the forests of the Mackenzie and the tropical islands of Beaufort Sea left those northern, friendly regions for strange southern climes. That indeed was a heart-breaking migration for home is very dear to the wild life of the forest and the sea, but to this day the seals on the Pacific coast and our wild birds of the air hopefully seek the islands of the north at the first coming of spring. They cannot forget the wondrous beauty of their Arctic home, now wrecked and gone. There is in Nature an irresistible, progressive force.

The Earth Was Made For Man.

I hold with the Ancients that the earth was made for man and that the sun and its brilliant companions, the planets in their totality make up the life-sustaining forces of the Universe. The planets are the reservoirs of that cosmic energy which permeates all living tissue and throbs in every heart. They are the wireless tips of the universe gathering the vital forces of Nature from every part of the solar system and relaying that vital force to man's wondrous home the Earth. The selfsame planets in their courses brought about the change in the Mackenzie, the Nile of the North and in Beaufort's tropical sea. As the earth gradually altered its axial position the warm waters of the northern ocean moved southward, the land in the northern hemisphere rose higher and higher, while the continents of the Antarctic regions sank beneath the ocean's rising waves. That, too, was the period when the oil of the north, in common with the waters of the ocean, started its southern migration, in implicit obedience to a greater and external force—But space will not permit.

The Southern Quest.

It was for that Lost Continent of the Antarctic Ocean that Sir Ernest Shackleton was searching when his soul's ship entered the Harbor of Eternal Light. So great men die, in the service of the race—for the love of mankind.

Sir John Eaton Offered $100,000 to Enterprise.

Clipped from The Globe, Jan 31, 1922:

Montreal, Jan. 30. — (Canadian Press.)—A year ago Sir Ernest Shackleton arrived in Canada for the purpose of asking the Canadian Government to finance an expedition into the last unexplored tract of sea in the world, namely, the Beaufort Sea, which lies to the extreme north of Canada. He presented his case to Premier Meighen, but the Canadian Government, while not disapproving of the expedition, refrained, from the viewpoint of economy, from giving a grant suggesting that, if Sir Ernest could finance half the expedition from private sources, the Canadian Government would be willing to do the rest.

As a result, Sir Ernest had an interview with Sir John Eaton, of Toronto and he promised $100,000 toward the expedition if the Government would contribute the remainder. Such was not forthcoming, owing to various reasons, and Sir Ernest, as a result, was compelled to give up his dream of exploring the Beaufort Sea.

Adolescent Act

School Inspector Mowat made a special report on the working out of the Adolescent Act and pointed out the problems before the School Board in handling with adequate educational facilities the different classes as they come under the Act.

He pointed out that this year only one clause had come into effect. The attendance at the school had been increased by about 100 pupils and F. W. Miller had informed him he had issued 130 home and employment permits. Next September he said the Board must have facilities to give Adolescents from 14 to 16 who are out of school, 400 hours spare time work.

A Special Class

In his report Mr. Mowat asked the Board to consider the advisability of starting a special class for older boys who are unable to keep up with the classes they would ordinarily be in when they return to school. In the discussion on the reports Mr. Mowat said there would be some 20 deficients attending school and he stated that if the Board decided to set a special room aside for these at one of the schools the Educational Department would send an expert to select the children In reply to Dr. F. C. Neal, Mr. Mowat said he doubted if the Board had power to order a deficient child to attend a special class.

Mrs. W. R. Morris said that in Windsor they had not found this a problem at all. The parents had been only too glad to have the pupils given special care.

H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute in a report to the Board again advised the immediate taking of steps to provide increased accommodation at the schools He pointed out that there were 372 pupils in 11 classrooms at the Institute and 104 pupils were located at the old South Central School. The corporate life of the school was destroyed by this arrangement and the best results were not obtainable under such a system. The need of a gymnasium was imperative and if a wing was added he advised allowing for eight classrooms, four of which would be commercial, a typewriting room, business office for the commercial classes, two gymnasiums, one for the boy and one for the girls, house hold science and manual training apartments as well as rest rooms for the staff and a lunchroom for country pupils.

On motion of Mr. Denne and Mr. Wearing a special meeting of the Committee of the whole Board will be called to discuss the report.

The Epidemic

Reporting for J. A. McKone, chairman of the Supervision Committee Inspector Mowat stated that collectively there was little change in the extent of sickness among the pupils. In four schools there was an improvement but in two, the situation seemed worse. He stated that he had asked the nurse and doctor to give their full time to stamping out the diseases. The doctor and nurse had been given a list of all house under suspicion.

To a question by R. Denne, Inspector Mowat said he had no knowledge of any pupils attending Queen Mary School while in the "scaling" stage of scarlet fever. He could not believe it had occurred The inspector stated there had been case under suspicion sent home but he was sure none were advanced that far. Mr. Denne said he heard the child was sent home and came back to school the next day with a doctor's certificate. If that was the case it would have to be admitted Mr. Mowat said as Dr. Young had ruled that any doctor's certificate should serve. The School doctor, however, did not always accept these Mr. Mowat remarked.

Mr. Green asked how many boys and girls were away from school through illness." It seems to me we should know" he said "I think that information should be made "public", said Mr. Denne Inspector Mowat stated that he would ascertain to-day and give it to the supervision committee chairman.

A report of the Fire Chief on the condition of the school and in regard to fire drill was referred to the Property Committee.

Opening Exercises

Principal H. R. H. Kenner stated that the opening exercises of the entire school were now held in the Assembly Hall. One or two songs started the day off and the words were thrown on the screen. He asked for blinds for the top of the east window to keep the light out and his request was referred to the Supervision Committee.

The donation of the Peter Robinson Chapter of six pictures of the Canadian at Ypres, one to hang in each school was gratefully acknowledged.

Jason Elliott, care taker of Queen Mary School, asked for extension of his furlough to April 1. This was granted. The salary of W. G. McKee caretaker of the Collegiate Institute, who was ill during January was ordered to be paid.

The resignation of David Spence from the Advisory Industrial Committee of the Board was accepted. Mr. Spence stated he did not have the time to give to the work. On motion of Mr. Denne and Mr. Greene, William Nelson was appointed to the vacancy, a motion by J. W. Worth and Mrs. Morris, in favour of E. F. Reid being defeated.

A communication was received from the Council of Hespeler with a copy of a resolution passed opposing the raising of the matriculation standards for universities and asking for their consideration of it. No action was taken. "I don't think we should raise our university matriculation standards", said Chairman A. A. Fowler "I don't think we are experts to judge whether they should be raised or not," remarked Mrs. Morris.

Interesting Report

Mrs. W. R. Morris reported on the Urban School Trustees' Association convention at Windsor, Jan. 11th., 12th., and 13. Later she stated the Board would receive a detailed verbatim report of what was done but she pointed out last night the progressive policies of the Windsor and Detroit School Boards A vote of thanks was extended to her for her interestnig report.

The request of the principal of the Collegiate for an additional grant of $100 for the science department to purchase a projection lantern was granted on motion of Mr. Denne and Mr. Wearing.

Those present at the meeting were —A. A. Fowler, chairman, Joseph Wearing, J. W. Worth, Mrs. W. R. Morris, R. Denne, J. M. Greene E. B. Fowler, and Dr. F. C. Neal.

UNUSUAL ACTION CONCERNING BONDS.

Case Just Concluded in the Courts Interest Those Whose Names Appear on Bank Bonds.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Many persons whose names appear on bank bonds are looking up their bonds as the result of the supreme court action taken by the Imperial Bank against W. J. Kidd, et al, which was heard at the court house by Justice Lennox. Judgment was reserved.

Some years ago Mr. Kidd and they thought for five thousand dollthey thougrt for five thousand dollars in connection with the Central Canada Horse Depository. he bond, however, made them jointly and severely liable for the sum of five thousand dollars each."

In all about $12,000 was borrowed from the bank and with the failure of the depository the ten persons whose names appeared on the bond claimed they were not liable to a greater extent than $5,000. The bank, however, claimed the parties were liable for $50,000 and brought action.

In legal circles several lawyers said they had been notified by their clients to look into various bank bonds, and that bank managers were also looking up the wording of bonds taken as security for loans advanced, to companies and individuals.

AN ADDRESS ON THE 'INTELLECTUAL MAN'

Delivered By Joseph Wearing Before the B.Y.P.U.

The second of a series of three addresses on the ideal man, instituted by Mr. W. H. Kidd, at the Murray Street B.Y.P.U., was delivered Monday night by Mr. Joseph Wearing, who took the subject of "The Intellectual Ideal." Mr. Wearing showed the close relationship between the physical, intellectual and spiritual needs of man, pointing out that the physical gives us our impressions, and that the world experiences must come through to the senses. The intellectual side of man gives us the power to know what these impressions mean, and judge accordingly; and the spiritual side welds our courses of action. The speaker described with many illustrations the intellectual faculty, showing how perceptions of sensations become conceptions, and that these, by the aid of memory and imagination, become finally judgments upon which our courses of action are based. Our perceptions should be keen, accurate and extensive; our conceptions should be logical, and our judgments sound.

Mr. Wearing, at this point, gave numerous illustrations to show how illogical most of our thinking is. The speaker also showed the hearing of the intellectual faculty on such things as immortality and sin. If knowledge is the thought of God, infinity is necessary to acquire that knowledge, and we should not be cut off after gaining a few fragments of it. Mr. Wearing also pointed out that, to a great extent, sin was thinking wrongly, and that clear thinking would show ultimate results, and so guide the will in the right direction. Throughout his address Mr. Wearing gave many apt literary quotations to bear out his points.

Mr. A. J. Madill of the Normal School, will speak on "The Spiritual Ideal," the second Monday in March.

WOULD SIMPLIFY FUNERALS NOW.

Rev. Gough Opposed to Modern Methods.

LONDON, Feb. 8.— (Canadian Press)—The Rev. Edward Gough, the Vicar of Cheswick, is opposed to the modern conduct of funerals. He would have no dingy black hearse to carry his body to the church, but some simple wheeled ber drawn by the men and women he had known and loved! but if horses are needed as may be necessary in large cities he does not think they should be black. The coffin must be of the simplest character. He does not want flowers but would like some pall of beautiful colors used, for this, he says, makes all funerals look alike and removes the distinction between rich and poor. It his friends wish, they might carry a sprig of rosemary for remembrance according to the Old English custom. If flowers are desired, they should be planted about his grave to live, and not lie, as heaps of dirty and decaying vegetation with dank white ribbons and stained cards.

In the church the Vicar would ask that while the solemnity of death is insisted upon, the externals of the service should express the hope of immortality. Might blue be used instead of black, he asks.

Finally, the Vicar says, he would have his body borne to the grave and the earth strewn cross-wise by the hands of those he loved.

His daughters, Ida, 17, Irene, 10 and son Joseph, 15, are in a serious condition from exposure and injuries sustained when they fought their way to safety. John Kenkel, junior, had escaped from the burning building, but returned to save his mother, and perished.

MOSCOW POLICE DO WHOLE DUTY.

Respects No Person in Making Arrests.

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—(Associated Press)—That the Cheka, or secret police, is no respector of persons, in making arrests, may be set down to its credit. It arrests Communists and Cheka agents as free as any others.

The method of arrest often inconveniences friends of the persons arrested. If the person wanted is not at home, a guard is placed inside the door of his home and every visitor is held until he appears. This is to prevent warnings getting to the persons to be arrested.

If the visiting friends are not arrested, they risk being held for several days. On one occasion a woman passing a house door heard a cat mewing hungrily and entered to pet and feed it. She stumbled into a Cheka net, and was held in prison for three months, when finally, her explanation was accepted as to why she had visited the house.

There are months when great numbers are in jail. The Cheka is not bothered by lack of prison space If a prison room is intended to accommadate two or three persons, it often happens that in fact it is made to accommodate 25 or 50 People are just put in, in layers, and that's an end to the space problem.

PETERBOROUGH WINS THE ROUND FROM BELLEVILLE

Junior Basketball Team Pulls Off a Clever Win, Beating Bay of Quinte Team by 26-22.

The Peterboro Y.M.C.A. junior journeyed to Belleville, realizing that they had the game of their lives on their hands and they went on the floor determined to put in everything in order to overcome the handicap of strange baskets and a smaller floor.

In a thrilling game the Peterboro team won out 26-22 and won the round 51-47.

The win last night was a well earned victory for the visiting team as they were never headed although the score was tied three times. At half time each team had scored 7 points and in the 20 minutes only 3 baskets were netted for the Petes and 1 by Belleville, showing the closeness of the checking.

In the second half Peterboro secured an early lead of two baskets and in spite of the frantic appeals of the Belleville fans the Quinte boys could not reduce it.

Peterboro excelled in field goals, securing 10 to 6 for Belleville. Every player on the Peterboro team played a strong game. The summary:

HOCKEY

The Alert Trail Ranger gang beat the Bull-dog Tuxis square at Mark street Rink last night. The ice was excellent but it was poor hockey.

It was so one sided that by actual count, Chesty McCall, the Alerts goalie, had three shots to stop. While all the players did was bang the rubber past the Bull-dog goalie. Miller and Ash starred for the Alerts while Skitch and Loard starred for the Bull-dogs.

A scrappy game was played on the Mark street rink, Tuesday night in which the Alerts defeated the Bull dogs a Tuxis group, 7-0. Although the score was lopsided, the game was hard fought, and the losers deserved more than the score indicates for their efforts. The Alerts played combination throughout the game, while the losers played ragged combination, but occasionally, they threatened on lone rushes. For the Alerts F. Whitehouse, A. Gray, A. Baird were always dangerous, and had it not been that Sarginson, the Bull-dog net guardian, had a night on, the score would have been much greater.

line-ups:—

Alerts—Goal, M. McCall; defence F. Whitehouse, G. Miller; wings, A Gray, A. Braid, centre, 'Cy' Ash. sub—H. Kendry.

Bull-dogs— Goal, N Sarginson, defence, F. Fussee, E. Fowler, wings, J. Lord, R. Lord centre. V. Skitch.

The Senior School League game between St. Peter's school and Collegiate A, postponed from yesterday, will be played at Brock street rink between 7 and 8 o'clock to-morrow night. The Normal-Collegiate B game will be played at 5 o'clock to-morrow as scheduled.

The Lakeviews will have the following line-up for their game with the C.G.E. Toolroom in the City League series to-night:

Goal—Bergoine.
Sub-goal—Lebarr.
Defence—McMartin, Murray.
Centre—Legon.
Right wing—Burgess.
Subs—Hamley, Cherrett.

A Little Sporting Gossip

With a fast sheet of ice ready there is every reason to expect two worth-while games in the City League series to-night. The re-organised Bankers and the Wm. Hamilton team, last year's champions, meet in the 8 o'clock fixture. When they hooked up earlier in the season the Hamilton crew won 7 to 0, but the Bankers are a different outfit now, and the clash should be a real struggle. At 9.15 the C.G.E. Tool Room and Lakeviews come together. The Redskins beat the Electricians in the opening game of the season by one goal in overtime, but the C.G.E. bunch have added Lornie Rose to their roster since then, and expect to win handily to-night. On the other hand, the Lakeviews are out to keep their slate clean if possible, and to win the League without a play-off, if the feat can be accomplished. They have less to worry about than the rest of the teams, as they are assured of a place in the finals in any event as a result of winning the first section.

The wrestling and boxing meeting called by the P.A.A.A. for to-night will be held at the Y.M.C.A., not in the Chamber of Commerce, as announced yesterday. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock, and all who are interested are cordially invited to be present.

Port Hope scored as many goals in Picton last night as the Petes were able to annex in the two games against the Canners, and as the Hudgin-Croft crew ran in their usual average, Port Hope won the fixture by 5 goals to 3. They should win the round without difficulty, and earn the right to meet Belleville, who will probably end the Ontarios' career next week. Port Hope have what the Petes lacked—a scoring ace, in the person of Finnegan Hills, and his cleverness turned the trick for them last night.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"You may tie us once in a while ,but you can't beat us."—Ben McLean.

You've got to hand it to the Peterborough Junior basketball team. When the heavy and rangy Belleville outfit blew in here last Thursday and tied the young Petes on their own floor, it looked like curtains for the homesters, for it is more difficult to win a basketball game on a floor that is strange than it is to grab off a hockey game away from home. The Petes, however, showed their gameness by invading Belleville last night and outscoring the Bay of Quinte crew by 26 points to 22, winning the round by 4 points. It was a great series. The Peterborough crew will clash with Varsity III. or the Toronto West-end Juniors in the next round.

Sid. Gibbs, manager of the Wm. Hamilton City League team, has left the city to take up residence in Deseronto, and he will be greatly missed by last year's champions. His place as pilot of the Hamilton team has been taken by Don. Loucks.

The P.A.A.A. goes marching on, providing recreation for the community. The latest event in the winter activity of the Association will be the junior skating championships for boys and girls which will be held at Brock Street Rink a week from Friday night. There will be senior races for those under 20, intermediate races for boys and girls under 18, junior races for those under 16, and midget competitions for youngsters who are under 14 years. Entry forms will be published in The Examiner.

The Galt team, last year's champions, had the humilation of being beaten on their own ice last night by Kitchener, and Percy Lesueur's bunch drop into the discard. Peterborough had the same experience after winning the Intermediate championship. Like Galt, they felt that a new rink was necessary, and so the Brock Street Rink succeeded the old Charlotte Street soap dish, but the Petes got nowhere the first year in the new ice box. Incidentally, it was Galt from whom they won the honours on the occasion to which reference is made.

To-day's Happy Thought:

At least we have a basketball team that can win away from home.

SPORT GOSSIP

Bankers and Hamilton's, who play the first game in the City Hockey League bill to-night, have been notified that the teams must be ready to start the contest at eight o'clock. The ice will be in good shape.

Lakeviews and C.G.E. Toolroom are down for the second game at 9.15 o'clock.

Galt Intermediates used their weight insead of thier heads in the second game with Kitchener and joined the alsorans last night. The score of 4 to 2 for Kitchener made it 11 to 3 on the round. The players used rough tactics, and the game was finished with four men of each team on the ice.

Picton held on hard for two periods, but were beaten out in the third round by Port Hope, by 5 to 3. The Peterborough basketball team, returning from Belleville, met Referee Brown on the train and were informed that the contest resembled an exhibition of shinny. The Port Hope goaler stopped the puck with his nose and was laid up for fifteen minutes for repairs.

Belleville juniors, although defeated by a counter at Trenton, won the round by six goals. They will play Queen's. Belleville's intermediates meet the winner of the Trenton-Port Hope round, the second game of which will be played in Port Hope on Friday night.

Uxbridge did well against Toronto A.C. The North Toronto crew won by 3 to 1.

Stratford intermediates slipped one over Aura Lee in an exhibition game, winning by 6 to 5.

MONTHLY MEETING THE U.F.O. CLUB.

Reports Indicate a Real Live Business For Club.

The U. F. O. Club held their usual monthly meeting last evening in the new quarters rented by them, the W.O.W. Hall, with an attendance of nearly 70 members. Mr. Howard Quinn was in the chair.

Discussion took place arising out of the reading of the circular submitted by a committee composed of the sceretaries and presidents of local clubs which met last Saturday to discuss consolidated stock shipping, and the Peterboro Club last night endorsed the regulations put forward by this circular.

A joint meeting will be held on March 11th to discuss this question, and a commitee to represent the Peterboro club at this meeting was appointed last evening, composed of Messrs. H. W. Quinn, R. B. Rogers and T. Petrie.

Interesting Talks.

Mr. Moody, of Gunns, Limited, spoke on Commercial Fertilizers, and M. H. B. Cowan, one of the Club members, gave a very interesting and timely talk on the Land Tax, a subject which is occupying the attention of the members at the present time, and which was presented by the speaker with a wealth of detail and a thoughtful delivery which proved most interesting to his hearers.

Reports showed that the club is doing a real live business along the lines of feed, etc. Seed corn and binder twine orders were coming in fast and will soon be placed.

During the evening an enjoyable instrumental duet was rendered by Mrs. Quinn and Mr. C. Quinn.

The next meeting of the club will take place on Feb. 21st, when the chief business of the evening will be a debate on the resolution: "That the present system of central control is preferable to the Federal system that is being advocated in managing cooperative stores." Mr. Staples of Toronto will head the affirmative, and Mr. F. E. Ellis of the Farm and Dairy staff will take the negative, both to be assisted by a club member.

LASTING PEACE.

TOKIO, Japan, Feb. 8.— (Canadian Press.)—The agreement reached at the Washington conference marks the first step towards the establishment of a "real and lasting peace," with the possibility of abolition of armaments. Premier Takasashi told House of Peers here yesterwday.

ANOTHER GRANT FOR NEW BRIDGE.

Mayor Taylor Thinks City Entitled to $41,666 From Government.

Mayor W. H. Taylor is entertaining hopes that this city can convince the Minister of Railways and Canals, on the basis of an agreement with the late Federal Government for assistance in building the new Ashburnham bridge, that Peterborough is entitled to another $41,666 contribution to the final cost of the structure. And His Worship has been authorized by Council to interview the local member, G. N. Gordon, M.P., and arrange with him a deputation to press for payment of this $41,666 on the following grounds

Before the contract for the construction of the Bridge was let it was estimated that the total cost would amount to $300,000 and on the basis of such estimated cost the Government agreed to contribute one sixth, namely, $50,000.

The reason the Government made this contribution was that it was contemplated that when the Trent Canal is completed that the Quaker Oats Co. will put on a line of barges upon the canal for the purpose of carrying grain from Georgian Bay to Peterborough and that it would be necessary for the Government either to perpetually maintain a swing in the bridge or contribute to the cost of a high level bridge.

It will also be remembered that the Government dredged the Otonabee River North of Hunter street bridge for the very purpose of enabling the Quaker Oats Co. to operate their barges on the Otonabee River.

If the Dominion Government's fair share of the cost of the construction of the bridge was one sixth of its total estimated cost then I submit that we have a strong case to present to the Government to pay one sixth of the actual cost of the bridge

The actual cost of the bridge was very much more than the estimated cost largely owing to the increased cost of labor and material and other unforseen difficulties that the Council had to contend with.

The total cost of the construction of the bridge down to the 31st December, 1921, amounts to the sum of $550,000. One sixth being a fair share of this total cost would amount to $91,666, toward which the Government has contributed $50,000 there by leaving the sum of $41,666, as the Government's fair share of the actual cost.

The foregoing is the Mayor's own conception of what is consistently due Peterborough, and his intention is to urge that the $41,666 in question be placed in the estimates at the coming Federal Session.

LABOUR GROUP MOVES TO DEPOSE HALCROW

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 8.—The members of the Labour group have asked the Ontario Labour party to relieve George Halcrow, East Hamilton, of the Labour leadership in the Provincial Legislature. The request will be considered and will probably be acted on at a special session of the Executive in the Labour Temple, Toronto, next Saturday p.m. The Labour group determined to take this drastic measure at the recent caucus at Queen's Park, Toronto. It is said Hon. Walter Rollo will be renamed the leader. At the two last caucuses of the coalition members of the Ontario House Mr. Halcrow was absent. It is claimed that he is too loquacious.

SMALL CASE AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Rumors of an expected arrest in connection with the disappearance of Ambrose Small, the Toronto millionaire, were set on foot here by the arrival of a Toronto detective for the purpose of looking over records in connection with the case. The police say the rumors are without foundation.

COULD NOT MARRY HER.

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press.)— An action for a hundred thousand dollars for an alleged breach of promise to marry, brought by Sarah H. Martin, stenographer, against Shirley Ogilvie, a wealthy local financier, was dismissed by Justice Bruneau to-day. Defendant contended that as he was a married man plaintiff knew he could not marry her.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

To-morrow the Capitol presents the best comedy of the war ever produced, "Three Live Ghosts," produced in London, England, breaking theatre records everywhere in England, the United States and Canada.

The public have seen "Alf's Button," and the "Better 'Ole,' and are now invited to come and see the cleanest, classiest comedy ever made on events of the Great War, it's called "Three Live Ghosts," and it was produced in London by Paramount.

A wave of excitement recently agitated the busiest thoroughfare of London when a burly policeman held up the traffic to allow the passage of an aristocratic-looking gentleman, immaculaetly tailored, wheeling the latest thing in expensive baby-carriages, to which was attached a sheep which showed an obvious disinclination to cross the road.

Absorbed and quite unperturbed by the amazement caused by his unheralded arrival, the gentleman steered his charge to the opposite sidewalk, and by the time the crowd had recovered from its astonishment had apparently vanished into thin air.

At the same moment two cameras which had been taking a record of this unusual scene from the inside of a covered motor lorry ceased to grind, and George Fitzmaurice, famous Paramount producer congratulated himself on having successfully secured a particularly effective and difficult "shot."

The episode showed Cyril Chadwick in his impersonation of "Spoofy" in "Three Live Ghosts," a Paramount picture which will be shown to-night.

Genuine bits of the London Limehouse district are seen in the early scenes of "Three Live Ghosts." To those Americans who only know this quarter of London as it lives in the pages of Thomas Burke's stories, it will be interesting to see Limehouse as it really it. The celebrated Chinese quarter, which most tourists seem to imagine vaguely as a vast unchartered district of darkest London in reality only comprises the two thoroughfares of Limehouse Causeway and Pennyfields. One sees no dreamy looking Chinamen or flower-like girls, but only a number of yellow men in European clothes engaged in perfectly legitimate business. Possibly Mr. Burke, the films, and the American tourists who visit Limehouse in the expectation of seeing life as it is lived in the underworld, have unconsciously conspired in a successful effort to make London's Chinatown respectable— at least to the naked eye. And thus they will see it in "Three Live Ghosts,"—as it really is.

The balance of the big programme and the music of the Capitol Orchestra will complete a great show.

FILM TREAT PROMISED IN FOX'S "EVANGELINE"

"Evangeline' the vitally dramatic poem by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, will be seen for a run of three days, beginning tomorrow, on the screen at the Grand Theatre in the motion picture version made by Fox Film Corporation.

William Fox, in making this picture, achieved what was declared impossible. The production is rated a surpassingly beautiful version of the most sublime drama in the history of American literature.

Miss Miriam Cooper, a well known and charming leading woman of the screen, is seen in the title role, and her impersonation of the unhappy heroine is said to be her greatest achievement. As an added attraction and by special arrangement the well known New York soprano soloist, Hilda Frances Kilgore, will render a selected program.

THE MOST SUBLIME DRAMA IN THE HISTORY OF LITERATURE

Evangeline triumphed in New York, Chicago, Montreal, etc., and comes here direct from Massey Hall, Toronto.

"This is an undoubtedly sincere and faithful screening of Longfellow's famous poem. It should appeal to all classes, young and old, who have a perception for the dramatic, the significant and the beautiful. It is treated with imagination and artistry, and is remarkably successful in making live the period of the story and in creating reality in the characters. It is one of the most truthful pictures to the original ever produced, both in spirit and content of narrative. It is one of the rare pictures that lend strength and beauty to the written story."

"BEHOLD MY WIFE!" UNUSUAL PHOTO-PLAY

New GeOrge Melford Picture Has Appealing Story.

Something unusual in the way of photoplay productions is promised in eGorge Melford's "Behold my Wife!" which is showing at the Regent Theatre to-day.

The picture was adapted from Sir Gilbert Parker's popular novel, "The Translation of a Savage" and is declared to combine a deeply appealing story with lavish and artistic settings.

An aristocratic young Englishman temporarily located in Canada, and an Indian girl whom in a moment of rage because his parents have caused his fiancee back home to jilt him, he marries, are the chief characters in the picture. Anxious to disgrace his folks he sends his redskin bride to England. But he has reckoned without the girl's real character, and the big heartedness of his elder brother. For in a few years she blossoms into a real belle. Dramatic events bring about a reconciliation between the ill matched pair.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Gentle Reader, if you will take a kindly meant piece of advice you will not fail to see the splendid program at the Royal to-night. It will be your last chance to see that irresistibly funny play called "The Foolish Age. This play is officially termed a "comedy drama". Possibly the most exactly accurate name would be a 'High Class comedy". There is a plot to be sure but that plot holds about the same relationship to the play that string tied around a rolled roast does to the beef. The daughter of a rich society man is engaged to a young fellow of her own social set She hears a lecture on the duty of everyone to search for and lead to happiness, the downfallen of human ity. She gives her fiance his conge and begins her self imposed task of uplifting the gangsters and thugs of New York. She supplies them with dress clothes and invites them to a big society ball. Then she organizes a theatre party from the slums. The fiance sends her a note to the effect that admiring her splen did work he has organized a society for uplifting and making happy the down trodden chorus girl. The proteges of both parties meet at a theatre. This play is a refined comedy that has a happy ending and conveys a good moral The wonderful feature called Moral Fibre is a strongly dramatic play of the better French type. The brother of a loving little sister commits suicide because a married vistor at a country village poses, for her own selfish amusement, as a single girl, and after winning his love laughs him to scorn. The little sister vows that she will make his vamp "pay and pay and pay". The play shows her how she keeps her vow. It is not necessary to do more than remind our reader that Bettina, in the serial Breaking Through is on the screen to-night. Our patrons know Bettina too well to require printers' ink describing her attraction. Larry Semon in "The Bakey" would bring tears of laughter down the stony cheeks of Egypt's Sphynx and turn a confirmed pessimist into a cheerful optimist. See Larry and you will laugh and grow fat or if you weigh too much now, your laughter will reduce your weight.

DISCUSS SEPARATE SCHOOL QUESTION SPECIAL MEETING

This Was Decision of Education Board on Receipt of Communications re School's Assessment.

Two communications in regard to Separate School assessment were received at Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Education. "We're looking for trouble when we discuss those things," remarked Joseph Wearing. "To my mind, it's a matter for the courts."

Mr. Denne suggested they go into the Separate School matter at the special meeting, when accommodation at the Collegiate is to be discussed, and this the Board decided to do. "It's a serious question as I see it," stated Mr. Greene.

A copy of a resolution passed by the Toronto Board of Education was read at their request. The following is the resolution:

"Moved by Trustee H. A. Perlis, seconded by Trustee Bert S. Wemp:

"That whereas the Roman Catholic Separate School supporters, through their leaders in Ontario, have recently renewed their attempts to influence public opinion in favor of additional taxes for Roman Catholic Separate Schools;

"And whereas the Province-wide agitation to influence the Ontario Legislature in favor of such additional taxes, has persistently continued for many months;

"And whereas the supporters of the Public School system of Ontario lack the necessary centralized organization to demonstrate effectively their opposition to the Roman Catholic demand;

"Therefore, we, the Board of Education of the City of Toronto, in the interest of public schools assembled do hereby earnestly call upon all citizens who are supporters or friends of our public school system to rally to the defence of these schools;

"(1) By petitioning the Ontario Legislature against any suggested changes of the Ontario Assessment Act that would increase Roman Catholic separate school revenue at the expense of our public schools;

"(2) By expressing their opinion on this matter publicly and privately, and

"(3) By uniting in an organization wherever it be practical and possible, for the purpose of maintaining the present non-sectarian provisions of public school law and protecting the public School revenue by maintaining the present Assessment Act."

The following letter was received from E. F. Reid, secretary of the Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Public School Defence League:

"Enclosed you will find a copy of a resolution, which has been unanimously passed by a large meeting of public school ratepayers, who later formed themselves into an association to be known as the Ontario Public School Defence League, Peterborough Branch.

"We submit this resolution to your Board, feeling that it is of vital interest to you, and we would respectfully ask that your Board pass this resolution, have it signed by your chairman and secretary, also by individual members of your Board, and returned to me at your earliest convenience.

"Also you will find under separate cover copies of literature which we wish you to distribute to the members of your Board at to-night's meeting."

A printed resolution, ready to be signed, appended, was as follows:

Petition.

To the Prime Minister and Members of the Legislative of the Province of Ontario:

Whereas, the Roman Catholic bishops of Ontario have made representations to the Government of the Province that the Assessment Act should be amended so as to divide the school taxes paid by incorporated companies between the public and separate schools on the basis of population; and

Whereas the granting of such demands would compel Protestant taxpayers to contribute to the Roman Catholic separate schools, and thereby pay for the teaching of the Roman Catholic religion; and

Whereas, such a division of school taxes as proposed by the Roman Catholic bishops would deprive the public, the non-sectarian school system of a large portion of its legitimate and necessary revenues thereby seriously impairing the efficiency of the Public School system, and

Whereas, under the existing Act, all the school taxes that can be shown to be derived from taxable property in the possession of the Roman Catholics, now goes to the support of the Roman Catholic Separate schools;

Therefore, your petitioners humbly pray that no such change shall be made in the Assessment Act; and further, that no additional concessions of any kind be made to sectarian schools in this province."

The literature referred to in the communication was distributed.

CHILDREN LIKE THESE.
When you clear the luncheon table, cut slices of bread, make sandwiches with left-over meat or salad, or a bit of jelly, peanut butter or plain butter. Then set these on a plate in the ice box with any apples, oranges or bananas you have to spare. When the children come home from school with that after-school hunger they get a lunch without any questions or extra trouble, and you will not be interrupted in what you are doing; you will know exactly what they get and how much, and will not find your larder ransacked in a haphazard way.

THE WELLAND CANAL A LIMITED MEAT TICKET
Shortage of Funds Prevents Action Until Parliament Meets.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Feb. 8.—Little or no alleviation of the unemployment situation can be expected from broadening of work on the Welland ship canal, judging from statements made by Deputy Minister of Labour, G. A. Bell, at the conference with district G.W.V.A. representatives held here. So far as section three was concerned, Mr. Bell declared that the appropriation for the work should be overdrawn, and an extra $700,000 should be granted by order-in-council to enable the department to carry on the work. It would be impossible to open up any more work here before the session of parliament owing to shortage of funds. The department fully realizes the condition of unemployment and the fact that there is lots of work that could be done.

So far as sections one and two are concerned, Mr. Bell was just as noncommittal. The work on these sections was let out to contractors and was no longer under control of the department. To attempt to carry on the work now, would just create excessive cost, and it was not likely, in his opinion, that the contractors would broaden their activities until better weather conditions prevailed. However, he was arranging a conference with chief engineer Bowden of the department of railways and canals to discuss matters pertaining to improvement of ship canal labor conditions.

Regarding present Welland canal, Mr. Bell claimed that tre repair appropriation was overdrawn, and the department would be unable to open up any new work.

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR.
The usual weekly practice of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir last night was attended by over fift of the members, and a splendid rehearsal was the outcome. The combination of the different parts towards a rightful blending was very noticeable, and gives promise of a choir of finely balanced proportions vocally.
The subscriptions lists were given out last night, and the promise of a bumper house at the concert on 31st March is very bright. The music-loving public are no doubt keeping that date open, when Miss Bertha Crawford, one of Canada's own prima donnas, will be heard in a high-class programme. WILL CURB THE JUNKER PRESS.

Imprisonment For Insulting German Constitution.

BERLIN, Feb. 8.— (Associated Press)—The "Junker" press and the Socialists of Germany are at odds over a proposed law intended to protect members of the government from insult and to prevent anybody inciting others to violence against them.
Announcement has been made that the government intends to introduce a bill in the Reichstag providing for imprisonment and fine up to 500,000 marks for persons guilty of "insulting the constitution, the president or and members of the Central or Federated government.
The Socialists contend that the law is necessary to protect the country against violent and treacherous monarchistic propaganda and chicanery.
The Conservative and Nationalist newspapers protest against it as an attack on free peech and free thought. They accuse the Socialists of outraging their own principles, as they formerly fought against laws which protected several royal personages of Germany from slanderous statements.
The newspapers now oposing the bill have been wont to entertain readers with lengthy sarcastic or abusive articles about the republican constitution and the government's democraic political leaders.

The Treasure Chest of Health

Can be reached by Chiropractic. You may go on long journeys in search of this treasure and not find it, but if you investigate, you will find that Chiropractic is a science which deals with the Cause of Disease. Ill-health is but an effect, and every effect must have a cause. We as Chiropractors believe that a very large percentage of disease is caused by Pressure upon Nerves as they emit between the segments of the Spine. It is a proven fact that if a Vertebra of the Spine is out of normal alignment it will cause Pressure upon Nerve Fibres, and there will be abnormal function in the tissues supplied by those Nerves. It has also been conclusively proven that when these misaligned Vertebrae are adjusted to normal position, Health follows.
If you are not enjoying good health let us explain Chiropractic to you.

COMMISSION TAKE OUT A MEMBERSHIP

Will Get Under Wing of Ontario Municipal Electric Association—Extra Street Lights.

FILTERED WATER

The Utilities Commission, at a meeting yesterday afternoon decided that Peterborough should hold membership in the Ontario Municipal Electric Association of which Sir Adam Beck is Honorary President, for the support afforded in seeking legislation or in other matters where the influence of the Association would count. It was resolved that a cheque for $35 for membership be forwarded. A copy of the constitution and by-laws were enclosed in a letter from the secretary-treasurer, T. J. Hannigan, Guelph.

Commissioners W. H. Bradburn and E. E. Mason were in favour of joining and Chairman Robert Hicks considered it would be wise, although he said by so doing they did not want to commit themselves to support matters which they were definitely opposed to. The other members thought their membership would not commit them to a policy they did not consider in the best interests of Peterborough.

Waterworks Superintendent R. L. Dobbin informed the Commission they had some difficulty with the pumps in the filtration plant and they were concentrating on righting them. They had filtered water part of Tuesday, he said, and some of it had gone down town.

Extra Lighting.

When the Commission began carrying out the request of Council that four lamps be installed between Auburn Mills and Auburn footbridge they got into difficulties with the G.T.R. A letter was read at the meeting from H. M. Hobson, Superintendent of Track, that an agreement with the railway was necessary before pole lines could be run over the tracks. He advised that the matter be taken up with Superintendent J. D. McMillan, Belleville. The Commission decided to forward a copy of the letter to the Council and ask them to obtain the required permission from the G.T.R.

Two refunds on water rates were ordered by the Commission. The accountant reported that the Quaker Oats Co. had paid $7.16 for water at 57 Hunter street. The building here was removed in 1919 owing to the construction of the Hunter street bridge and the company had received nothing for their money. A refund of the amount paid will be made, and the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. will be refunded $10.53 for which they have been wrongly billed on a lot on Cedar street since April 1, 1912.

Teach Children to Obey Early; Professor's Advice

"The best thing any child can be taught is obedience and this in its own home while it is very young," Prof. William D. Henderson of the University of Michigan told members of the Woman's Club here.

"The best time to train children is like the best time to train colts, when they are little. Then they won't be hard to manage when they have reached the high school age. There are as many girl and boy problems as there are girls and boys in the world", Prof. Henderson said. "Many people differ about the relative influences of heredity and environment, but I believe that heredity goes further in determining the character of the child than most of us are willing to admit. Many children are showing faults that their parents suppressed in themselves years ago.

Right To Health.

"However, once the child is born the mischief is done. Every child has the right to be first of all a healthy animal. He has the right to a first class body. Teach him to obey in babyhood and he will be less of a burden to his parents and to his teachers in later years.

"In the second and very critical stage of child life the youngster is a young savage. He is independent, cruel and lacking in self-control. His instincts and his body grow more rapidly than his sense of judgment. He shoots up suddenly shoulder high but he is not shoulder high in experience. This is the time when every teacher, every parent must remember his own youth and be patient.

Good Companions.

"With approaching maturity comes the third stage in the child's life when the most important thing is his companionship. Young people of today have too much leisure. This complicates the problem of companionship.

"Don't be afraid that your boy or girl is working too hard in school. They aren't. They need work and I should like to see the high school boy or girl be obliged to spend at least four evenings a week in study. This is the time for you parents to know what your children are doing. Let boys and girls spend their leisure together but under your supervision.

TWO CANNIBALS WERE EXECUTED

Official Report of Two Cases, With Photographs, Is Received in Moscow.

MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—Confirmation of reports of cannibalism in the Volga provinces has just reached Moscow in the shape of official photographs of two of the guilty persons and statements of the investigating Magistrate of Samara Province who handled the case.

The first document is dated "Office of the People's Investigating Magistrate, First Section, County Bouzoulook, Province of Samara, Jan. 2, 1922. No. 1,884." Below there is the officialY stamp of Samara Province. The statement runs:

"Enclosed please find two photographs of cannibals and unchopped parts of victims' bodies, with explanation."

It is signed by Investigating Magistrate Alez and countersigned by a secretary, whose name is illegible.

The second statement or explanation runs:

"The woman standing on the left, Citizeness Akulina Chugounova, from the District of Yuhemop, County Bouzoulook, slew her sixteen-year-old daughter—in front—and ate up half of the body. On the right Citizen Andrei Semuykin, village of Andreyevka, County Bouzoulook, chopped to pieces his female lodger, who died of typhus, and ate her. Of the corpse only the head is left. The picture shows scattered pieces of meat on the table before the culprits."

It is signed "People's Investigating Magistrate Alez."

The photograph shows a typical couple of Russian peasants clad in the usual coat of tanned sheepskin, the leather outside. The face of the woman who wears a shawl round her

SAYS WILSON IS A WAR PLOTTER

Viereck, at Libel Hearing, Declares Ex-President Should Be Tried.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Testimony that Count Von Bernstorff, former German ambassador, sought his support for Woodrow Wilson in the election of 1916, was given here by George Sylvester Viereck, former editor of the Fatherland on the $50,000 libel suit brought by Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, against the Chicago Tribune. The Mayor charges that articles accusing him of pro-Germanism and defamatory to his character were printed in the Tribune.

Political Conference.

The witness also told of political conferences he had that year with former Postmaster-General Burleson and the late Senator Stone when chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. Mr. Burleson, the witness said, assured him that President Wilson was "purely and absolutely neutral," while Senator Stone "harangued us—a group of German-Americans and myself—almost an entire night, point out that the election of Mr. Hughes would mean war and that the election of Mr. Wilson would mean peace."

Republicans also sought his aid, he added, and succeeded in obtaining his backing for their candidate, Charles Evans Hughes.

Mr. Viereck said the Democratic Campaign Committee had promised to purchase 1,000,000 copies of his paper if he would publish an attack on Mr. Hughes. This, he said, he refused to do. In February, 1921, he added, he had a conference with Mr. Harding, then president-elect. Asked for the substance of the conversation, he refused to answer, saying it might "prove embarrassing to the President and the Republican senator from Illinois who has aspirations to that high office."

"Plotted War."

Just before the hearing closed for the day, Mr. Viereck dramatically declared that former President Wilson "had plotted war from the very beginning" and held that he should be brought to trial under the terms of the peace treaty providing for trial for those responsible for the World War.

NO GRANT BY COUNCIL TO PLOWMEN

Will Neither Defray Cost of Banquet, According to Action by Council Last Night.

ECONOMY THE NEED

That the City Council will invite the International Plowmen's Association to hold their annual plowing match adjacent to Peterborough, but vote no money grant toward that event, nor defray the cost of a banquet, was City Council's conclusion in Committee of the Whole last evening.

It was Ald. Harry Gainey and Malcolm McIntyre's resolution that the association be invited to hold its plowing match here, while Ald. Hamilton and Crowe moved for a cash grant of $250. The former motion carried, wsile the latter suffered a turn-down.

A cursory reference to the question of grants brought from Alr. Phelan his emphatic declaration that he would oppose all propositions for new grants this year, from the viewpoint of imperative economy in civic affairs.

Ald Crowe concurred in this pronouncement with the added suggestion that all standard money grants be cut in half, of the amounts petitioned for.

In this connection, Ald. Mel. Turner questioned Jos. J. Duffus' contention Monday night that the plowing match would bring from 40, 50 to 60,000 visitors to Peterborough.

Incidentally, it is here timely to explain that through an unintentional slip the Examiner yesterday put Mr. Duffus' estimate at from 4 to 6,000 people.

Ald. Hamilton, in support of a grant for the Peterborough County Plowmen's Association, pointed out that the annual plowing match attracts an extraordinary number of visitors, while the number of cars parked in the locality of such events is truly remarkable. He thought the enterprise of public-spirited citizens in bidding for this match worthy of financial recognition by Council.

MONTREAL, February 9 (Canadian Press). — "Among the big losses" of the Merchants' Bank was two million dollars in loans to the officers of the institution.

These loans were for automobiles and houses for the officers of the bank, and also for the purchase of stocks and bonds. This is shown in the report of the examination of the assets of the bank.

"HOME RULE" IN SCOTIA'S TOWNS

Provincial Government is Accused of Encroaching Upon Revenue of Municipalities.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 9. — The Nova Scotia Government is being confronted by a demand for more "home rule" from towns and municipalities throughout the Province. The Provincial Government, they say, has been encroaching upon sources of revenue which the towns and municipalities believe they should be free to exploit for their own purposes. The Pictou County Council recently refused to obey the Provincial law requiring an assessment for highway purposes, and the town council of Kentville is protesting against the tax on their general assessment to assist the Provincial Government to maintain, "not the roads in the town, but the highways in the country.

The Provincial Government levies taxes on theatres, moving picture houses, circuses, motor cars, pool rooms, and skating rinks, and many towns, cities and muicipalities are now claiming that they should have a share of all these taxes.

Wall of Steel

Action Follows Yesterday's Raids in Ireland — Will Investigate Kidnapping Cases.

BELFAST, Feb. 9.— (Canadian Press).—Ulster's frontier is virtually a line of steel to-day following yesteday's raids in which about two hundred persons, including prominent Unionists and many special constables were captured and taken across the border. From Cortadown, County Armagh, to Belleek, on Fermanagh-Donegal border forces of "specials" are in guard in addition to heavy contingents of regular constabulary. Colonel Wickham commanding Ulster specials has been notified by the provisional government that it is sending special officers to the scene to investigate raids. All roads leading southward from Belfast present scenes of activity, motor trucks and armoured cars bearing "specials" stores and ammunition toward the border.

Strangers passing through six Ulster counties are subjected to closest scrutiny and are halted and interrogated.

BELFAST, Feb. 9. — (Canadian Press). — Additional kidnappings occurred to-day in County Fermanagh. Four Class "B" special constables were kidnapped in Rosslea district and taken in the direction of Bally Bay.

Five special constables and four soldiers, fully armed, on their way to Enniskillen, were captured this morning while passing through Monaghan.

CONFERRED WITH PREMIER.

LONDON, Feb. 9. — (Canadian Press).—Arthur Griffith to-day conferred with the Premier and Austen Chamberlain regarding kidnappings, and expects to return to Dublin tonight.

The British Government has been considering a possibility of enlisting the services of General Smuts, Premier of South Africa, as arbitrator in the Ulster boundary dispute, should circumstances warrant the employment of such a mediator, it was stated in Government circles today.

MAJOR MILLS RETURNED.

BELFAST, Feb. 9. — (Canadian Press).—Major Mills, of Donegal, one of those captured yesterday, returned to his home to-day, and it is believed that others from the same area have been released.

QUIET RESTORED.

ENNISKILLEN, Fermanagh, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press). — Quiet has been "completely restored here, and the roads are being closely patrolled. The Provisional Government, it is said, has telegraphed orders to commanders of the Republican army to release immediately prisoners taken during the raids.

ANOTHER BIG FIRE IN BUSINESS SECTION

A One Million Dollar Fire Destroys a Large Office Building.

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— A terrific outbreak of fire early this morning destroyed the Standard Fire Assurance Company building, 157 St. James street, in the heart of the business district, causing damages estimated at one million dollars, with six hundred thousand dollars insurance.

City Council Finds That Fire Department Is Not Efficient

Alleged Trouble Extending Over a Period of From Two to Three Years Culminates in Concrete Action.

RESULT OF VOTE

That the Fire Department is not efficient, and that a change is needed in its management, was the conclusion reached by the City Council in committee last night. This decision was expressed after over two hours' deliberation on conditions in the Fire Hall, and on the Fire, Water and Light Committee's finding that negligence by the brigade obtained in connection with the fire at St. Andrew's manse on Sunday, January 22nd. The resolution pronouncing that it is time for a change in the department was moved by Aldermen Hamilton and Phelan, and reads:

"That in this committee's opinion the Fire Department is not efficient, and it is desirable that a change should be made in the brigade's management."

The motion carried on a vote of 6 to 3, Council dividing as follows:

Yeas—Ald. Hamilton, Phelan, Gainey, Crowe, Turner and Holloway.

Nays—Ald. Jones, Morrison and Malcolm McIntyre, who in reality did not vote either way.

The Mayor voiced his opinion as follows:

"I find the department in better condition under Chief Grange than under former Chief Howard."

Finding Endorsed.

Earlier in the evening after discussion of the St. Andrew's manse fire allegations, Council endorsed the F. W. and L. Committee's finding for negligence at that blaze, by adopting the following resolution, sponsored by Ald. Hamilton and Holloway:

"In the opinion of this committee of the whole Council negligence was shown by the Fire Department at the manse fire, and that the Chief be informed of this fact."

The above action by Council has evolved not only out of the St. Andrew's manse fire, but from trouble between Council and the Fire Department extending over a period of from two to three years. But while the foregoing resolution for a change was passed by Council in committee of the whole, from which only Ald. Stocker was absent, it cannot be implemented until endorsed by Council at a regular or special session out of committee.

Merits and Demerits.

Discussing the merits and demerits of Fire Chief Grange, the Chief found warm champions in Aldermen Morrison and Jones, while his opponents were vigorously headed by Aldermen Crowe, Phelan and Hamilton, whose attacks were, however, in the main void of any personal venom. And the major opinion prevalent took the shape of "not sufficient experience by Grange to qualify him for capably handling the brigade.

But for all that Chief Grange was not lacking of testimony in black and white in his behalf, for Ald. Morrison produced a document from Donald Edwards, Provincial fire expert, in which he wrote regarding the Boston Cafe fire: "Though not personally acquainted with the Chief, I wish to tell him that the fires had been handled in as expert a manner as any I have ever examined in the Dominion, and absolutely no fault can be found with the work of the brigade."

Ald. Morrison also produced quite a few similar commendations for the brigade, most of which had been accompanied by cheques in appreciation of work done at fires the past three years, including appreciation of Chief Grange and the department by Fire Marshall Heaton, Peterborough Canoe Co., W. S. Dodd, Deputy Fire Marshall G. W. Lewis, sisters of Mt. St. Joseph, Lucy Denne, Matthews-Blackwell, Ltd., Boston Cafe, F. D. Kerr, T. C. Elliot, Isaac Hetherington, H. T. Mallard and J. A. Robertson. Sec-

THE UNION OF NEWFOUNDLAND

Matter is Being Revived in Some Quarters — The Arguments Advanced.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 9. — The question of union of Newfoundland with Canada has been receiving some attention in the Ancient Colony, according to reports of St. John's received here.

One report affirms that it is reasonable to suppose that the Canadian Government, which has acquired railways from the Atlantic to the Pacific would, to assure the entry of Newfoundland into the Confederation, take over the Reid railway of Newfoundland and convert it into a broad gauge line. Thus, by one strike, the report suggests, Newfoundland would be relieved of the payment of the subsidy of $1,500,000 recently granted the Reid railway, and secure a railway service compared with which the present service is not worth mentioning.

Another report recognizes that Canada is destined to become an important nation, but only by Newfoundland becoming part thereof, because "the Island's geographical position is the key to Canada's future." Canadian statesmen are astute enough to realize this, he thinks, and will "therefore be prepared to offer terms of union which it would be wise for Newfoundland to ascertain informally."

Fish Shipping.

One argument advanced for union with Canada is that the Canadian Government would not be interested in helping Newfoundland solve her problem of shipping fish to the Mediterranean and other markets. In the early winter Newfoundland loads the bulk of her summer catch of fish on small sailing vessels, and rushes them to Southern Europe. Every merchant wants to have his consignments across the Atlantic before the arrival of midwinter and its violent storms. The consequence is that the markets are temporarily overstocked, and prices drop. If the Canadian Government provided St. John's with a direct connection, by regular steamship service, with the Mediterranean, the movement of dried fish could be regulated to the market requirements and prices thereby stabilized, it is argued. Shipment of the Island's staple product by small sailing vessels, many of which are lost every winter, is not apparently satisfactory. Though the ancient colony had a large number of idle vessels, exporters last year paid the Norwegians and Danes over $1,000,000 to carry their fish to Europe.

Another argument for union is that it would enable Newfoundland to secure better connections with the steamship services which are being maintained between Canada and the West Indies and Brazil and thus sell more fish in these southern markets. On the other hand there are fish merchants who fear that if Newfoundland enter the Confederation, the large Canadian fish firms operating in Nova Scotia and Quebec would invade the ancient colony and gradually obtain control of the strategic positions in the fish business.

Hon. W. F. Coaker, Minister of Marine and Fisheries and also president of the Newfoundland Fishermen's Protective Union, has recently expressed strong opposition to the idea of union with Canada. His view is that Canada is necessarily a competitor of Newfoundland in the world's fish markets, is not a purchaser of Newfoundland products to any extent, and has no surplus capital to develop her own resources, much less to help develop those of the island. According to Mr. Coaker, Newfoundland should take warning from Nova Scotia, which, he alleges, made a sad mistake when it entered the Canadian Confederation, because "it has been industrially stagnant ever since," he says.

GIRLS TO GET MINIMUM WAGE

Mr. G. N. Gordon Says He Has Made Application on Behalf of Textile Workers Here.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., said today that he had made a request for a Minimum Wage Board for the benefit of girls employed in textile work. He said that Peterborough was particularly interested in this on account of the large number employed in that occupation here, and that recent wage reductions had brought the matter to a head, and he had made application to the Ontario Minister of Labor for a Minimum Wage Board to make an order. Up to the present time, the Minimum Wage Board has not dealt with the textile industry, but the Board has been collecting data and information in respect to that industry.

Mr. Gordon received a letter to-day from the Chairman of the Minimum Wage Board, intimating that the Minimum Wage Board would soon be issuing an order dealing with all female textile workers.

A NEW JEWELLER.

Mr. Frank R. Clarke Sells Out to Mr. Victor J. Tully.

This week an important jewelry deal was put through, by which Mr. Victor J. Tully becomes the proprietor of the well established business of Mr. Frank R. Clarke, 170 Charlotte street, Mr. Clarke retiring from business altogether.

The new jeweller is no stranger to many of Peterborough's citizens. He was born her and is the son of the late J. D. Tully, a former well-known druggist of this city, and has been actively identified with the jewellery business both here and in other cities for many years.

Mr. Tully has the advantage not only of a special knowledge of the practical retail branches of the jewellery business, but has represented on the road one of the largest wholesale houses in Canada. He should do well in his native town.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"
(Cyril McNeile)

Then a peculiar look came over the Indian's face, as his eyes fell on the Chinese cabinet.

"Where did the Protector of the Poor obtain the sacred cabinet of the Chow Kings?" He peered at it reverently, and the Duke coughed.

"One of my ancestors picked it up somewhere," he answered apologetically.

"Fashioned with the blood of men, guarded with their lives, and one of your ancestors picked up it!" The Duke withered completely under the biting scorn of the words, and seemed about to say something, but the Indian had turned away, and his long, delicate fingers were hovering over the box. "There is power in this box," he continued, and his voice was low and thoughtful. "Years ago a man who came from the land where dwells the Great Brooding Spirit told me of this thing. I wonder . . . I wonder . . ."

With gleaming eyes he stared in front of him, and a woman shuddered audibly.

"What is it supposed to do?" she ventured timidly.

"In that box lies the power unknown to mortal man, though the priests of the Temple City have sometimes discovered it before they pass beyond. Length you know, and height, and breadth—but in that box lies more."

"You don't mean the fourth dimension, do you?" demanded a man incredulously.

"I know not what you call it, sahib," said the Indian quietly. "But it is the power which renders visible or invisible at will."

For a moment Hugh felt an irresistible temptation to shout the truth through the window, and give Lakington away; then his curiosity to see the next move in the game conquered the wish, and he remained silent. So perfect was the man's acting that, in spite of having seen the substitution of the boxes, in spite of knowing the whole thing was bunkum, he felt he could almost believe it himself. And as for the others—without exception—they were craning forward eagerly, staring first at the Indian and then at the box.

"I say, that's a bit of a tall order, isn't it, Mr. Rum Bar?" protested the Duke a little feebly. "Do you mean to say you can put something into that box, and it disappears?"

"From mortal eye, Protector of the Poor, though it is still there," answered the Indian. "And that only too for a time. Then it reappears again. So runs the legend."

"Well, stuff something in and let's see," cried young Laidley, starting forward, only to pause before the Indian's outstretched arm.

"Stop, sahib," he ordered sternly. "To you that box is nothing; to others—of whom I am one of the least—it is sacred beyond words." He stalked away from the table, and the guests' disappointment showed on their faces.

"Oh, but Mr. Rum Dar," pleaded the Duchess, "can't you satisfy our curiosity after all you've said?"

For a moment he seemed on the point of refusing outright; then he bowed, a deep Oriental bow.

"Your Grace," he said with dignity, "for centuries that box contained the jewels—precious beyond words—of the reigning Queens of the Chow Dynasty. They were wrapped in silver and gold tissue—of which this is a feeble, modern substitute."

From a cummerbund under his robe he drew a piece of shining material, the appearance of which was greeted with cries of feminine delight.

"You would not ask me to commit sacrilege?" Quietly he replaced the material in his belt and turned away, and Hugh's eyes glistened at the cleverness with which the man was acting. Whether they believed it or not, there was not a soul in the room by this time who was not consumed with eagerness to put the Chinese cabinet to the test.

"Supposing you took my pearls, Mr. Rum Dar," said the Duchess diffidently. "I know that compared to such historic jewels they are poor, but perhaps it would not be sacrilege."

Not a muscle on Lakington's face twitched, though it was the thing he had been playing for. Instead he seemed to be sunk in thought, while the Duchess continued pleading, and the rest of the party added their entreaties. At length she undid the fastening and held the necklace out, but he only shook his head.

QUESTIONS IN HOUSE

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Winston Churchill in the House of Commons last night replying to questions on armed raids yesterday in Ulster in which special police and prominent Unionists were captured said that Michael Collins had made every effort in his power to have the captured men released He was assured by the provisional Government he added that efforts are being made to have the men returned a soon as posible to their home Mr. Churchill asked the house to be patient in a difficult situation.

When it comes to running down people the old gossips still have quite a lead on the drivers of motor cars.

Galoshes the girls wear may attract attention to their feet, but they also emphasize the fact there isn't much in the upper story to attract attention.

OSTEOPATHY

OSTEOPATHY was the original and is the only complete and perfect system of healing by adjustment.

OSTEOPATHY, while comprising the adjustment of any body abnormality, whether dietetic, hygienic, mental or surgical, or of the spinal joints, to an extent and with a thoroughness never dreamed of by other systems, confines fully ninety per cent. of its effort to correcting the subluxation (slips) in the vertebrae, or bones of the spine.

OSTEOPATHS have been at this business of making spinal adjustments for such a long time that they have brought the process thereof to its very highest refinement; have made of it a real ART, unattainable by other so-called systems.

OSTEOPATHS in their manual treatment confine ALL their effort to the adjustment of the spine, together with the ribs or other bony structures that may be found in mal-adjustment.

OSTEOPATHS have always been taught to look to the spine for the source of the trouble in nine-tenths of the cases of human illness, and especially in chronic ailments, and make their effort at relief by the adjustment of such mal-adjustments as they may find there. And, looking back over forty years of most glorious achievement, they KNOW that their theory WORKS OUT IN ACTUAL PRACTICE; therefore, can honestly enthuse over it.

OSTEOPATHS in their colleges maintain the highest standards, have the most extensive curriculum, and pursue the longest course of any school of medicine or healing. Of this they are also justly proud.

SMITH COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION.

Chemong Park Cottagers Want More Expenditure on Roads.

The members of the Council of the Township of Smith met in the County Council Chamber, Peterboro, on Monday, February 6th, at ten o'clock. All the members were present with Reeve Nicholls in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. By-laws No. 787, appointing a Local Board of Health, and No. 788, appointing certain officers for 1922 received their several readings.

Cottagers Complain.

Mr. Chas. McClellan and Mr. Alex. Elliot, representing the Cottage Holders' Association of Chemong Park, addressed the Council. They stated that they felt that they were not receiving a just share of the expenditure of statute labor money collected on the park and asked that Council in the future expend one half of the statue labor money collected on the roads in the park. Reeve Nicholls replied that he thought the request a reasonable one, but pointed out that the roads to the park had to be kept up for the heavy tourist traffic. He said that the sum of $207 had been spent last season in the park, and that Council would give their request earnest consideration.

Messrs. Rodgers, Beall and Morrison, representing the Kawartha Park Association, addressed the Council. They requested that the Council take some steps to improve the roads leading to the park. Reeve Nicholls replied that already some 176 yards of gravel had been hauled for road improvement in the vicinity, and that other improvements were contemplated.

SAYS THAT GIRLS SHOULD PROPOSE.

Affirmatives Won in Debate By Farm Young People.

On Tuesday evening, February 7, the local branch of the United Farm Young People of Ontario, held their regular semi-monthly meeting in the U.F.O. rooms, on Simcoe street.

Although there was but a poor attendance, those present spent a jolly evening in games and music.

An impromptu debate, "Resolved that the girls should propose" was the cause of much merriment. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

A game of animals and numbers was contested which proved quite a tax on the memory.

This was followed by a peanut hunt.

A "Shadow Box Social" has been arrangd for St. Valentine's day February 14, and it is hoped that all the members will be present, as this promises to be an interesting event.

It was decided to change the nights of meeting from the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of each month, to the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays.

The club will continue to meet in their present rooms on Simcoe Stree.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press).—The total net debt of Canada on January 31 was $2,372,585,984, as compared with $2,366,861,252 at the end of December, 1921. This is an increase of $5,724,732 in the month of January. On January 31, 1921, the total net debt was $2,302,723,013. The increase in the year is, therefore, $69,862,971.

This is largely due to a falling off in customs receipts, which declined from $142,839,081 for the ten months period in 1921 to $85,262,370 for the corresponding period of the present fiscal year. The decrease in customs receipts when the two periods are compared, amounts to $57,576,711.

Income taxation during the ten months of the present fiscal year which have elapsed, yielded $74,116,487 as compared wih $25,399,025 last year. The sum of $19,267,571 was collected in business profits taxes as against $29,708,795 in the ten month period of the last fiscal year.

For the month of January alone the total revenue on account of consolidated fund was $24,219,250. In January, 1921, the total revenue was $39,480,092. Customs collections during the two months under comparison were practically the same. In January, 1921, $8,031,220 was realized from this source, while the month of January, 1922, a total of $8,087,770 was collected.

Expenditure Decreases.

Total expenditure for the ten months of the fiscal year ending were $260,312,250 as compared with $313,509,278 during a similar period in 1920-21. This is a decrease of $44,496,028. The expenditures on soldiers civil re-establishment declined from $27,985,317 during the ten months period last year to $12,709,600 this year. The total amount paid in interest on the public dept. during the present fiscal year is $114,579,577, as compared with $120,042,240 during the ten months of 1920-21.

Got Overshot of Morphine At Dope Sniffing Party

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press)—Eli Lafortune, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of J. B. P. Rolland, and who died here January 19 last from the effects of an overdose of morphine, was yesterday committed to stand trial, and a voluntary statement will be heard next Tuesday.

Several witnesses testified last week that Lafortune had produced a "deck" of drug at a "dope party" held in an apartment at 122 St. Denis Street, following the "sniffling" of which from nail files by Roland, the latter's death had occurred.

What Ulster Has She Holds

Sir James Craig Says Kidnapping Outrage Strengthens the Determination of the Northern Province—Has Arranged to Distribute Arms.

BELFAST, Feb. 9. Canadian Press. —The kidnapping incident of Wednesday, declared Sir James, would strengthen the Ulstermen's determination that "What Ulster has she holds."

The manifesto follows:

"I have received with grave concern and deep regret news of incursions into the territory of Northern Ireland by armed bands of the Irish Republican Army. I send my deepest sympathy to the relatives of those murdered and compliment most highly the various constabulary forces, who so promptly rose to the occasion, and displayed great gallantry to rid our borders of the enemy.

"Had the British Government shown courage and prescience, this would never have occurred. I place the responsibility on their shoulders for having demolished the special constabulary in consequence of the truce. I would have returned at once had it not been necessary for me to take prompt and vigorous steps on this side to ensure that such an outrage on the people of Ulster cannot again be perpetrated, and that those of our people who were carried across the border are speedily returned to their homes.

"I may be relied upon to back up every individual in whatever steps are considered wise to support our authorities and have arranged for the immediate distribution of arms necessary to protect our border.

"Every help will be given and I reiterate my firm decision, as announced to Mr. Lloyd George Monday, not to surrender any portion of our territory without the consent of myself and our Ulster Government.

"These series of dastardly outrages will never be forgotten; it merely strengthens our determination that what Ulster has she holds."

Los Angeles Police Report Only Slight Progress in Efforts to Solve Mystery of Movie Director's Death.

Screen Star's Secluded.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.— Officers trying to solve the mystery of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, here last Wednesday night, reported tonight that they had made but slight progress in the past 24 hours.

The blank wall which, they said, unidentified influences appeared to have thrown up between them and the true facts, remained unpierced, although the police department and the office of the Sheriff were attempting to separate breaches through it into new fields of inquiry.

The police continued to concentrate their efforts on the search for Edward F. Sands, former secretary and butler for Taylor, missing since Taylor made a charge of grand larceny against him last August.

Can't Find Motive.

Captain David Adams, head of the Detective Bureau, reiterated that "there is no one else we want and we have discovered nothing that would indicate a motive for the crime excepting that of averting prosecution on the grand larceny charge."

The Sheriff's investigators said they expected to examine Henry Peavey, houseman for Taylor, in an effort to obtain corroboration or denial of certain statements made to them by other parties, and that possibly some light would be thrown on the situation by this.

Peavey passed the day assisting officers in checking over Taylor's effects at the apartment where the slaying occurred. These articles were taken, after the checking, to a storage warehouse under the direction of the Public Administrator. The police took charge of certain articles, as possibly having some bearing on the killing, but did not state what they were.

No Letters Discovered.

After the search Captain Adams said there had been no letters discovered and that he never had seen any letters addressed to Taylor with the exception of a half dozen from the director's former wife and daughter. These, he declared, had absolutely no bearing on the case.

SLIGO MEN RELEASED BY RAIDERS

Report From Belfast Says They Returned Home Last Night After Having Been Liberated By Kidnappers.

Chamberlain's Statement.

ULSTER MEN SET FREE.

BELFAST, February 9 (Canadian Press). — Word was received on Wednesday evening that all the men who had been taken prisoner by the raiders in Sligo, were released that afternoon.

LONDON, February 9 (Canadian Press). — Austen Chamberlain, the Government leader, announced in the House of Commons last night that on receipt of a telephone message from Colonel Spender, Secretary of the Ulster Cabinet, on behalf of Sir James Craig, the Premier, detailing the kidnappings, the members of the Government here met and decided to send telegrams to the General Officer Commanding the troops in Ireland and to Michael Collins, as head of the Provisional Government.

"We have called on the Provisional Government," added Mr. Chamberlain, "to release the prisoners taken across the border. The troops in Northern Ireland will act in support of the civil authority and in defence of the existing frontiers until a new one is established, whenever the Government of Northern Ireland requests their assistance."

Breach of Truce.

The telegram to Michael Collins repeated the information from Col. Spender, and added:

"If anything approximating this has happened, His Majesty's Government takes the gravest view of the situation. Such acts are a breach of the truce, and gravely imperil the treaty. They will be glad to hear from you at once if you are taking immediate steps to ensure the release of the prisoners and provide against any recurrence of these grave outrages."

Mr. Chamberlain's statement was made in reply to a hot protest from Captain Charles C. Craig, member for Antrim South, and a brother of MAKING IT TOO EASY.

In many respects the Provincial legislation in Quebec is admirable, and we in Ontario could well afford to pattern some of our measures on the laws our neighbors have in force. But a proposed amendment to the Quebec Motor Vehicles Act strikes the observer as being foolish and dangerous. It provides that where the offence is a simple one of infraction of the speed law, in which no damage has been done to person or property, the driver of the car will be notified by letter of the charge, and if he pays the minimum fine no summons will be issued and there wil be no costs charged." Surely the man who is responsible for that amendment has not studied the matter very closely or the proposal would never have been made. The amendment would be a veritable invitation to the citizen well endowed with this world's goods to break the speed laws as he saw fit, relying upon his pocket-book to speedily adjust matters. The speed fiend must be in his element, knowing that to be caught would mean simply mailing the minimum fine and that there would be no annoyance in regard to Police Court proceedings. On the other hand, the amendment would provide a lucrative field of operation for the officials who are looking for a chance to pick a few easy dollars in the form of fines for breaking the speed laws. The best legislation against breaking the provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act is that which requires the personal attendance of the offender in court. Motorists will be less inclined to take chances when they understand that their bank balance cannot possibly save them from having to appear before a magistrate.

THE WELL BABIES' CLINIC.

The Examiner last evening drew attention to the difficult problem the Council has to face in attempting to carry out a policy of economy and at the same time to deal as generously as possible with the various organizations that are asking for assistance. Not one of the causes which have urged the Council to aid them can be described in any other way than most worthy. Take the Well Babies' Clinic for example. This organization asks the city for $1,000, and every cent of that sum will be needed. There is no possible doubt as to the work done by the Clinic since it was established. The value of its services cannot be estimated in terms of dollars and cents. Inexperienced mothers have been advised as to the treatment of their little ones, those who could not afford to pay for medical services have been taken care of, infant mortality has been reduced as a result of the Clinic's operations and young lives that otherwise might have been cut off have been saved because of the existence of such an institution in this city. The citizens who were responsible for the undertaking of this work here and the doctors who have been such an important factor in its activities, deserve the heart-felt thanks of the community. There is need for such an institution, and its scope could be enlarged with profit to the whole city. If a grant of $1,000 were to be made to the Well Babies' Clinic, The Examiner has not the slightest doubt that every dollar would be wisely spent and that the grant would return rich dividends. But the problem the Council has to decide is to how any one organization can be assisted to the full extent asked for without similiar consideration being given other requests.

Sooner or later the matter will be solved by the adoption of such institutions as the Well Babies' Clinic, the Health Association and the Playgrounds Association as part of the municipal machinery. Their work is necessary to the development of the community, and there is no logical reason why the burden should be thrown upon a few public-spirited citizens. All such movements should be directed by the Board of Health, and their maintenance should be financed out of the taxes as other municipal charges are now met. It would be more economical, more satisfactory, more efficient and less troublesome than the present haphazard system, under which people who are animated by a Christian desire to be of service to their fellow-beings have to beg for the money to finance their activities.

THE ANGLO-FRENCH MISUNDERSTANDING.

There is a wide public interest taken in the dispute now in progress between France and Great Britain over the question of German reparations. France has been insistent upon the fulfillment of the terms of reparation prescribed in the Treaty of Versailles. Back of the new Premier Poincare are President Millerand and the powerful French press. Millerand and Lloyd George never pulled well together in negotiations, and Millerand seems now to see eye to eye with Poincare. On the surface there is but little difference between Lloyd George's spoken position and that of Poincare. They both assert that they desire the execution of the terms of the treaty as to reparations, Poincare giving it more emphasis, perhaps, but Lloyd George none the less is firm in his assertion that Germany must pay as stated in the bond.

If this does not take place it will be because French opinion has been changing rapidly since the resignation of Premier Briand, which apparently shocked France into a more reasonable mood. The expression of British opinion has also contributed, and the pronouncement of the Inter-American High Commission to the effect that the reparations must be revised on a more practical basis, the military estimates reduced and the national budget balanced, has also had a decided effect. France has become aware that her unyielding demands have produced an unfavorable reaction in the nations which are her allies and best friends, and which wish to remain such, and consequently she has begun to realize the tremendous responsibility of a policy of isolation.

In order to understand the French position, the following table, published by L'Echo de Paris, and verified as correct, deserves consideration. In this compilation German marks are reduced to French francs at the rate of ten marks to a franc. At present the rate of exchange is even less favorable to the German showing. In the Fench figures are included Algiers, and the French coal production comprehends also that of the Saar valley:

France.—Population, 40,000,000; foreign debt, 35,000,000,000 francs gold; domestic debt, 230,000,000,000 francs paper; devastated territory, 10 departments; railway rates, tripled; per capita tax, 560 francs; price of coal, 70 to 100 francs; revenue from liquor, 1,786,000,000 francs; revenue from tobacco, 820,000,000 francs; paper money circulation, 36,500,000,000 francs; budget (1922), 25,000,000,000 francs; coal mined, 34,000,000 tons.

Germany.—Population, 60,000,000; foreign debt, 3,000,000,000 francs gold; domestic debt, 32,000,000,000 francs paper; devastated territory, none; railway rates, less than one-half those of France; per capita tax, 152 francs; price of coal, 25 to 43 francs; revenue from liquor, 408,000,000 francs; revenue from tobacco, 408,000,000 francs; paper money circulation, 12,400,000,000 francs; budget (1922), 11,400,000,000 francs; coal mined, 120,000,000 tons.

In the face of such facts France deserves great sympathy. The danger may be averted by the fact that Germany is taking a more reasonable attitude. Now, the German Government, as disclosed by the recent speech of Chancellor Wirth in the Reichstag and the note sent to the Reparations Commission, proposes large increases in taxes, including an increased property tax, taxes on capital and on corporations, an increase of the turnover tax from 1½ to 40 per cent. Customs dues are to be collected on a gold basis. A promise is given to prevent the removal of capital abroad and to prevent the evasion of taxation. The food subsidy is to be decreased from 2,250,000,000 paper marks in 1921 to 1,000,000,000 in 1922. Unemployment doles are to be abandoned in favor of unemployment insurance paid for by employer and employee. These measures are expected to more than balance the ordinary budget. In addition to this—and most important—it has been decided to collect a compulsory loan of 1,000,000,000 gold marks. There will also be another internal loan.—Brantford Expositor.

THE QUESTION OF RATES.

The recent raise in power rates in Peterborough has been hailed with satisfaction by The Kingston Whig, which views it as the inauguration of a policy by which Peterborough shall pay more for its Hydro power in order that other cities served by the same system and not so advantageously situated shall pay less than they have been doing. Here is The Whig's view of the situation:

"Peterborough has been receiving Hydro-electric power at $17.50 a horse-power and the people up there are very much surprised that the rate has been increased to $22.50. There is nothing so surprising about that for down this way it is felt that Peterborough has been paying too low a rate when it was charged only $17.50. It was getting power at the expense of other municipalities when electrical energy was supplied its Utilities Commission so cheap. The increase of the rate to $22.50 simply means that the Hydro-electric Commission found that the distribution cost was unfair. While Peterborough will pay more, some other municipalities will pay less.

"Kingston takes a block of 1,200 horse-power for which it pays $28 a horse-power. When the locomotive works re-open and other anticipated loads are added, this city will require 2,500 horse-power to supply the demand, and the Utilities Commission will pay for this new block of power at the rate of $27. Peterborough is taking double this amount, so that $22.50 does not appear to be any too high a rate. When the Provincial power rates are more evenly fixed, western places will not be able to get the advantage over Kingston in the way of offering very exceptional inducements to industries seeking a location."

Peterborough is not likely to accept the situation as cheerfully as our Kingston friends have done. From a local viewpoint, it is difficult to see why this city should be forced to forfeit the advantage it has of being situated at the source of supply for the benefit of other centres not so happily located in that respect. The principle of Hydro service was supposed to be power at cost. The Whig, however, seems to have a different theory.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Prosperity is just around the corner.

Oshawa has decided not to license any more pool-rooms. So far as has been learned, none of the four proprietors now in business has taken steps to take out an injunction against this decision.

Evidently The Kingston Whig believes Kingston should get power as cheaply as Peterborough, although this city is situated at the producing point. That would be a good policy—for Kingston.

Victoria City Council offers an award of five dollars to civic employees who suggest schemes by which the city can save money. At all events, the Council is carrying out the economy idea in so far as the reward is concerned.

With so much slashing of salaries and estimates in municipal and political circles, the manufacturers of axes and pruning hooks should be kept fairly busy.

Sir Robert Borden has returned from Washington. The ex-Premier has earned the thanks of the Dominion for the manner in which he represented Canada at the Disarmament Conference.

Premier Drury's troubles with the Labour group in the Legislature are just beginning to materialize. The coming session will be an interesting one.

LITERARY GEMS.

OUR FELLOW-MEN.

Equally against tyranny and against irreverence in all things of the spirit, with the firm conviction that we can all work together for a higher social and individual life if only, whatever form of creed we profess, we make the doing of duty and the love of our fellow-men two of the prime articles in our universal faith. To those who deny the ethical obligation implied in such a faith we who acknowledge the obligation are aliens; and we are brothers to all those who do acknowledge it, whatever their creed or system of philosophy.—Theodore Roosevelt (1858-1919).

The Anglo-Japanese Treaty

Auckland (N.Z.) News: The Anglo-Japanese Alliance was dying a natural death. It had run its course, the contingencies against which it was framed had ceased to exist, and the suspicion—unjustified but nevertheless strong—it excited in the United States made it a doubtful instrument of the world's peace. It is open to argument whether, after this conference, the alliance could advantageously have been renewed. The question was whether it should merely lapse or whether there should be substituted for it a larger treaty. Germany and Russia no longer count among the Great Powers, but they have potentialities for mischief, and these would be gravely increased if either should secure the support of Japan. It was on every consideration better that Britain should retain her historical connection with Japan and that the friendship should be widened to include the other Pacific Powers.

OPEN LETTER.

Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir:—I would like to call the attention of the public, through your paper, to the single returned men, who went unflinchingly at their Country's call in the fight of right against might; and who now, through no fault of their own, are walking about without any prospects at all. Are these good and faithful citizens going to be forced into a life of crime, or what have they got to do? Believe me, there are some heartbreaking cases in this city. In many instances men have no home or parents, and the have to pay their board or pull out into the streets.

Yours truly,

G. W. H.

NOBLE STAND.

Editor Examiner:

Sir:—The stand taken by St. Paul's is indeed a noble and consistent one. We cannot reason out or criticize the fact or wherefore of creation in the physical sense. We see it and know it, that is all. It is the same with the Moral Religous Universe. We see and know it, or not at all. We cannot account for it or explain why God made it so so, or "criticize" it. Who would attempt to prove that one or the other is or is not. It is the belief of induction, not deduction, or apprehension, not demonstration. It is simply a fact to us, or it is not. It cannot be accounted for by us, and is above our criticism. We are often betrayed by the things of this world, by those things which we do, not supposing that "the things of God" must be likewise. It is due to a lack of understanding of the whole situation. As we grow wiser and more intelligent we will see the difference. The critic, in such matters is not wrong, he is impossible. Yet he has brought many to the brink of ruin and despair.

the Ulster Premier, who challenged the Government to make clear its policy on the boundary question. He warned the Government that bloodshed was inevitable as the Northern Government would not allow marauders from the Free State to invade their territory and kidnap people and blow up bridges.

Needs Authority to Punish.

Mr. Chamberlain, after reading his telegrams to Michael Collin and the Commander in Northern Ireland, added that one reason the Government was anxious to get statutory authority of the Provisional Government was that the Provisional Government might have authority to prevent law-breaking, and, if necessary, to punish the law-breakers.

The message from Col. Spender read by Mr. Chamberlain repeated the details of the excesses known to have been committed and added that the Northern police had captured eleven men who, it had been proved, belonged to the Irish Republican Army from Longford and Leitrim, and who were in possession of revolvers, bombs, and transport.

ULSTER NOT SACRIFICED.

LONDON, February 9 (Canadian Press). — Replying to charges by Captain Craig that the Government had made a deliberate attempt to placate South Ireland at the expense of Northern Ireland, Mr. Chamberlain denied that Ulster's rights would be prejudiced by the appointment of a Boundary Commission. He also repudiated the suggestion that the Government had broken faith. He did not despair of a settlement being reached between Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, and Michael Collins, but even so, he declared, the Treaty would provide a settlement in the Boundary Commission with an impartial chairman to which both sides could urge their claims.

Reprisal the Motive.

In the House of Commons to-night Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, said the Government had received from Michael Collins a telegram to the effect that the outbreak on the Ulster frontier was not due to any question of a boundary dispute, as had been suggested, but to anxiety and apprehension as to the fate of the prisoners in Londonderry under sentence of death. These sentences had been commuted by the Lord-Lieutenant, the Minister added, but the apprehension had led to violent activity on the frontier. Mr. Collins said he had made special efforts to prevent these acts of violence, although he had not been aware of any act of clemency.

COLLINS' REPLY.

LONDON, February 9 (Canadian Press). — Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government of Southern Ireland, replied last night to the British Government's representations concerning te kidnappings in Northern Ireland.

He said these had been due to apprehensions regarding the men under sentence of death at Londonderry, but that the Provisional Government was doing its utmost to ensure the safe return to their homes of those kidnapped.

RELEASE EXPECTED SOON.

DUBLIN, February 9 (Canadian Press). — It is believed in authoritative circles here that the release of the captured Unionists will be speedily arranged, now that the Derry prisoners have been reprieved.

(Announcement of the reprieve of the three Sinn Feiners sentenced to be executed an 9th February, to-day in the Londonderry Jail, was made from Belfast late yesterday.)

It is stated here that when Mr. Collins was in London recently he made urgent representations to the British authorities, warning them as to what would be likely to happen. He said he thought the exasperation in County Monaghan at the detention of the men, however, was so keen that some of those taken by the raiders to-day would be held until the Monaghan men in Londonderry were released.

DAIL'S FUNDS UNTOUCHED.

DUBLIN, February 9 (Canadian Press). — Michael Collins has sent a cable despatch to Secretary Lyons of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, alluding to the Lyons correspondence with Eamonn de Valera. Mr. Collins denies that the Dail's funds are being used for any but Dail purposes. He assures Mr. Lyons that the Irish people will be given an early opportunity to make known their desire on the peace treaty, and says the Provisional Government is threatening no war on opponents of the treaty.

British Prices Continue Last Year's Sharp Decline

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press).—How considerable has been the fall of wholesale prices in the last twelve months is revealed by figures relating to 150 articles of food and industrial materials just published by the Board of Trade.

The general average of prices for January shows a drop of 33 per cent. from the level of January, 1921. Cereals fell 40 per cent., meat and fish 38 per cent., iron and steel 53 per cent., cotton 19 per cent. and other textiles 23 per cent.

Prices are still falling., January figures showing a decline of 2.4 per cent. from December prices.

FACTS OF TAYLOR MURDER HIDDEN

Mabel Normand and Mary Miles Minter, motion picture actresses, friends of the slain director who have been questioned about the case, remained in seclusion to-day. Both police and Sheriff's investigators said late in the afternoon no further information had been sought from them.

While Associated Press despatches from Washington announced the Navy Department had forwarded to the police descriptions of a deserter from the navy who had used the name of Strathmore, which was known to have been used by Sands, the police said they no direct information from the Department. They professed anxiety to get the official description, saying they could make good use of it.

Long Police Record.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8— The naval career of the deserted considered as possibly being Sands, was a hectic one, according to Navy Department records, including a dishonorable charge for embezzlement, two fraudulent re-enlistments and two desertions, all within a period of eight years. Names used by the deserted included Edward Fitzgerald Snyder ,of Marion, Ohio, and Edward Fitzwilliam Strathmore, of Boston, Mass.

The Bureau of Navigation, in transmitting its information to the Los Angeles police made this explanation:

"While the Bureau cannot say with certainty that this is the man apprehended, it was thought that as long as the description of Strathmore was close to that of Sands, it would be advisable for you to have this information for use in making your investigation."

A SECRET SESSION FRENCH COMMITTEE.

France Wants Assurance That Her Rights Will Be Protected at Conference.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Premier Poincare yesterday re-affirmed the French Government's determination to seek guarantees before going to the international economic conference at Genoa. He made this clear at a secret session of the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Chamber of Deputies, to which he gave complete details of the Government's plan and copies of documents.

The Premier said it was France's right and duty before going to Genoa to get the necessary assurances that none of her rights under existing treaties, nor those concerning the League of Nations, would be jeopardized. But as to whether French delegates actually would go to the conference or not, he said: "It is not for France either to accept or decline an invitation issued in her name."

Premier Poincare answered a long list of questions concerning the proposed Anglo-French pact and whether France was bound by decisions reached by the Allied Supreme Council at its recent meeting in Cannes. The Commission expressed thorough satisfaction with the Premier's explanation and thanked him for submitting the documents.

Nothing was made public concerning one of the Commission questions as to whether the League of Nations and its international labor bureau would be invited to send representatives to Genoa.

The Commission will hear the Premier on the Government's relations with the Turkish Nationalist Government and on the results of the Washington Conference at a later session.

It is better to be imposed upon occasionally than to dougt indiscriminately.

Probably the future looks dark because coming events cast their shadows before.

Strength

Strength of muscle does not indicate strength of nerves. On this account many people who look healthy enough suffer from nervous troubles and cannot understand what is ailing them. Sleeplessness and irritability are among the early symptoms. Indigestion and tired feelings soon follow.

Read this letter from an Ontario man:

Mr. W. L. Gregory, Charles St. E., Ingersoll, Ont., writes:

"I had been troubled for quite a while with indigestion. At times there would be a twitching of the nerves of my stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I am a moulder, and owing to the nature of my work my system became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from this medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not been bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, as I think it splendid for anyone run-down and needing a tonic."

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Council Held a Meeting and Disposed of Considerable Business—Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, February 8. — The Council held their regular meeting on Monday, 6th February, at 8 p.m., all the members being present, and the Reeve, W. T. Wood, in the chair.

The ordinary accounts were read, and on motion, ordered to be paid.

The chief item of business before the meeting was the purchase of new equipment—hats, coats, and boots—for the fourteen members of the Fire Company. This step was decided to be necessary, since such of the old as was brought in was evidently unfit for further use, most of it having been purchased during the time when Mr. J. C. Kells was Reeve.

Councillors G. W. Sayles and P. Stinson were appointed a committee to procure the new equipment, and it was also decides that, for the future, this must be kept in the Fire Hall. The local merchants are to be given an opportunity to tender for the articles required.

Councillor Sayles made the suggestion that a chart be prepared showing length of hose that would be required, in case of a fire, to reach from any of th points where a sufficient quantity of water could be secured to the buildings in that vicinity. Some action along this line will doubtless be taken later on.

After some further discussion, the Council adjourned to meet again on their usual date.

The Trail Rangers.

A number of the boys of the 'teen age belonging to the Anglican Sunday School met on Monday evening at the home of Rev. C. R. Spencer, and organised a Trail-Rangers' group, with the following officers:

Chief Ranger—Robert Shaw.
Deputy Chief Ranger — Dawson Leach.
Tally—Harry Elgar.
Cache—Piercy Pitt.
Mentor—Major C. R. Spencer.
Physical Instructor — Mr. A. Thomas.

The boys will meet each Monday evening at 7.30 in the Armouries, and will be known as the "Maple Leaves" of the Church of England.

The Chautauqua.

The next, and last, Chautauqua entertainment for this season, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, will be held in the Town Hall on Wednesday, 15th February.

"Oyapela," an Indian maid, and her company, one an accomplished violinist, and the other equally skilful at the piano, will provide the entertainment.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Henderson, of Fallis Line, left on Monday morning on a visit to his brother at Jackson, Michigan. They will be away for a couple of weeks.

Only one rink of the local curlers has gone to Lakefield to compete in the bonspiel now going on in that town, the members being Messrs. C. Nattress, W. E. Ball, J. Lancashire, and R. H. Edmunds, skip.

Miss Jane and Master Robert Cathcart of Peterborough, were the guests of the Misses Grandy over the week-end.

Miss Wilhelmine Lightheart was the guest of Miss Jean Burnham on Monday.

Miss Mary Turner is home from her duties as teacher in a girl's boarding school at Hamilton, on account of the illness of her mother Mrs. (Dr) H. A. Turner.

Miss Marian Spence's many friends will regret to learn that she was taken ill on Tuesday, diphtheria it is feared, being the nature of the malady.

Fairview School of which Miss Anna Russell is the teacher, intends holding a "basket social" on Tuesday, February 14th, in the S. S. Hall, Centreville The programme, which is being prepared by the pupils, will be an excellent one consisting of dialogues, choruses, drills, etc., and will doubtless draw a large attendance of parents, trustees and other friends.

A branch of the Canadian-Girls-in-Training was organized in the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, what was formerly the Junior League being merged in the newer plan of activity for 'teen age girls. The following officer were elected:

President—Jean Burnham
Vice-President — Wilma Fallis.
Secretary—Bonna Robinson.
Treasurer—Hazel McMahon.
Organist —Gladys Tucker.
Assistant Organist — Hazel Sanderson.
Mentor—Pearl Burnham.

The girls have chosen "Wide Awakes" as their group name, and "Ready for Service" as their motto. They will meet each Wednesday evening at 7.30 in the League of the church.

Mr. R. T. Adams of Lindsay, is again opening up business in Millbrook, announcing a sale of the bankrupt stock formerly belonging to Mr. Robert Stone, beginning on Wednesday, February 8th, Mr. Stone will assist Mr. Adams who may again become a permanent resident of the village.

The C. S. E. T. boys expect to have a hockey match with Garden Hill on Saturday, girls of the Mission Circle serving tea to the players at the conclusion of their sale of home made baking and candy, which is to be held in Mr. C. Garside's store beginning at 2.30 p.m.

TRANSPORT SINKS, FOUR MEN MISSING.

Ship That Saw War Service Abandoned After Fire Broke Out.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.— Leaving the former proud transport Northern Pacific drifting ablaze to sink off Cape May, rescue craft last night were making for Norfolk and Hampton Roads with survivors picked up from small boats.

Meanwhile shipping circles were awaiting their arrival with concern for radio messages flashing through the air since early this morning, when the fire broke out, left in doubt the fate of four employes of the San Shipbuilding Corporation, of Chester, Pa., whither the Northern Pacific was bound from Hoboken with a skeleton crew to be re-conditioned for service on the west coast.

Early in the day these four men were reported missing, then rescued, and again missing. The latest message from the rescue fleet, received from the transport late this afternoon, stated that the four shipbuilders were not aboard her.

Details of how the fire started also were lacking. Among the rescued was Captain William Lusti, who commanded the transport during her dangerous trans-Atlantic trips during the war, and when she piled up on the sands of Fire Island in 1919 with 3,000 doughboys homeward bound from France.

The first prizes were cut especially for the bonspiel at the Colonial Glass Company's factory here and are valuable and particulaly desirable acquisitions. As souvenirs of Lakefield's first bonspiel they are beautifully engraved with the added insignia of crossed besoms and a stane.

A Great Success.

The curlers are unanimous in their expressions of congragulation to the Lakefield club upon the unqualified success of their first bonspiel. Everyone has had an enjoyable time, and the six sheets of ice afforded ample facility for running off the draws promptly and without any long waits by the rinks next in play. The weather has been ideal, the sportsmanship has been all that is associated with curling tradition and the visitors have been hospitably received.

George Benor and R. C. Strickland were a tie on the twelth end in the Lawless trophy first round game, but Mr. Benor could not remain to play it off. Everyone is delighted that a Lakefield rink carried off one of the prizes. Peterboro secured the second cup in the Charlton competition three Peterboro and one Lakefield rink are the survivors.

Game Played Under Satisfactory Outdoor Conditions.

MARMORA, Feb. 9.—In the Trent Valley Senior hockey league, here last night Marmora defeated Tweed by the score of 6 to 2 in a game that was never in doubt although there was nothing one sided about it. The teams were:

Frank Leal and Thirnbeck, both of them formerly of Peterboro, were Marmora's best. Brown and Cournyea in goal were Tweed's outstanding performers.

Marmora plays in Stirling on Friday night, and the Marmora High School team goes to Campbellford the same night for the High School league game.

TOM GIBBONS HAS AGAIN SIGNED UP.

Will Meet Harry Greb in a Fifteen-Round Decision Bout in March.

NEW YORK, February 9. Canadian Press. — Tom Gibbon, St. Paul light heavy weight, and Harry Greb of Pittsburg, have been matched for a 15 round decision bout in Madison Square Gardens, March 13th. Articles for the match were signed here yesterday.

Gibbons, with a long string of knockouts to his credit, and Greb, called the "Giant Killer," are considered the foremost United States boxers in their division with the exception of the United States champion, Gene Tunney.

The bout on March 14th, it is understood, will be the first of an elimination series to determine the next American opponent for Georges Carpentier. The winner of the Gibbons-Greb bout will be matched with Tunney and the victor will meet Carpentier.

The man who whips the Frenchman will get a chance at Dempsey, it is said.

OPEN SEASON FOR VALENTINE SOCIAL.

One Held in Lakefield This Week—Visitors to the Village.

LAKEIELD, eb. 9.—The Valentine social of the A.Y.P.A. took place on Monday evening and was one of the most successful of the season. One of the interesting features was the Post Office for Valentines in charge of Miss Marjorie Burtchall and Mr. Fred Moore. The valentines were very amusing and caused much laughter.

Several games and contests helped to make the evening pleasant. Mrs. Trude Waldon won the prize for the pea nut contest.

After refreshments and the distribution of the Valentines the gathering broke up with a vote of thanks to the committee who had arranged such an especially jolly evening. The committee were Misses Helen Watson and Marjorie Burtchall and Messrs. Roy Everett and P. Stenner

Curlers with their tams and brooms are every where especially in the vicinity of the rink. Twenty three rinks are playing in the Bonspiel and are battling for the trophies offered.

Everyone in town is interested and it one of the big events of the season.

Such veteran curlers as J. E. A. Fitzgerald and W. J. Oke, R. M. Hamilton, J. W. McDermid and many others are enjoying the hospitality of the local curling club.

Lakefield boasts the oldest skip, Mr. R. C. Strickland, who is able to hold his own with the young fellows yet.

Father Committed for Trial On Evidence of His Daughter

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press)—The evidence of his 8 year old daughter, Esther, caused Morris Zimring, of 1252 St. Dominique Street, to be committed for trial here on a charge of firing three shots at his wife with intent to kill. Mrs. Zimring, who was not seriously wounded, fainted while giving evidence but was soon revived. She testified that she did not know whether Zimring had shot at her.

The little girl, however, described the shooting in detail, and on her father asking, "Why do you want to lie?" replied: "You cannot make a liar out of me."

Zimring will appear for voluntary statement next Tuesday.

ELASTIC RELIEF PLANS FOR MONTREAL VETERANS

Murdock Given Authority to Make Reasonable Expenditures.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Special provision for the relief of unemployed returned soldiers and their dependents in Montreal and some other points where distress conditions are such that they were not adequately met by the provisions of the relief order-in-Council passed on January 26 have been made by the Government, it was announced here last night. The Minister of Labor has been given authority to make such expenditures as "he may deem reasonable" to provide food, shelter and clothing for returned men and their dependents in Montreal, where there is stated to be considerable actual hardship which is not being provided against under the former order-in-Council, such necessary expenditures to include the rental of the Khaki Club Building to provide shelter for the workless veterans and their families where necessary.

WILL BURY SHACKLETON AT ANARCTIC'S GATEWAY

Body of Great Explorer Will Rest Amid Scene of His Labours.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press).—The body of Sir Ernest Shackleton is to find its last resting place on South Georgia Island, not because the famous explorer died there, but because it is the gateway to the Antarctic—the scenes of his explorations.

It has been learned that the decision to bury the body there was taken by Lady Shackleton, who is acting in the belief that she is fulfilling her husband's wishes. It became known today that definite instructions had been received in England to return the body to South Georgia.

All preparations had been made by the Urguayan Government and the British colony here to do honor to the memory of Shackleton next Saturday, when it was expected the body will be placed aboard the steamer Andes for transportation to England.

Sir Ernest Shackleton died suddenly January 5 on board his exploration ship the Quest at Grytvicken, South Georgia, and the body was taken to Montevideo.

Last week The London Daily Mail reported that Lady Shackleton had decided to have the body returned to South Georgia for burial. The report created some doubt in the Uruguayan capital, as the British authorities there who had taken charge of the body had received no advices to this effect. Meantime preparations for the embarkation of the body for England on the steamer Andes proceeded and arrangements were being made to hold suitable services in Montevideo for the dead explorer.

KILLED THE GOOSE WITH DEMANDS FOR STILL MORE

Relief Work at Ottawa Suspended Because Labour Dissatisfied.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Steadily mounting wage demands of men for whom work was provided by the Government in Ottawa to relieve their distress have led to the discontinuance of the work and a hundred men who have been receiving $4 a day will again be jobless.

The work being closed is the construction of a retaining wall along the Rideau Canal. The wall has been erected as far as the Grand Trunk bridge at Ottawa East. It will be carried no further now.

An interesting story attaches to the discontinuance of the work. The men employed in it had recently received two increases in wages in response to their demands. It is as a consequence of their demanding still more from the Government that the work is stopped.

The work was undertaken this winter solely for the purpose of providing relief in the unemployment situation. The men employed were paid 30c an hour. The Allied Trades and Labor Council discussed their wage, and it was also brought up at meetings of the Civic Advisory Committee on relief. After the change of Government, the men applied for higher wages. The intercession of the Minister of Labor, Hon. James Murdock, on the point of fair wages on Government enterprises, was secured, and on his recommendation the men were increased to $3.40 a day of eight hours. This did not satisfy them, and they applied for a further increase. This also was granted, the rate of pay being raised to $4.00.

LINE FROM COAST GUARDS RESCUED FREIGHTER'S CREW

Captain Decided to Remain Over Night on Wrecked Vessel.

HIGHLAND LIGHT, Mass., Feb. 9.—Eighteen of the crew of the Furness Line freighter Thistlemore, which went aground Tuesday night on Peaked Hill Bars, were rescued yesterday by breeches buoy. Because of moderating wind and sea, Captain Fortune and the remainder of the ship's company decided to remain on board the wrecked vessel over night.

Early last night Coast Guards of the Peaked Hill and Race Point Stations, who had been fighting high winds and heavy seas since early morning in efforts to take off the Thistlemore's crew, rested from their labors, as no more sailors would consent to leave the ship. The Coast Guards were standing by in the event of a change in weather against threatening the steamer's safety.

The freighter grounded late yesterday and during the night fears that she was breaking up induced her captain to send out urgent calls for assistance .Owing to the high seas Coast Guards were unable to shoot a line aboard her until to-day.

The Thistlemore left Boston yesterday for New York to finish unloading a cargo of freight from Liverpool. She registers 4,164 tons. Coast Guards to-night reported that the vessel was solidly imbedded in the sands and in no immediate danger.

BULLISH SENTIMENT ON CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Domestic Winter Wheat Crop Reported in Danger of Curtailment.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press). — Fear that the domestic winter crop of wheat is perhaps in serious danger of curtailment on a large scale led yesterday to a steep advance in values. The market for wheat closed unsettled, 2¼ to 5c net higher, with May at $1.30⅞ to $1.31, and July $1.16¼ to $1.16 3-8. Corn gained 5-8 at 3-4 1 1-4 cents; oats 1-8 to 1-2c and provisions 5 to 15c.

News of dust and wind storms in Kansas aroused decided apprehension among wheat traders that the crop in that State is already at a disadvantage from continued drought might suffer severely, and the yield be greatly reduced as compared with usual amount. The Secretary of the Kansas Grain Dealers' Association was quoted as saying five million acres of wheat in Kansas would not be harvested this year, and that the condition of a great deal of other wheat in the State was critical. Excessive dryness in Western Oklahoma and Nebraska added to misgivings which had been aroused, in the last half of the day far more than offset price declines that earlier were caused by downturns in quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires. July trades, which would be directly affected by crop damage, sowed at one time a bulge of 6 3-8 cents. Absence of milling or export demand kept the price of the May delivery, however, within ordinary limits.

Corn and oats reflected in some degree the rise of the wheat market but were restrained by much rural selling of corn to arrive here. Besides, shipping demand here was slow.

Provisions went higher in price on account of the upward swing of the grain and hog markets.

PIMPLES ON FACE

DIDN'T LIKE TO GO OUT

Those nasty little pimples that break out on the face and other parts of the body are simply indications that the blood is out of order and requires purifying.

There is only one way to get rid of this obnoxious skin trouble, and that is by giving the blood a thorough cleansing which can best be done by that old reliable blood medicine, and when the blood is purified the pimples will vanish and you will have a clear, healthy complexion.

Miss Mary E. Flangan, R. R. No. 3, Stella, Ont., writes: "I have suffered for about two years with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. The doctor said it was caused by bad blood. My face was so bad I didn't like to go out among a crowd of people. One day I was talking to a friend, and she advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and try it. I took three bottles, and there was not a blotch or pimple of any kind left. Some of my friends asked me what I had used and I said, "Burdock Blood Bitters chased them."

B. B. B. has been on the market for the past 45 years, so you are not experimenting with some new and untried remedy.

DRAMATIC CLUB OF ENNISMORE ARE COMMENDED.

Requests For Return Performances the Rule Wherever "Oak Farm" is Presented.

ENNISMORE, Feb. 9.—An excellent presentation of that delightful comedy, "Oak Farm," by Wells, was given by the Ennismore Dramatic Club in the Parish Hall on January 26th.

The entire cast was well chosen and the members played their roles with the ease and non-chalance of professionals.

The comedy itself was a very wholesome story with just sufficient pathos to demand excellent presentation.

The leading roles that of Donald Weatherby and that of Helen, were most admirably portrayed by James Harrington and Miss Clara Murphy. The former showed excellent dramatic ability, and Miss Murphy fairly captivated her audience by her daintiness and charm of manner, as also by the splendid rendering of her lines, with their deep note of pathos.

Strong feeling was depicted by Mr. P. J. Scollard, who as the disillusioned old parents, presented a pathetic figure and entirely won the sympathy of the audience.

The very difficult role of Mrs. Weatherby was very capably portrayed by Miss Kathleen Harrington. Special honor and credit is due Mr. Fergus Crawley, as Joel, who with the greatest ease kept the feeling of comedy paremount. It is to be doubted if any professional could have played the role more effectively. His appearance on the stage each time was greeted by vociferous and well-merited applause from the appreciative audience. The feeling of mirth was well retained, even during Joel's absence, by Miss Nora Killen, who as Sally kept the audience in laughter.

Miss Geraldine Harrington showed very excellent dramatic ability by her ease of manner in the role of Cynthia. Mr. Victor Sullivan, as the villainous Mr. Prune, showed histrionic ability of a high order.

Mr. Joseph McGuire as Dr. Meredith and Mr. Arnold Crouch as "the handsome" Professor Soudge played excellently together and gave to the minor roles an added zest and interest.

The entire presentation was one deserving of the greatest credit. The excellency of the performance reflected the greatest credit upon Rev. I. V. McAuley, who as its personal director showed as usual his keen interest and great ability in dramatics.

The air of professionalism was so prominent in the depicting of the various roles that many requests have come from local places urging the cast to repeat their presentation.

CROP REPORT

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Farmers are giving much more attention to storing ice than in former years. That already cut is said to be of excellent quality, and the weather for cutting and hauling has been on the whole favorable.

Brant says that hay has jumped from $14 to $16 and $18 a ton baled and depending on quality. Higher prices before spring are predicted. In other sections of the Province hay is selling at from $25 to $30 a ton.

Grenville reports that a car containing over 600 bags of potatoes was shipped from Kemptville recently at $1.10 a bag to the farmer.

Carleton notices that considerable beet meal is being sold in that county, and it is said to be giving good satisfaction.

In the Port Arthur district farmers are getting $6 a cord for their firewood, and pulpwood is selling at about the same rate. Cordwood brings from $7 to $10 in Lennox and Addington.

Brant fears that fall wheat may be injured unless the remainder of the season is more favorable than recent weeks have been. Other representatives allude to the crop as being in average condition as far as can be judged at this time of the year.

Speaking of farm wages, Bruce says that married men will likely get from $300 to $350 a year, while experienced single men will be paid around $25 a month with board, and inexperienced men from $15 to $20.

Lennox and Addington is afraid that many dairy cattle and horses are not getting as much grain and hay as is necessary to keep them in the best shape.

Dufferin avers that while live-stock marketing has been fairly free too many unfinished animals have been sent out.

Large shipments of cattle and horses from the county of Grey are reported.

Haldimand claims that three carloads of cattle and five carloads of hogs are leaving that county weekly.

Brant states that cattle are being marketed in large numbers around 7c a lb. Some drovers are speaking of buying now for June delivery at that price.

Rainy River says that a number of farmers have been killing their surplus stock and shipping the dressed carcases to the camps.

Grey reports a number of cattle being lost from feeding upon musty sweet clover and musty ensilage. On the contrary, a farmer in Egremont Township is feeding sweet clover and corn ensilage alternatly weekly, and claims that it is "just as good as corn."

Fresh dairy cows are being offered in limited numbers in the Port Arthur district at around $100, but there are not many buyers.

Brant notes that among men keeping grade herds and who are supplying the town or city milk trade, there is a tendency to purchase jerseys or grade jerseys to increase the fat content, owing to the test regulations.

Hogs are selling at from $11 to $12 a cwt. Little pigs are selling in Brant at $10 a pair.

Brant says: "A number of horses could be sold if the market opened up, but there is apparently no demand for them at present. This will no doubt change as spring approaches."

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N.S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Dill, now of Windsor, N.S., was living in Halifax at that time and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows: "I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my housework. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care.

I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble."

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend our

OLD-TIME COSTUMES AT LADIES' 'AT HOME'

Interesting Evening With Executive of Trinity Ladies' Aid.

The ladies of the executive of Trinity Ladies' Aid Society were at home to their friends Tuesday night at the Reid street hall, on the occasion of their old-fashioned party, which was a most successul event. There was a large attendance of members, many of whom came in old-fashioned costume, and a real old time party of mirth and jollity was held after the business meeting.

Following out the anniversary celebration, at their meeting, the ladies chose the fiftieth hymn and the fiftieth Psalm, and, during the business session, the dignified members sat with fans waving, and jet sparkling, and feet primly set beneath flowing draperies, quite in the reserved manner of long ago.

But anyone who thinks that the ladies looked frumpish is quite mistaken. They looked as nice as could be and many were the remarks made on the delightful dresses of the olden times. The simple coiffures, the long, fitted dresses and tight basques, sleeves long and necks high the shawls, brooches and bonnets the combs and fans of long ago, became their wearers immensely, and seemed to add a stately dignity to the pretty scene.

Receiving Committee.

The receiving committee was composed of Mesdames F. E. Malott, R. J. Kidd, A. F. Lane, F. C. Neal, G. H. King, N. Moncrief, M. Lyle, J. K. Moore, J. Bugg, Carver, Horton and Kennett, and a most enjoyable programme was rendered later on, with a piano solo by Mrs. N. Moncrief, (as Madame Rachmanioff,) a vocal solo by Mrs. J. Bugg, (Madame Insect)' a vocal duet by Mrs. F. E. Mallott and Mrs. G. H. King, (Mme. Clara Butt and her husband, Mons. Rumford), and readings by Mrs. F. C. Neal (Sarah Bernhardt) and Mrs. Jas. Browne (Jessie Alexander), the latter giving "That Old Sweetheart of Mine". Many of the men of the congregation joined the ladies later, and the company, numbering nearly 100, enjoyed a mirthful hour of old-fashioned games, with musical chairs and a grand promenade, followed by the service of old-fashioned refreshments, including enormous carraway seed cookies.

The Costumes.

Some of the costumes particularly noticeable were: Mrs. R. F. Downey's bridal outfit, a long close-fitting, slightly yellowed satin, with pearl trimming, veil and wreath; Mrs. F. E. Malott's quaintly pretty striped silk, with lace fichu and large brooch; Mrs. F. C. Neal's black brocaded gown and powdered, curled head-dress; Mrs. J. W. Green's stately black, with small, glistening tiara; Mrs McCoy's soft brown gown and small flowered bonnet; Mrs. N. D. Seaton's "puce" velvet, with pull-back gold chain and large fan; Mrs. R. J. Kidd's voluminous Paisley shawl and enormous poke bonnet, with encircling yellow plumes; Mrs. Thos. Barrie's elegant black silk basque an scintillating bugle trimming; Mrs. Jas. Browne's quaint green and white Dolly Varden costume; Mrs. Kennett's seventy-five year old velvet, with lace cascades; Mrs. Blewett's pretty grey and mauve, and the marvellous green draperies and basket-work headgear of Mrs. N. Moncrief. The hit of the evening, however, was Mrs. George H. King, who appeared in full masculine evening attire, her glistening expanse of starched shirt-front, spotless black suit, pointed moustache and woolly wig evoking peals of laughter from all sides.

AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS BY A NEW SYSTEM.

Necessitated By Changes in Study and Examinations.

Owing to the changes made recently in the course of study and examinations required in the Secondary schools of the Province, Principal H.R.H. Kenner of Collegiate Institute advised the School Board Tuesday that it would be necessary to award the Nicholl's Scholarships according to a different method.

He suggested a new system of award, and on motion of Mr. Wearing and Mr. Worth this suggestion was adopted. The Scholarships will therefore be awarded hereafter as follow:

I. $20 to the pupil obtaining highest number of marks at the at the Department examinations held in the Junior Lower School.

II. $20 to the pupil obtaining the highest number of marks at the at the Departmental examination in the Senior Lower School.

III. $20 to the pupil obtaining the highest nunmber of marks at the Departmental examinations held in the Junior Middle School.

IV. $20 to the pupil obtaining the highest aggregate number of marks at the Departmental examinations held in the Senior Middle School.

V. $20 to the pupil obtaining the highest aggregate number of marks in any seven papers at the Departmental examinations in the Upper School.

Mr. Kenner suggested that it might be advisable to give two instead of one scholarship in each of the five forms. In that case $12 instead of $8 seemed to be the proper amounts he said.

DANGER OF JUST LETTING A COLD RUN ITS COURSE

Public Warned to Beware of a Three Days' Cough and Break It Up Before It's Too Late, by Taking Asprolax, the New Scientific Discovery.

Money Refunded If Asprolax Fails to Bring Relief.

Leading authorities are using every effort to arouse the public to the danger of letting common colds just run their course, for it is now definitely known that many serious lung complications such as pneumonia, grippe, etc., develop from colds that hang on persistently.

Colds are curable and preventable and Asprolax provides the safest, surest and quickest, as well as the most practical treatment for colds yet discovered.

Asprolax is almost magical in its effect. The first dose usually stops the tendency to sneezing and coughing and relieves the feeling of discomfort, and the second and third doses usually suffice to stop the progress of a cold altogether.

The wonderful efficiency of Asprolax in breaking up a cold is best shown by the fact that all druggists are instructed to refund money where it fails to give satisfactory results.

BANK DIRECTORS WERE DECEIVED.

Sir Montagu Allan Tells the Shareholders How Merchants' Bank Was Crippled.

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—Losses through their Montreal branch and other demands required to restore their business to a sound basis, reduced the reserve of the Merchants Bank to $1,500,000, Sir Montagu Allan, the President, stated to the shareholders at the meeting held here yesterday afternoon to ratify the sale of the Merchants Bank to the Bank of Montreal. The confidence which the Directors had placed in D. C. Macarow, who was appointed General Manager in 1916, and in J. D. G. Kippen, Manager of Montreal branch, had been abused, the President said, and reports of all matters in connection with the Montreal office which they were supposed to make were grossly inaccurate.

Sir Montagu Allan said that an examination of the position of the bank's affairs was authorized on December 23, 1921, by the Directors, and the services of H. B. McKenzie, former General Manager of the bank of British North America, were secured.

"He recommended that in addition to the appropriations already made by the Board of Directors, over $8,000,000 should be appropriated for manifest or probable losses, depreciation of assets and other similar items in order to carry on the business of the bank on a sound basis." the President continued. 'Practically the whole amount had to be met out of the reserve of the bank, reducing it as a consequence from $9,450,000 to $1,500,000.

Where Losses Occurred.

"The total amount of appropriations required for the Montreal branch is $8,400,000, for which there had been some appropriations made prior to the 30th April, 1921. The two principal accounts which are now in liquidation and in which we made our heaviest losses, are Thornton, Davidson & Co. and the Exclusive Ladies' Wear, Ltd.

"It is common knowledge now that the bank lost heavily through the failure of Thornton, Davidson & Company in July, 1920. The advances to this firm when the bank's books were closed at the end of April, 1916, stood at $579,200, against securities which apparently left a good margin in the bank's favor. These advances, however, increased gradually without the authorization of the Board of Directors, and in July, 1920, (the date of the bankruptcy) amounted to about $4,500,000 against securities which have proved lamentably deficient, and, it now appears, that the bank is involved in a loss of about $4,000,000.

"The Exclusive Ladies' Wear, Ltd., loss was the outgrowth of an attempt early in 1916 to save a bad debt of $65,000. With apparently this end in view, the debtors were allowed advances by the management, without authority from the Directors for new operations, and they expanded rapidly on the bank's money. Later on, the affairs of the company and of two smaller ones of the same kind, were grouped together under new management in the vain hope of bettering the position, but this did not improve matters."

MacKenzie's Explanation.

Following the President's address, H. H. MacKenzie presented a synopsis of his report as follows:

"Towards the end of August last year Sir Montagu Allan 'phoned me that he and other Directors of the Merchants Bank of Canada felt doubtful if they were correctly informed as to the actual position of the bank, and asked if I would undertake an examination of its business and give him a report as to how it stood.

Associations a Difficulty.

"I pointed out that I was very closely associated, in my position as Manager of the Crown Trust Company, with the Bank of Montreal, and that if I made such an examination it might appear to be disclosing the affairs of the Merchants Bank, a rival institution, but I told him that if that point did not create any difficulty and if he obtained permission of the Bank of Montreal, I would do so on the understanding that I was making this examination for the Merchants Bank of Canada only without reference to the Bank of Montreal.

For Merchants Only.

"This was duly arranged and the Bank of Montreal neither sought or obtained from me any information regarding the Merchants Bank, nor did they ask for any information regarding my report till the latter was presented to them later by Sir Montagu Allan.

"My report, therefore, did not constitute a report to the Bank of Montreal of the assets of the Merchants Bank; it was merely for the information of the Directors of the Merchants Bank as to the entries they should make in their books so that their statement might present a correct account of its condition."

In examination by Mr. Laflance, it developed that Sir Montagu had appointed H. H. MacKenzie to investigate the affairs of the bank on his own authority.

BITTER NOTE IN FRENCH PAPERS.

Security of France Her Own First Duty, Says One Writer.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Paris newspapers yesterday expressed disappointment over the British attitude toward France as exemplified in King George's speech from the Throne in opening Parliament yesterday and in the addresses of Prime Minister Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Curzon.

Nevertheless the French press is relieved that Mr. Lloyd George recognized the treaty guaranteeing France's security as a debt of honor. The Intransigeant remarked:

"We won't quibble about the length of time it has taken Mr. Lloyd George to see that British honor is at stake."

The Temps and the Journal Des Debats both object to the British Premier's intimation that France would be offered Anglo-American guaranty in order to "prevent something equivalent to annexation of the Rhineland." Both these newspapers, as well as M. Gauvain, writing in La Liberte, resignedly agree that a pact along the lines of Anglo-American military guarantees would be a great relief. But Jacques Bainville, also writing in La Liberte, adds that it would be only of moral value, "therefore, our security will remain our first duty towards ourselves as well as our friends."

"It would be neither clever nor prudent," says the Journal Des Debats, "for us to induce the London Cabinet to contract obligations that the British public would disapprove." The Temps demands that the Government publish the French note to Great Britain, which the newspaper considers would favorably impress the European public. But the Foreign Office so far has refused publicity, even refusing to confirm the abstract published in London relating to the French suggestion that the opening of the Genoa Conference be delayed.

The Temps estimates that French expenditures in the devastated regions exceed the British cost of unemployment, in discussing Mr. Lloyd George's announcement that Great Britain would not cancel her debts in view of Washington's action. The Temps asks:

"How can France make concessions if her own creditors do not? If no one gives an example of generosity, how can the plans for European reconstruction which Mr. Lloyd George advanced ever succeed?"

INSPECTOR MOWAT'S REPORT ON SCHOOLS.

King George School Shows Most Marked Increase in Pupils.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Education Board the annual report of School Inspector A. Mowat was received. The report follows:

Attendance of Pupils.

During the first half of the year the regularity in attendance of pupils was exceptionally good. For three months of the half year the average was 95 per cent. The attendance during the fall term was adversely affected by the epidemic of scarlet fever, but the average for the whole year was 90 per cent.

The total enrollment for the year was 3,401. The highest enrollment [illegible] was 2,9[illegible], while the highest for any month was 2,727.

The number of pupils attending each of the different schools was as follows:

Prince of Wales	650
Central	625
Queen Mary	575
King Edward	547
Queen Alexander	484
King George	468
South Central	52

The Staff.

There was more than the usual number of changes on the staff during the year.

The board lost the services of Misses Kennedy, Dorman, Lemay, Deyell and Stocker, while Miss Moffatt and Mr. Hagerman were promoted to the Collegiate staff.

The vacancies were filled by Misses Crookshanks, Rowe, Chapman, Gardiner, Pakenham, Stout, Anderson, Coulter and Armstrong, and Miss Ryley and Mr. Hope replaced Miss Moffatt and Mr. Hagerman.

The staff now comprises 72 regular class teachers, one half-day teacher, one supply teacher, one supervisor of art and one of music, one instructor in manual training and one in household science. These, together with the school doctor and nurse, make a total of 80.

Fourteen members of the staff hold first-class certificates and the others hold second-class certificates. An increasing number of the staff are taking advantage of summer sessions at the universities to improve their academic and professional qualifications.

Accommodation.

With the opening of the Prince of Wales School in September, the problem of Public School accommodation was solved for a time, at least.

The overcrowding at the King Edward School was relieved and the class in the St. James Sunday School room was discontinued. Only one class room in the South Central School is still being used for Public School purposes.

The Prince of Wales School was opened at a most opportune time. Sixteen of its twenty rooms are now in use and the building is a credit to the board and to the city. A good organization has been effected and the pupils are working under most favorable conditions.

Extensive improvements were made at several of the other schools. The new coal bins at the King George and the Queen Mary Schools have been of good service. The Central School was much improved in appearance, and at no time since my connection with the schools has the accommodation been so complete and satisfactory.

Progress of Pupils.

There are 72 class rooms occupied and the average number of pupils per teacher is 41. This is a slight increase over the previous year, but is not excessive when compared with other cities.

Judged by examination results, the progress of the pupils was satisfactory; 156 Public School pupils passed into the Collegiate Institute, this being over 90 per cent. of all who were prepared. In the lower forms few failed of promotion and a fair percentage covered the work of two grades in the year.

Success at examinations is not unduly stressed. The development of the whole personality of the pupil is made the chief concern. The improved accommodation and larger and better equipped playgrounds have been of material assistance.

The establishment of a new manual training and household science centre at the Prince of Wales School has enabled the senior pupils of all the schools to pursue these useful and practical branches of study. With the opening of a kindergarten room at the Queen Mary School, all of the schools are now doing this grade of work.

Some teachers have special qualifications in certain branches of study. Advantage is taken of this by interchange of work among teachers. A spirit of co-operation is being fostered. Interest in the work is thereby being deepened and the pupils receive the benefit.

The Special Departments.

The work in art and music was carefully supervised throughout this year, and there was no lessening in interest in these branches of study.

During the first half of the year, medical inspection was carried out thoroughly and systematically with gratifying results. During the fall term the regular work of this department was interfered with by the epidemic. Practically the whole time of the school doctor and the nurse has been given up to the safe-guarding of the health of the children.

Physical Training.

The physical well-being of the children is receiving more and more attention. Both boys and girls have regular physical exercises in their class rooms. Outdoor sports and games are also encouraged.

The boys have interschool baseball matches in the spring term, and this winter interschool hockey games are being carried out.

There are four cadet corps in connection with the schools, and the swings and other equipment provided by the board are regularly made use of in the proper seasons.

Text-Books and Supplies.

The cost of supplies has been excessive for several years, and the pupils' fees have not covered the cost. There is promise of a substantial reduction in the cost of supplies for the school year 1922-23.

The Truancy Act.

There has been but little truancy to contend with. The attendance officer has given careful attention to this part of his work.

ELECTRO-PLATING, SILVER NICKEL, BRASS, COPPER, ETC.

All kinds of metal repair work. Now is the time to have your Stove and Heater Parts Re-Plated. Skates sharpened and re-plated. Work called for and delivered. P. Anderson 179 Stewart Street. Phone 1249. t t s 35 203

Subject of Sermon by Rev. G. E. Ross at Mark Street Church.

(Contributed.)

Deeply spiritual were the services at Mark Street on Sabbath, and the choir did good work. The solos by Mr. Boorman and Mr. Bachelor were well received.

"The Red Cup of Mystery and of Death," was the subject of the morning sermon and was developed from Matt. xxvi, 39: "O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." An outline of the sermon follows.

Opening Scene of Tragedy

It was the darkest night in human history. The tragedy of all the centuries is opening in that memorable "upper room." Jesus is seated at the table with twelve Galilean peasants, and they sup for the last time. The first blow that lands on the Saviour's heart falls as Judas seats himself at the table. Do you hear the clinking of the silver pieces as they strike against each other in the pocket of the traitor? He has sold his Lord for fifteen dollars. Then follows the last mysterious supper, the washing of the disciples' feet, the breaking of the bread, the passing of the cup, and the exit of Judas into the night. But from the lips of the matchless "Man of Nazareth" no word of reproach, or censure, or invective falls on the ears of the traitor. How could Jesus treat a traitor so? Ask of the eternal source of undying love. Heaven and hell are clearly set forth in the character of Jesus and Judas on that memorable night.

Garden of Agony

It was an awful hour. It was the hour when Christ must meet and crush the powers of darkness. If hell ever frustrates the plan of salvation it must be at this hour. Note the circumstances. As the fearful struggle draws near Jesus calls for watchers, telling them at the same time, that his soul is filled with such a sorrow as takes life. He does not ask to be saved from Calvary; He came into the world that He might go to Calvary. He must be Divinely sustained or die in the Garden. With this needed strength He was ready to go to the cross. Look at him beneath these old fantastic trees. Listen to his agonizing cry, "O my Father, if it be possible let this cup pass from me, nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." I lift up his wondrous face and every pore of His skin is oozing blood. The red dew of death is upon hands and neck and brow. It drops, drops, drops; and the grass at his feet is dyed with His blood.

God's Wroth

What is the meaning of this bloody perspiration on the face of the Son of God? I will tell you. God cannot be just and wink at sin. Sin must be punished. This red cup contained the wroth of God against the world's iniquity throughout all the ages, from the fall of Adam down to the blast of the last trumpet. All the multiplied products of human transgression were poured into that cup and held to the lips of Jesus. What mental anguish wrung his soul on that fearful night. Did the sight of an open hell, in the very path of rebellious man, incite the mental anguish which drew that strange bloody sweat? We are told that Charles IX. of France on his dying bed, was covered with a perspiration of blood. His agony was due to the part he played in the murder of the Huguenots on St. Bartholomew's Day. But the agony of Jesus was His eternal anxiety to save men from the red ruin of damnation.

How Some Think

A little education is dangerous. It is simply wonderful how some men can think. They are "thinkers," and can think any absurdity. But such "thinkers" are doing little to bring in the Kingdom of God. They tell you that hell is not consistent with the love of God. Let us see. Hell is the jail of the universe. It was never made for men, but for the Devil and his angels. The love of God has devised ample means to save men from this ruin. But man has a free will and can choose hell or heaven. If any man finds himself in hell at last, it will be because he refused to be saved, and stumbled into perdition over the bleeding and lacerated body of the Crucified Christ. And if one of these so-called "thinkers" should miss heaven he will find to his eternal confusion that Jesus Christ knew what he was talking about when he said, "And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal."

The Poisoned Kiss

Rising from the ground, having been strengthened by an angel, Jesus finds eight disciples outside the garden fence, three of them who were trusted to watch while He prayed, fast asleep. Where was the other one? Oh, he was very busy. He has sold his Master, Lord and friend; and he must deliver the goods, for the cash was in his pocket. Judas heads the armed mob; draws near to the Christ; watches his chance, and prints a kiss, moistened with the saliva of dark damnation, full on the cheek of the Son of God. Oh, the terrific treachery. Have we betrayed our Lord, does the price of blood jingle in our pocket? Are we on the fence, asleep while He wrestles in bloody agony with the powers of hell, or are we selling Him?

Judas was not altogether without principle. Notice: he alone sold Jesus. He alone received the money. He never tried to lead any of the other disciples into the conspiracy. He alone led the bloody mob. He went alone and flung the damning silver pieces in the faces of these nickel-plated pharisees; and alone he went and hanged himself. What an eternal pity that he did not throw himself at Jesus' feet and seek forgiveness.

NEEDED AT DANCES AND THE SEA SHORE

(Aids to Beauty).

Here is a home treatment for removing hairs that is quick, painless and inexpensive: With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to thickly cover the objectionable hairs, apply and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be left soft, clear and hairless. This treatment will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be careful to get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

WEATHER UNUSUALLY SEVERE IN CALIFORNIA

In a recent letter to his brother here, Mr. M. A. Turner, Los Angeles, states:

"We have had some rather rough weather here for sometime, but it is fine again now. Several degrees of frost, and one day it hailed quite hard when I was going down town. The orange crop is about half destroyed, so experts state, and it means a great loss to ranch owners. The snow was two feet deep near Los Angeles. Several hundred who left this city on Sunday in autos for the higher altitudes, were stalled in snow drifts, and rescue parties were sent out from here to dig them out."

Teaching The Story of Bible To City's Chinese Residents

Mrs. J. H. Bettes of Peterboro, Prefers Chinese Students To All Others—Uses An Illustrated Bible

Nine Chinese student of the Bible classes at Murray street Baptist Church provided a banquet for their teachers and friends in the basement of the church, last Friday evening, and one of the especial guests of the grateful student at this entertainment was Mrs. J. H. Bettes, of the Home Missionary Department of the Salvation Army in this city.

For the last seven years, this lady has taught the story of the Bible to Chinamen who are interested in our Christian religion and its dogmas, and she says she prefers the Chinese student to all others. With the Bible study, she gives them elementary lessons in reading and writing. Sometimes they come to her with absolutely no knowledge of the English language, just a very little of the queer "pidgin" talk, and then she draws pictures for them, for the Chinese written language is essentially a sign language, and their words are combinations of signs. Anyone considering the elemental beginnings of these word pictures cannot doubt that the Chinese have a sense of humour, when they put two women under one roof to signify the word 'trouble"; three ladies means 'gossip", they place the roof-sign over a woman and a pig when they want to convey the idea of "marriage" and make the woman and child sign under the same square roof signs means "peace".

Illustrated Bible

To teach the Oriental the Lord's Prayer, this lady has an illustrated Bible with little pictures. "Our Father, who 'art in Heaven', is pictured as a venerable old man with a child on his knee; "The Kingdom Come", is a pleasant place with peaceful background; "Lead us not into temptation", shows a gloomy Celestial enjoying a naughty game of cards with companions who are smoking and drinking, and "deliver us from evil" shows a pious young lady leading the innocent Celestial from a tempting doorway. To convey the idea of the Divine birth to these minds darkened by centuries of pagan training, they are told that the father of Jesus was a spirit. It is hard for them to grasp the story of the Saviour, of his life, death and resurrection.

Mrs. Bettes merely teaches them the story of the Bible and then 'they can go wherever the Lord leads them", a truly religious teaching. She distributes literature to the ten laundries and the three restaurants of the city, with the Chinese War Cry, written in their own language, and one of the chief weapons in the desire of the Salvation Army for the evangelization of China, "through herself". And she says that the work has its own reward, in the gratitude of her students, whom she describes as kind and generous and very receptive.

The Doom of the Flapper is Sealed

"Times are hard," people say, when they talk of the condition of affairs in the world to-day, but nobody has a word of sympathy for the flapper. Perhaps some will say that she doesn't need any sympathy, that she is getting along beautifully, and others, stern moralists, may remark that she doesn't deserve any. And both are wrong.

For the doom of the flapper is sealed. The handwriting is on the wall. The inexorable edict of everchanging fashion will soon decree the flapper as passe. And it is useless to deny it. No matter how women protest, they cannot struggle against Fate. What woman can withstand the ebb and flow of 'style.'

Inexorably and steadily, skirts are coming down. That is the first step in the flapper's doom. First they started using the irregular hem, that reached the shoe-tops at the sides, and shot upward to the knees in front and back, but now—Parisian couturiers are showing them decidedly longer, the Princess Mary comes out flat-footed and decrees that her trousseau shall have long skirts, and how can the continent of North America stand aside? And what about the flapper with her knee-length skirts, her dimpled knees, (often rouged) and her ornate garters?

Then there are ears. Everyone knows that that one of the "ear marks" of the genuine flapper, or "backfisch," as the ungentle Teuton calls her, is an entire absence of ears in combination with a bobbed head. Another death blow has been aimed at the hapless damsel by the decree that shortly ears will come into their own again, and stand forth plain and uncompromising, to the light of day, and that hair, plenty of it, shall be worn on top of the head.

And jazz? Jazz is going, and it wils soon be gone. The flapper is jazzy, and only in a syncopated atmosphere does she thrive and flourish at her best. Short skirts, untrammeled locks and a form fettered by the least possible clothing are the only suitable 'props' for the jerky convolutions of the modern dance. A young lady in a long skirt, with arms and bosom completely covered with cloth of ordinary weight, and wearing her hair in a large collapsible knot on the top of her head couldn't possibly manage the sudden jerks, the slides, the sidelong bowings and bendings demanded by the exigencies of a popular dance hall nowadays, and nobody would dream of asking her to do so.

And what about the flapper After all these years of training and steady application, after she has accustomed herself to furs in summer and silk stockings and pumps in winter, to considering a hair-brush and hair-pins ornaments rather than necessities, to going without petticoats and long-sleeved underwear, to cultivating a taste for depilatories and rouge, cigarettes and risque stories, to petting parties and bunny hugs and barnyard music, to an absolutely unchaperoned, independent, free and untrammelled existence, what, we ask, is this youg lady going to do? Someone will probably come along and say that it isn't only the young girls who flap.' Certainly not, lots of mothers and grandmothers do it. The only thing required is a 'flapper' type of mind, no matter what the age of its possessor, and that's why we ask, what is she going to do about it? Will her mind change with the changing fashion?

Combat Outbreak New York City

On Wednesday of last week, the Nurses' Advisory Council of New York city was called together by Health Commissioner Copeland to combat the present outbreak of influenza in that city, which on the first of February increased by 1,052 cases with 20 deaths. This Council was organized in 1918 during the influenza epidemic.

The Health Commissioner made public the following remedy for influenza: Remain for half an hour in water as hot as you can stand it. The water should be kept running, so that the heat can be maintained. While in the tub drink about a quart of lemonade, so hot you have to sip it slowly. Dry off well and get in between blankets. Remain there for an hour. The perspiration will then have ceased. Get up, sponge off with cold water to close the pores and get back in bed, this time between sheets."

Always Good

Every time you buy "SURPRISE" you get a big, bright, solid bar of the highest grade household soap.

Music Lecture At Conservatory

A very interesting lecture on "How Music is Made," was given by Miss Edwina Palmer, assisted by her students at the Conservatory of Music last Friday evening. This lecture, intended originally for the pupils, was found to be of interest to their elders also, many of whom availed themselves of the opportunity to be present.

The young teacher is anxious to train her pupils in the understanding and the love of music, as well as in a technical mastery of their instruments, and the finished and expressive playing of the pupils taking part evidenced an appreciation of this part of their training. Kathie Taylor, Winnie Evans, Arnold Spencer, Joseph Nasimok, Roy Rome and Albert Wright were among those who illustrated their teacher's remarks by playing during the course of the talk, which stressed particularly the importance of rhythm, which Miss Palmer regarded as being perhaps the most important and the most interesting thing in music. Without rhythm, music loses its meaning.

The early beginnings of music were recorded in the times when songs came before speech, and it was natural for people to express themselves in melody and in the dance. Music should always be made to express some emotion, a fact forgotten by many teachers, who, said Miss Palmer, in their desire to turn their pupils into good players, forget that the most important phase in their tuition is the inculcation in the child of an appreciation of good music.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE CAN FIND RELIEF

By Enriching Their Blood With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which may shortly leave the victim pain-racked and helpless. Rubbing liniments and applying hot applications may give relief, but that is all, and the pains are soon back again. You must treat the trouble through the blood, and the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is proved by Mr. Elias Bruce, Upper Clarence, N.S., who says: "Some years ago I had a bad attack of rheumatism which left me helpless. I had to have help to dress and undress myself and could not even lace my boots without help. Of course, the trouble caused me much suffering, and I was in this condition for about ten months. One day a friend who called to see me advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking them, and soon found some relief, and a short while after all signs of the rheumatism were gone, and I have not since had any return of the trouble."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Closing Chapter Buchanan Story

It was doubtless a romantic wooing. From her pictured face, as it looks out now from newspaper print there is still beneath its worn weariness a suggestion of the quiet charm that was more the fashion for women some 25 or 30 years ago. And, looking at the face of her husband, the photograph taken in his jaunty soldier's garb, it might be easily imagined that he would be a gallant and dashing figure. So that probably he wooed and won her with sufficient fire to make her think that her life would be a happy and affectionate one.

In records like these, in stories that culminate suddenly in some strange molten outburst of passion and tragedy, there is seldom an inking given of the first cause. Perhaps some little thing—he took to staying out late, and she was cranky. Then the children. He must have loved his children. He spoke often of the one that died, the tubercular girl, and he seemed to be a good provider.

Then drink, possibly, or gambling—he was evidently a 'good fellow' with men—and finally the 'other woman', younger, better looking, possibly more amiable than his wife—years of deceit, of cruel bad temper at home and complaining outside—and then the avalanche. The ugly passions seething in man's brain that sent him hunting for poison, leaving behind him a wide swathe of evidence, brooding, nursing his grievances, the cynical concoction of the letter—and the face of his dead son. Back to the bottle again, and what crick in his brain sent him to Mark Twain for solace in his last hour? The poisonous fumes slowly filling the house, with the silent, waiting figure in the kitchen gradually succumbing to their influence, and at last, a lonely grave, with only his weeping sisters, and one small floral wreath from a fraternal society, to mark the final resting place of Buchanan.

And for the widow of James Buchanan? Just memories. Probably of earlier years of happiness and comfort, of the boy who was such a promise of brightness and joy of the morning when she tasted the brew, and said it was "very bitter" and returned the tea cup to her son's waiting hand—the last look at the face of her young dead son——

As for the 'other woman' with her good clothes, her foreign surname, and her air of aloof indifference, who can say what memories possess her?

SUMMER CAMP JACKSON PARK

The Business Girls' Club, which was for so many years one of the most 'up and doing' of the junior feminine societies in Peterbro, slackening up a little for the last year or so, has just lately experienced a revival of interest. The Business Girls in the past were always noted for the excellent and thorough way in which they caried out any undertaking they put their hands to. Possibly this was due to the fact that they are essentially business girls.

At any rate, they are interested just now in the extension to the Summer Camp at Jackson Park which the Peterboro Health Association propose to erect, in the form of a dining room for the kiddies entertained there during the warm weather, and ot which several feminine organizations in Peterboro have already contributed. They are holding a card party in the G.W.V.A. hall on Friday evening to raise money for a donation to this cause, when table, will be provided for bridge, euchre and five hundred, and are also contemplating holding a theatre night in the near future, when part of the proceeds of the evening would be diverted to their treasury for the same purpose and also in aid of the Rotary Boys' Camp.

MUSING ON THE MODERN METHODS OF THE MODE.

Fashion! Thou ever changing jade
In semi-ready or tailor-made;
At catchword, epigram or oath
To make a change you're never loath.
Old-fashioned 'Ask me" or "I got ya, Steve"
From modern English have taken leave;
And now "Prosperity's around the corner"
Is the latest seven days' wonder.
The joke on "short skirts" and "paper cash"
Is out of date with "Home-brew mash";
But the one persistent gage we hear
Is "10 per cent. cuts" and '2 per cent beer."

When you haven't met for a long time, both naturally wonder what changes Time has wrought. Keep that schoolgirl complexion and he will say the years have left you unchanged.

Still—That Schoolgirl Complexion

When must beauty cease? Never, if you know how to keep it. The charm of beautiful maturity may rival that of early youth if wholesome, ever alluring freshness is not allowed to fade.

A firm, fine skin, smooth and free from blemishes, makes every woman seem young. Every woman can have such a complexion—the secret is simple, the means within the reach of all.

Cleopatra kept her youth

She reached the height of her fame and beauty when some women imagine they must fade and grow old, keeping her youthful charms and freshness by the same simple means which we recommend today.

Cosmetic cleanliness was a daily rite, and the cleansers employed were palm and olive oils. This kept her complexion fresh and smooth, stimulated to healthful functioning.

Most facial disfigurements result from clogging accumulations which collect on the skin, fill up the pores and cause coarseness, blackheads and blotches.

Wash your face every day and these ills won't afflict you.

Use gentle means

The kind of washing we mean is gentle, soothing, cleansing with the modern blend of palm and olive oils.

Its action is mild and the profuse creamy lather seems lotion-like. It leaves the skin wonderfully smooth and fresh while removing every trace of soil.

Such cleansing is most beneficial and prepares the skin for cold cream if you need it and the touch of rouge and powder most women use.

Neck, arms and shoulders should receive the same beautifying treatment, for they are conspicuous as the face for complexion beauty or the lack of it. Use Palmolive for bathing and let it do for your body what it does for your face. The price allows it.

Why the low price

This modest sum is possible through gigantic production which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night and the importation of the bland mild oils in tremendous volume.

Thus this finest facial soap, which if made in small quantities would cost at least 25 cents, is offered at the price of ordinary soap.

Cosmetics of Cleopatra

Whatever unguents, rouge and powder the queen of beauty used, cleansing with palm and olive oils was a daily rite.

IRISH REPUBLICANS WANT A PLEBISCITE.

De Valera Says Organization Needs Money to Counteract Hostile Press.

DUBLIN, Feb. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Eamon De Valera has sent a cable message to the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, saying that Irish Republicans were ready to abide by a plebiscite conducted free of the threat of war.

"We challenge the British Government to this test of the real desires of the Irish people,' says the message. "The Treasury of the Republic is at the disposal of our opponents by reason of a majority in the Dail Eireann. Our immediate need is funds to counteract the hostile press, explain the true meaning and effect of the treaty and organize public opinion in view of a possible election. The people at heart are as true and Republican as ever, and, given a chance, they will uphold the Republic."

"INTERNATIONALE" LOST SONG, NOW.

Never Heard in Moscow Streets.

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—The "Internationale" is fast becoming a lost song in Russia. Nobody wants it. It is never heard in the streets of Moscow, or in towns or provinces. When it is played by order in public gatherings, the crowds and audiences refuse to join in the singing.

This as illustrated at the Grand Opera, recently, when Leon Trotzky, the War Minister, appeared with some friends in a box. The orchestra struck up the tune of the revolution and but a very few in the audience rose, out of respect.

Lately Isadore Duncan, after a public performance of her dances, asked the audience to join her in singing the "Internationale". This seemed a signal for the audience to leave. Everybody began going out, the orchestra played and Miss Duncan was left to sing alone.

One of the reasons for the lack of enthusiasm for the song is that it has been sung too much. People are tired of it, here, just as British soldiers got tired af "Tipperary".

A fashion writer says the new spring hats will demand lovelier faces than most women possess. The beauty parlors will have to put on day and night shifts to take care of the spring rush.

NORTH BAY'S BONSPIEL WAS OPENED BY PIPERS

Real Gaelic Touch When Forty Rinks Paraded to "The Cock o' the North."

NORTH BAY, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press).—North Bay has literally given itself into the hands of curlers. All day along Main street west was trod by the feet of the following of the "broom and stone." Over forty rinks from all parts of the district are here contending under the auspices of the International Curling Association. The "spiel" opened at 8.45 yesterday morning to the tune of "The Cock o' the North." All the curlers participating lined up in the big arena four deep and, headed by Piper Robert Drummond, who rendered the lively old Scotch tune with blood-stirring fervor, marched once around the arena. President W. H. Snyder of the local club then made a few remarks of welcome to the visitors. He was followed by Mayor John Ferguson, who in a few well-chosen words expressed the feeling of the citizens of North Bay toward the visitors and extended the freedom of the city to the visiting curlers. The President, Dr. Nott, on behalf of the International Curling Association, thanked the Mayor and the local President for their kindness and hospitality and asked Mayor Ferguson to officially open the bonspiel by playing the opening stone.

A Little Sporting Gossip

Fans will be able to see a good game of hockey at Brock Street Rink on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the Belleville High School outfit will meet the Peterborough Collegiate team in an Interscholastic semi-final fixture. Belleville won the Eastern group by beating Trenton and Picton Collegiates, while the local students got their honours easy through the default of the Uxbridge team. Ernie Legon, of the Holy Name Juniors, is captain of the Peterborough Collegiate and the Central Park knowledge factory will be able to turn out a pretty snappy team against the Easterners. There will be skating after the game, and you can "shoot the works" for a quarter.

The prediction that the Bankers are the team to watch in the second half of the City League race, was borne out last night. The Financiers turned in a handsome victory over the formidable Wm. Hamilton crew, and with the C.G.E. team, are out in front in the second half. The two winners last night meet next week, and it will be a real live session when the two get together.

The Lakeviews at last succeeded in scoring a goal in the first half—and also in the south end of the rink—and it broke their luck, for they were outscored every time they shot into the north net, where usually they have pulled off their victories.

The C. G. E. have played four City League games this season, and three of them went into overtime. Last night's was the first extra period game the Electricians have won. Lakeviews and Wm. Hamilton's having both beaten them in overtime fixtures.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"I'm not one of the regulars—I'm only a volunteer,
But take it from me, this goaler's job is the best I've had this year."
—Jack Pethick.

The man who can pick a winner in the City Hockey League is a real judge of talent. The four teams are so even up now that anything is liable to happen any time they are tossed over the boards. Next week's games will have a lot to say about who will capture the second half, for C.G.E. and Bankers meet in one game and Hamilton's and Lakeviews in the other. The loser of the last-named clash will go into the discard, so far as the second section is concerned, and if the Hams happen to lose, they will be out of the running altogether.

Referee Elwood Coombs of Lindsay was not as strict as he should have been in last night's games. A lot of raw stuff was pulled off in both fixtures and unless these tactics are nipped in the bud the teams are likely to get out of hand. The games are so close and exciting that a check will have to be maintained over the players to avert trouble.

Someone down Preston way is having a lot of fun at the expense of the Galt champion Intermediate team which was beaten so badly by Kitchener. An "obituary" decorated with a fitting black border has been issued. The bill was as follows

"Private Sale of Hockey Equipment Etc.—After sixty minutes of hockey at Kitchener on Friday evening, the Galt Terriers have decided to dispose of their equipment, as they have no further use for same after Tuesday evening. The list includes many articles which have been used only in a few games.

"1 dozen sweaters, purple and white, can be used as underwear; 1 dozen pairs of skates and shoes, 3 dozen hockey sticks, partly damaged by slashing; 1 pair goal pads, slightly damaged at the knees by goalie kneeling on the ice; 1 book of excuses issued by the Galt Reporter; a number of souvenir booklets, giving a write-up of the players; blankets, liniment, gloves, bandages, nets, etc.

"Also a modern arena, nearly completed, capacity 5,000; good accommodation and lighting; several thousand yards of purple and white ribbon, as the future colour will be black; a jazz band slightly out of tune, and instruments slightly damaged; the latter can be bought cheap, as there will be no further use for same; and one good hockey coach.

"All of the above goods are in first-class condition, and may be seen upon application to Wiley Wilkinson, Galt."

To-day's Happy Thought:

Peterborough may be out of the O. H. A. race, but the City League can still provide a thrill or two for the fans.

The Capitol Offers For To-day, Friday and Saturday, the Laughing Sensation of Two Continents, "Three Live Ghosts," Produced in 'London, England, by Paramount; It's Breaking Records Everywhere.

Three buddies, Billy Foster, an American, Jimmy Gubbins, a cockney, and "Spoofy," a shell-shocked soldier whose mind is a blank, escape from a German prison and return to England, as stowaways on Armistice night. Jimmy's mother and Topsy Woofers, his sweetheart, mourn him as dead. The three pals make an exciting getaway from the vessel and go to London.

Ivis Ayers, a nAmerican girl, is entertaining wounded soldiers at her London home. Passing her house as she sings, Billy recognizes it as that of his sweetheart in America. He climbs to a window ledge and sees Ivis enter the library followed by Peter Larne, and when the latter forces his attentions on Ivis, Billy jumps into the room and Ivis recognizes him. Larne and Billy enter another room and the former offers Billy a large sum to go away and remain dead. The two have a dispute and Larne tries to shoot Billy, but is himself shot. Billy escapes with proofs of Larne's villainy with which he himself has been accused and makes his escape as the door is battered down.

Ivis offers a reward for Billy's whereabouts and this advertisement is read by Mrs. Gubbins in whose home Billy has found as asylum. Billy is willing that she should earn the reward provided she shares it with "Spoofy" who has disappeared. "Spoofy" has wandered to a palatial house in the fashionable district, and, after entering it, helps himself to jewelry and money and leaves with an infant asleep in a perambulator. He picks up a goat en route to the Gubbins home and ties it to the baby buggy.

Mrs. Gubbins has telephoned for the police and a detective- arrives. Billy appears and is arrested for burglary and kidnapping. Ivis is notified and goes to the Gubbins' home. 'Spoofy" tries to escape and is injured by a fall. His memory returns and his wife, who had believed him dead, recogizes in him her Duke husband. The three pals are reunited with their sweethearts in the ducal mansion and Billy's reputation having been cleared by a confession of Larne's, he is happy with Ivis.

An Excellent Cast.

A strong cast of players was chosen to support Anna Q. Nilsson and Norman Kerry, the featured players. The list includes several of the best-known players in England. They are: Cyril Chadwick, creator of the role of "Spoofy," in the original stage version; Edmund Goulding, John Miltern, who was seen in the title role of "Experience," Clare Greet, Annette Benson, Dorothy Fane and Windham Guise.

To see "Three Live Ghosts" is tantamount to making a sight-seeing tour of London. Here are some of the landmarks shown:

The Limehouse quarter made famous by Thomas Burke's stories, showing the real Limehouse as well as Limehouse wharf and vicinity.

Glimpses of the mean streets contiguous to Shadwell and Poplar, and the London Tower Bridge.

One of the characters carries the spectators through Trafalgar Square, showing the Nelson Column, Whitehall, Downing Street, the National Gallery, Westminster Abbey, the Albert Memorial in Hyde Park, Piccadilly Circus, the Bank of England, the Royal Exchange and the slums of Whitechapel.

Scenes in the Chinese quarter also are shown, as well as rich country estates near London.

The balance of the big programme and the splendid music of the Capitol Orchestra will complete a wondreful show for the last three days of this week at this popular resort. FAN FAN.

WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS LONGFELLOW'S

- Evangeline -

THE MOST SUBLIME DRAMA IN THE HISTORY OF LITERATURE

Evangeline triumphed in New York, Chicago, Montreal, etc., and comes here direct from Massey Hall, Toronto.

"This is an undoubtedly sincere and faithful screening of Longfellow's famous poem. It should appeal to all classes, young and old, who have a perception for the dramatic, the significant and the beautiful. It is treated with imagination and artistry, and is remarkably successful in making live the period of the story and in creating reality in the characters. It is one of the most truthful pictures to the original ever produced, both in spirit and content of narrative. It is one of the rare pictures that lend strength and beauty to the written story."

AT THE ROYAL.

This is Fox feature day at the Royal. By this is meant that the management has selected two superb Fox features for to-day's programme in addition to the balance of our big programme. Big Town Ideas shows a touching romance, full of comical situations, telling the story of an ambitious girl in a one-horse community. The leading role is played by that favorite of the screen, Eileen Percy, who appears as Fair Tilden, flapjack queen, and maker of such delectable wheat cakes at a railroad restaurant that passengers missed trains to eat them. She gets big town ideas and incidentally unearths a big bond robbery. The story is one that grips attention and effervesces with fun faster than bubbles mount in a fresh glass of champagne. The Lady from Longacre, with William Russell in leading role tells the story of an English nobleman of democratic ideas and a true sport of the best class. In this play Mr. Russell gets away from his usual part in ranch life. He has no use for "Society Life," but rescues a princess from a distasteful marriage. The plot is one of intense interest, well told, and superbly staged. The comedies are of high grade and include a Sunshine special that will bring laughter from the tenants of a morgue. The Royal selects its pictures from the world's best producers and gives the best shows in Canada regardless of cost. picture are our judge, and increasing patrons are our judge, and increasing the Royal Theatre are well pleased.

AT THE REGENT.

A snappy comedy that drives away the blues is "Nobody's Fool," Marie Prevost's newest Universal feature, now showing at the Regent Theatre. Playing opposite the enchanting little star is Harry Myers of "Connecticut Yankee" fame. Miss Prevost and Mr. Myers form the snappiest, cleverest comedy duo as the girl who disliked men and the man who despised women.

"THE SONG OF THE SOUL."

In an attempt to rescue a little girl from a burning house Jerry Wendover, when a boy, suffers a bad facial disfigurement. In later years, finding himself an object of scorn, he goes to live in a lonely Southern region, where he leads a hermit-like existence with his dog. Barbara Seaforth, a blind girl, resides nearby with her aunt and devoted servant, Jinny. Barbara, losing her way in the swamp, is found and taken home by Jerry. They fall in love and marry. Jinny, jealous of Jerry, spreads a false rumor that Barbara's husband has colored blood in his veins and cheated his mistress into marrying him. A mob gathers to lynch Jerry, but Barbara's appeal saves him. A baby is born to them. An operation is performed on Barbara's eyes. It is successful. She is warned to look only once at her baby and not to further expose her eyes to the light until a perfect cure is obtained. Barbara discovers that Jerry fears lest the sight of his disfigurement will kill her love. She deliberately exposes her eyes to the light and becomes permanently blind. She tells Jerry the story of her accident. It transpires that she is the girl he risked his life for in boyhood. Husband and wife face a happy future together.

SOLOIST AT THE GRAND TONIGHT

Miss Hilda Frances Kilgore, the eminent New York soprano, who has just terminated a six weeks' engagement at the Regent Theatre and Massey Hall, Toronto, has been secured, by special arrangement, for the three days as an added attraction with Longfellow's famous picture, "Evangeline," which opens a three days' engagement at the Grand Opera House to-night.

Miss Kilgore was, at the age of 17, soprano soloist at the 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, and her rise in the musical world has been phenomenal. Before coming to Toronto, Miss Kilgore has just completed a record engagement at the Majestic Theatre, Detroit, where she sang for 41 consecutive weeks. Peterborough is only the second city in Canada to hear this little lady, and should be taken advantage of by all. Miss Kilgore goes direct from here to the Capitol Theatre, Montreal, for a three weeks' engagement.

Miriam Cooper, a motion picture star, well known here through her work in several Fox successes, will be seen on the screen at the Grand Theatre to-night, when William Fox will present the poet Longfellow's immortal "Evangeline" in motion picture form.

"Evangeline" has been produced on a lavish scale by Fox Film Corporation, and was directed by R. A. Walsh. It adheres faithfully to the original poem.

FIRST SECTION WINNERS AND RUNNERS-UP LOST

C. G. E. Tool Room Defeat Lakeviews 5 to 3 in Ten Minutes Overtime, While Bankers Surprise Wm. Hamilton's, Winning 3 to 1.

LAST NIGHT'S SCORES.

Bankers 3, Hamilton's 1.
C.G.E. 5, Lakeviews 3. Ten minutes' overtime.

The predictions that the second section of the City League series would be a hectic session were fulfilled last night when the Bankers, who went through the first half without a win, put the skids under the Wm. Hamilton team, while the C.G.E. Toolroom stopped the winning streak of the Lakeviews, the first section winners, after a sensational finish, in which they scored three goals in the last five minutes of a ten-minute overtime period and won out by 5 goals to 3. It was a great night's hockey for the fans, and the balance of the games on the list should attract record crowds.

The Bankers' win was a big surprise under the circumstances, for when the roll was called at 8 o'clock Joe Dwyer was an absentee, and the Financiers were without a goaler. Finally Jack Pethick, who has been subbing on the forward line, donned the outfit, and the youngster's work was an outstanding feature. He had a host of shots to handle, often at close range, but he nailed all but one, and did some good clearing as well in scrimmages around the nets.

The men of money turned in a rattling good game, and deserved to win. Ray Rose has never played better hockey all season than in last night's game. His checking broke up rush after rush, while on the attack he shot hard and accurately, getting two of his team's goals, and he would have hung up three or four more had it not been for fine saves by Micky Murray. McPherson, the youngster at right wing, was also in the limelight all the way, while the Thornton brothers did good work on the defence.

For the losers, Collins was the pick of the forwards, doing a lot of useful checking and rushing, while Brennan, on the defence, was very effective. Murray was in good form in the nets, and he had to be, for the winners were doing some nice sniping. Hamilton's, on the other hand, were wild in their target work, Gamey Graham being the worst in this respect, for he "blew" at least a half dozen chances.

The Bankers were first to break into the scoring column, when Rose scored at close range, after Murray had blocked a shot from Gillespie. The early success put all kinds of pep into the Financiers, and they went along at a pace that left them still that one counter in front when the period ended.

The Hams opened the second period at top speed, but could not beat Pethick, and finally McPherson got away for a nice rush and passed neatly to Rose, who bored a nice one past Murray. That made it 2 to 0, and the Bankers were well away. Gamey Graham closed the gap a little by a neat side shot for the losers' only goal, but a little later P. Thornton slapped one by Murray at close range on a shot by McPherson, and it was 3 to 1. Hamilton's tried hard to get back into the running, but the Bankers checked them closely, and the final bell found the first section tail-enders two goals to the good.

The teams:

Second Period.

THE SECOND GAME

The C.G.E.-Lakeview clash was a sensational battle, featured by the great finish of the C.G.E. outfit, who came through with three goals in the last five minutes of overtime and beat the first section winners 5 to 3, after the Lakeviews apparently had victory within their grasp. Lornie Rose turned the trick for the winners. He got three of their goals on lone-handed efforts and was responsible for the fourth while it was his fast work in the overtime that pulled the game out of the fire for the C.G.E.

Lakeviews, reversing their early performances, were ahead at half time, getting the only goal in the first period. When they added another early in the second session and kept the Toolroom off the scoring sheet until there were only nine minutes left to play, it looked all over like the fourth stranght win for the Red Shirts, but C.G.E. got two goals in short order, evening up the count, and it remained even for the rest of the regulation time. In the first five minutes of overtime Jimmy McMartin scored for the Lakeviews, and the goal looked like the winning counter until the sensational rally already described was pulled off. It was the second overtime game the teams have had this season, Lakeviews winning the first after ten extra minutes by 4 to 3.

Rose was easily the star for the winners, especially in the second period and the overtime. He won the verdict almost single-handed so far as the attack went. McElroy did good work in the first period and Halpin was effective all the way through, while Legros was good in the nets.

For Lakeviews Bergoine made a lot of fine saves in the nets and Legon was probably the most effective of the rest. The little centre player did some great checking, mussing up many a C.G.E. attack.

It was a hard fought battle, with the issue in doubt until the last two minutes of the overtime.

Lakeviews had a shade the better of the going in the first half, although there was not much to choose. They got the only counter—and incidentally their first of the season in the south nets—when Murray went down alone and looped a fast one from outside the defence to beat Legros.

Early in the second period Legon worked his way down the side and slid another counter past Legros, putting Lakeviews two to the good. As the minutes went by without a change in the score it looked like a Red Shirt win. Finally, however, Ranger worked his way out of a trio of Lakeviews in the corner and scooped a counter past Bergoine. And right on top of this Rose flashed in alone and slanted a beauty into the nets, tieing up the game. C. G.E. came strong at this stage and looked like winners, but the Lakeviews steadied down and there was no further scoring, requiring an overtime period.

Early in the first extra five minutes Jimmy McMartin tore down and zipped one of his fast ones from outside the defence, putting Lakeviews in front again. They came near increasing their lead to two the next moment when Jackson got inside, only to have Legros block the shot and Burgess secured the rebound and missed an open net. The end of the five minutes found the score 3 to 2.

Then came the sensation. C.G.E. threw everybody up on the attack in a gambler's chance of victory, and it won. In one minute Rose, on a nice rush and a pretty shot tied the score. Ninety seconds after Barrie, who had just relieved McElroy at centre, took a pass from the corner from Rose and scored at close range, putting C.G.E. in front, and in half a minute Rose made it sure by dodging in alone and tipping the rubber past Bergoine. There were only two minutes left to play and C. G.E. easily held their lead until the bell rang.

The teams:

C. G. E.—Goal, Legros; defence, Halpin, L. Rose; centre, McElroy; right wing, Helson; left wing, Ranger. Subs, Williams, Barrie.

CARNIVAL AT MARK STREET

Large Display of Fancy Costumes-Another One Coming.

Last night was a record one for Mark street rink with a big display of fancy and comic costumes. The judging was a hard matter with the juvenile section as there were so many lovely costumes such as the Bride, Russian Lady, Jack Frost, Rule Britannia, Gipsy Girl, Bo-Peep, etc.

Numerous comic costumes among the older section made it a hard matter of decision also.

The ice was in perfect condition for the races, some of which were closely contested.

The kind donations of cakes and other good things for the booth, which Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Grierson had arranged for, enabled the patrons to have very cheap refreshments.

Many of our young folks are desirous that we shall run one more carnival before the season is over, so if they will arrange it with the weather man we may later on notify them through the Examiner when to meet us for the farewell dress-up of the season.

COLLEGIATES IN SEMI-FINALS BELLEVILLE HERE SATURDAY

Uxbridge having defaulted to Peterboro Collegiates, in the Interscholastic Hockey League, the Central Park team have been declared winners of the northern group, and have been ordered to play a semi-final round with the Collegiates of Belleville. The first game will be played at Brock street rink on Saturday afternoon commencing at two o'clock and the return game will be played at Belleville on Saturday February 18. Total goals on the round decide the winner.

The local Collegiates are in good shape for Saturday' battle. Several players of the team, including Ernie Legon, have played Junior O.H.A. this season, and the students are confident that they will give a good account of themselves in the two games. A victory will send them into the finals.

The Collegiates should have a big crowd of supporters. There will be skating after the game.

$1,500 REQUESTED FOR PLAYGROUNDS

Deputation Present the Case to City Council

Fifteen hundred dollars is the size of the grant the local Playgrounds Association are hoping Council to vote them this year. Coupled with this request to the Council's Committee of the whole last night came the thought that the City Council now assume control of and responsibility for the city's playgrounds. This suggestion was pointedly conveyed by Mrs. Arthur Stevenson when she remarked, "If the playgrounds are to be supported wholly by Council, you gentlemen will either have to take us over or we'll have to take you over."

The deputation in support of the grant was composed of Mr. P. Westbye, Mrs. (Dr.) Neal, Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson and Mrs. A. Mowat.

Mrs. (Dr.) Neal in a brief but concise review of the history here of the Playgrounds' Association, explained that they had their inception in 1915 with the local Council of Women, who first raised money for their support by the collection of rags, papers and rubbers, which brought on sale $300. Next summer or two flowers were sold previous to Mother's Day, proceeds from which together with private subscriptions carried project along. In 1915 the first playgrounds were opened at the Central School, they were equipped with the aid of the Board of Education in 1917, the King Edward grounds, those at Queen Mary's School in 1919, and the Queen Alexandria ground in 1920, together with added equipment for the others. Last year equipment was furnished for the East City school. Mrs. Neal here went on to say that during the last three years the City Council had assisted the project with grants and referred to conditions which led to the formation of the Playgrounds Association to manage and generally supervise the playground. In conclusion, Mrs. Neal asserted that the public practically demand the maintenance of supervised playgrounds, which have now grown to proportions justifying the civic authorities shouldering the burden of their control and financal upkeep

Ideal Grounds

Concurring with Mrs. Neal's contention re civic responsibility for public playgrounds, Mrs. Mowat declared the ideal of such playgrounds is that they should be so constituted that children may meet there on perfect equality, irrespective of class or creed, which is one big reason why such work is patriotic, working for true democracy and should be supported by municipal taxation. Unless $1500 is granted this year one playground must be eliminated she concluded.

For Salaries

Mrs. Morris explained that the $1500 is required for salaries of supervisors only, and such supevisors are imperative to control grounds where gather all elements of children, to guard against physical disabilities and afford good training. She did not think $1500 too much to ask in support of seven or eight supervisors for two months in the summer.

Public Recreation

Mr. Arthur Stevenson suggested that Council appoint a committee on pubic recreation for both winter and summer.

Gates Wide Open

Mrs. Morris incidentally remarker that the Association is asking a smaller grant this year than ever before and smaller than will ever be petitioned for again The gates of all playbgrounds are wide open for all comers.

Council will give this request consideration later.

BRITISH INDIA POLICE FIRED ON THE MOB

LONDON, Feb. 9—(Canadian Press).—British Indian Poilce fired on a mob of ten thousand natives during a serious riot at Tiruvannamalai, about eighty-five miles south west of Madras, in Tanjore, Tuesday last, killing three and wounding eight, says a despatch from Madras.

If we could see ourselves as others see us the undertakers would be worked to death burying people who had been killed by the shock.

CITY COUNCIL FINDS THAT FIRE DEPT.

retary Canadian Underwriters' Association.

But in contradistinction to this commendatory evidence, Ald. Crowe advanced that there is and has been the past two or three years so much lack of confidence in the Chief and the Brigade expressed by ratepayers that Council should take action without further delay one way or the other. Since the St. Andrew's manse fire, declared Ald. Crowe, out of some twenty or twenty-one insurance men who had expressed to him, unsolicited, their opinion on the qualifications of the Fire Department, only one's pronouncement had been favourable, and that man said "he had no fault to find with the Brigade except that an A1 Chief was needed, with the present Fire Chief as assistant."

Ald. Hamilton thought there seemed a certain amount of looseness in conducting affairs at the Fire Hall, where conditions, instead of improving, are likely to grow worse under present management; and Ald. Phelan followed with, "There's been more or less trouble over the Department the past few years, together with complaints after nearly very fire."

Talking of the St. Andrew's manse fire, Ald. Holloway said: "There are 40 street numbers to a block, and if the Brigade know their chart they should have no difficulty in locating the manse number."

Can't Blame Chief.

Ald. Jones here came back with, "You can't blame Chief Grange, who was at home, for Capt. McDonald's alleged uncertainty in taking the manse's number over the 'phone. But some members seem anxious to get after the Chief, and this appeals to them as a good opportunity to do so."

Ald. Morrison contended that McDonald took the right number, but saw no signs of a fire in passing the manse. Even at that, he declared, the Brigade was only six or eight minutes in reaching the scene; and Ald. Crowe tendered a citizen's opinion that water must have been turned on to the fire in ten minutes or thereabouts from sounding the alarm.

Incidentally, during the proceedings, to Ald Gainey Ald. Crowe, chairman of the Fire, Water, and Light Committee, replied that the Chief had made no attempt to discipline Captain McDonald, who took the alarm from the manse, and who was in charge of the first platoon which responded.

And Ald. McIntyre then suggested that Captain McDonald be expelled for two weeks, and on his return be reduced in rank. But Ald. Morrison's reply that taking the matter of disciplining out of the Chief's hand would impair the efficiency of the Brigade, met wth general concurrence.

A moton here by Ald. Jones and Morrison, that no action be taken by committee in regard to the alleged negligence at the manse fire, was defeated by the motion in amendment endorsing the Fire, Water, and Light Committee's verdict being adopted.

Question of Efficiency.

Committee spent considerable time in discussing past and present conditions in the Department and the Brigade's qualifications in general, this period of their parley being opened by Ald. Hamilton in declaring there exists deficiency in the Department, and that the Chief is not capable of handling the men. He entertained no personal feelings against either the Chief or the Brigade, Ald. Hamilton asserted; but Council had known for a year or two that inefficiency existed, and further delayed action by Council would entail trouble for the city.

Ald. Morrison wanted to know why Ald. Hamilton had not moved in the matter before.

Conceding that perhaps he had been derelict in this matter to some extent, still Ald. Hamilton pointed to his action in Council last year when he moved that all matters pertaining to the Fire Brigade be referred to Council in Committee of the Whole.

Continuing, Ald. Hamilton regretted that Chief Grange had neither ability nor experience for handling his men, who do not get sufficient drilling to develop efficiency. For example, the Chief reports two men laid up sick over the manse fire, and he (Ald. Hamilton) supposed such men would be dead after an all-night fight with a blaze. The point he wished to raise here was that our firemen do not get sufficient training or exercise for developing them physically for their calling. "Whenever I pass the Hall the men are sitting around smoking," he exclaimed.

Later in the evening Ald. Jones replied to this that Ald. Hamilton should be satisfied that the absence of fire allows the men opportunity for sitting around and smoking. He also contended that the Chief is keeping down both fires and insurance rates.

Manufacturer's Opinion.

As to the views of the Department entertained by local captains of industry, Ald. Holloway quoted one of the best former aldermen of this city as declaring that the local manufacturers' Association is endeavouring to ascertain just why insurance rates here have only been reduced 10 per cent., when Toronto and some other cities are enjoying a 15 per cent. reduction.

Ald. Holloway opined that the Brigade has not the confidence of the public, and he had no doubt but that cellars are full of rubbish, inviting fire.

Ald. Jones replied that insurance rates have been reduced on no factories anywhere. The only reductions made are on residences, and Peterborough's 10 per cent. deflation thereon is equal to that allowed for any other city of its class, and more than enjoyed by some. He failed to see how a local manufacturer could talk as credited him by Ald. Holloway when rates have not declined on factories either here or elsewhere.

Ald. Morrison: Our reduction on residences is no greater than 10 per cent., because we have only one Fire Hall and 20 men, whereas, according to the underwriters, Peterborough should maintain 24 men and a second Fire Hall.

A Question.

Replying to Ald. Holloway, Ald Morrison did not know of any cellars filled with rubbish, and would like to be put wise to one.

Ald. Holloway promised to satisfy Ald. Morrison in that regard.

Getting down to concrete action at this juncture, Ald. Phelan voiced his opinion that this Council should either pass a vote of confidence in Chief Grange or one to the contrary. Council has had a lot of controversy regarding matters at the Fire Hall, he pointed out, and if lacking confidence in its Chief, we should advertise for his successor.

This led to the adoption of the resolution previously referred to—that the Department lacks efficiency, and a change in its management should be made, thus rendering futile any attempt at a division on Ald. Jones' motion that "the Brigade is efficient."

There were present: Mayor W. H. Taylor presiding, Aldermen James Hamilton, Joseph Crowe, W. T. Holloway, Nagel Phelan, R. H. Jones, Mel. Turner, Malcolm McIntyre, R. Morrison, Harry Gainey, Ald. Stocker is on the sick list.

Epworth League Notes.

The meeting of the Epworth League on Tuesday evening was taken by the First Vice-President, Miss Zelma Gainer, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavour Department. After the opening exercises and a few words from the pastor, Rev. R. M. Paterson, Rev. A. K. McConnachie, of Centreville, took the subject and gave an excellent address on his trip to Scotland in 1921. He told also of his former work in connection with his parish in Ayr before coming to Canada. The address was much appreciated by the many eager listeners, who manifested their appreciation by a hearty clapping of hands.

Mr. F. Dawson, President, then brought before the League the question of how much money the League intended giving towards the erection of a Sunday school hall, and it was decided to donate one hundred dollars if the hall was built.

Dainty refreshments were then served and an enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

In conclusion a business meeting was held by the members of the church, and it was decided that a Sunday school hall should be erected. The collectors then gave their report, which showed that already two thousand and fifty-six dollars had been promised by the subscribers towards building a hall.

A building committee was then appointed, including Supt. Hy. Dawson, Mr. Ira Dawson, Mr. W. H. Barnard, Mr. Hector Jewison and Treasurer Mr. Edmund Dawson.

As there was some difference in opinions, the site of the hall has not yet been decided on. The committee in charge intend to start to build as soon as possible.

Concert at the Conservatory

The fifth and final concert in the winter Lyceum course at the Conservatory of Music was held last evening, with a good attendance. A quartette of accomplished artists entertained their audience with a varied repertoire of songs and instrumental numbers, including selections on the bassoon, cornet, saxaphone, flute and piccolo.

Mr. Hubert Small is a flutist of exceptional merit, and his solo and duet numbers, on flute and piccolo, "the little brother of the flute," with Miss Frances Morley, were enthusiastically encored, and included "A Spanish Serenade," "The Song of the Turtle Dove," with the call of the bird, shrilly sweet, as a recurring motif, and "By a Woodland Brook," a rippling, verdant melody.

Miss Grace Callahan is an artist of extreme versatility, and delighted her audience with her numbers on the bassoon, of which she gave an entertaining little description, calling it the "monkey or the clown" of the orchestra, selections on the saxaphone and the cornet, including "A Dream," arranged for the cornet, "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Mother Machree," on the saxaphone, and a number of selections in which she joined the various instruments with the flute and piccolo, in dainty numbers; "The Flea and the Beetle," dainty and humorous, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," for flute, saxaphone, and piano, and a charming arrangement of "Wyoming," the popular song. The final number was a lovely rendition of "Home, Sweet Home," for piano, bassoon, cornet, flute, piccolo, and a Chinese flute, illustrating the different forms of this old song in foreign lands.

Miss Frances Morley was received with enthusiasm in her different selections on the flute, piccolo and piano, the latter including an "Indian Rhapsody," on nine different Indian themes: war and scalp dances, owl songs, spring songs, and love songs of the tribes.

Mrs. Vera Small's light soprano was heard to advantage in "Pale Moon" and the "Muzetta aria" from "La Boheme," the latter in Italian.

CENTRAL ONTARIO OIL FIELDS LTD.

Great progress has been made by this company during the last few weeks. The first well put down struck oil at a depth of about 350 feet, and at the present time there is about 100 feet of high-grade oil in this well.

We would like to announce for your information that the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Ltd., is composed exclusively of Peterborough gentlemen, who are progressive business men. The company requires a limited amount of capital to develop well No. 2, which they are now drilling, and at this time are offering the people of Peterborough an opportunity of securing an interest in a going concern, with unlimited prospects of paying big returns to shareholders at an early date.

What other oil companies have done, this company may do as well, or even better. Let us quote you two instances:

The Trapshooter Well at Eldorado, Kansas, paid $40,000 on every $100 invested.

The first well at Hogg Creek, Desdemona, paid $10,000 for $100 invested.

The man who gets most out of life is the one who is willing to grasp opportunity whenever it presents itself, and is not blinded by prejudices or precedents, not limited by a policy of "Let well enough alone."

The price to-day is $1.00 per share. After the next directors' meeting it will be advanced by a substantial amount.

This is an opportunity for the small investor. Buy all you can and profit with the advance.

Market News

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Further buoyant advance of leading foreign exchanges failed to sustain prices at opening of to-day's stock market. Trading was active and broad, but yesterday's re-action among industrials and specialities was extended, oils, motors and independent steels being among first to yield. Losses were limited to fractions, although Standard Oil of California re-acted one point St. Paul preferred, one of yesterday's strongest features was under pressure.

Market steadied before the end of the first hour under the lead of the Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum, and Gulf States Steel. People's Gas and Chicago Pneumatic Tool were among the less prominent issues to show marked strength. These and other gains were cancelled before noon the prices shading when the bears resumed their selling of oils, motors, and equipments. Reaction was hastened by the news of receivership proceedings against the Columbia Graphophone, which resulted in a decline of 3 1-8 points for preferred stock to 5 1-8, a new low record.

Call money opened at 5 per cent., but private loans were made at 4 3-4 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9. —(Canadian Press.)—Opening wheat quotations which varied from 1 1-4 lower to 1-8 advance, with May 129 3-4 to 130 3-4 and July 1.15 3-4 to 1.16 1-2, were followed by a slight further sag in some cases and then decided upturn all around. Liberal receipts of corn here and complaints of lack of storage room tended to prevent feed grains from advancing with wheat. After opening 1-8 to 1-2 lower, May 58 3-8 to 58 5-8, Corn market showed further losses, although temporary rallies intervened. Oats started 1-8 to 1-4 up, May 40 1-2 to 40 5-8, and then receded with Corn.

THE MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Feb. 9. Canadian Press. — The local stock exchange opened this morning without feature and no noticeable difference in its tone became apparent during the first half hour. Brazilian rose half a point to 30 1-2 while Detroit United Railway whose 11 point drop featured the close, was quoted 1-2 lower at 58. Stock of the Royal Bank strengthened to 199 1-4.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. Canadian Press. — Sterling exchange, strong demand $4.37. Canadian dollars 4 3-8 per cent. discount.

TORONTO CATTLE MARKET

TORONTO, Feb. 9. — (Canadian Pres).—Cattle market; receipts 412. Trade slow, heavy beef steers $7 to $8; choice butcher steers $6.50 $7.25; butcher cows medium $3 to $4.50; calves $11 to $13.50; lambs $11 to $12; hogs, selects $12.50 to $12.60.

Social Calendar

In the Mid-Winter examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, Mr. Melvin Winger, Toronto, was successful in Junior Piano, and Miss Frances Moore in Elementary piano, obtaining honors . Both are pupils of Miss Bessie Elcome.

Mrs. Roy G. Byers (nee Grace Patterson), received for the first time since her marriage at her home, 591 Chamberlain street, yesterday. A large number of her friends attended during the afternoon, Mrs. Byers wearing black canton crepe with coral girdle and corsage bouquet of carnations, was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. E. G. Patterson, in black charmeuse and wearing carnations. Mrs. W. J. Byers was unable to assist on account of illness. Mrs. Jas. H. Macdonald, wearing navy charmeuse, also assisted in the drawing room. The rooms were charmingly decorated with spring-like daffodils and narcissus, and the tea table was dainty with lovely Madeira draperies.

Mrs. James Patterson, in blue canton crepe, poured tea, and Miss Estelle Knox, wearing navy tricotine, cut the ices. Assistants in the tea-room were Mrs. Walter Byers, Mrs. Arthur Belleghem, and the Misses Lenore Lyle, Helen Rogers and Gladys Paterson.

The Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception church were at home to their friends in their hall last evening, for a card party, which had a good attendance. Prizes were won by Miss Nellie Hobbins and Mr. Michael English. The committee in charge were: Mesdames Wm. Crowe, B. Halpin, R. Gilman and Miss K. McMahon.

YUKON'S SILVER TIDE IS RISING.

DAWSON, Y.T., Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Yukon's great silver tide is steadily rising and the Klondike, that enchanted garden spot within a fifty-mile radius of Dawson, continues the banner gold producing camp of the entire Northland, says a thirty-eight-page special edition of the Dawson Daily News.

Ever since July 10, 1919, when Louis Bouvette staked the Bouvette, the discovery claim on Keno Hill, says the News, silver mining has progressed at an astonishing rate until today fifteen hundred mines, a large proportion of which are producing, have been staked in the rich Keno area. One company alone, it is estimated, will take out and have ready for shipment at Mayo Landing by next spring approximately five thousand tons of high grade silver ore.

One year ago the Yukon Gold Company was the only large organization engaged in quartz mining and exploration at Mayo, but since then two well-known American mining companies have entered the field and have secured control of many claims which large crews are now developing.

Hard-rock miners, as well as capital, according to the News are entering the Mayo district, and indications point to such activity in real prospecting and development as will claim the attention of the world.

The two big companies entering the Mayo field during 1921 were the Alaska Treadwell and Slate Creek Mining companies, both of which have large interests in Alaska.

The most notable strike on Keno Hill to date was the finding of the lode on the west end, or McQueston slope. The vein starts at timberline and has been traced along the hillside through the deep moss and trees for about a mile and ranged in width from five to fifteen feet between the walls. Numerous cross-cuts have been made onthe lode at frequent intervals for almost the entire length, revealing the ore in place at every point tapped.

Finding Accidental

As in the case of a great many famous mineral discoveries, the finding of this rich mine was accidental. A buckboard in which David Cunningham and Ray Stewart, pioneer prospectors, were carrying supplies, skidded down a slippery embankment and turned up a piece of float which told the story. The ore assays from two hundred to five hundred ounces to the ton.

Referring to the gold mining activities, the News says:

"After a quarter century of gold production during which she has poured out an unbroken tide of gold, enriching the world at the rate of millions yearly, the old Klondike continues the banner gold producing camp of the entire Northland.

"Not only has the Klondike the honor of having produced the greatest aggregate gold yield of the Yukon and Alaska camps, but she promises to continue to hold that premier place for another quarter century. This will be real news to a great many who have not understood the fact that Klondike was blessed with a vast area of low grade gravels as well as the marvelous pay-streaks which yielded the phenomenal pay to the early Klondike kings.

"A great era was inaugurated in the Klondike gold mining camps in 1906 after the old-timers had gathered most of the more concentrated pay. Then came on the scene the great gold dredges. These have turned topsy-turvy the bedrock of some fifty miles of the richest and most famous old streams of the camp, including most of the Eldorado, Bonanza and Hunker. But there remains the famous Dominion, Sulphur, Quartz, Gold Run, Gold Bottom, Indian River and broad Klondike Valley provides another hundred miles or more of the dredgable auriferous gravels.

BULGARIA TOTTERS UNDER HER DEBT.

Required to Pay Allies $450,000,000.

SOFIA, Feb. 9.—(Associated Press.)—Bulgaria is tottering under a burden of debt and indemnities which its financiers say will take several generations to liquidate. Under the peace treaty the smallest of the belligerent nations is required to pay the Allies 2,225,000,000 francs gold ($450,000,000).

Converted into Bulgarian francs (levas) at the current rate of exchange this amount to the staggering total of 67,000,000,000 levas. If to this sum is added the country's external and internal debt of 40,000,000,000 levas, a total of 107,000,000,000 levas is reached. (Nominally a Bulgarian leva would be worth about 19 cents).

Nobody knows, even the Bulgars themselves, how this colossal sum can be paid without wrecking the country and exhausting its resources.

Under the Neuilly agreement the Bulgarians were to pay their first instalment of the $450,000,000 indemnity in 1919, but up to the present they have lapsed in three instalments.

Bulgarian government officials say they can make the state solvent and pay all its obligations if the powers will waive the indemnity payments for a reasonable period of time. They insist they can make little progress so long as the Reparations Commission holds the indemnity demand over their heads like Damocles' sword.

The country's total outstanding paper money amounts to 3,250,000,000 levals, only one-third of which is covered by gold reserve.

An encouraging feature in Bulgaria's otherwise apparently hopeless financial and economic situation is the steady increase in her exports, which for 1921 were in the proportion of 3 to 2½ to her imports.

With the object of stimulating exports and imports the government is planning the establishment of an international bank, composed in part of foreign capital, with branches or representatives throughout the world. An effort will be made to interest American bankers in the institution.

WHEN MAYOR CUT PRICES FOR TIFFIN

"Cut Prices or I'll Start Bakery," Tiffin, O., Mayor Told Dealers—and He Did

FORCES MEAT DOWN.

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 10.—This little city of 15,000 population has a mayor who does things. He is Adolph Unger, automobile dealer.

He has:

Brought down bread prices.
Brought down meat prices.
Giving Tiffin pure milk.
Enforced the laws.
Cut down the expenses.

He was sworn in at midnight on Dec. 31. Immediately after taking the oath of office he declared that prices of foodstuffs, especially meat and bread, were too high and must come down.

Two days later a Department of Justice agent arrived. Retail butchers were called in and investigation started. Taking of testimony lasted there days. Then the mayor, addressing the meat dealers, said:

"Your prices are too high. If they don't come down, I will start a municipal meat market."

Within three days meat prices had dropepd from five to eight cents a pound in the markets and farmers were getting more than ever for meat on the hoof.

Gives City Pasteurized Milk.

Next came a milk inspection campaign which resulted in pasteurized milk being supplied to all consumers. Before the investigation there had been many complaints about some dealers who were supplying milk that was unsatisfactory.

Mayor Unger then called local bakers to appear before him and explain why they charged from 2 to 4 cents a loaf more for bread than bakers were charging in surrounding towns. Efforts of the mayor to bring about price reductions were resented, whereupon Unger said:

"Unless you reduce prices within 48 hours, I will start a municipal bakery.'

This threat was ignored.

Next day the mayor began selling bread at his own place of business and at two city fire engine houses, at the rate of 2,000 loaves a day. The city charged 10 cents for a 24-ounce loaf, for which consuers had been paying 12 cents.

Bread Hauled 30 Miles.

Unger got his supply from Woodville(30 miles away, using one of his own automobiles to transport it. The bread cost the city eight cents a loaf at the bakery. A two cent profit was taken to defray expenses of other investigations under way that are expected to affect prices of more commodities. Two regular bread routes were maintained.

Citizens contributed money and declared they were ready to support the mayor in his declaration that he would erect an oven and hire his own bakers unless local bakers reduced prices at once.

Then one bakery met the mayor's prices, and the municipal bakery suspended business. The war was diverted from a city-bakers' war to a war between bakers themselves. But cheaper bread prices go on.

In his administration of affairs, Mayor Unger shows an inclination to "get the money" for the city. Five thousand dollars a year has been saved by salary cuts in departments. Fines are high — and prompt payment is demanded.

"I'll enforce all the laws,' says the mayor. "If the laws are bad I'll work for their repeal, but as long as they're laws, they'll be strictly enforced."

BIGAMY TAKES SECOND PLACE

Political Illiteracy is a Worse Crime in Soviet Russia.

MOSCOW, Feb. 10. — Political illiteracy is a worse crime than bigamy in Soviet Russia. Cupid's errors are painlessly, instantaneously and inexpensively cured by Bolshevist courts; but ignorance of Bolshevist laws is punished by sentence to courses in Communist schools organized to enlighten those untaught in the ways of the Soviet Republic.

Ivan Ivanovich Linsky was recently faced in a Moscow court by two wives and five children.

"I didn't know that it was necessary to get a divorce and thought my living apart from my wife whom I didn't love any longer was proof that I didn't want her," was Linsky's defence.

One woman was granted a divorce and Linsky was instructed to enter the school for the liquidation of political illiteracy at the government printing office, where he will be taught that wives may be disposed of only by making declaration before a Soviet court that one does not want them and paying a fee of 10,000 rubles.

It's much easier than the Reno treatment and Moscow should become a popular resort for mismated foreigners after Soviet Russia gets the recognition necessary to make Russian divorces water-proof abroad. There are no residence requirements and "difference of political views" is the ground on which many divorces are granted.

Alimony has not yet come into fashion in Russia. Under the old Communist ideal nobody had anything, theoretically, and everybody worked and was supported by the state. With the reversion to capitalists ways and the recognition of the rights of personal property, divorce proceedings may soon be tinged by Mammon.

INTERESTING ADDRESS ON GOOD ROADS

H. S. Van Scoyoc Was the Speaker at Last Night's Meeting of the Peterboro Branch of Engineering Institute.

PERMANENT ROADS.

At their regular fortnightly meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms last night the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada was addressed by H. S. Van Scoyoc, of the Canadian Cement Co., Montreal, formerly chief engineer of the Toronto - Hamilton Highway.

The speaker discussed road construction and stressed the importance of permanent construction. He dwelt on the success of the Hamilton Highway, and he pointed out that while the first cost had been far greater than Macadam, the upkeep of Macadam was many times greater. Concrete paved roads paid for themselves, he declared. The average cost of maintenance of concrete roadway on the highway in 1921 was about $72 a mile, while for the Macadam the cost was about $6,500.

Mr. Van Scoyoc recalled that some seven or eight years ago he was in Peterborough during the paving of Chambers Street, and he remarked last night that the roadway was still in good condition. This short strip, he said, was one of the earliest pieces of concrete paving in Ontario.

Heavier Roads.

Since the automobile has revolutionized traffic conditions,the speaker pointed out the need of heavier roads, particularly where truck traffic predominated. Until the weight of trucks is limited, he said, the design of roads cannot be fully standardized. The speaker told of a road in Massachusetts, over which a brick manufacturer had teamed his product for years. He had a rush order and decided to use trucks; in three weeks the road was totally destroyed.

Experiments in road building have shown that in order to avoid longitudinal cracks, roads should be built in two sections, 9 feet wide, leaving a longitudinal construction joint down the centre.

Motion picture films were used to illustrate the address. The latest types of construction machinery were shown in operation, and the Hamilton Highway was viewed from airplane and automobile, and the development along it clearly shown.

A Resolution.

The following resolution, moved by P. P. Westbye, seconded by A. L. Killaly, was unanimously adopted by the engineers in meeting last night:

"To E. G. Patterson, Manager of the Canadian General Electric Co.

"That the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada desires to convey to you its highest appreciation of your kindness in inviting the members to inspect the 45,000 K.W. generator which has been built for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Queenston power house. The members of the branch feel that they have been highly honored in having this opportunity of seeing the world's largest generator built in their own town."

SHOWED THE HAVOC BY DREAD DISEASE

Dr. Miller, professor of pathology at Queen's University, Kingston, addressed a good attendance of the medical men of the city at the Public Library last evening. Dr. J. A. Morgan occupied the chair, and Dr. Clinton, of Belleville, Medical Health Officer for this district, was also present at the meeting.

Dr. Miller, with the aid of numerous lantern slides, gave a very interesting and instructive address on "The Changes Taking Place in the Lungs in Tubercular Trouble," showing the gradual havoc wrought by this disease and its gradual spreading through the infected tissue. Dr. Miller, whose father and grandfather were physicians of repute, is a man of wide experience and has devoted his life to the study of pathology. His discourse was received with marked attention.

Studio Matron Is Glad, Sees Scare For Flappers

LOS ANGELES, February 10. — The matron in charge of women extras, and girls applying for jobs at one of the biggest studios here, says she's "glad it happened," and she predicts the Arbuckle incident and the Taylor killing will better conditions.

"I can't let you use my name," she said. "I have a good position, and I want to keep it. But let me say I am glad these things transpiring lately have happened. Although I am sorry in a way."

"It is going to mean that the flow of women to Hollywood, hoping to get into pictures through pretty faces and loose morals is going to stop.

"It is my job to care for our girls. I hire only the honest ones. But lately there have been the wrong kind of girls coming here. And the example for the nice girls has not been any too good. I am sure we would be better off without them, a few principals.

"We have hundreds of nice girls and we want to keep them that way. The publicity lately has brought in a horde of women that I can only describe as resembling mining town camp followers.

"Work has been too scarce. With the example set by some of our principals, it has been too much of a temptation for some of the girls. I am glad, glad, glad it has happened."

LUNNON WANTS TO BE "PARIS" FOR TOURISTS

City Is After Americans' Gold, Many Helps, Some Facetious, Are Suggested

LONDON, February 10. — London stung to the quick (well, no, that won't do; there is no quick to London.) Beginning again, then, London, stung to the not-so-slow, has resolved to be brighter.

Not merry and brighter. Merely brighter. Dazzling, Effulgent. You twig, don't you?

It has been borne in upon Londoners that their city is too dull, when it should be sharp; too drab when it should be pink; always travels on low, never shifting its gears even when the lights come on, can't climb above the 1000 foot level, nor go into a tail spin, nor stunt in any fashion.

London Needs Money.

And Londoners don't want their city to be like that—not with summer icemen in—loud sing cuckoo; not with the annual American invasion in the middle distance. For London needs the money, and it thinks it knows where to get it, if it can beat Paris to it.

So London is resolving to brighten the polish, and do a bit of shining. And it is discovering that the nickel plate is tarnished, and the girls have been using enameline on it instead of silverine. Therefore the Brighter London Society has been created.

The purpose of the Brighter London Society is perfectly honest and mercenary. Before the war, says its secretary, American visitors spent $140,000,000 a year in England. Now they spend only half that sum. "We believe," says the secretary, "this is in no small degree due to the impression in the States that London has become one of Europe's most drab capitals. Why should not London be as brilliant as Paris or Brussels?"

Or as Dowagiac, or Penetanguishene?

Smells of Distillery?

The rest of England seems jealous of the Brighter London movement. There is an insinuation in Manchester that London can only be bright when viewed through a pousse cafe—a confection, by the way, which no Londoner believes in until he sees it, and then he knows he is drunk. Liverpool swears that the desire to brighten London has behind it the wish to keep the bars open till after midnight. Birmingham seems to have no comprehension of the artistic agony which fills the brighter Londoner's soul, the Brummagems also considering that the movement smells of the distillery.

This is not so. Longer hours for the sale of intoxicants would not make the town brighter for Americans since it is well known that American visitors could not possibly drink any more than they do. No; what the American wants is not something to delight his palate and stomach and doctor, but something to titiliate the eye. Lest the Yankee pine for Paris; London must spruce up. At least so thinks the secretary of the Brighter London

"Not that we want to make London bright in a frivolous way," he says, thus with a single adjective barring wine, women and song, "To give an example of what might be done, why isn't a public building, like the National Gallery, illuminated at night?"

Need some Suggestions.

But yet there are doubts in some minds as to whether the receipts from Americans would double if the National Gallery were illuminated at night. By that time the visitors are usually so lit up themselves that a

SEES BOOTLEG DEATHS COMING MORE FREQUENT

Coroner Forecasts Wave of Fatalities Due to Illicit, Poisonous Liquor.

DETROIT Feb. 10.—An epidemic of deaths from poison liquor may be expected this year according to statements made today at the coroner's office during the investigaton into the death of Charles W. Schwartz, 30 years old, on Tuesday night, believed to be a victim of bootleg whiskly.

Records of the office show that there have been six deaths during January and two so far in February directly caused by whisky.

"Men have been drinking the stuff of unknown mixture for three years now, and while in many cases the poison is in small quantities, it is there and the day of reckoning is sure," Dr. W. J. Rothachor declared. "There were two deaths from the same cause in January, 1921, while February showed only one death.

Warning Is Issued.

"We want every man who drinks bootleg whisky to realize the danger The records of the office show only the deaths where liquor was the obvious cause. Scores of deaths due to heart failure, stomach trouble and many other causes have this whisky as secondary cause. We are going to hold every witness in every poison liquor case we find. There are already three different groups in jail awaiting the findings of chemical analysis to decide their fate."

Dr. J. E. Burgess, the other Wayne County coroner, in discussing the bootleg whisky situation declared that the case of James ODonnell, 1328 Lafayette boulevard, is typical of liquor poisoning cases. The man purchased a few drinks of liquor from a man on Third avenue and a few minutes later died. The man who sold the liquor is held, awaiting the finding of Dr. John E. Clark, county chemist.

"This man was found to be suffering from pneumonia," said Dr. Burgess. "No doubt the liquor poisoning acted on an already overtaxed heart and caused his death. There is little doubt of the responsibility in many cases where this liquor can not be put down as the primary cause of death."

Hearts Are Pickled.

Conditions shown by autopsies on victims of liquor poisoning are astonishing the records say. Livers are "hobbed" until they look like the bottom of a foot ball player's shoes. Stomachs are corroded and hearts "pickled" doctors explain.

Most of the injury to the liver is done by the fusel oil which forms on fermented liquor, while the wood alcohol acts on the heart and stomach, the doctors said.

"These poisons may hold off for a few months but eventually they take their toll", Dr. Burgess said.

Must Label Poison.

Warning that all vendors of denatured alcohol must label it poison was issued by James R. Davis Federal prohibition director for Michigan, and Fred L. Wodworth, collector of internal revenue on instructions from Washington.

Investigations show that many poisonings have resulted from the use internally of denatured alcohol not properly labelled.

The containers in which the alcohol is sold must bear in red or white signs the legend "Completely denatured alcohol: poison.

Liquor Is Blamed.

Three men who, police say were with Charles W. Schwartz, when he died in the rear seat of his automobile while the four were riding from Wyandotte to Ecorse were to be questioned by the prosecutor's office today. Schwartz, according to Charles T. Earl, deputy coroner, died of alcoholism. Police say an effort will be made to find the man who sold him the liquor.

NEW TARIFF OFFERS NO PROTECTION

Statement Issued Today Shows That it Reacts Against the United States—Fails to Protect

BRIEFS FROM WIRES

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press).—A statement issued to-day by the Canadian Trade Commissioner indicates marked re-active effect of the United States emergency tariff upon what the United States sells to Canada. It makes it clear to manufacturers and exporters that instead of increasing and protecting United States trade, the measure is having an opposite effect.

DEFENCE MINISTRY TO CO-ORDINATE FORCES.

LONDON, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press). — The co-ordination of the British army, navy and air forces under the Ministry of Defence is advocated in a report of the Economy Committee headed by Sir Eric Geddes, issued to-day. The committee recommends a reduction in the naval personnel of thirty-five thousand men and a cut in the naval estimate for the next year from eighty-one million pounds to sixty million pounds, exclusive of any saving brought about through the ten-year naval holiday agreed upon at Washington. A reduction of fifty thousand men in the army, with a cut of twenty million pounds in the estimates, also a cut of eight million pounds in the air service estimates and a reduction by eight and one-half of the air squadrons alloted to the army and navy.

SEVERAL DISORDERS IN MINING FIELDS.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press). — Several disorders occurred in the mining district to-day in connection with the strike which has been in progress in the gold fields for several weeks. Heavy dynamite explosions occurred between Etrex and Anzio. Two electric cable standards were destroyed.

IRISH FREE STATE ACT IS PUBLISHED.

LONDON, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press).—The "Irish Free State Act of 1922," introduced in the House of Commons yesterday for its first reading, was published to-day. It is brief, containing only three clauses, the first of which states that the Anglo-Irish Treaty signed in London shall have force of law from the date the Act is passed.

FINANCIAL CLIQUE SAID TO EXIST.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press). — Speaking here last night, Hon. H. H. Stevens declared that a "powerful financial clique" in Montreal sought to disintegrate the Canadian National Railway system because it threatened to become a strong competitor of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

WILL CARRY ON.

SIR ADAM BECK DEFENDS POLICY

Upholds the Hydro Radial Programme Which Was Condemned By Sutherland Commission.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— In a long statement issued last night Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, comes out in defence of his Hydro Radial programme which was recently condemned by the Sutherland Commission, whose findings were accepted by Premier Drury as ample justification for refusal of Provincial aid in the building of radials. Sir Adam's statement seems to discredit the whole report of the Commission and calls into question not only the soundness of its judgment, but reflects upon the fairness of it conclusions.

The real substance of the statement is the work of Hydro engineers who have gone over the Commission's finding in detail and met them point by point.

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MEETS

Hydro-Power Commission Promises Consideration to Request For Lower Fares.

The executive council of the Chamber of Commerce has reached a mutual arrangement with the Peterboro Branch of the Ontario Motor League relative to the issuing of automobile licenses and the activities of the branch for 1922. Definite arrangements will be consummated in the near future so motorists can procure licenses up to 9 p.m. on certain days.

At the meeting of the Council a letter was read from the Hydro Electric Commission stating that consideration will be given to the question of ga rates and street cars in Peterboro at an early date. The Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce advised that the resolution, presented prohibiting the sale of wild cat stock, by the Peteroboro Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting in November had been introduced to the Ontario Government on February 2 and received a very sympathetic consideration

Through the efforts of R. B. Rogers, chairman of the Agricultural committee of the Chamber it was announced that Dr. J. B. Reynolds, M.A., President of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, will address the monthly meeting, February 17 on the subject of co-operation between urban and rural districts. The public will generally be invited to hear this interesting address.

A Research Bureau.

A resolution was adopted and will be presented to the general meeting recomending the Dominion Government to establish a national research bureau to supercede the present Honoray Advisory Council for Scientific and Industrial Research

Two new members, Ald. R. Morrison, real estate and Wilfred F. Huckye, barrister, were welcomed into the membership of the Chamber. A particular feature of the meeting was the admission to honorary life membership of former Peterboro business men, Sir Joseph Flavelle, H. C. Cox and E. R. Wood.

At the general meeting February 17 a nominating committee of five will be appointed to draft the officers for this year and five judges of the election which takes place on March 7th will also be appointed. The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce is fixed for March 14th.

WILL NOT AGREE.

LONDON, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press).—Great Britain will not agree to a postponement of the Genoa Conference unless the request emanates from Rome, it was authoritatively stated to-day.

"THE BLIND ALLEY"

A large attendance of the Women's Canadian Club members filled the hall at the Public Library yesterday afternoon for the address by Miss Charlotte Whitton, M.A., of Toronto, on "Some Aspects of Citizenship." Miss Whitton, who is assistant secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada and editor of the official organ of the Council, "Social Welfare," was one of the outstanding features of the Social Service Convention held here last spring, and her address yesterday served to heighten first impressions, being a brilliant exposition of the help that can be given by the women of to-day in the way of contributions toward good citizenship.

"Mothers can assert their citizenship in nothing more fully than in the life of the child," said the young speaker, "no economic, political or social problem can be more diverting to women, because the child is the centre of the whole."

The prime rights of the child to life itself, which centres around the proper pre-natal and post-natal conditions in the mother's behalf; its right to a well-sustained existence, which is affected by legislation covering its education and its working hours later on in factory and office; its right to living in proper conditions, relating directly to poor housing; its right to education and recreation were all emphasized.

"Blind Alley."

The "blind alley" occupations which engage the attention of so many of our young people were referred to by the speaker, that is, those occupations which tend to provide a bare living only and give no outlet for further advancement or financial remuneration after a certain stage has been reached, so that a man in one of these occupations, marrying at an early age, finds himself unable to proceed beyond a certain income, and, said Miss Whitton, referring to cases of wife desertion from lack of money to maintain a home and children, 'too often behind a broken home, we find a broken man."

The problem of child labor, which stunts the growth, intellectual and physical, of many a promising boy or girl in the city, and which, in the country, tends to build up a future electorate that is at the mercy of scheming politicians, was brought in, and the "commercialization of recreation" was strongly scored, with the modern tendency towards "spoon feeding" the mind of the child, who is unwilling to "take a paper hat and stick a feather in it and stage an Indian play in the barn, when he can see real Indians on the screen, lots of them, for ten cents."

"This modern tendency in recreation, together with the motor car, are responsible for changing man from a moving, walking, running, hunting, fishing animal to a sitting animal, who wishes to be amused and entertained without effort."

"Modern industry and the modern form of life are taking away the home," said the sepaker. "The whole form of modern life is artificial." One of the important contributions to be made by the woman of to-day in the way of citizenship is the cementing of family life in the things which centre about the child and the home, and in this connection, as in every phase of her address, Miss Whitton emphasized with particularity the importance of a sound physical condition in the child, made possible only by the physical condition of the mother directly before and after birth, quoting John Burns, who said: "Give me an intellectual mother and good pre-natal conditions and I have no fear for the future of this or any other race," and "the baby's only and finest environment is the mother."

The young speaker was tendered a hearty vote of thanks by Mrs. C. R. Widdifield, the vote being moved by Mrs. A. Stevenson and seconded by Mrs. A. Mowat.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomainelike poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins, and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is a difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and cause no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

IN THE WORLD OF FASHIONS

CHILDREN'S CLOTHES

The brown corduroy suit on the left is distinguished most particularly by collar, cuffs and panel of hand embroidered linen which show to much advantage against the dark background of the little suit. The lady with the doll wears a practical and pretty frock of flowered cretonne combined with fine white muslin which makes yoke, cuffs and sash.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND

By "SAPPER" (Cyril McNeile)

"Some trick of that beastly light," remarked the Duke peevishly. "For heaven's sake throw the dam' thing out of the window."

"Don't be a fool, John," retorted his spouse. "If you could do this sort of thing, the House of Lords might be some use to somebody."

And when two minutes later they stared horror-struck at a row of ordinary marbles laboriously unwrapped from a piece of gold and silver tissue, the Duke's pungent agreement with his wife's sentiment passed uncontradicted. In fact, it is to be understood that over the scene which followed it was best to draw a decent veil.

II.

Drummond, hunched low over the wheel, in his endeavour to conceal his identity from the man behind, knew nothing of that at the time. Every nerve was centred on eluding the pursuit he thought was a certainty; for the thought of Lakington, when everything was prepared for his reception, being snatched from his clutches even by the majesty of the law was more than he could bear. And for much the same reason he did not want to have to deal with him until The Elms was reached; the staging there was so much more effective.

But Lakington was far too busy to bother with the chauffeur.

One snarling curse as they had started, for not having done as he had been told, was the total of their conversation during the trip. During the rest of the time the transformation to the normal kept Lakington busy, and Hugh could see him reflected in the wind-screen removing the make-up from his face, and changing his clothes.

Even now he was not quite clear how the trick had been worked. That there had been two cabinets, that was clear—one false, the other the real one. That they had been changed at the crucial moment by the girl Irma was also obvious. But how had the pearls disappeared in the first case, and then apparently reappeared again? For of one thing he was quite certain. Whatever was inside the parcel of gold and silver tissue which, for all he knew, they might be still staring at, it was not the historic necklace.

And he was still puzzling it over in his mind when the car swung into the drive at The Elms.

"Change the wheels as usual," snapped Lakington as he got out, and Hugh butt forward to conceal his face. "Then report to me in the central room."

And out of the corner of his eye Hugh watched him enter the house with one of the Chinese cabinets clasped in his hand.

"Toby," he remarked to that worthy, whom he found mournfully eating a jam sandwich in the garage, "I feel sorry for our Henry. He's just had the whole complete ducal outfit guessing, dressed up as an Indian; he's come back here with a box containing the Duchess's pearls or I'll eat my hat, and feeling real good with himself; and now instead of enjoying life he's got to have a little chat with me."

"Did you drive him back?" demanded Sinclair, producing a bottle of Bass.

"Owing to the sudden decease of his chauffeur I had to," murmured Hugh. "And he's very angry over something. Let's go on the roof."

Silently they both climbed the ladder which had been placed in readiness, to find Peter Darrell and the American detective already in position. A brilliant light streamed out through the glass dome, and the inside of the central room was clearly visible.

"He's already talked to what he thinks is you," whispered Peter ecstatically, "and he is not in the best of tempers."

Hugh glanced down, and a grim smile flickered round his lips. In the three chairs sat the motionless, bound figures so swathed in rope that only the tops of their heads were visible, just as Lakington had left him and Toby and Algy earlier in the evening. The only moving thing in the room was the criminal himself, and at the moment he was seated at the table with the Chinese cabinet in front of him. He seemed to be doing something inside with a penknife, and all the time he kept up a running commentary to the three bound figures.

"Well, you young swine, have you enjoyed your night?" A feeble moan came from one of the chairs. "Spirit broken at last, is it?" With a quick turn of his wrist he prided open two flaps of wood, and folded them back against the side. Then he lifted out a parcel of gold and silver tissue from underneath.

"My hat!" muttered Hugh, "what a fool I was not to think of it! Just a false bottom actuated by closing the lid. And a similar parcel in the other cabinet."

But the American, whistling gently to himself, had his eyes fixed on the rope of wonderful pearls which Lakington was holding lovingly in his hands.

STILL HOPE TO BRING PLOWING MATCH HERE

Peterboro Plowmen Not Laying Down on Proposition, Although Lacking City Council Support.

Disappointment at the City Council not acquiescing in their conservative request that the city bear the expense of a banquet here at the plowmen's meet was expressed by members of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association yesterday. The members are undaunted, however, and despite Council's apparent aloofness will exercise their best efforts to bring the big plowing match to Peterborough next fall.

Last year the match was held at Woodstock, and H. S. Sykes, Secretary-treasurer of the Woodstock Board of Trade is authority for the statement that at a conservative estimate there were 45,000 in attendance. The City Council of Woodstock donated $1,000, the County Council $400 as well as a grant of $450 for the banquet and the Board of Trade gave $100. The Peterboro County Council were asked for $1,000 and $500 was granted. The City Council treated their request very paradoxically. They were only asked to provide the banquet which would probably cost a few hundred dollars, and give such further assistance as they felt they could. Wednesday night the Council decided to give no financial assistance whatever, but, paradoxical as it may seem, resolved to invite the Association to hold the big plowing match here.

Support Promised.

The support of the Chamber of Commerce is expressed in the following resolution passed at an executive meeting on January 26: That in the event of the Provincial Ploughmen's Association deciding to holding the 1922 annual plowing competition in the city of Peterborough, that this board pledges its support towards securing the necessary funds required to carry out the above project, and that the support of this board is assured in all other detail where possible.

At a meeting Saturday of the Peterborough Plowman's Association there were present representatives from the different townships. President William Cleghorn of Otonabee, presided. Otonabee was represented by William Cleghorn, Mr. Dickson, William Henderson and S. Bennett; North Monaghan, by Deputy-reeve R. T. Lillico and Harry Webber; Smith by C. E. Moore and Mr. Archer; Ennismore by Daniel Crough; Douro by Michael Sullivan; and Asphodel by Messrs. Would and Knox; Peterboro City by H. B. Cowan and J. J. Duffus. The following committee was appointed to make arrangements for holding the match here so that there would be a definite proposition to set before the meeting of Ontario Plowmen in Toronto: J. J. Duffus, chairman; H. Webber, R. T. Lillico, C. E. Moore and Sidney Bennett.

Disappointment Keen.

The members discussed the grant of $500 by the County Council and while some felt the Council had been parsimonious, the general feeling was they had received fair treatment considering the policy of economy being practised, and it is hoped the cut received would be ore than made up by the City Council. They are now undeceived.

Mr. J. J. Duffus states he considers very fair consideration had been given their request of the County Council and he so advised the Peterboro County Association at the meeting. They are not going to lay down on the proposition he said. Prominent business men realizing what it means to bring from 40,000 to 60,000 people to Peterboro next October have come forward with individual subscriptions, and Mr. Duffus felt sure that when the plowmen return from the meeting in Toronto Tuesday next they will be able to announce the Provincial match will be held here. In addition to the special committee appointed, the directors in each township are forming committee to solicit support and very encouraging reports are expected from these township workers.

WHO TO BLAME THAT MAYOR NOT NOTIFIED

Did Not Know Date of Deputy-Minister's Visit.

Ald. Harry Gainey is very much perturbed at the thought that Deputy-Minister of Fisheries McDonald should have been allowed to visit this city last Tuesday without any official recognition from the Council Board. He cannot understand just wherein the miscarriage of civic courtesy occurred which rendered it possible that the Minister should alight in Peterborough, bent on a mission involving expenditure at an adjacent to the town of $20,000 or$30,000 in establishing a fish hatchery and Mayor Taylor not to have been notified of his intended visit. The slight is emphasized from the fact that Mayor Taylor and the City Clerk appeared on a deputation in Toronto pressing on the hon. gentleman Peterborough's claims for the projected fish hatchery. And yet, the Mayor asserts he knew nothing of the Deputy-Minister's presence here until too late, the morning after he had returned to Toronto. Ald. Gainey in Council credited the local member, Mr. Tooms, with stating that all arrangements were made that the minister should look over the ground heer last Tuesday and he thought the Chamber of Commerce should have notified Mayor Taylor of the arrangement. He (Ald Gainey) understands the Minister was even left to pay $4 for the taxi in which he rode to likely locations in this neighborhood for a hatchery.

In this connection Mayor Taylor has been advised in resolution by Ald. Gainey and Morrison to interview the president of the Chamber of Commerce as to why he had not been apprised of the Deputy-Minister's intended visit.

ANOTHER LAKEFIELD CURLING TROPHY COMES TO PETERBORO

EXECUTION HELD UP AFTER FIRST SHOCK.

Electricians Repair Dislocated Wire as Victim is Convulsed in His Seat.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 10.—A dramatic incident which deeply stirred the witnessses in the death chamber of the New Jersy State prison marked the execution of George Gares, of New Brunswick, who brutally murdered Theresa Kucharski, five years old, in a hotel room on December 22 last.

As the execution was in progerss a defect developed in the wiring of the electric chair which made necessary an interruption for repairs. During this brief delay the condemned man moved convulsively and gasped in the chair.

Manifesting but little concern as to his fate, Gares walked into the death chamber with his two spiritual advisers, the Rev. Leon Chamberlain, of St. Pauls Methodist Church, and the Rev. Charles H. Elder, the prison chaplain.

The first contact was applied and had been on but an instant when a flickering and sputtering beneath the chair attracted the attention of the officials. It was necessary to immediately turn off the current and it was found that the wire connected with the electrode attached to the man's leg had become disconnected. The defect was remedied with but brief delay and the customary two additional contacts were applied. Upon their completion Gares was pronounced dead.

Physicians who were present at the execution, Dr. J. Wellington Crane, prison physician and County Physician Frank G. Scammel insisted that the interruption of the electrocution did not result in suffering to the condemned man. The first contact of electrcity, they said, immediately produced apoplexy, which made the man unconscious.

Electricians explained that the foot of someone, probably the condemned man when he sat in the chair, came in contact with the wire and dislodged it.

A NEW PROCESS FOR MAKING PIG IRON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press)—The establishment of an iron and steel industry in South Africa is under contemplation, according to a report received from the U. S. trade commissioner in Johannesburg. The Union possesses large resources of high grade iron ores, but the development of the industry has been hameperd because lack of supply of coking coal in commercial quantities rendered tre erection of blast furnaces for the manufacture of pig iron impracticable. The invention of a new process has now obviated this difficulty. Experts who made a recent survey estimated that pig iron can be produced at a cost of 17s. 6d. per ton.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

DE VALERA CONTINUES AGITATION

Will Speak at Republican Demonstration Next Sunday on Limitations of Lloyd George's Agreement.

Says Press Is Silent.

BELFAST, February 10 (Canadian Press). — It was reported here this afternoon that the Provisional Government in South Ireland would not release any more of the captured Ulster Unionists until the Monaghan football players, arrested recently while travelling in a motor car to Londonderry for a game, and in the possession of some of whom revolvers were found, contrary to the Ulster law, had been set free.

Apparently Monaghan is being used by the raiders as a base. Soldiery, said by the Unionists to be Irish Republican Army men, were still in possession of the Courthouse to-day. This appeared to be a rendezvous for the parties passing to and fro.

Armed men were incessantly moving about the town, and strict discipline was being enforced.

DUBLIN, February 10 (Canadian Press). — Eamonn De Valera last night issued a long statement with reference to the Republican demonstration which has been called for next Sunday. As the newspapers are not warning the people of their danger, says Mr. De Valera, no way is left but to address them by word of mouth.

The statement recalls the history of Premier Lloyd-George's dealings with Ireland, and accuses him of following a policy of partitioning Ireland into two antagonistic and mutually destructive states. Mr. Lloyd-George manoeuvred Michael Collin and his colleagues into being the executive he required, and the next step was to provide this Provisional Government with a Parliament.

Assembly's Scope Limited.

Mr. De Valera says Mr. Lloyd-George had fooled many of the Irish in 1917 by the Plunkett Convention, the members of which he himself hand-picked. Now he has confined the scope of the Irish Assembly's deliberations within the limits of the signed articles of agreement, and crippled it from making any proposal that is likely to run counter to British interests. He also had provided for the veto of Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, and carefully provided for final revision of the treaty by the British House of Commons.

Personnel of Parliament.

Finally Mr. De Valera recalls the conditions which Arthur Griffith in 1917, when invited to enter the Plunkett convention, said were essential, namely, that the personnel of the Parliament should be regularly elected by the people, and that there should be no limit to the scope of this solution, and that the decision of the majority should be final. All three of these conditions, Mr. De Valera says, clearly are still necessary, and the present proposal for the assembly fulfills neither of the last two.

Would Bind Ireland.

"If Dr. Griffith and Mr. Collins are not prepared to advocate any of these proposals," says Mr. De Valera, "either in an immediate election on the issue of the indefinite, suspended treaty before a definite constitution is submitted, or for elections to a constituent assembly, with the obvious fate that awaits its deliberations, it can only be said that they have lost sight of Ireland's interests in an atmosphere of party feeling and party expediency that they are prepared to bind Ireland at every step, whilst England is left wholly free, and to sacrifice all the vital interests of the Irish majority, while the minority and England make no sacrifices whatever."

It is inferred in some quarters from the foregoing that Mr. De Valera and his friends will refuse to participate in the assembly.

Collins' Reply.

With reference to the statement issued on Wednesday evening, calling for Sunday's demonstration, especially that portion saying that Premier Lloyd-George "would trick the Irish again," and deal with Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins as he formerly dealt with John Redmond and John Dillon, Mr. Collins said to-night.

"It is one thing how Mr. Lloyd-George might wish to deal with us, but it is quite another matter how we might deal with him. Our position is not that of Redmond and Dillon. We make our own decisions, and it is we who decide how we are to deal with Mr. Lloyd-George."

BRITAIN KEEPS UP THE BARS AGAINST CANADIAN CATTLE

British Agriculturists Are Unanimous For Continuance of the Embargo — Opinion is Divided in Scotland.

LONDON, February 10. Canadian Press Cable. — The embargo on Canadian cattle stands.

Amid cries of "Oh," in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Right Hon. Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, Minister of Agriculture, announced that in view of the almost unanimous opinion of agriculturists of England and Wales that the removal of the restrictions would seriously injure the industry, and the fact that the royal commission appointed to investigate the question had reported that its removal would have little effect on the price of meat in the United Kingdom, the government was not prepared to introduce legislation for the free entry of Canadian cattle.

Asked whether the opinion of agriculturists in Scotland were not to be considered, the Minister answered in the affirmative, but said there was a very great difference of opinion in that country respecting the embargo.

Further questioned as to whether the Government had given a pledge to the Canadain government that after the war the embargo would be removed, Sir Arthur replied that he believed certain pledges were given at the Imperial Conference held in 1917, but the Canadian government, most properly, had always taken the view that they did not wish to interfere with our home affairs, and that if they were convinced that the removal of the embargo would be detrimental to our interests they would not press the matter."

When the royal commission under the chairmanship of Lord Finlay brought in its report to the British government some months ago, the outstanding feature of its findings was the complete rejection of the suggestion that the importation of Canadian cattle was in any way dangerous to the health of the British herds, and the long-standing stigma was removed upon which the embargo had been originally found and held to be responsible for the maintenance of the restrictions ever since.

Moroccan Village Burned By Rebellious Natives

MADRID, Feb. 10.— (Canadian Press.)—The burning of the village of Aduar Morocco, by rebels of the town of Darkamud, was reported in an official communique issued today. During the burning the Spanish sympathizers took reference in the Spanish zone. The friendly tribe of Cabyles, of the Beni-Gordet section, supported by the Spanish police and artillery forces, later occupied Darkamud and set fire to the rebels' houses after four hours' fighting, the official statement said.

ULSTER MEN HOSTAGES FOR MONAGHAN SOCCER PLAYERS

FRANCE MAY NOT SEND DELEGATES

Poincare Sets Out Conditions Upon Which She Will Join Nations at Genoa.

PARIS, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press.)—Premier Poincare, in a note given out last evening addressed to the United States and France's Allies in the late war, declares flatly that France will be unable to send delegates to the proposed Genoa economic conference if any of the invited governments let it be understood that they do not accept entirely the terms arranged at the Genoa meeting in January, precluding any discussion of the existing peace treaties.

It is necessary, M. Poincare thinks, to see whether the Russian Soviet Government is disposed to accord commercial facilities and to give guarantees for the protection of industrial and personal property.

Issued the Invitation.

The note points out that France, being one of the powers that issued the invitation to the conference, does not need to accept or decline the invitation, but adds that "France might abstain from participation, however, if the invitation is accepted under conditions that might menace its interests or compromise its rights."

The official reply to the invitation from the Soviet Government, Premier Poincare mentions in the note, "makes no allusion to the conditions of January 6. If the Soviet, or any other Government should give to understand that it did not accept these conditions entirely, the French Government could not send delegates to Genoa."

After strongly advancing the principle that the agenda as fixed at Cannes must be adhered to, that the existing treaties must not be dissussed, and that it must be understood that the delegates by their very presence at Genoa accept this condition, the note criticizes the agenda in that it fails to make clear what it means regarding the non-intervention into the interior affairs of States. I asks whether that means that the powers would undertake not to interfere in the interior organization of the German Government if the restoration of the Hohenzollerns was involved, or the restoration of the monarchy in Hungary.

Comic Aspect to Position Pregnant of Tragedy Along the Boundary Between North and South of Ireland — Meanwhile British Evacuation Goes On.

Griffith Is Sanguine.

LONDON, February 10 (Canadian Press). — There were no important developments to-day in the kidnappings in Ireland. It is believed that the few persons captured in Donegal have been released, but that otherwise the situation remains deadlocked, the Sinn einers apparently having declined to liberate prisoners until the football players from Monaghan have been released by the Ulsterites.

The Sinn Feiners to-day are declared to have captured several more of the Ulster Specials.

Border Lined with Arms.

The Northern Government has taken strong measures for protection by placing some 5,000 Specials along the boundary to prevent a new invasion from the South. It is also arranging for the reinforcement of the Specials by troops.

The Government, headed by Sir James Craig, also is urging the Imperial Government to take action in the situation, but the Imperial authorities appear to be reluctant to interfere further, pending action by the Provisional Government of the Free State.

British troops to-day were still leaving Southern Ireland, and a statement made in Parliament by Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, seemed to indicate a desire on the part of the Imperial Government to leave the solution of the disturbed section to the two Irish Governments.

Griffith Is Hopeful.

Arthur Griffith, who is remaining over in London until to-morrow, expressed confidence that with patience and restraint by both sides, the Ulster question would be amicably settled within the present year on the basis of a unified Ireland. He added that it must be remembered the Provisional Government did not enjoy full Governmental powers as yet, but that it might be relied upon to adopt every action within its circumscribed powers to prevent illegal acts from being committed.

REPRIEVE WAS TIMELY.

MR. BURNHAM'S VIEWS.

The Examiner's declaration a few days ago that the selection of Mr. R. R. Hall to fill the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Beith of Bowmanville, would be approved by citizens generally irrespective of their political affiliations, is substantiated by Mr. J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., who remarked yesterday that in so far as he could speak for the Conservatives of West Peterborough he was sure that they had no desire to play the role of the dog in the manger, and that they would be delighted to see a Peterborough resident chosen for the Senate. "As for Mr. Hall," remarked the former member for the riding, "I can say that in our political contests we have always found him a good sport."

Incidentally, Mr. Burnham imparted the information that he had been assured that tSenate appointment for Peterborough would have been forthcoming had not the Meighen Government been defeated in the general elections. He hoped that the new Government would see that Peterborough's claims in this regard would not be overlooked, a wish which is shared by the majority of the residents of this city.

WARD ASSOCIATIONS.

The complaint is sometimes made that Peterborough, like every other city in Canada, is suffering from an overdose of societies and organizations. It is true that they are numerous, and each month adds a new one to the list, but on the whole they do good work, help to take a man out of himself and make him think about others, and the most serious charge that can be brought against them is that they break into the home life of too many people. It requires considerable assurance to suggest a new organization, and yet The Examiner ventures to bring up for discussion the advisability of organizing ratepayers' associations in each ward in Peterborough for the purpose of affording an opportunity of talking over municipal affairs and the general welfare of the community. There is in existence a Tenants' and Owners' Association, but it is unwieldy, and it is not possible for it to operate with the same facility as would a similar organisation in each ward. If the residents of each of the five wards in Peterborough could meet once a month and discuss public affairs, there would be a general development of a new interest in the city's business, and the Aldermen would have a much better opportunity to gauge public opinion than exists at present. The plan has worked well in other cities and could not fail to have beneficial affects here if officers of the necessary vim and enthusiasm were chosen.

SELECTING A FIRE CHIEF.

The Committee of the Whole Council has decided that the Fire Department as at present constituted is not efficient, and that a change of management is desirable, which in effect means that unless some of the Aldermen change their minds when the matter comes before the Council in regular session, a new head for the department will be sought. There should not be too much haste in making the appointment. The position is a most important one, for a new Chief will have his work cut out for him in re-organizing the brigade and in developing that esprit de corps and discipline that will be necessary to secure the best results. It would be well to survey the situation closely and to make sure the right man is chosen. As a general rule, and as a matter of principle, The Examiner believes in the policy of Peterborough men for Peterborough positions, but there are exceptions to every rule, and in the selection of a Fire Chief it is difficult to see how going outside of the city can be avoided. Experience in handling men, training in modern fire fighting methods, an appreciation of the importance of discipline and the ability to instil discipline into the men under him are qualities which are necessary for the Chief's position, and, frankly, there does not seem to be a local man available who fulfills the requirements. Nor would it seem advisable to bring a Chief from a smaller city whose training and experience might not be sufficient to cope with the duties here. The most logical plan would seem to be to endeavour to secure a well-trained Captain from a big city department, a man brought up in the service, knowing the fire fighting game all the way through, accustomed to discipline and training and anxious to rise in the vocation he has chosen as his life work. There must be in Toronto, for instance, half a dozen such officers in the department of the calibre needed here, and the possibilities should be investigated closely before any definite action is taken.

THE RIGHT TO WORK.

If an American citizen who is a shoemaker, blacksmith, butcher, baker or candlestick maker, and feels like working in his own shop at his own trade, is he legally entitled to do so, and will the law of the land protect him therein?

This query may sound like a typical "fool question," but, as a matter of fact, the Supreme Court of the State of Minnesota was called upon to answer it in a recent case, and was only able to do so after a long and technical argument, followed by the serious consideration of the court.

In the case referred to, Roraback vs. Motion Picture Machine Operators' Union of Minneapolis, reported in 140 Minnesota reports, page 481, it appeared by the evidence that the Motion Picture Machine Operators' Union of Minneapolis, known as Local 219, was composed of picture machine operators employed in the Minneapolis motion picture houses, and Roraback was the owner and manager of a motion picture theatre in that city.

Roraback employed members of Local 219 to operate the machines in his theatre and everything went as smoothly as the typical marriage bell until Roraback began to consider the burning question of economy, cutting down expenses, and other destructive ideas along that line.

"I can run a motion picture machine as well as any one," he told himself. "If I work four hours a day on one of the machines, I can let one of my hired operators go and save his wages."—acted on this idea, and instantly found that he had reckoned without Local 219.

"We're not allowed to work with non-union operators," his other employees told him. "You'll either have to stop running a machine or we'll have to leave you."

"I'll join your union," suggested Roraback, "and then we'll all be union operators working together."

"Sorry, but that's absolutely impossible," was the positive reply. "The constitution of our union provides that no owner, part owner or manager of a theatre can be a member, and if any member in good standing becomes the owner, part owner or manager of a theatre, he has his choice of withdrawing from the union or being expelled."

"Then it comes down to this, that the only way I can keep union operators in my theatre is to give up the right of working myself," suggested Roraback.

"That's the idea, exactly," agreed the employees.

"Well, I'm a free and independent American citizen," argued Roraback.

"You may be free, but you're not independent, not by a d— sight," the employees told him, or words to that broad general effect.

Then the proud and arrogant "capitalist" showed the cloven hoof of "capitalism."

"If I haven't a legal right to work in my own theatre when I want to, and if the law won't back me up in it, the sooner I find it out the better," he declared stubbornly.

"Well, you'll finu it out soon enough if you don't climb down," retorted the "down trodden slaves of the wage system."

The result was that Roraback persisted in running his own picture machine in his own theatre—his employees left him—published in the "Labor Review" that he was "unfair to organized labor"—and "bannered" his theatre with placards to the same offensive effect.

Roraback then applied to the courts for an injunction to restrain Local 219 from "bannering" his place of business under these circumstances, and the Supreme Court of Minnesota decided in his favor, laying down the horrible and repulsive doctrine that an American citizen actually has a legal and indefensible right to work at his own business whenever he feels inclined to do so—showing thereby that the American courts are hand in glove with the "vested interests" and have no sympathy for the modest demands of "honest toil."

Speaking seriously, the court pointed out that the only question involved in the case was "whether the owner shall be permitted to work himself in his own business," and upholds that right in clear cut and definite terms which effectually dispel the idea of the "sovereign right" of the labor unions to run the employer's business.

"If men either singly or in combination," said the court, 'may lawfully injure or destroy the business of another for the purpose of compelling him not to work in such business himself, it will have far-reaching consequences. Such a doctrine would limit the field of business to those who have sufficient capital to carry on a business without becoming operatives therein themselves, and would debar those who have little or no capital, except their personal skill and ability, from seeking to better their condition by engaging in business on their own account. Such a doctrine means that a machinist who starts a machine shop may lawfully be prevented from working therein as a machinist; that a carpenter who starts a carpenter shop may be required to have all his work done by others; that a barber who opens a barber shop must cease to work as a barber. It means that the man in any occupation who starts in business for himself, relying upon his personal skill and ability to attain success, must forego the right to profit by his own skill, at the arbitrary behest of another, or see his business ruined. Such is not the law. The right of every person to work in his own business is a fundamental right, guaranteed to him by the Bill of Rights in the Constitution and by the 14th amendment to the Federal Constitution, and any attempt to deprive him of that right is necessarily unlawful. However far members of an organization may go in an attempt to force an employer to employ members of the organization, an attempt to force him to desist from working himself in his own business is clearly an invasion of the rights secured to him by the Constitution."

The court draws a distinction between this case and cases when the employees resort to "bannering" to induce the employer to engage union men only, and points out that acts which may be lawfully employed under such circumstances "may be enjoined if committed for the purpose of depriving the employer of the right to use his own skill and ability in the furtherance of his own business; for his right to work in his own business is superior to the right of any other in respect to such business."

The exact point raised in the case is new as far as the American courts is concerned, but the result of the decision is that in Minnesota, at least, a business man is perfectly safe in working at his own business whenever and wherever he wishes—provided that he has the inclination and the business.—Barron's.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

At least, it must be admitted that a plowing match would stir up the country.

Those early reports about peace in Ireland seem to have been considerably exaggerated.

Ontario Hunters favour the use of dogs in deer hunting. There has been no plebiscite among the deer themselves.

George Halcrow, M.P.P., has been deposed from his position as leader of the Labour group in the Legislature, because he talked too much—and said nothing.

One thing that makes it difficult for employers and workers to get together is that both are trying to get separately.

At least, Peterborough can extend to the plowmen the freedom of the city. That sounds well and does not figure in the tax bills.

EDUCATION FOR LIFE.

Unfortunately, there is an idea abroad that education is merely a preparation for success in life. The daily bread has to be earned, of course, but to consider the children of the State merely as potential bread winners is hardly a worthy view. Education is for life. A rich humanism should color all teaching. We need citizens who are not only efficient for the duties which they are called upon to fulfill, but able to draw from the streams of intellectual and spiritual enjoyment all that they need to enrich and sweeten their life of toil.

Voice Of The People

BREAD PRICE.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir:—In your issue of February 8 I read a letter re the Buying of Bread from our local bakers and encouraging Peterboro's own made goods, all of which sounds very nice. If the bakers of the city need the business so bad, what is to stop them in making a reduction in the price per loaf? Surely if bread can be bought from outside points and shipped to Peterborough and retailed at a less cost than the city of Peterborough bakers can sell it at, there is something radically wrong, and it certainly isn't the bread from Port Hope or elsewhere, if the number who buy it are judges, and I guess they are. With the large number of bread earners, who are out of employment here, and a large number working short time, and with a reduction of 10% in wages, surely they look for the cheapest article there is. If that article is satisfactory to them, why should they pay more money here, even if the bread is made in Peterboro? Should the object be to make work for the unemployed here, let our local bakeries reduce their price per loaf. They would then probably need more help to take care of extra customers. Thanking you Mr. Editor.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

CONSISTENCY.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir:—I was rathed amused when I read the letter last evening, signed by "Loyal Citizen."

This "Loyal Citizen" recommends that citizens of Peterboro use bread manufactured in Peterboro, and claims that those who are using bread sent in from outside points are not loyal to the City.

Now I read, not so long ago, that bread which was shipped in from Port Hopt is made from Cream of West Flour, which is manufactured in Peterboro (no better flour made) and I might say that I am one of the parties who is using that bread in my own house. And I consider that I am a very "Loyal Citizen" for I understand that the bakers of Peterboro purchase their flour from outside mills, and therefore are not loyal to the manufacturers in Peterboro. I was given this information by a baker who works in one of the local bake shops.

Now if I eat bread manufactured from flour which is milled in Peterboro, and get it cheaper after the flour is shipped from here to Port Hope and the bread expressed back to Peterboro, I think I am a very "Loyal Citizen" and work in the interests of humanity by assisting in bringing down the high cost of living.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space.

Yours truly,

CHICAGO WHEAT MADE SEASON'S PRICE RECORD

Heavy Selling Caused Decline at the Close of the Market.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press)—Although the wheat market Thursday reached new high price records for the season, heavy profit-taking sales led subsequently to a decline. Buying based on adverse domestiv crop reports was energetic at first, but failed to last. The market closed weak, ½ to 1 3-8 cents lower, with May $1.29 ⅝ to $1.29¼ and July $1.15 to $1.15⅝ to $1.15¾. Corn finished ⅝ to ¾ to 1⅛ cents down and oats off ¼ at ⅜ to ⅞ cents. In provisions the outcome varied from unchanged figures to 7 cents higher.

Many wheat traders showed from the start a disposition to realize profits on holding and to regard unfavorable crop reports as more or less exaggerated. For a while, however, demand for the July delivery continued to be aggressive, inasmuch as the territory affected by reported crop danger—Nebraska, Kansas, Oklohoma and Texas, would embrace about one half of te total seeded area. On the other hand the fact that call fo immediate delivery of wheat was slow and that the May delivery was in no urgent request brought about increased caution as to investment in July contracts. Nowithstanding the late messages yesterday told of dust storms again in Kansas, the news was without apparent affect in rescuing the market from the price decline which had set in.

Liberal receipts of corn together with talk of lack of available storage room here tended to depress the value of corn and oats. Besides, rural offerings increased and shipping demand here was slack.

Provisions were dull but prices were firm in line with the hog market.

Sheep, receipts, 10,000; unevenly strong to 25c higher; fat lamb tops, 14.60; bulk 14.00 to 14.50; choice 104 pound yearlings 13.00; fall short Texas yearlings and twos 11.00; strong weight wethers 9.00; fat ewe top 8.00; bulk 6.75 at 7.50; choice 70 pounds sheering lambs 13.60; some held higher.

CANADIAN MARKET SURVEY.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press)—The market in the United States is higher, and imported states fresh will now cost 45 1-2 delivered This may temporarily strengthen home markets. Operators on the Chicago market are looking for a break and the present situation is described as dangerous for prompt delivery business. The price of 35c quoted yesterday for export frozen chicken was c.i.f.

Toronto firm, demand good, specials 54, extras 50 to 52, firsts 36, seconds 30. Some Chinese eggs being offered, the trade but no arrivals yet reported.

Montreal market inclined to easier tendency, specials jobbing 50.

Western markets firm and unchanged.

Chicago firsts 39½, Mach delivery 22 3-4, April storage packed 23 3-4.

New York extra firsts 48, firsts 45 to 47, refrigerators 35 to 36.

WINNIPEG CATTLE PRICES.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 10.(Canadian Press)—Receips today comprised 150 cattle and calves, 770 hogs, 17 sheep and lambs.

The cattle opened this morning with buyers bidding generally in line with yesterday's close, but with light offerings trading was quiet.

Good export cattle made $6 to $6.50; bulk killing steers $5.50 to $6 and good butcher cows $3.50 to $4; god light weight heifers ranged around $5 to $5.50.

The hog market was firm, packers bidding $11 for selects.

MONTREAL GRAIN QUIETER.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press)—The trade in cash grain on the local market was quieter, but the feeling was firm. There was no change in the flour situation. Demand for mill feed continues good and prices ave advanced. A firm feeling prevails in baled hay. There were no developments in the local egg situation. Steady demand prevails in potatoes. A moderate amount of business is passing in butter and cheese.

A European Problem.

"The Genoa conference must not be allowed to substitute itself for the League of Nations in the tasks which the Treaty of Versailles attributed to it," the note says, and points out that the engagement to abstain from all aggression upon neighboring States covers cases coming within the province of the League as far as it concerns Europe, which alone is in question at Genoa.

Wants Time to Prepare.

M. Poincare thinks the financial programme which was the outcome of the financial conference at Brussels under the League of Nations, may well be taken up at Genoa. In the meantime, technicians are preparing a plan of the work in detail. He recalls that it took six months to prepare for the Brussels conference, and says it would be impossible to arrange for the Genoa conference in a few short weeks. Hence, he recommends that the conference be postponed for three months.

The local curlers who went to Lakefield on Tuesday to complete in the bonspiel made a very good record, winning three games, but losing in two. Being out of the finals they returned home on Wednesday evening.

China Shower.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed in the S. S. Hall of St. Thomas' church on Tuesday when a 'china shower,' under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary, brought about sixty guests together.

Mrs. Whyte and Mrs. McNeil were in charge of the large, beautifully-decorated basket in which the donations were received. At about the middle of the programme all the parcels were opened by the president, Mrs. (Canon) Allen, who explained that the object of the 'shower' was to furnish the church cupboard with dishes. Such a quantity was received that, like the man in the Scriptures, "they have no room wherein to bestow all their goods."

The rector, Rev. Canon Allen, presided, and also contributed two excellent readings during the programme. Other numbers which were much enjoyed were: Vocal solos by Rev. and Mrs. G. S. Gervan, and by Miss Mabel Money, and piano solos by Mrs. Allen.

Besides the china which was so generously donated, over $10 was received in money. Refreshments were served at the close.

Tuxis Boys Guests.

A number of the Tuxis Boys, of which organization Melville and Clarence Ball are both members, were invited by the latter to drive out to their home on Fallis' Line on Tuesday evening and enjoy a social time as guests of their mother, Mrs. Herb Ball. Mr. Irwin Hatherly brought his team and big sleigh and conveyed the load to their destination. The following enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Ball and her two sons: A. Raper, L. Byam, Aubrey and Clifford Fallis, Misses A. Stewart, Alex. Johnston, L. Barnard, E. Fallis and M. Byam.

Elect Officers.

The County Orange Lodge met in Port Hope on Tuesday, February 7th and held their annual meeting, the Past County Master, W. Moncrief, ocupying the chair. The attendance was unusually large and the following officers were elected:

Worshipful Master, Rev. A. McLaughlin, Pontypool; Deputy Master, Mr. Whitesides, Bethany; Chaplain, Rev. R. M. Paterson, Frazerville; Recording Secretary, N. Belch, Fallis Line; Treas., Stewart Fallis, Fallis Line; Dir. of Ceremonies, Jas. Paul, Frazerville; 1st Lectureman, M. Etcer, Port Hope; 2nd Lectureman, Thos. Aiken, Fallis Line.

Those going from Millbrook Lodge were: Messrs. M. Todd, C. Lunn, F. Alcorn, J. L. Byam; from Fallis Line, T. Aiken, N. Belch, S. Fallis, W. Fallis, W. Williamson; from Fraserville, Jas. Paul, Rev. R. M. Paterson, Jas. Roddy, and W. Moncrief.

Euchre Party.

The Women's Institute held a very successful progressive euchre party in the town hall on Wednesday evening when over 100 guests were in attendance, 28 tables being in use by those playing cards, while a number of others preferred lost heir.

Mrs. G. W. Sayles and Mrs. Geo. Fowler had to cut for the ladies' 1st prize, the latter winning, while the Consolation went to Mrs. J. E. Allen. The gentleman's first prize was won by Mr. J. A. Vance, and Messrs. A. A. Needler, C. Thorndyke and Reg. Fallis were tied for the Consolation, the latter winning the cut.

Mrs. Stewart Fallis won the ladies first prize at lost heir, and Mrs. O. Larmer the Consolation, the gentlemen's first prize falling to Mr. W. G. Hetherington, and the second to Mr. W. Rowland.

Quite a number of the guests remained and enjoyed a dance after the supper was served, the music being furnished by Mrs. L. C. Winslow, Miss A. McConnachie, Miss E. Elson, and others. ANGLO-BELGIUM MILITARY TREATY UNDER CRITICISM

Want Stipulation That Pact Is Designed Only Against Germany.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Serious divergencies of opinion marked the discussion of the proposed Anglo-Belgian military day by the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Chamber of Deputies.

Objections were raised based on the absence of clearness as regards the danger against which the pact is designed to guarantee Belgium's security. A majority of the commission deemed it indispensable that the treaty should state definitely that the guaranty is against any possible attack by Germany, otherwise, it is held, the pact would be equivalent to a British protectorate rather than protection.

The clause prohibiting Belgium from concluding any other convention in conflict with the Anglo-Belgian pact is regarded as a restriction upon Belgium's sovereign rights. In other words, it was argued that while recognizing the advantages such a treaty would bring to Belgium, it is inacceptable under any form that would be susceptible of compromising Belgium's independence.

The Woman's Part

THE average woman in the discharge of her many responsibilities as wife, mother and housekeeper learns her own lessons of finance in the management of her household. Her efforts are largely concentrated on "making both ends meet."

Naturally, she does not always realize the difference between capital and income, because the average woman doesn't get the opportunity to accumulate capital.

It is wise to consider this point in connection with life insurance. Would a lump sum paid in the possible event of your death, be the wisest and safest form of bequest for you to make? Or would not provision of a regular income every month be better?

Many a family has learned by sad experience that an insurance policy which seemed quite substantial in a lump sum, when first paid by the insurance company, proved but brief protection when treated as income instead of capital.

Guaranteed Monthly Income

A Guaranteed Monthly Income policy in the Mutual Life of Canada saves all danger of this mistake. It removes also danger of loss from unsound investment of the proceeds of the insurance policy. Your beneficiary is guaranteed a regular monthly income for twenty years, and as long thereafter as she may live.

We'll be glad to send you our folder, "A Guaranteed Monthly Income—the Greatest Thing in the World of Insurance". Write us.

Tyrone, 4,000 armed men, with 300 motor cars, had assembled in the valley at Donegal on Tuesday night, ready to advance on Londonderry, when the news of the reprieve of the three men under sentence of death at Londonderry was received. The men then dispersed.

FOUR SPECIALS CAPTURED.

BELFAST, February 1 0(Canadian Press). — Irish Republican Army officers in Clones, County Monaghan, were credited yesterday with the statement that even more Unionists will be kidnapped if the detention of Sinn Fein prisoners in Ulster continues.

WOULD DISPERSE DOMINION POLICE.

OTTAWA, February 10 (Canadian Press). — J. F. Marsh, Toronto, Dominion Secretary of the Grand Army of United Veterans, when in Ottawa this week, presented personally to the Prime Minister and other members of the Ministry a strongly worded resolution of his association asking that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police be abolished, and the old Dominion Police be substitutel.

The present force, he stated, costs $4,000,000 a year, where the old Dominion Police on a pre-war basis cost the country only about $200,000 a year.

Mr. Marsh states that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are an insult to the returned men. He claims they are constantly making reports to the Government and certain members of it, that the returned soldiers are unruly, and are likely to break out at any time.

SUCCESSFUL TEA WAS HELD.

One of the most successful talent teas of the season was held on Wednesday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. J. Middleton, No. 3 Meldrum Apartments, by Mrs. J. Stubbs' Bible Class (The Onwards), in aid of the building fund of George Street Methodist Church Sunday School, a large number of members and friends attending. They were received by the president, Mrs. Sarginson, and Mrs. Middleton. A handsome sum was realised, and the ladies were gratified by the success of their entertainment. The pretty rooms were decorated with ferns, the tearoom was in charge of Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Sanderson, and Mrs. Bolton, and was charming with pink carnations and ferns.

A musical programme, which added much to the enjoyment of the affair, was rendered during the afternoon and evening by local artists whose numbers were received with appreciation. Mrs. J. H. Renwick and Miss Kemp contributed vocal solos, accompanied on the piano by Miss Laura McFarlane, and a recitation by Miss Muriel Harvey, and several fine phonograph records were much enjoyed by all.

Flap! Flap! Flap! The Girls Are Marching, With Goloshes Open Wide

OPEN GOLOSHES.

Flap! Flap! Flap! the girls are marching,
Flap! Flap! Flap! they march along;
With goloshes open wide.
They essay the George Street stride,
As they "flappergast" the rubbernecking throng.

The feet of the modern flapper now rattle more than her head.

Reason: Open goloshes openly arrived at.

The young lady now clatters down George Street with her overshoes wide open and the tops and buckles flapping in the breeze.

A pair of stormshoes now make more noise than a pair of stormdoors. More noise, in fact, than a storm itself.

Ma and pa would have a quieter life they lived with a featherweight gate.

'Sterribul! What? Can't the goloshes be buckled? Certainly! The girls don't want to buckle them. It's the style. Some eight-toothed stenographer got up late one morning, hurried to work without buckling her goloshes, and inside of 48 hours the idea had become a fad!

Gloves that only cover two fingers and fur pieces that follow the owner on a sled may be the next novelties of the season.

It looks like a loose season.

By summer it may be the style to wear hookless evening gowns, allowing the wearers to wallow around half in and half out of her garment. Summer frocks may be worn only two-thirds over the head. The buttonless bathing suit is a possibility.

'Sawful!

Smiths Falls girls are using their goloshes to indicate whether they're engaged or not. Buckled goloshes mean "I'm engaged." Unbuckled goloshes mean "Unattached."

Presumably the young man who wins a girl in that city now buys her a pair of goloshes instead of a ring. Which is not a bad idea. Goloshes will carry you farther in stormy weather than jewelry.

But imagine what it may lead to. For instance:
One golosh unbuckled, one buckled: My engagement is broken.
Fox fur removed from neck and tied to right leg: I would like to be taken to dinner.
One foot in a muff, both hands in a gal.: I would converse with thee.
Hat worn on left shoulder: I am married.
Hat worn on right shoulder: I am divorced.
Umbrella worn as a hat pin: I would like to see a good show.
Handbag flying from either ear: Let's go to a dance.
Corset cover worn as a sash: My father has money.
Handbag carried in teeth: I'm dying for an auto ride.
Pink pajamas carried on a string and flown as a kite: I'd like some good old-fashioned cider.

'Sgreat idea!

LIFT RESTRICTIONS OFF LONDON GOLD MARKET

LONDON, Feb. 10.— (Canadian Press.)— Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced in the House of Commons last night in reply to a question that it was the Government's intention "to permit the re-establishment of an unrestricted market for gold in London at the earliest date at which the state of exchange renders this course possible and desirable."

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

"BROKEN GLASS"

When Sergeant John F. Brennan, of the New York police force, reached Sixty-ninth Street and Park Avenue shortly after the accident which caused the death of John McHugh, he found practically nothing which could come under the head of "evidence."

McHugh, it appeared, had been driving along in a light buggy, shortly after dark. An automobile, speeding from behind, had struck the buggy and smashed it to bits, killing McHugh instantly. Apparently, the only living witness to the tragedy was the horse, but, as Brennan said, "there's no way of makin' a horse talk."

So the Sergeant set to work to collect what bits of evidence he could gather from the surrounding street.

Caught on one of the spokes of the buggy wheel, where it had evidently been torn off by the force of the collision, was a nickel-plated lamp rim bearing the name of the "Ham Lamp Company, Rochester, N. Y." That, and a small fragment of automobile tire about three inches in length, appeared to be the only results of the damage which the automobile had suffered.

But Brennan figured that, as the lamp rim had been torn from its socket, the lens of the lamp would naturally have been shattered, so he set to work to pick up the bits of glass. When he returned to headquarters that night he brought with him an envelope containing twenty-one pieces of glass, together with the nickelled rim, the buggy spoke on which it had caught and the jagged piece torn from the automobile tire.

"What are you going to do with that junk?" inquired his associates on the force. "If Sherlock Holmes had had those he could have told you the make of the car, the complexion of the man who was driving it, the license number and how many gallons of gas there was in the tank—but, outside of a book, what good are they?"

"Maybe none at all," admitted Brennan, "but if you'll use some brains when you look at 'em you'll note several things that may be of help in locatin' the car that killed McHugh and then drove off into the night. I never did take much stock in the Sherlock Holmes stories—it's easy enough to fix it so that your hero can solve a problem that you know the answer of—but here's one case in which I think that his deducin' theories will come in pretty handy.

"See that smudge?" and the Sergeant held up the buggy spoke and pointed to what appeared to be a worn place on the wood toward the end which had been nearest the wheel. "At first I thought it was merely where the paint had worn off and the wood showed through. But the rest of the buggy was spick and span. Only a few days out of the shop. So I examined it more carefully and found that it was a bit of gray paint, scratched off the body of the death car itself!

"That prevents us from searching for a black or red or a green machine. It was a gray one that did the work!

"Take that lamp rim, now. There are fourteen cars on the market that are equipped with lamps made by that company. So that reduces the number of suspects that much more. We've got to look for a gray car of one of those fourteen makes, which eliminates more than seventy per cent. of the cars in the city."

"But what about these pieces of glass? What are they goin' to tell you?"

"Eventually, the name of the man who owned the car," replied Brennan. "There are three kinds of glass there—one plain glass, one mirror lens and one concave-convex lens. If you'll fit 'em together you'll see that the car carried eight-inch glass headlights and six-inch oil sidelights. Therefore, it was an old model. The bit of rubber was very evidently ripped off a four-inch tire Now, you members of the traffic squad, what kind of a car answers those specifications?"

"A 1909 Packard, model 18," came in a chorus from several of the men who had been trained to recognize the make and model of an automobile from the appearance of its headlights.

"Right!" snapped Brennan. "Old Sherlock Holmes wasn't so far out of the way after all. Now all we have to look for is a 1909 model Packard, painted gray, with at least one gash along the paint on the right side and badly in need of repairs. The headlights are gone, so the car couldn't have travelled very far. Get after the garages around Sixty-ninth Street and we ought to have our man before morning. I've done enough work for one night and I'm perfectly willin' that one of you boys should have the credit for the arrest!"

It was less than an hour later that the headquarters' 'phone rang and Brennan was notified that the owner and driver of the car had been arrested and confessed, giving as an excuse the fact that he hadn't seen McHugh's buggy until he had been right on top of it and then it was too late to stop the machine. But the fact that he had driven on, without stopping to see what damage he had caused, was enough to convict him of manslaughter and send him to the penitentiary for an extended visit—all on account of a few pieces of glass, a bit of rubber and a smudge of paint, plus the ingenuity of the detective who successfully wove these objects into the strongest kind of a chain of evidence.

INDIA THE LAND OF CEREMONIAL.

Obeisances For Prince Are Curiously Impressive.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(By Canadian Press.)—India is the land of ceremonial obeisances, says a special correspondent of the London Times with H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. When the prince has gone through the formal remission of tribute, you must imagine some long, high-ceilinged, stately hall, superbly tapestried in cloth of gold or richly carved, at one end of which, on splendid chairs of state, the Prince and the Maharaja are seated on a dais of cloth of gold. Down the two sides of the room run lines of chairs on which sit, on the left hand the lesser chiefs and high officials of the state, whatever it is, in robes which shimmer with jewels and embroidery, and on the right hand the members of the prince's suite. Then, one by one, up the centre between the two lines of chairs they come—minor chiefs, sirdars, taluqdars—bowing low as they reach the golden carpet, each bearing in a folded napkin a single coin as symbol of the tribute. Three times as they advance they bow deeply, each time with the curious triple salaam, lifting their two hands, palms upwards, to their bowed foreheads.

Napkin Plays Part

Approaching the prince, they hold the napkin out to him and he lays his hand upon it. Bowing deeper they back away, again with the triple salutations, three times repeated, each salutation acknowledged by the prince, till they have bowed themselves back to the edge of the gold carpet to make way for another. In the silence, amid the rich surroundings, it was always curiously impressive, the bearers of the tribute being generally old men, grey, splendidly dressed, and the prince looking wonderfully young, but doing his part gracefully and with a certain shy dignity.

Then, at many places officers of Indian troops have been presented to him—magnificent-looking fellows, handsome, tall, grandly built, soldiers every inch. As they come forward or as he approaches them, each officer loosens his sword in its scabbard and thrusts it forward that the prince may touch the hilt. They salute with a sweeping smartness. The prince is always quick to read the meaning of the medals on their breasts and generally has some few sentences of talk about their wars and shakes hands with each.

Value of Handshake

As an instance of how much the handshake of the prince means, the Times correspondent says that one veteran with medals of the frontier wars of half a century on his tunic, who had just been presented to His Royal Highness, glowed with pride as he held his right hand and remarked: "He shook my hand, Sahib, this (the right) hand. If my father could but have lived to know of his son's honor!"

The correspondent concludes: "In spite of the sedition and disloyalty which are rife, and of all the efforts of non-cooperators, it is the homage of India (it is absurd to say that it is all merely formal and does not arise from the hearts of the people) to the son of the King-Emperor that almost more than any other single impression will remain fixed on one's mind. Reverence for kingship is a fixed and ingrained habit. Long after India has become a self-governing Dominion, whether the road thereto be long or short, rough or smooth, devotion to the throne and the royal house will remain deep-seated in the hearts of the people. Only the grossest misgovernment on our part can ever quench it."

THE ADVERTISED ARTICLE IS THE ONE THAT SELLS.

An impartial investigation conducted by the National Trade Association shows the interesting result that one person in thirty buys goods not advertised.

The answers to the questionnaire have been summed up as follows:

Everywhere there are merchants who are more or less certain that the advertised article is greatly overrated. Possibly their particular experience, or lack of experience, had led them to believe this, but an impartial investigation conducted by the National Trade Association, resulted in the following compilation of answers:

Question 1. When you go into a store and find two articles of a similar nature for sale at the same price, one of which is a nationally advertised article and the other an unadvertised article, which do you purchase?

Answer: 87.6 per cent. buy the advertised article, 3.6 per cent. buy the unadvertised article, 8.8 per cent. non-committal.

That only one person in approximately thirty deliberately buys the unadvertised article is significant, but here is definite proof that the manufacturers are really creating a goodwill by their advertising which is valuable to them and their dealers:

Question 2. When you find two similar articles for sale at different prices, the unadvertised article being priced lower than the advertised, which do you buy?

Answer: 60.6 per cent. buy the advertised article, 24.2 per cent. buy the unadvertised article, 15.2 per cent non-committal.

Doesn't this show that advertised goods are easier to sell when 50 per cent. will buy the advertised article even at a higher price?—MARKETING.

And then lay away your horn,
Within a week there's not a soul
Will know that you were born.

SUCCESS IS THE RESULT OF

WISE INVESTING

In the ladder of financial success, the first step is to earn; the second to save, and the third to make the savings earn for their owner.

Many men feel that 5% coupled with safety of principal is the limit of returns of an investment, and it is if you have a fortune to invest. But if you wish to acquire riches, your money must be given a chance to make big money.

Never has there been such opportunity as there is today, for investment in the OIL industry.

If you have but little money and want to build a fortune or acquire a competency, give your each $100 a chance to earn $10,000, and you will be on the right road to success.

No other industry offers the small investor so quick or such enormous returns from his investment.

R. J. SODEN ELECTED 1ST VICE-PRESIDENT.

Elected at Annual Meeting Game and Fish Association

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Hunters' Game and Fish Protective Association in Toronto, Peterboro was again honoured by the election of R. J. Soden as first vice-president. Mr. Soden through illness was unable to attend the meeting, but Peterboro was represented by J. E. A. Fitzgerald, Clinton, Coones, James, Scott and C. C. Graham.

Question of the running of dogs occupied most of the gathering's attention, the association opposing unequivocally the proposal to prohibit hunting deer with dogs. Condemnation by many of the 125 members presented resulted in the unanimous adoption of the following resolution:

"That this association respectfully request the Department of Game and Fisheries to make no changes in the present law referring to hunting deer with dogs; that, in the opinion of this association, the prohibition of dogs would be exceedingly dangerous to hunters at large, and would debar many older hunters frm enjoying their favorite pastime."

William Gastle, of Hamilton, referred to American statistics, which showed that in the states where still hunting was practised ten hunters were accidently killed, to one in the state where dogs were allowed. The speaker stated that settled hunting grounds, such as Muskoka and Parry Sound, would be worthless without dogs. Still hunting only effective in the virgin hunting grounds of the north

Criticism of Questionnaire.

Considerable criticism was made of the methods by which the questionnaire on the subject sent out with last year's game licenses was taken by the officials of the Games Department. President William Pears stated that he had been informed on reliable authority that, of the replies turned in, 85 per cent. favored the use of dogs. Several members present objected that they had not had an opportunity to vote. An instancing the manner in which the vote was handled, one member stated that he had himself signed thirty cards—all of which were "thumbs up" for the dogs he explained amid laughter.

The assocjation also decided to take steps to appear before the special committee of the Legislative in force when "dogs or no dogs" comes up for discussion.

It is interesting to note that the English hare, for which the association asked protection, escaped from the Brantford Experimental Farm only four years ago. Since that time the new variety has spread over a considerable portion of Westen Ontario. Last season it was found in large numbers in the Niagara Peninsula. The original ancestors of the now numerous tribe escaped from the farm across the ice on the Grand River. The Association asks that the hare be protected, except during the three months between October 15th and January 15th.

Numerous Resolutions.

Other resolutions adopted were as follows: A motion calling on the Department of Games and Fisheries to employ full-time game inspectors during closed seasons, as well as during open seasons, as at present; one asking that the bounty on wolves be increased; asking that the sale of game be prohibited; that the open season for deer, moose and caribou be changed from November 5th to 20th, to November 1st to 15th (for all territory south of the C.P.R.) that the open season for grouse (partridge) be the same as that for deer and a resolution complimenting the Game Department on having established a preserve at Eugenia Falls.

Officers were elected as follows: President, William Pears, West Toronto; first vice-president, R. J. Soden, Peterboro; second vice-president, G. G. Green, Bradford; secretary-treasurer; J. S. McDowell, Midland; executive.—H. W. Hunsberry Jordan; C. H. Munday, Oshawa; W. J. Moody, Kitchener; A. Davis, Newmarket; Dr. W. R. Walters, Toronto; F. W. Watson, Hamilton; Albert Huggott, Waterloo; Dr. A. R. Harvey, Orillia; T. Laughlin, Hamilton, and Alex. Dupuis.

HERMAN KURTZTISCH.

"When it comes to eating, working and sleeping I'm like a different man from what I was a short time ago," said Herman Kurtztisch, 406 1-2 Norris Place, Milwaukee, with the Northwestern Life Insurance Company, in relating his experience with Tanlac.

"My whole system was about to give way as a result of two years constant suffering from stomach trouble and I was so run down and worn out I was hardly able to work. I actually dreaded to eat as after every meal I suffered so terribly from heartburn and I was so nervous I got little rest day or night.

"If it hadn't been for Tanlac I'm firmly convinced I would have had to resign my place. It came to my aid in the nick of time and I am strong for it. Tanlac was worth at least fifty times what it cost me."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro, by the Warne Drug Co., Ltd. and by leading druggists everywhere.

UNITED VETERANS OUTLINE WISHES.

Would Abolish D.S.C.R. and Other Employment Agencies For Ex-Service Men.

OTTAWA, February 10 (Canadian Press). — J. F. Marsh, Toronto, Dominion Secretary of the Grand Army of United Veterans, has been in Ottawa for several days interviewing prominent members of the Government regarding the complete re-establishment of the ex-service men.

Mr. Marsh held conference with Premier King, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour, and Hon. Dr. Beland, Minister of Soldiers' Re-establishment.

Mr. Marsh states that all he interviewed were favourable to the plans he outlined on behalf of the G. A. U. V. His plan for re-establishment on a 100 per cent. basis is as follows:

1—Abolition of all employment agencies, including D.S.C.R. employment department, to centralise all employment activities in the Government employment service to prevent overlapping.

2—Installation of handicap sections in all Government employment bureaux, to deal with all applications for employment from problem cases.

3—A Rehabilitation Board to be created in each Province under the jurisdiction of the Federal Minister of Labour, said Boards to assume full responsibility for the disposal of acute problem cases which handicap sections of employment service cannot provide with suitable employment.

This plan, according to a statement issued by Mr. Marsh, would present an opportunity to thousands of ex-service men to become producers for the Dominion, who would otherwise drift into the unfortunate unemployable class on account of physical unfitness and lack of efficiency and the consequent inability to compete with others in possession of 100 per cent. efficiency.

PLANS LAID FOR THE NEXT POULTRY SHOW

The attendance was an indication of a great interest in the association and poultrymen look forward to the best year in their history. The auditor's report was not completed for presentation at this meeting, and will not be presented till the monthly meeting on March 8th It will show a small balance on hand.

CARDINALS FROM AMERICA AT NEXT PAPAL ELECTION.

Delegation Proposes An Amendment to the Papal Secretary of State.

ROME, Feb. 10.—Cardinals Lucon, Dubois, Anrieu and Maurin, caled on the Papal Secretary of State to-day to submit with Cardinal Lucon as spokesman, the request that the Papal Constitution be amended fixing the date for the convening of a conclave at an indefinite perjod after the demise of the Pope to permit the United States, Canada and South America to participate.

Cardinal Gasparri received the Associated Press correspondent a few minutes after the departure of the French prelates. He absolutely refused to be quoted upon the matter, but, when urged, permitted the correspondent to say that it was quite possible even probable, that the question of American participation in future conclaves would be discussed at the next Consistory.

Pope Pius has postponed until after the coronation all deliberations and decisions upon important matters. He has not yet appointed his successor to the Archbishop of Milan, which by his own election automatically becomes vacant. He continues to administer the diocese himself.

The Pope's sister Camilla, and his brother, Francesco arrived from Desio today and took up quarters in the Vatican, there to remain until after the coronation. The Pope is understood to have expressed one regret—that henceforth he would be unable to indulge in his favorite sport of Alpine climbing.

FINDS PALESTINE LESS SATISFIED.

Great Britain's Support of Zionism Creating Bad Effect.

LONDON, Feb. 10—Lord Northcliffe, who is visiting Palestine, is reported in a Jerusalem despatch to the Times as expressing regret at finding the country in a less satisfied state than when he was there years ago.

The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem and other members of the Moslem Religious Council told him that the impression that Great Britain was actively supporting Zionism was creating a bad effect. Other Moslems and representative of Christian bodies spoke even more strongly in this regard, stating that they feared continuation of the present policy eventually would lead to bloodshed and great military expenditures in Palestine.

The Zionist Executive defended the Zionist colonists against the charges of their opponents, but prominent Orthodox Jews expressed profound discontent with the present Zionist methods from both political and religious standpoints.

A prominent United State missionary highly praised the British High Commissioner's administration and the tolerance of the British authorities, but regretted that the newly arriving Jewish immigrants from Central Europe were generally "unnecesarily arrogant."

Their two last numbers "The Pump", and "Drink to Mine Eyes" concluded part of their abundance in musical numbers which spells success as a first class quartette.

DAIRY STANDARDS ACT OPPOSED BY BIG DEPUTATION

Eastern Ontario Dairymen Tried to Persuade Hon. Manning Doherty That New Legislation Was Impracticable.

The practicability of the new dairy Standards Act which came into effect on January 1st last was vigorously challenged by a deputation of eastern Ontario dairymen who interviewed the Hon. Manning Doherty Minister of Agriculture, in Toronto on Thursday. Representatives of 120 cheese factories including those centering at Belleville, Picton, Napane, Madoc, Campbellford and Stirling were unanimous in their opposition to Mr. Doherty's pet piece of legislation according to the information given the Examiner by Deputy-Reeve J. N. Stone of Campbellford, who was in Peterboro last night on his way home from the meeting.

Will Fill the Jails.

One of the dairymen from Picton district declared that the jails would be "full of farmers with their feet sticking out of the windows" if the Government persisted in enforcing the new law, Mr. Stone said. And then another asked the Minister what would follow the failure of factories to comply with the Act Mr. Doherty made no threat that the penalties would be imposed. These and other vehement expressions Mr. Stone quoted to indicate the temper of the deputation.

Cost Excessive.

The chief objections were that the people had not been sufficiently instructed in the operation of the Act which substitutes the sale of milk on the basis of the Babcock butter fat test for the old system of sale by weight. Cheese factory executives complain against the cost of putting the system into operation, and requested that the Act be suspended indefinitely until it had been carefully tried out in certain factories before coming into general effect.

Appreciate Intention.

Dairymen realize that the new Standards Act is designed to establish a system of paying for milk according to its quality and not merely for quantity. Under the present system, it has been contended, some farmers are supplying milk of high butter fat content as compared with the product of other herds. In fact some farmers have been prosecuted on charges of watering the milk sold to cheese factories. Dairymen suggested that the former law covering the dilution of milk be given a full trial before the Babcock test is required in every factory in Ontario.

Will Improve Product.

Hon. Mr. Doherty reiterated to the delegation the arguments that have been advanced to rural audiences in the dairy districts of the province for several years. Farmers would be paid for the real value of their milk as revealed by the Babcock test, a better grade of cheese would be the result with increased returns to farmrs.

A press report quoted the Minister as saying that New Zealand and South Africa were fast capturing the butter and cheese markets of England, and that Canadian cheese now being received in England was the worst known in twenty years.

Mr. Stone told the Examiner that there as a result from the meeting and that Mr. Doherty did not recede from his position but remarked that, in a short time after the opening of cheese factories the patrons would realize the advantages of the new Dairy Standard Act.

SEEKING FOR GUN WHICH KILLED WILLIAM TAYLOR

Weapon Is Said to Be Now in Possession of Milkman.

FOUND NEAR MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 10.—The gun with which William Desmond Taylor was slain is reported in possession of a milkman who found it near the scene of the crime.

Detectives of the district attorney's office and other agencies investigating the murder are hunting for the milkman.

This man is said to have taken the gun home with him after finding it between Taylor's bungalow and his garage, deciding to "forget about it," for fear of being implicated.

He found it before the body was discovered.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Doran admitted that he had heard the rumor, but denied a report had been made to him by his detectives, who were credited with picking up the clue.

"If anyone had a real lead on this gun it was not my men, despite these stories," Doran insisted.

Battle against the "unseen power" alleged to have silenced witnesses and tampered with evidence and police officers, was launched to-day by the district attorney's office in assuming leadership in the probe.

Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, was preparing to turn the Madalynne Obenchain murder trial over to subordinates for prosecution and devote his entire attention to the Taylor investigation.

Henry Peavy, negro valet of Taylor, was called "on the carpet" as the new investigation got under way.

Peavy found Taylor's body after the murder.

It was intimated that the grilling given the negro behind closed doors might develop clues calling for examination of other acquaintances of Taylor, including the three or four prominent women of the films who were his close friends.

All statements taken were committed to writing.

If the facts gleaned by the district attorney's office in its newly opened investigation warrant the Taylor murder mystery will go to the grand jury immediately, it was learned to-day.

While the 1922 grand jury has not yet been empanelled, presiding Judge Houser indicated that he would, upon application, hasten the procedure.

Who Was Suicide?

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 9.—Belief that a man known both as William Koegel and James Marrin, and who committed suicide here last Saturday night or Sunday is Edward F. Sands, sought in connection with the murder of Willaim Desmond Taylor, was expressed to-day by Coroner Kelly.

DESTITUTION IN RURAL LUMBERING COMMUNITY

One Hundred Families Suffer From Unemployment in the Woods.

OTTAWA, February 10. Canadian Press. — That the stress of unemployment is being felt not only in cities and towns, but also in certain rural sections of Canada, is evidenced in an urgent appeal for help which has just been received by Rev. Father J. Myrand, the parish priest of St. Anne's church, from Father Daniel Routhier, parish priest at Lac Caynman, a settlement in the Gatineau valley.

Father Routhier has called attention to the fact that 100 families in the settlement under his charge, are practically destitute as a result of the inability of the men in the settlement to secure work.

The settlers and farmers of Lac Cayaman, whose farms are generally small, depend for their livelihood very largely on the work they secured during the fall and winter months in the logging camps up the Gatineau. Log-cutting operations have been virtually at a standstill this winter, the letter said, and the settlers and villagers of Lac Cayaman have been deprived of their chief means of subsistence.

Temporary relief has been provided by the parishioners of St. Anne's, who responded generously to an appeal from Father Myrand.

SAVED HER FROM AN OPERATION

So Thinks Mrs. Tracey of Ontario, Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Knightington, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the change of life for troubles that women often have at that time. I had not been well for a year and was not really able to do my work. A friend who had taken the Vegetable Compound herself recommended it to me and I think its use saved me from an operation. I highly recommend it to all women who have troubles like mine, and am willing for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. Daniel J. Tracey, Knightington, Ontario.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But the more common ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

When disturbing symptoms first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles.

The Minister wishes to see what the nation possessed in the way of railways. Mr. Kennedy will return east over the National Transcontinental. MAIL ORDER HOUSES SUFFER LESS BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—(Canadian Press)—A resume of trade conditions in the United States during 1921 which has just been compiled here shows that for the most part the year was one of decreased business for the mail order houses and increased business for the chain store concerns. The falling off in the mail order business was due largely to coditions in the agricultural sections of the country. The tremendous decline in the price of farm products reduced the purchasing power of the farming community.

LUNNON WANTS TO BE "PARIS"

few thousand tungstens distributed over the gallery' noble facade would scarcely be noticeable. Nor would an extension of the Embankment be much to the good, because most American visitors sleep in hotels; yet this extension is one of the declared objects of the society. What the society needs is a little expert advice from the Americans themselves—a few practical suggestions for rubbing up the dullness of the old burg. For instance:

Rent the Tower to some New York restauranteur. The White Tower could be used for dinner dances; the Bloody Tower for a check room; while the Dry Moat would make an excellent beer garden.

St Paul's could be made into a super-cinema-de-luxe.

Open-air vaudeville in Kew Gardens would make a hit, especially if drinks were served.

There is just enough room in Hyde Park for a real American circus; and every day traffic should cease in Piccadilly, the Haymarket, the Strand, Fleet street and Oxford street to make way for the stupendous, gorgeous, glittering, etc., parade.

The music hall comedian could be abolished and his place taken by people who read the papers and are acquainted with some of the new jokes.

Might Change Menu.

The movement toward a greater variety of things to eat could be encouraged. Instead of ridiculing the Savoy for introducing frogs legs the government should be asked to give the chef an order. There might be one day a week on which it would be compulsory to serve some other vegetable than cabbage. Instead of having eggs and bacon for breakfast why not vary the menu by serving bacon and eggs? Why not establish a school for teaching the English how to bake a potato? Why not cook and serve fowls a day or two after death instead of waiting until they should be buried?

The society might compel the running of owl cars, so that people could get home after 10:30 p.m.

The London Statuary could be removed, including the Albert Memorial. The effigies of statesmen near the Houses of Parliament have a peculiarly depressing effect on Americans. They remind them of the Statuary Hall in the Capitol at Washington, which he is striving so hard to forget.

London could be made much more attractive if the hospitals would one and all take down the big signs which ornament their fronts telling how much money they need.

Windows might be cut in the Bank of England so that visitors could look in and see the tellers telling and the governors governing. Besides brightening up London that would brighten up the bank.

The monument which is 202 feet high could be turned into a geyser, spouting for five minutes every hour. The streets at its base would not then be any wetter than they are, and might be a lot cleaner.

Canoeing on the Thames should be fostered. The mighty river should be filled every evening with canoes; the warehouses on its banks should re-echo the songs of phonographs and the moonlight should glitter on gay cushions and canopies. On nights when there is no moon the advertisements of Scotch whiskey on the Surrey side would do.

There should be more national holidays and each should be celebrated with the gaiety due the occasion. For instance December 6, the anniversary of the day on which Great Britain declared herself free from Ireland; July 4, the anniversary of the day on which George III freed England from prohibition; July 26, the birthday of Bernard Shaw; March 23, the birthday of Horatio Botomley; April 1, the day on which England is going to win an athletic contest with the United States. England has far too few holidays, the only one of any importance being the one on which the Derby is run.

As a special brightener why not have an accurate reproduction of the Great Fire of London? This would attract visitors from all parts of the world and would clear a large site on which modern office buildings might be erected?

And finally London should sway climates with any place that is willing to trade, secure in the knowledge that she could not get a worse one.

With these alterations, London would doubtless attract many people who have not already been there.

CHINESE BANQUET CHURCH FRIENDS.

The Home Lunch Provided a Splendid Dinner.

A unique and interesting evening was held in the school room of Murray street Baptist Church on Friday. The Chinese department of the school had expressed the desire to be hosts at a banquet with their teacher and representative officers of the church as their guests At seven-thirty a company of about one hundred had assembled. These included all the teachers of the Sunday school, the two superintendents and the secretary, the deacon of the church, and one or two guests from without the church. In each case the wife or husband of the officers was also a guest.

The schoolroom was decorated with flags and flowers including the Chinese flag. Four tables in special formation were beautifully set. The menu was of the very highest order mock turtle soup, fish, roast, turkey and joints, pastry, ice cream fruits, etc. The Orientals had spared neither pains nor expense to make "a feast a king might lean to". The banquet was the work of the Home Lunch 394 George street, Hum Brothers proprietors, and these gentlemen certainly surpassed themseves in their efforts. The entire dinner, from start to finish, was a culinary triumph, and enjoyed immensely by everyone.

The waitresses who served in a complimentary way were the young ladies of Mrs. T. Stenton's Sunday School class, who use as their class name the significant term, "The Others".

Mr. L. J. Pettit, B.A., is superintendent of the Chinese department, and was master of ceremonies. Miss Florence Scott and Mrs. Carl S. Browne furnished the music, and were so much appreciated that they had to come back at the call of the people.

Mr. Lee Tou read the 7ith chapter of Matthew in English, after which several complimentary and instructive addresses were given.

Mr. Pettit spoke of the pleasure it gave him and his associates to see the faithfulness of these Chinese to their classes in the school and of their loyalty not only to those who are seeking to help them but to each other. Their appreciation, manifested in so many ways, was also dwelt upon.

Mr. Joseph Wearing, as superintendent of the school, made the hosts of the evening understand that the Chinese are regarded as a real part of the organization and that the incident of foreign birth does not place them in any other circle.

The gist of the addresses was interpreted to the Chinese boys by Miss Shearer, who having spent some years in China, has splendid command of the language. She also made a very bright address. Mr. Harry G. Webber represented the deacons and their wives, as he discoursed on the certain results of work among these people. If they remained in this country they were Canadianized and Christianized and helped to better citizenship, and should they return to China, they would carry with them new ideals.

The pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, discerned some contribution which the Chinese people could make to those who are their teachers, and to all with whom they are associated.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood, in a very informing deliverance, congratulated the Chinese and thanked them on behalf of the guests outside of the school, while Mr. R. H. McCarten, in an adress that sparkled with humour, seconded the sentiments expressed. Mr. Lee Kam replied in English, using well-chosen terms to express the appreciation which all his friends felt in view of what Murray street Church is doing for them. The evening was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

There are nine Chinese scholars who attend Sunday School classes at Murray street Baptist church: Lee Tow, Lee Kam, Lee Shew, Lee Him, Lee Wing, Lee Chung, Hum Fong, Hum Foo, and Hum Kwa Ming.

THE EARLY DAYS OF PETERBOROUGH.

Subject of Interesting Address By F. H. Dobbin.

On Monday evening the Young People's Guild of Knox Church had the opportunity of hearing Mr. F. H. Dobbin speak on the early days of this city. Commencing from the survey of the town site, Mr Dobbin, in his interesting manner, told of the gradual settlement of the town, and related incidents showing the tremendous difficulties which had to be overcome, the settlers literally having to hew out a home in the forest by the river bank. The speaker mentioned that in 1858 the total revenue of the town was under $10,000 for the year. This amount today would not pay the expenses of the fire department alone. The outstanding feature of the success of our city has been the heroic courage of the pioneer settlers who mastered all their difficulties, until today we have a city second to none in the whole Dominion. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Dobbin.

The musical part of the programme consisted of a vocal number by Mrs. Clark, and a cello solo by Mr. C. Rathbone, both of which were greatly enjoyed.

The president announced that the piano, which was purchased by the Guild some time ago, was now free from debt. This announcement was greeted with applause.

FOUR MILLIONS OF MEXICANS IN THE U.S.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press)—The population of Mexico is a trifle more than 14,000,000, according to figures recently compiled by the census bureau which has just completed its enumeration. This represents a loss of approximately 1,000,000 since the last census was taken in 1910. The decrease is ascribed to emigration of natives and foreigners during the periods of revolution.

Officials here assert that there are now more than 4,000,000 Mexicans living in the United States.

FURTHER TURMOIL IN EMERALD ISLE

Special Police Mobilize and One Party is Ambushed.

DUBLIN, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press).—Michael Collins, head of the Irish Provisional Government, received a telegram last night from the Sinn Fein Executive in Cookstown, County Tyrone, that specials were mobilizing for further raids, and to apprise the Northern and British Governments of that fact.

Mr. Collins immediately informed the British Government that such action by specials could only be carried out with the support of British troops, adding that the Provisional Government was doing its utmost to get the situation under control.

SEIZED TRAINS.

CORK, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press).—Dissatisfied with the terms of settlement of the Irish railway strike, a group of railway workmen marched into Cork Station to-day and seized the station and trains. No opposition had presented itself this afternoon.

AMBUSH SPECIALS.

BELFAST, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press).—A party of Ulster specials was ambushed last night by thirty men at Clady, on the Donegal-Tyrone border, and Constable McFadden was shot and killed.

SHOT TO DEATH.

BELFAST, Feb. 10. — (Canadian Press).—Thomas Sadler, fifty years of age, was shot to death in his home near Cavan to-day by five armed raiders, who took away his shot gun and service rifle of the Ulster Volunteers, of which Sadler was formerly a member. Letters were received in this morning's mail from at least three of those kidnapped at Aughnacley, South Tyrone. Joseph McClements, in a letter bearing the Bally Bay, South Monaghan, postmark, addressed to his wife, said he was well, but dared not say where he was.

OXFORD STILL THINKS "POISON CANDY" JOKE

But University Professor Declares His Analysis Shows Powdered Glass Was Used.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Oxford refuses to take its great "chocolate mystery" seriously, and contends that Vice Chancellor Farnell has made himself a victim of one of the best jokes in the history of the university. Newsboys especially delight in it, and yell through the streets:

"Here you are, sir. Vice Chancellor's latest."

Nevertheless the authorities are quite serious in their assertions, and are awaiting the further analysis the Home Office is making of the powdered candies.

Professor F. E. Suddy stands by his opinion, and has issued a statement from the university chemistry department, in which he says he examined the powder and found it to be powdered glass, which, "as every one knows, is a favorite Eastern poison."

"The Vice Chancellor himself," he goes on, "would not have treated the matter as anything but a hoax if it had not been for me. On the strength of my report the Vice Chancellor handed over the box to the police. I may say that I certainly should have done so if he had not.

"From the explicit statement which I have just read, 'all Oxford, with the exception of Dr. and Mrs. Farnell and certain chemistry professors, have long been aware that the deadly compound consists of ordinary tooth powder.' It would appear that the work was not that of a half-witted fanatic, as it at first appeared, but of some under-graduate, who seems to have been singularly unfortunate in his choice of tooth powders. If so, may I advise him not only to desist from such methods of cleaning his teeth, but also to own up and earn the gratitude of the general public, if not of dentists, by revealing the name of the maker of his charming dentifrice."

Meanwhile the Vice Chancellor has brought further criticism on himself by vetoing a public meeting at which Miss Maude Royden, a well-known woman preacher, was to speak. He has done this, it is explained, as he had already given his permission for as many public gatherings as he considered enough for one term.

ONE INSURANCE MAN AND NOT TWENTY-TWO

Referring to the action taken by the City Council in regard to the fire department, Ald. Joseph Crowe, chairman this year of the Fire, Water and Light committee, wishes it understood that his attitude is not a personal matter. Actuated solely by a desire to serve the city in the interests of the ratepayers, whatever position he has taken he will take has been and will be free of personal animosity or bias. And in this connection, he explains that as he stated in Council's committee, "out of twenty-two citizens who offered to him without solicitation on his part, their opinions on conditions in the fire hall, just one, an insurance man, gave favorable criticism. And he, the only insurance man of the 22, by the way, finds no fault with the brigade, but thought an A1 chief needed, with the present chief his assistant."

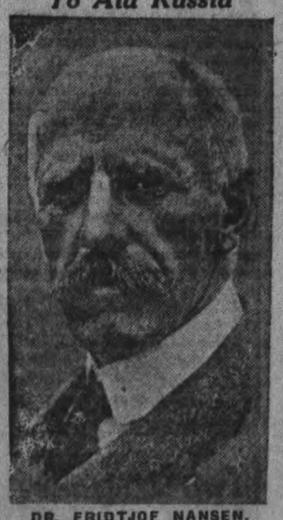
To Aid Russia



DR. FRIDTJOF NANSEN,

Noted explorer, who is interested in Russian relief work. The American Relief Administration has accepted Poland's offer to transport gratis to the Russian border 15,000,000 tons of corn monthly arriving from America for Russian famine relief. The West Chatala, an American grain ship, has been notified to unload its cargo at Danzig.

The opening of this port is a boon to relief workers, as the Baltic ports are ice-bound during the months of heaviest grain shipments.

The London office of the Administration received a cable message from Novorossisk announcing that the steamer Winnebago with 6,000 tons of grain arrived here on Monday and was met by Russian officials, who made speeches of gratitude.

A STATEMENT OF BRITISH TREASURY.

A Deficit of 63,159,286 Pounds Revealed.

LONDON, Feb. 10—(By Canadian Press.)—The statement of the British Treasury for the nine months of the fiscal year to December 31, 1921, reveals a deficit of £63,159,286 compared with a surplus of £46,114,009 for the nine months of the previous year. The revenue for the 1921 period was £676,-831,318 and the expenditure £739,990,-604 while the respective figures for the previous year were £888,803,728 and £842,689,719.

Of an expected revenue of £120,000,-000 from the Excess Profits Duty in the year ending March 31 next, as forecasted by Sir Robert Horne, the Chancellor of the exchequer, only £29,-714,000 had been collected up to December 31, 1921, and it is not expected that the remaining months of the fiscal year will add substantially to this sum.

All the other items of the revenue account have recovered somewhat. In war stores sales £95,388,818 of an estimated total of £158,500,000 has been collected.

Income tax revenue accounts for £174,660,000, an increase of £17,818,-000 over the corresponding period of 1920.

In his Budget of last year Sir Robert Horne forecasted an income tax revenue of £410,500,000, and there is nothing in the official figures to December 31 to indicate that this record amount will not be realized. Most of the income tax is collected in the last quarter of the fiscal year.

The Budget estimate contemplated a reduction in expenditure over the whole fiscal year of £155,700,000. For the nine months to December 31 the reduction had reached £102,699,115 so that the Chancellor's forecast will probably be realized.

The floating debt of Great Britain on December 31, 1921, was £1,259,-840,000. This is a reduction of £15,-490,000 compared with 1920.

You cannot judge a man by his clothes, but you can get a pretty good line on the bills he is up against by the clothes his wife and daughter are sporting.

PERSONALITY IN TEACHING MUSIC

(By JAS. GRIEVES.)

In opening may I offer my humble opinion upon the teaching of music. Never before had the teaching of music and its methods received so much attention and occupied so large a space in people's minds as they do now. There seems to be a general quickening of the musical pulse. I am old enough to have observed the changes (though slight) that have taken place recently in the matter of musical education. If one cares to go back forty or fifty years, we would have to admit that enormous strides had been made, particularly in the meaning of the phrase, "to learn music." And the hope is that some day soon we may be able to arrive at that point when the claims to teach music as a language would be universally recognized by our government as well as by the profession. I feel that results can only be achieved by the grasping of the fact, that music can only be learned through the ear, and that to train the ear is only to provide the chief instrument for a proper musical training.

At the present time we spend infinite time and patience, and use every resourceful method, to put children on the right road to appreciate music and then, for the greater part of the time, allow them to run every kind of risk and to join hands with any kind of beastly time to vitiate their taste, to destroy their judgment and wipe out any trace of decency in their musical remembrance. Those kindly parents who took so much pains to bring up their children on lines of good behavior and decent association invariably left them to fend for themselves in the matter of musical associations, and probably would be the first to express astonishment to know that the companionship of bad music was as dangerous as the companionship of people who swore, or stole, or bore false witness.

I venture to say that freak music has become more and more aggressive owing to commercialism and the desire for notoriety, and pleasure was being taken in noises and barbaric rhythms, although, while listening, the public were primarily engaging in eating, dancing, or movies Because musical taste was not sufficiently educated to appreciate good music, composers and arrangers, in order to attract indiscriminate appetites, had adopted unsound procedure and made foul noises. Such pieces are not written for a pure motive or a love of the art.

New Food of Thought

What is the use of creating in children a healthy appetite and discernment for good musical food and then for them to be confronted with a permanent scarcity or even a worse danger, viz.: bad food, artfully disguised, and plenty of it. This point involves new food for both parents and teachers, who often regard musical education as a matter of finger or of voice. Until parents realize that, everything depends on the early years of their children's musical education, upon their being provided with opportunities to hear good music, or not hearing anything that is suspect.

Here is a new sphere of influence for the teacher—to influence and advise the parents. To educate the children without educating the parents is like trying to carry water in a pail with a hole in it. As pointed out in my previous article, here lies the reason for my suggesting a greater activity in our schools upon matters musical. No parent can instruct the child unless they qualify themselves for the guidance of their children's artistic taste into proper channels.

A Beautiful Art

A music teacher has to deal with the most beautiful, elusive, comforting and stimulating art in the world, because it is so subtle, so tender, so potent. Teachers who make it their life work, need to be equipped with all kinds of technical skill; the most highly developed sensibility and such a love and devotion to it as would bear the brunt of years of hard work. I say there is no branch of the teaching profession that makes so many demands upon the resources of the teachers as music. They require in abundance the gifts of the spirit, steadfastness, honesty, endurance, open-mindedness, sureness of opinion, cheerfulness under all conditions, sympathy, patience, persuasiveness, courage, a righteous and controlled wrath, imagination, elasticity, an extensive vocabulary and infinite resource.

Character Counts

Apart from natural gifts in music, it is the character or personality of the teacher that count for most. In passing, might I say that we have such in our city. It is also essential that teachers of music should be in touch with all kinds of human interests, and equally essential that they should not be too concentrated in any one direction. Because I believe there is a danger in specialization in any one direction of unbalancing those qualities that make for character. It is only by having a reserve of interests and experience that a hard working teacher can make his or her personality fresh.

Teachers' Qualifications

The child should be taught to listen to everything he or she played or sang, and to absorb it as something heard, and not as something done. It is by no means the rule that the brilliant performer, the gifted singer, produces the best results as a teacher; but some quite unobtrusive person who had, by years of experience, patient study, fitted himself or herself for the work. No selfish person, no narrow-minded pedant, no dilettante, no bluffer would ever make a good teacher. Only those who dreamed dreams themselves could ever be able to teach the young to see visions.

In closing, I say the teacher requires the hand of a magician, the mind of a seer, the persuasiveness of an Orpheus, the eye of a hawk, the ear of a terrier, the patience of Job, the optimism of Micawber, the physique of Hercules, the delicacy of a dragon fly, the courage of a lion, and the diplomacy of an archangel.

MORAL: Let us have teachers that are qualified.

MYSTERIES OF DIPLOMACY

No. 1.—THE AFFAIR OF THE RED WIDOW

WHEN, shortly before midnight on February 16, 1899, it was officially announced that Francois Felix Faure President of France, had dropped dead from an attack of apoplexy, several of the Parisian newspapers openly hinted at the fact that the true details of the President's death were being concealed from the public. One journal suggested that Faure had been murdered, another that he had committed suicide in order to escape a blackmailing plot and still others called attention to several of the details which failed to make a complete and convincing story of the death from natural causes. But, after causing little more than the proverbial "nine days sensation," the matters dropped out of the public prints and Paris generally ceased to speculate about the mystery which, nine years later, was destined to be revived in a most spectacular manner.

In May, 1908, the French capital was shocked by the news of a brutal murder and assault in the apartment of Madame Steinheil, a woman whose amazing beauty had made her renowned throughout the city and who had moved so freely in political circles that she was credited with being one of the unofficial tools of the Government. The dead bodies of M. Steinheil and Madame Japy, an elderly woman whom Mme. Steinheil had introduced as her mother, were found in the apartment and Mme. Steinheil herself was discovered gagged and strapped to a bedpost. According to the story of the woman who became known as "The Red Widow," burglars had broken into the apartment during the night, had committed the murders had bound and gagged her and had then looted the premises. A notorious Apache was arrested and tried for the crimes, but acquitted. Shortly afterwards, Paris was astounded to learn that Mme. Steinheil herself had been taken into custody on a charge of double murder.

The trial which ensued was one of the most sensational in the annals of French law—not only because of the beauty and prominence of the "Red Widow," but also because of the fact that it unexpectedly supplied a possible clue to the mystery surrounding the death of President Faure nine years previously. Mme. Steinheil was acquitted of the charges on which she was being tried, but an apparently well authenticated report was introduced into the testimony that, on February 16, 1899, President Faure had failed to keep an important engagement and that Madame Faure, having heard a rumor which connected her husband's name with that of the "Red Widow," had burst into the latter's apartment and found the President dead in a chair.

In order to cover up the scandal which threatened, Madame Faure summoned some trusted servants from the Palace and, after covering her husband's corpse with a large cloak, smuggled it back into the Presidential office where it was "discovered" by those who later gave the alarm. A number of the Parisian newspapers, in commenting upon the strange sequence of events which connected the Red Widow with the death of the former President of France, drew attention to the fact that Faure had been on the point of vetoing the decree for the revision of the Dreyfus case when his death occurred and also to the delay in Madame Steinheil's trial for murder which placed her beyond the possibility of any legal implication in the death of President Faure, owing to the statute of limitations.

But the Red Widow was formally acquitted and the mystery connected with what really happened in her apartment on that night in May, 1908, is as deep and as dark as that of the other strange happening there nine years before. The world will probably never know whether President Faure died of apoplexy in his own rooms, or whether he was murdered or committed suicide in the suite presided over by one of the strangest characters in history.

GERMANS MUST ASSIST RUSSIA.

But Hun Monopoly Spells Ruin For Britain.

LONDON, Feb. 10—(By Canadian Press.)—In the opinion of Sir Bernard Pares, professor of Russian in the University of London, and an authority on Russian affairs, anyone who dreams of excluding German economic enterprise from Russia during the reconstruction of that country would be an idiot because the uprooting of the Teuton would be a sheer impossibility. Further, he would be no true friend of Russia, to whom the help of the Germans is indispensable, the professor adds. The German must be there: the one essential thing is that they should not be there alone, but German monopoly spells to Great Britain ruin.

What will count for everything in the reconstruction of Russia, both economically and politically, Sir Bernard continues, is not who supplies the money, but who does the work and finds the workers. France, in the past, lent huge sums to the Russian autocracy and found that they only coummitted her to it, with all its economic ineptitudes. The German took their own money to Russia, worked it themselves under the Russian flag, and saw that they well got their money's worth. Now, as they well know, Russia is for them the "back door" by which they can escape the consequences of their defeat; German businesses are already planning to move thither wholesale.

The real history of Russia is beginning now. In the story of Russia's foreign relations, it is now that the roads fork: for Russia is not dead; she is coming to life. The new issues will not be decided by any military force: the presence in Russia of one trained professional Englishman will be worth far more than that of a thousand soldiers. It will everywhere be not Downing Street, but the individual Englishman who will carry the flag of England in Russia. If the Anglo-Saxon is not there and the field is left to the German, the inevitable result will be that there is no Russia. But if he is there, he will hold his own everywhere. He will be there to help Russia on to her own legs; the very alternative in the choice of her helpers will serve to safeguard her independence; and her friendship will go most readily to those who come not to exploit but to co-operate.

WHY IS IT?

Why does the barber cut your face,
And then, with fiendish art,
Rub caustic on the selfsame place
To make it burn and smart

Oh, tell us why th's selfsame guy,
When you've removed your collar,
Will do all that is told above,

Well, if the barber cut yours face
And robs you of your pelf,
The thing for you to do is just
To learn to shave yourself.
Then sack you for a dollar?

A FIGHTING TIME NEXT LEGISLATURE.

Such is the Forecast By Political Prophets — Heated Debates.

TORONTO, Feb. 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—The third session of the 15th legislature of the province of Ontario opens on February 14 and the political prophets are generally predicting a fighting time. It is argued, particularly by those who do not see eye to eye with the present government, that the opposition in the past two sessions held back from any very vigorous criticism of Premier Drury and his cabinet in order to give the farmer-labor regime a fair opportunity to make good, but that now it has had its chance and this session the administration will be attacked by both the Liberals and Conservatives with all the forces they are able to command. The government supporters claim not to be worried over this show of fighting qualities by their opponents and are prone to assert that the opposition, divided as it is against itself with an almost equal representation of those ancient enemies, Liberals and Conservatives, will not be able to even shake the government's hold on the affairs of the province.

Futile Amalgamation

However, students of provincial politics do not look for any amalgamation between the forces in opposition that would be sufficient to overthrow the government, for it must be remembered that if every M.L.A. not formally in the Farmer-Labor ranks, were to join against any government measure, the Drury administration would be outvoted. One of the arguments advanced against such a situation arising is that of political expediency, namely that the Liberals in Toronto would be loth to join with the Conservatives to overthrow the Farmers except in the most extreme circumstances, in view of the fact that the Liberal Government in Ottawa is relying on the Progressive Party's support in federal politics. Then there is the claim that the Liberal members of the legislature as a rule view the course of the Drury government with no little favor when all its efforts are considered.

While the government is expected to weather any attacks which will be levelled against it, political writers anticipate heated debates and a fairly lengthy session.

Hydro Matters

The most important debate will no doubt center around the hydro-radial and hydro-power matters, particularly the former. Premier Drury will probably definitely state the policy of his government early in the session as regards not only the hydro-radials but the Hydro-Electric Commission as well. While the details are not yet known, announcements of the premier that the government is for conservatism in committing the province in radial building until it is shown that the Chippawa Canal undertaking has been a financial success, has brought out the strongest condemnation by supporters of active hydro-radial development. The opposition, especially the Conservatives, claim they will launch the big drive of the session on this issue, standing for a vigorous policy in building electric railways.

There will be the question of disposal of timber lands. The government claims to have saved the province well over a million dollars by making the leaseholders on limits pay up money that the former Conservative government had made no effort to collect. The Conservative, opposition will claim that while the present government has made holders of leases obtained under the Hearst regime pay to the last penny, it has itself sold leases on terms unfavorable to the province.

Good Roads Question

There seems destined to be a long debate over the good roads record of the government and several members have promised to give Hon. F. C. Biggs a busy time defending the administration of his department, although the minister seems quite confident of doing so to the satisfaction of the public.

Of course no session of the legislature would be complete without a debate on the temperance question and there is no doubt, in spite of the fact that prohibition carried by such an imposing majority in the last referendum, still there are many opposed to it right in the legislature, and there will be a new move to moisten the province by one method or another, according to who brings it forward.

W. A. Crockett, M.L.A. for South Wentworth, has outlined a plan for government control of liquor selling, somewhat along the lines of British Columbia, but considerably more strict. It would provide for two quarts of liquor a month for each householder. "Crockett's crocks" as the proposal has been termed by heading writers will likely be one of the feature proposals in the temperance debate.

Horse Racing

Legislation in regard to horse racing is sure to cause a clash. Attorney General Raney was strongly for squeezing out betting at the races in any form, but as the federal government had the say on this question his past efforts in this regard were unsuccessful. With a Liberal Government in power in Ottawa, however, the two administrations may work with more harmony and take some steps that will tend to at least tighten up the strings on the gambling end of this sport.

An argument has been going on since the last session closed over redistribution. Liberals and Conservatives have been complaining that the rural sections have a far greater representation in the house in proportion to population than have the city districts. Hon. George Henry, Conservative member for East York, is credited with having a bill to introduce which would bring in representation based entirely on population.

Pour into three greased and floured layer-cake pans, and bake for twenty minutes. Full of Humour And Real Comedy

"The Old Maids' Convention" an Entertaining Occasion.

The George street Methodist Church Lecture Hall was filled to capacity last night for the presentation of the popular annual play of the Epworth League. There was no disappointment in store for those who went expecting a few hours of fun and entertainment, for "The Old Maids' Convention" is full of humour and no possibilities were overlooked by those in charge or by the players themselves.

Annual Event.

It was the annual convention of the Old Maids' Union with Peterboro as the convention city.

After the prologue by a mysterious figure in black gown and mask, Act I was presented—a street scene, a tall dignified policeman walking up and down George stret outside the convention hall. Soon the delegates began to arrive and the fun was on. In gowns and bonnets, antiquated but still beautiful, they they came laden with birdcages, band boxes, telescope valises, huge ear trumpets, and even a live black dog—the star performer by the way. A reporter, knowing that no men were allowed inside the hall, investigated and found a fine hiding place behind a screen.

Act II. found the convention assembling, admitted to the meeting place by the showing of a hand with a black M burned therton.

After much preening and primping in front of the mirror these "maids" of 40 to 60 settled themselves for the important business meeting. An address of welcome was given in splendid style by "Mayor Taylor," ex-mayor of Lindsay. In this he invited the delegates to accept the freedom of the city, spend their spare time in the parks, particularly Armour's Hill, and not to miss taking the trolley to Ashburnham.

Oh, Solitude.

The convention song, "Oh, Solitude," was sung with great feeling, as were the latter songs, all dealing with the same theme, tne scarcety of eligible men and the difficulty of catching them. In fact the singers at times broke down and wept, so deeply did they feel what they were singing.

The reading of the minutes of the last convention showed the purpose of these gatherings and the treasurer's report showed huge sums of money spent in the good cause for beauty powder, flowers for bachelors and matrimonial journals. The calling of the roll was responded to by beautiful sentiments, such as "Men may come and men may go, but I go on forever," "I wonder if the coming man will ever come," and "Ichabod, John, Bill or Sam, come and take me as I am."

A great deal of fun was caused by the entrance of a mouse which sent the president on top of her table and the rest of the fair ones all to places of safety, and the discovery of the man behind the scenes.

The Makeover.

Mrs. Miffkins, of New York, the product of a Frenchman, Professor Makeover's Act, was introduced and filled the delegates with the desire to also be renewed by his "Electric Transform(h)er."

Act III. showed him ready to make the ladies over and his art was truly marvellous until one lady's lack of veracity regarding her age put the machine out of commission.

During this act a pleasing programme was presented, made possible by the kindness of the following artists: Misses Jean McLaughlin, Muriel Harvey, Elva McIntyre and Margaret Skitch, and Messrs. Clifton Carruthers and Walter Outram. To these and to all who helped in any way to make the evening a success, is due the thanks of a large and appreciative audience.

A LITTLE BIT OF THE "OULD SOD"

An American "movie" man, in search of "local color" has happened in on a quaint old Irish village and the kiddies, like their ilk the world over, gather about him and serve as willing subjects. The setting is truly Irish, the thatched huts neatly whitewashed and set seemingly without regard to symmetry, give a touch of nondescript beauty to the scene that can be found in no other spot on this broad earth.

Mentor's Club Is Organized

Walter Smaill Heads the C. S. E. T. Movement Here.

On Wednesday evening the organization meeting of the Mentors' Club was held in the Y.M.C.A.. This club is conducted to give leaders and prospective leaders of boys' clubs throughout the city a more thorough knowledge of the C.S.E.F. program. After the election of officers the members decided to follow as near as possible the program suggested by the Provincial Boys' Work Board, and drew up a program for the following week. These meetings will be held weekly in the Y.M.C.A. from 7 to 8 p.m. Those interested in this work are asked to attend.

The following are the officers:
Mentor—W. Smaill.
Chief Ranger—W. Hamilton.
Sub-Chief—Almer Brown.
Tally—W. Trevor Miller.
Cache—Allan Doughty.
Heads of Departments: Physical—Chas. Elliott; Social—Bert Cutmore; Intellectual—Reg. Cuffe; Devotional—Fred. McNeely.

Trail Ranger names are used, since most of the leaders have groups of Trail Rangers.

REQUEST PROTECTION.

HAMILTON, February 10 (Canaditn Press). — The Irish Protestant Benevolent Society of this city has sent a telegram to Premier Lloyd-George expressing sympathy with Ulster, and asking him to grant justice and protection to the Northern Irish province.

TO BE BURIED ON ISLAND.

MONTE VIDEO, Uruguay, February 10 (Canadian Press). — The body of Sir Ernest Shackleton will be returned next month on board a Uruguayan training-ship for burial on the Island of South Georgia, near where he died, it was announced to-day.

GREEDY EYES ON CANADA.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Senator King, of Utah, to-day made public a plan by which he believes it may be possible for the United States to obtain a large slice of Canadian territory. This enterprising Senator thinks Canada should be willing to give up that portion of Quebec Province lying between the St. Lawrence and New York State, in return for a partnership agreement in the proposed St. Lawrence waterway.

PETERBORO DELEGATES MET SIR ADAM TO-DAY

Promises Report on Transportation for East City

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Representatives of the City Council of Peterborough met Sir Adam Beck this afternoon and urged upon him the necessity of extending the street railway system over the Hunter Street Bridge. The deputation told Sir Adam they would be satisfied with a trackless trolley or motor 'bus extension. The distance would be about one and a half miles.

The Hydro Chairman decided to get a report on the matter.

ACTION EXPECTED.

Representative delegations from many parts of Ontario were on hand this afternoon for the meeting of the Ontario Hydro Radial Association, where it is expected some line of action will be decided on in regard to the campaign for the construction of Hydro radials, and in opposition to findings of the Sutherland Commission. The address of Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, to the meeting this afternoon is expected to be along the lines of his statement issued last night.

FINED THREE TIMES ON A FIRST OFFENCE.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press).—That the man Voiszek had three times been fined for the "first offence" under the O. T. A., was brought out in the police probe to-day. It was told, too, that Louis Stander, court interpreter, had been his bondsman on all three occasions. There was no counsel present for the three suspended members of the police force, and these three were absent from the inquiry. They will be subpoenaed to be present, however.

FOUNDATION OF INTER-EMPIRE IMMIGRATION.

LONDON, February 10 (Canadian Press Cable). — "I am sure we shall succeed in placing a Bill which will lay the foundation for a great continuous scheme of State-aided emigration from these islands. I agree that the Bill should be as elastic as possible, to permit us to meet the views of the Dominion Governments, and that whatever help we will be able to give may be bestowed in the most effective manner."

This was the final sentence of the reply of the Hon. Winston Churchill to a deputation of the Royal Colonial Institute, who to-day urged inter-Empire immigration.

Final Price

Mr. Brown: Have you ever been into the little Candy Shop on Charlotte Street?

Mr. Jones: No. What Shop is it? I heard about it.

Mr. Brown: It's HAGGIS', No. 204 Charlotte Street—he sells the Best Candies, Chocolates, and Taffies, at the Lowest Prices, in the City.

Mr. Jones: How can he do it?

Mr. Brown: He only has a small Shop, and is out of the high rents, and can afford to do it.

Mr. Jones: By Joe! I must call and see what he has—and tell wife and kiddies, too.

Mr. Brown: Better try some of these Willard's Chocolates at 35c a Pound, or Neilson's Rosebuds at 39c a Pound. They are fine.

Mr. Jones: I sure will, the next time. Good-bye, Brown!

The Home Circle Column

THE PASSIONATE SWORD.
(By Jean Star Antermeyer).

Temper my spirit, oh Lord,
Burn out its alloy,
And make it a pliant steel for thy wielding,
Not a clumsy toy,
A blunt, iron thing in my hands
That blunder and destroy.

Temper my spirit, oh Lord,
Keep it long in the fire;
Make it one with the flame. Let it share
That up-reaching desire.
Grasp it thyself, oh my God;
Swing it straighter and higher.

We hear a great deal about the inadequacy of old-fashioned methods to deal with modern problems but often we wish that the modern mother might adopt a few old-fashioned ways of training. At least that is the best remedy we can suggest for inducing the children to take up once more a few of the courtesies which have unfortunately become so rarely used as to be considered old-fashioned.

One of the courtesies which has become sadly forgotten is the respect that is due old age. You see this lack everywhere, but more in the cities, perhaps, because there is more opportunity. Old people are jostled about on the street cars the same as anyone else and they are shoved from pillar to post quite regardless of their inability to take care of themselves.

There is no need of trying to plant this respect for the aged into a child's mind after he is grown. It is something that must be taught him from babyhood and it would be a good thing for America's manhood and womanhood if more mothers would realize this.

Growing old gracefully is a thing which most people, women especially, find it very difficult to do. Yet it adds so much to the charm of approaching age that it seems strange more of us cannot form the habit. Someone has said that blossom time cannot last forever — it must pass for all of us, and to try and stay it only hinders the seed time and the harvest, each one of which are quite as satisfactory if we can but acquire the faculty of growing old gracefully.

Any display of personal feelings or emotions in public is very bad taste to say at least, but there are a great many people who don't seem aware of this. They tell all their family affairs and personal history for everyone to hear. Many husbands and wives scrap so much in public we can't help wondering what sort of prize-fights they hold in private. Another thing is all this "spooning" which we see so much. We understand the new word for this is "petting," but our readers will understand what we mean. Can't some one impress on these enamored young things what fools they are making of themselves. It seems not. Experience is a bitter teacher but a thorough one.

With every approaching season we think that one is our favorite and just now we are all looking forward with keen enjoyment to the cool hazy days of fall. Fall days are such appetizers with their first tinge of sharpness in the air. And fall colors are so gorgeous, all the golden browns, the reds and the deep purples. Yes, just now fall seems to many of us our favorite season though we may be fickle and change again in a few months where we feel the stir of spring as "an instinct within us that reaches and towers."

Sometimes we get out of patience with the people whose feelings are, as we look at it, too easily hurt. Consequently we prepare to ride rough shod over those feelings and see if we can't harden them up a bit. But we never do. We only make them more tender. We cannot judge what created those tender feelings in the first place, so we are rather presuming on our position when we attempt to cure them. If we have any sensitive spots in our own feelings we know what it means to have them stepped on, so let us be a little careful in regard to the feelings of others.

A new idea appears in the coat-dress or robe manteau, as the French call it, developed in velvet or heavy woolen material and shown with a short circular cape and muff or fur. The muff is crescent shape.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Mixed Sulphur With It to Restore Colour, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn grey, streaked, and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked, or grey. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, grey, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all grey hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft, and luxuriant.

All old world monkeys, with one exception have the same number of teeth as man.

LINDSAY CURLERS RECOGNIZE HONOUR PAID TO FLAVELLE

Friendly enemies are the curlers of Peterborough and Lindsay. On the ice no quarter is asked or given beyond the traditional amenities of the game which in itself demands the highest ideals of sportsmanship. Victory over a Lindsay rink is usually something to expand upon when games are replayed in conversation, and to trim George Little, Larry O'Connor, or any of the other Lindsay stalwarts is better than a cycle of tankards. Probably the Peterborough curlers are held in the same awe, at any rate there is a local conviction that any one of a half dozen Peterborough skips could be chosen as a paladin worthy of any curling club.

This reciprocal respect has been deepened and mellowed by the sentiment which inspired the Peterborough club's recent tribute to J. D. Flavelle. At the opening of the local bonspiel last week the Peterborough curlers presented the Nestor of Canadian curling with a silver loving cup as a tangible token of their affection and esteem for Lindsay's curling peer. It was a fine gesture and in honouring Mr. Flavelle the Peterborough curlers reflexly honoured themselves.

A pleasing sequel to that incident, the memory of which will be cherished by all the curlers who witnessed it, is the letter of acknowledgment and appreciation received from the Lindsay club. It has been posted on the bulletin board and has elicited glowing expressions of gratification, not only upon the warm fraternal note it breathes but also upon the fact that the two clubs are united and brought more closely together in their common esteem for Mr. Flavelle.

The letter is as follows:

Lindsay, February 6, 1922.

The Officers and Members of the Peterborough Curling Club.

Dear Fellow-Curlers:

The gracious action of your club in uniting to honor Mr. J. D. Flavelle, the dean of the curling world, has given the keenest pleasure and satisfaction to every Lindsay curler.

By this generous recognition you have given expression to the feelings of the curling fraternity from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and there has been a united chorus of "Well done, Peterborough!"

For this tribute, so spontaneous, so generous, so kindly and so perfectly carried out, we in Lindsay, who honor and love Mr. Flavelle, beg you, as a club to accept the assurance of our deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks.

On behalf of the Lindsay Curling Club,

HERB. A. MIDDLETON,
President.
J. M. KNOWLSON,
Secretary.

A Little Sporting Gossip

Skating races in Peterborough are somewhat of a novelty nowadays, so that the Junior, Juvenile, and Midget championships to be held at the Brock Street Rink under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. next Tuesday night will likely attract a crowd. The young folks of both sexes will be given an opportunity to demonstrate their speed, and variation in the programme will be provided by a number of novelty races.

The announcement of a boxing and wrestling night, under the auspices of the P.A.A.A., to be held on Tuesday, 28th February, is another proof that the big local association believes in keeping something moving all the time. The bouts should provide a big evening's excitement and fun.

The Cobourg Juniors pass out of the picture as a result of their defeat in Lindsay last night but the Horse Show kids at least died game, and did not fade out until they had thrown a large-sized scare into the cocky Midgets. Beaten 4 to 3 at Cobourg, Jimmy Lavis' crew sailed into the Lindsay bunch with a vengeance last night, and at the end of the first period had the score tied on the round. Lindsay got back their one-goal lead in the second period, and won out on end by 5 to 3; but it was never easy sailing.

The Belleville-Peterborough Collegiate clash at Brock Street Rink to-morrow afternoon should prove a lively tilt. The Belleville team has been showing great form in the Eastern group race, and expect to win handily; but Ernie Legon and his Peterborough crew are in good form, and hope to set up a lead that will carry them through the round. The game is called for 2 o'clock, and there will be skating afterward. Tickets may be obtained at Bond's or Wright's, or from the Collegiate students.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"The ice wasn't hard, but the luck was."
Jimmy Lavis, Cobourg Manager.

The East Peterborough League, which Jake Solomon organised to keep the farmers from taking their politics too seriously, promises to have a bigger membership than ever in the coming season. Warsaw and Hiawatha will be two new applicants for a franchise, and it is likely both will be accommodated. They are already talking baseball, and are anxiously waiting for the season to open.

Just a suggestion to our friends of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs. Why not stage a hockey game between the two organisations for the benefit of the under-privileged boys of the city? Brock Street Rink would be crowded to the doors if the tw oorganisations ever met in mortal combat on the ice.

CHICAGO SPEED SKATER'S BIG DAY AT LAKE PLACID

LAKE PLACID, N.Y.—Feb. 10.—William Steinmetz, Chicago ice speedster, had things about his own way in the opening events of the Diamond Trophy Championship. By winning both the mile and 220 yard events Steinmetz, who won the international championship at Saranac Lake last week, took a big lead in the field of the five amateurs qualified to compete for the trophy. His day's work gave him sixty points.

Joe Moore of New York, who finished third in the 220 yard dash and second in the mile, earned thirty points. Roy McWhirter of Chicago, the United States champion, by winning second in the 220 yard dash and tying with Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid, for third place in the mile, has 25 points. Jewtraw gathered only 20 points, and Charles Gorman, of St. John, N.B., the other competitor, failed to place in either race.

The 220 yard dash, which opened the Diamond Trophy competition was a disappointment to the spectators, the time being 19 4-5 seconds, or one-fifth of a second slower than was made for the same distance in the Lake Placid Cup event, competed for by skaters who had failed to qualify for the more important match. Two of the preliminary heats of the second string contest also equalled the mark of the picked field.

A Bad Start

Jewtraw, who holds a record of 19 1-5 seconds for 220 yards, was expected by many to win the event. Immediately following the crack of the pistol he lost his stride and went down to one knee. He had drawn the outside position and this together with his mishap, proved fatal to his chances. Steinmetz drew the pole and with McWhirter, second Gorman, third and Moore, fourth, Jewtraw tried to get into the race but without success. A few minutes later the second string skaters thrilled the crowd with a more exciting exhibition. Paul Forsman of New York, won a spirited race, with Eddie Gloster of Toronto second, and Leslie Boyd of Lake Placid, third.

The Mile Event

The mile event among the Diamond Five was more spectacular. Gorman and Steinmetz set the pace in the early laps with all the men well bunched. Then Steinmetz took the pole and shot into the lead. Jewtraw was on the outside and in the rear with the others bunched at the last turn, but he then sprinted and caught up with the others, all five coming down the stretch close together. Steinmetz breasted the tape an instant ahead of Moore, while Jewtraw and McWhirter were tied for third place.

Richard Donovan of St. Paul, won the three-quarter-mile race for the Lake Placid Silver Trophy, coming to the front with a burst of speed a yard ahead of Harry Kasky, who finished second, and Gus Fetz of Chicago, who came in third.

Summary of Races

One Mile Diamond Trophy Race—Won by William Steinmetz, Chicago; Joe Moore, New York, second; Roy McWhirter, Chicago, and Charles Jewtraw, Lake Placid, tied for third. Time 2 minutes, 56 seconds.

220 Yards, Lake Placid Cup Final—Won by Paul Forsman, New York; Eddie Gloster, Toronto, second; Leslie Boyd, Lake Placid, third. Time 19 3-5 seconds.

Three-Quarter Mile, Lake Placid Cup, Final—Won by Richard Donovan, St. Paul; Harry Kasky, Chicago, second; Gus Fetz, Chicago, third. Time 2 minutes, 20 seconds.

Half-Mile Race for Boys of 14—Won by Carl Purody, Lake Placid; Earl Finch, Lake Placid, second; Kenneth Randall, Lake Placid, third. Time 1 minute, 32 2-5 seconds.

220 Yards Race for Boys of 10—Won by Eugene Shea, Lake Placid; Philip Proctor, Lake Placid, second; Elvey Betters, Lake Placid, third. Time 25 2-5 seconds.

"BIG TOWN IDEAS"

A PERFECT REFLECTION

AT THE THEATRES

GRAND—"Evangeline," a picture of the most sublime drama in the history of literature.

ROYAL—"The Lady From Longacre," "One Moment, Please," "Big Town Ideas," and Comedy—15 reels.

CAPITOL—The cleanest and cleverest comedy ever made on events of the great war, entitled "Three Live Ghosts." Balance of the offering consists of special productions.

REGENT—Marie Prevost in "Nobody's Fool," a joyous comedy of sparkle and pep and a big Paramount feature.

AT THE ROYAL.

To-night the Royal presents a double bill of two specially selected Fox features. "Big Town Ideas," with Eileen Percy in the leading role, is a detection story with comedy as its foundation. Fan Tildlen, whilst engaged in making griddle cakes at a village railroad restaurant, craves for life in a big city. She pities a handcuffed youth she sees being fed in the restaurant whilst en route to prison for a term of ten years for bond robbery. She believes the young man to be innocent, and the story shows how she established his innocence and caused the capture of the real thieves. An exciting drama with a pleasing wind-up. "The Lady From Longacre," whilst popping over with fun and laughter-impelling scenes, is a strong drama of life amongst aristocrats, when the hero, himself a nobleman by birth, is a pronounced democrat by instinct and choice. It is the story of true sportsman of British blood, whose actions are not influenced by narrow-minded bigotry. If you like comedy see the Sunshine Comedy. It is just one long continuous laugh from start to finish. The second reel shows the adventures of an elderly man, who tries to "mash" a lady bather at Coney Island. We hate to spoil the story for you, but the maid the old chap is after proves to be a man in disguise, that is, if a lady's bathing suit can be called a disguise. There will be two extra comedies for to-morrow afternoon, when children will be admitted for five cents.

AT THE GRAND.

"EVANGELINE"

Longfellow's immortal poem, "Evangeline", was presented here in picture form for the first time last evening, at the Grand Opera House, and a thrilled audience watched the pathetic and beautiful story unwind itself on the silver sheet, in a production that differed in no way from the written version of the loves and woes and bitter parting of the angelic Evangeline Bellefontaine and Gabriel Lajeunesse.

Filmed in the midst of the soft rural beauty of the Acadian farmlands, the trees of the "forest primeval" and the spray of moonlit waters form a fitting background for the sweet unfolding romance of the meek and gentle maiden and her manly, upstanding young lover. Into the village of Grand Pre, with its atmosphere of peaceful pastoral beauty and quiet content, with its pet lambs, rollicking children, its quiet game of checkers in the evening for the seniors, and walks on quiet beaches for the young pair, breaks the rude soldiery, on the wedding-morn of the lovely maiden a simple wedding with frolicksome village dances and oxen-drawn coach. They demand that deportations commence at once.

There is the bewildered herding of the simple farmers to the waiting ship, the death of Evangeline's father and his burial on the shore, "without bell or book" the separation of Evangeline from her lover and the commencement of her long and weary search, which culimates finally in the pesthouse. The tall palms of the Louisiana plantations, the trek if Gabriel wetward which ends in an Indian massacre, the record of the girl's long and patient search are depicted with a faithful attention to detail, costume and background which makes this an essentially worth-while picture, one of dreamy beauty and romantic interest.

Several amusing short reels precede the feature, and two solos by Miss Hilda Frances Kilgore, whose attractive presence and lovely, sympathetic voice, with its sweet, high tones and deep, rich feeling were received with much applause, complete an entertaining programme

REX STOCK COMPANY.

When Rex and his company return to the Grand next Monday for their farewell performance, the special closing play selected will be one of the very best comedies yet presented during their long run in Peterborough.

George Cohen's international success, "Stop Thief," is the selection for the farewell, and all the large following in Peterborough of this clever company should make a special effort to be present one of the three nights to show Rex the appreciation we have for giving us all this season, the very best plays procurable at Pre-War prices.

Let us all boost for this final three nights, and we are sure the play of "Stop Thief" will keep everybody in the best of spirits from start to finish. Everyone in the company is happily cast in good parts, and new specialties will be introduced between acts.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"Spoofy" was abroad on the streets of Peterborough yesterday afternoon with a baby carriage and a horn that caused a good deal of damage to the nerves of feminine pedestrians. And he was present in full form on the screen at the Capitol last night, with his goat and his baby and his carriage full of money and jewelry.

"Three Live Ghosts," erratic and joy-producing, cavorted through a couple of hours of amusing film adventures, during which time they get entangled in all sorts of exciting mix-ups. The shell-shocked duke, the American dough-boy and the cockney are the "three pals forever" and they stick together through thick and thin, in a series of misadventures that takes them to the ship's hold as stowaways, involves them in burglary and kidnapping, brings them into the clutches of the police, and lands them in jail, with several serious charges preferred. The event which embroil the American's sweetheart and the Duke's wife as their accusers, and the quick getaway of the Duke with the incriminating jewels are laughable in the extreme, and the whole production is a solid mirth-maker from beginning to end.

The usual entertaining short reels and a good "Torchy" comedy wind up an interesting programme, that includes one of the Nick Carter detective episodes, complete in one showing. A line-up at the Capitol box office last evening that extended for some distance and a packed house evidenced the interest taken in the mirthful production of the adventures of the three shell-shocked veterans.

AT THE REGENT.

To-day the Regent Theatre presents a very interesting variety programme. The first on the bill, "News of the News," deals with the adventures of a young man in connection with the news gathering department of a metropolitan daily. The next item, "Eddie Polo," in the Cyclone Smith series of pictures, is a rapid moving Western mining camp story, full of action, which holds your interest from start to finish. The next is a fine "Goldwyn" feature, starring the well-known actress, "Vivian Martin," in heart interesting drama, "The Song of the Soul." She takes the part of the little blind girl Barbara in the play, which is founded on one of W. J. Locke's novels, "An Old World Romance." Miss Martin has never done better work than her portrayal of the leading character in this story. We next have little Peggy and her clever dog in a fine little comedy romp; and next the vivacious little screen star from Chatham, Ont., Miss Marie Prevost, in a very laughable comedy drama, entitled "Nobody's Fool." In this Miss Prevost plays the lively flapper part to perfection.

BOXING AND WRESTLING EVENTS ARRANGED FOR END OF FEB'Y

By way of bringing boxing and wrestling enthusiasts to the front, a committee of the P.A.A.A. will put on a programme of it and mat competitions on Tuesday, February 28, probably at Victoria Hall. This programme will pave the way for a renewal of activities in these branches of sport. Rough House performers will have no part in the proceedings. Local entertainers will be secured for the event, and the committee are confident of success. Jerry Coughlin represents the Holy Name Society on the committee.

Next Tuesday night at Brock street rink a number of skating races will be held, with a "poverty" dance and skating following. There will be a couple of open events for the ice-racers.

The executive of the P.A.A.A. held a meeting last night and received reports dealing largely with hockey. Arrangements were completed for the ladies' hockey team to play in Campbellford to-night. Ted Jackson will accompany the team.

the ladies' curling series yesterday were as follows:

Mrs. V. Eastwood, 10, vs. Mrs. R. M. Waddell, 7.

Miss E. Morrow, 6, vs. Mrs. H. O. Fisk, 5.

Mrs. V. Eastwood and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, having won six out of the seven games played by them, will now have to play off for the trophy, a game which will be especially interesting, and which will be played off as soon as the ice and the men's games permit.

NO SCHOOL GAMES TO-MORROW

On account of the mild weather and the fact that the ice has to be saved for the Belleville-Peterborough Collegiate game to-morrow afternoon, there will be no games in the Junior School League at Brock street rink to-morrow morning.

GIRLS' HOCKEY AND BASKETBALL GAMES

Local girls who go to Campbellford tonight for the second out of town hockey game by the girl players are: —Misses Alberta Curtis, Ethel Currie, Flossie Pammett, Alice Ebbs, Marguerite Holmes, Hazel Jackson and Eileen Murray.

An exciting game in the girls' basketball series will be staged at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow evening when the young ladies meet the Toronto aggregation for a return game Peterboro was defeated in the Queen City last week, but the girls expect to give their competitors a good run for their money this time. Those playing on the local line-up will be the Misses Madeline Pullenghorn, Aileen Wade, Burness Pidgeon, Thelma Paxman, Gertrude Kirn, Carrie Coones and Irene Cale.

Indoor Ball League Final

An interesting event will be run off in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Saturday afternoon when the play-off between the winners of the first and second rounds of the Indoor Baseball league will take place. The winning team will receive the custody of the cup donated by the Association for some form of team game competition each year. The event promises to be full of pep for both teams won handily in their rounds, the Iroquois under the captainship of Gordon Pogue winning the first and the Algonquins, under Glen Morphet the second.

Coupled with this game of Indoor Baseball the Trail Rangers of St. John's church will meet the representatives of the Junior School class in a game of basketball.

HOCKEY

SPORT GOSSIP

Minor league base ball teams are composed of three classes of players:

First, there are the former major leaguers, veterans whose sun has set on the base ball horizon and who are desired only for their experience and because of their names which continue to draw a certain number of patrons to minor league parks.

Second, there are the players who have been called to the major league lots and sent back to the minors for more experience. They are the most valuable players to a minor league owner because they have recognized ability and are playing at top speed to win back a place in the big leagues.

Third come the youngsters, just breaking into organized base ball, players who are trying hard to come into a major league opportunity.

Every player you see in the minors belongs to one of these three classes.

Probably in no sport does the substitute come through with the success that he does in boxing. We should say that more than one-half of the top-liners in boxing today, first sprang into prominence by acting as substitute for some fighter that could not fulfill his engagement.

It is a matter of record that last winter at Madison Square Garden, Leo P. Flynn, the matchmaker, was compelled to use 11 substitutes during the season and every one of the 11 substitutes won his fight.

A REVIVAL IN GOLD MINING.

Nova Scotia Companies Enlarge Plants.

HALIFAX, N.S., February 10. — According to reports received by the Provincial Department of Lands and Mines, there will be considerable revival of gold mining in Nova Scotia this year. Many prospectors have taken out licenses, and old companies have been enlarging their plants.

Gold mining has been carried on in this Province for over a century, but the production has not been large, the greatest annual output being valued at $580,000. Between 8162 and 1920 the production was 967,457 ounces, which at a valuation of $19.00 per ounce was worth $18,229,683. The annual production has ranged between 20,000 and 30,000 ounces.

Nova Scotia gold is derived entirely from vein workings. The auriferous quartz bearing veins occur in groups running parallel to one another in a system of Anticlinal domes. The Atlantic shore from Canso to Yarmouth is occupied by the auriferous strata. The width of this district varies from ten to forty miles, and the area in which gold occurs is estimated to 3,000 square miles.

TIMES ARE LEAN FOR STAGE FOLK

Only 15,000 Actors in U.S., and Half Are Without Jobs, Say Some Actors.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—There are to-day more unemployed actors and other stage people walking along Broadway, and a hundred Main Streets looking for jobs than ever before.

Tailors, landladies and boarding house owners seem to feel the hard times as acutely as the actors. They have sought a great many judgments in recent weeks against stage folk who overlooked paying their bills.

In other large cities conditions are just as bad, according to the heads of producing concerns and organizations of actors. Several managers estimate that half of the 15,000 actors in the United States, exclusive of vaudeville performers, are out of work. The Actors' Equity Association said the number was not that large, but was 20 per cent. worse than usual.

WEDDING BELLS

BEWS—TOVELL.

At Sydenham, on Saturday, Feb. 4, a quiet wedding took place, when Alene Marie, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. Tovell, was married to Douglas Waldron Bews, B.Sc., of Port Hope. The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Isaac Tovell, of Toronto, uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. Geo. Stafford, the pastor, under the ivy arch in the living-room. The bride was dressed in a simple gown of white satin brilliant, trimmed at hem and sleeves and low waist line with wide bands of point de Venice lace, the straight court train falling from the slender shoulders, lined with bride's blush georgette. Her veil, simply arranged, was thickly sprinkled with butterflies of fine Brussels lace, and her shower bouquet was of cream roses and freezias. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Bews left on the afternoon train for Ottawa and Algonquin Park, the bride travelling in a spring hat of French blue silk, navy tricotine costume, with touches of blue and wearing an opossum trimmed Hudson seal coat, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Bews will reside in Port Hope, where Mr. Bews is resident engineer on the Peterborough, Port Hope, Belleville section of the Provincial highways.—Toronto Globe of Feb. 9th.

CADSKI OPENS SUIT FOR $500,000.00.

Accuses Chicago Opera Company of Slander in Announcing Cancelling of Contract.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Madame Johanna Gadski Tauscher, the opera singer, who is better known as Madame Gadski, began suit in the Federal Court against the Chicago Opera Association, Inc., for $500,000 damages for alleged slander. The suit is a faint echo of the war, because it grows out of an alleged violation of contract and a statement that the plaintiff, because of her German birth and citizenship, would not be welcomed by American audiences.

The complaint states that about Nov. 3, 1921, the plaintiff was engaged to sing the role of Isolde in the opera "Tristan and Isolde," which was to be presented by the defendant in Chicago. Plaintiff's compensation was to be $1,500 for each performance. She prepared herself for the part, the plaintiff states, but could not induce the defendant to set the dates for her appearance. It is alleged in the complaint that this delay was to prevent others from engaging her either for opera or for concert and that, therefore, she was deprived of the opportunity of entering into lucrative work.

$1.00 TRIBUTE TO EX-WIFE

Not a Slur, but Recognition, Says Guatemalan Consul in Will.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. — The will of Manuel Dieguez, the late Consul General for Guatemala, in New York left only $1 to his divorced wife, Alda Moreno Dieguez, who now lives in California with her three children. In directing his present wife, Frida Dieguez, to pay this sum, descendent said "it is in no sense a slur upon her character, for she ever was a good wife to me, but rather a recognition of her sterling worth as a wife."

The estate valued at $5000, went to the widow.

DEVELOP TASTE FOR FROGS AND SNAILS.

LONDON, February 10 (Canadian Press). — According to epicurean authorities in London, Englishmen are developing a taste for frogs and snails, the supply of which is to be doubled. The daily supply now is respectively 250 and 200 of each.

Caught in the vineyards of France, where they live on insects and leaves of the grape, the snails do not reach the table till they have been through an elaborate process in the kitchen. They appear on the menu of hotels as "Escargots Bourguignonne." Six are served as a portion, and the price is 3s 6d.

Only the hind legs and the saddle of frogs, or "Grenouille Meuniere," as they are called on the menu, are eaten, but the price for a portion, to which six complete frogs contribute, is 6d more than for snails.

FRENCH WHEAT CROP EXCEEDS ALL ESTIMATES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Reports to the United States Department of Agriculture from its representative in Paris state that the 1921 French wheat crop probably exceeds all estimates. This fact, the report states, will have but little effect upon 1922 importations because the stocks remaining from the 1920 harvest were small and the consumption of 1921 wheat started one month earlier than usual, while the 1922 prospects for most French crops, and particularly for wheat, are very poor. Weather conditions prevented sowing in many districts.

DEVELOP FISHERIES.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., February 10.—In order to assist the development of the herring fishery, the creation of a Newfoundland Fishing Board, non-political, and having functions and powers similar to the Fisheries Board of Scotland, is being advocated by the St. John's Board of Trade. This Board would encourage the more general adoption of the "Scotch Cure" and other "improved methods" of preserving fish, and would see that herrings exported were of a standard quality.

RICKARD ACCUSED BY A FOURTH GIRL

Child Found on a Farm in Case of Fighter Adds Charges Against Promoter.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.— Nathan Podd, a former prize fighter and more recently a strike-breaker in the coal fields of West Virginia, yesterday was held in $10,000 bail by Justice Wasservogel of the Supreme Court, sitting as a Magistrate. He was arraigned on a charge of feloniously bribing and threatening Nellie Gasko, 13 years old, of 725 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, to prevent her appearance as a witness against Tex Rickard, the prize fight promoter, on a charge made by a girl companion. Podd, whose right name is Podbransky, according to Acting District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora, was arrested on Tuesday with the Gasko girl by agents of the Children's Society on a farm at Wappinger Falls, near Poughkeepsie.

TO PUT PEP IN THE OLD AND SENILE

Vienna Discoverer of Method to "Retard Senility" Invited to Visit America.

OTHERS BENEFIT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Professor EugeneSteinach,the Vienna biologist who has developed a method intended to ward off senility by means of a simple operation, is expected to visit this country within a year to demonstrate his methods with better laboratory facilities than Vienna at present affords.

Hundreds of persons, including Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the Austrian surgeon, now in this city, have undergone in Europe the operation for "rejuvenation" developed by Dr. Steinach. The method has also been employed in about ten cases in this country by Dr. Harry Benjamin of 237 Central Park west, who studied under Dr. Steinach, and who described Steinach's method in a paper read at the Academy of Medicine last November.

Dr. Lorenz said that he had been "very much rejuvenated" as a result of the operation performed in Vienna shortly before he started for America. Anton Wedl of 105 East Fifteenth street, at whose home the Austrian surgeon was found last evening, spoke for Dr. Lorenz when he was asked about reports that he had undergone the operation developed by Professor Steinach.

"Yes, the professor had the operation," said Mr. Wedl. "He was very much rejuvenated by it. He had been very sick as a result of his work, and the operation was performed for some organic trouble. This was on April 1st, 1921—an unlucky date, you see. But it was a lucky one for Dr. Lorenz. Professor Victor Blum, a noted surgeon of Vienna, performed the operation. Professor Steinach is not a surgeon, you know. Early last year Dr. Lorenz was very much run down. Now the young people get tired when they see him working."

The Exact Claim.

Steinach's exact claim, according Dr. Benjamin, is that "within modest limits the process of becoming senile can be influenced." "He does not wish to exaggerate the importance of his method," said Dr. Benjamin. "I would prefer to use the word 'restitution' rather than 'rejuvenation.' What the Steinach method does is to retard senility. Operations already performed have proved that senility can be retarded, and that a man who had reached a condition where he has had to give up his hpysical and mental work, can be improved so that he can perform that work."

By the Steinach method, Dr. Benjamin explained, the patient does not receive the gland secretion of a monkey or any foreign substance, but his own glandular activity is revived and strengthened. This is accomplished by an incision and a binding of a canal, called vaso-ligature, which stimulates an important gland necessary for the maintenance of mental and physical strength.

Some of the results of operations by the Steinach method which had come under Dr. Benjamin's observation, he said, were restoration of failing memory, strengthening of sight and hearing, gains in weights and in mental and physical vitality and growth of pigmented hair.

Dr. Benjamin, who is a specialist in internal and nervous diseases, has performed the Steinach method operation only in cases that have come to him in his own practice. All these have been since his return from Vienna in October, where he spent three months in Dr. Steinach's laboratory.

One man, a college professor in Pennsylvania, upon whom the operation was performed, had been troubled with very bad hearing. Now he writes he is able to hear an alarm clock tick. "I experience a buoyancy and a general feeling of well-being that I have not had for some time," he adds. Another, according to Dr. Beniamin, complained before the operation of always feeling tired and of fearing that his memory was slipping. "Now," says the physician, "his memory is restored and he reports that he enjoys plenty of mental as well as physical vitality."

Notorious Gambler Plays His Last Hand in Deal With Death

NEW YORK, February 11 (Canadian Press). — News reached here to-day of the death at Havana of W. J. (Doc.) Owens, a notorious gambler, and one of the greatest card manipulators of his time. He operated on the Atlantic liners, and is said to have won $200,000 from William Thaw, of Pittsburg, in a trip in 1916, although both denied the story.

When he arrived from England on the liner Majestic in 1905, he was presented with a loving cup by the passengers for refraining from playing during the voyage.

Tourists Coming, Egypt Dusts Off Her Pyramids

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Down on the banks of the Nile the head sheik is busily engaged in directing the assistant sheik to hurry up and dust off those pyramids.

Native factories are working day and night in turning out scarabs, dols, terra-cotta tear bottles—all kinds of ancient curios—to be hidden in the sand near the tombs and dug up accidently when the tourists arrive.

All this is going on because Egypt, after a lapse of eight years, is expecting the tide of winter travel to turn back to greet an American tourist crop estimated in advance at 6,000.

This figure comes from Charles A. Baehler, managing director of the Egyptian Hotels, Ltd., who has spent 32 seasons in Cairo and expects to see a record tourist season during the next four months.

Political agitators, in fact, have agreed to cease their rioting and anti-British carrying-ons, declaring a closed season so far as not to interfere with the flow of dollars from tourists' pockets.

There's one particular sheik who is training up on that old stunt of his—done for years at the bidding of the man from Cook's. He shinnies to the top of the pyramid and down again in less than five minutes for wagers put up by Americans, who hope to see him slip and break his Egyptian neck—but he never does, and thereby earns a good living.

And the sad-eyed camels, in the meantime, are being dusted and the patches in their hides repaired with jackal's fur.

OLD BILL NOW IS DOWN AND OUT

Was Original Character in the "Better 'Ole"—A Hard Luck Story.

LONDON, Feb. 11.— (Canadian Press)—"After tramping 2,000 miles through the south of England and the Midlands, and two trips across to France, earning a living by selling picture postcards of himself and his history, 'Old Bill,' the original character in Bainsfather's 'Better 'Ole,' and two other famous war sketches, is down on his luck. He cut a tragic figure as he entered Fleet Street recently. Clad partially in khaki, and a wooly vest, with a tall hat emblazoned with postcards, he had slung over his back a big square of cardboard inscribed in black letters:

"AFTER YEARS OF HELL, DISABLED AND RUINED FOR LIFE."

Similar notices hung from the sides of his worn perambulator, in which was a gramophonet, a tin helmet, and other war relics. Tucked compactly underneath was the sleeping kit, in which, when tramping between towns, he enfolds himself at night.

Born and educated in Bristol, Albert Edward Fricker, to give his real name, was for many years in the mercantile marine.

He was accepted in London, in December of 1914 for the Royal Field Artillery.

Found cutting a comrade's hair at a camp near Aldershot, he was forthwith appointed regimental barber, and was dubbed "Old Bill the Barber."

He arrived on the Western Front in time for the first battle of Loos.

"We had not much choice of "oles" or ditches in those days", he told a "Daily News" man. It was a job then to find a "Better 'Ole."

"I used to clip my pals' hair in the open, and one day I was threatened with seven days' punishment for displaying a poster showing the shaggy heads of the men before and their bald heads after I had done with them.

"Captain Bairnsfather was attached to one of the units along my sector, and used to pick up his sketches when moving along the line.

"I suppose he hit on me for his skits because at that time I was a bit of a character.

"After those 35 days and nights of gruelling on the Somme, I was wounded near Mametz Wood, and on coming home was recommended for discharge, but was sent to the Balkans, where I was frozen in the saddle of a transport mule, and after being in hospital returned to England and discharged.

"I was given a disablement pension, and went to work at Woolwich Arsenal, staying there until I had to leave through T.N.T. poisoning.

"Last Easter I was re-examined by a medical board, and recommended for treatment in a neuroligical institute.

"Upon seeing the place at Epsom, I decided that I should be driven mad there by the surroundings, and that I had better accept the advice of the family doctor and try Nature's cure by living an open-air life.

"This treatment has benefitted me wonderfully, though I shall never be as fit as I was before the war.

"Because I refused to accept the treatment specified by the Medical Board my pension was stopped, and I have to earn a living in the only way open to me."

HELPFUL ADDRESS CHILD INFLUENCE

Dr. R. C. Blagrave Was the Speaker at School Association Meeting.

Those who heard Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave at the Queen Mary Home and School Association meeting last evening listened to one of the most eloquent and helpful addresses that have been given in the city in some time. Dr. Blagrave, taking as his subject, "The Child," discussed the various influences in a child's life which make that child.

We are studying this matter from a scientific standpoint, and we must first consider the mental and moral assets of the child and then the influences of the community. These latter shape its character more than we realize, and we, as a community centre, are responsible. We must furnish the right atmosphere. Our values are its values, and if we would give the child the very best outlook on life, we must cultivate in it a sense of right, duty and religion. We must make it self-reliant and self-independent. We must show him his importance in the world.

Dr. Blagrave dwelt especially on the religious influence we may have over children. Children are naturally very responsive, and it is our duty to give them the right religious environment. This must begin in the home, and when we do this in the right way, we shall find the problem of the child an easier one to solve.

The Under-Privileged.

In speaking of the under-privileged and mentally deficient child, Dr. Blagrave emphasized the necessity of a Juvenile Court in Peterborough.

Those contributing to the pleasure of the evening with musical numbers were Miss Leota Wilson and Miss Dorothy Ferguson, and Miss Marion McLean gave a reading.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows:

Hon. President, Mrs. S. T. Medd. President, Mrs. Johnston. 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Hall. 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. E. W. Borbridge. 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. E. Puttick. 4th Vice-President, Mrs. Shiner. Secretary, Mrs. Adair. Treasurer, Mrs. Hetherington. Convenors of Committees—Programme, Mrs. McLean; Refreshments, Mrs. Wilson; Visiting Mrs. McDuffy; Reception, Mrs. Connolly.

"BEGINNINGS THAT LEAD DOWNWARD."

The Subject of Rev. Mr. Rollins' Address at St. Andrew's To-Morrow Night.

Every one through life is confronted with dangers which if not successfully combatted, have a very deterrent effect on their lives.

On Sunday evening the pastor of St. Andrew's church will take as his subject "Beginnings that lead downward" and will give a sympathetic inteerprtation of some insidious dangers we all have to face.

The following musical numbers il be rendered:

Solo—Just for To-day—Mr. R. Bron.

Duet—I'm a Pilgrim—Weebstr — Mrs. Park and Mrs. Turner.

Red Sympathizers Enlist Prominent Officials and Others For Famine Relief — Oppose Hoover Fund.

HAVE $500,000.

The appended story from Washington wil be of interest to Peterboro citizens in view of recent appeals addressed to local bodies such as the Trades and Labour Council and others.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Under the pretext of the collection of funds for Russian famine sufferers, the sympathizers with Russian Bolshevism in the United States are being gathered into a vast nation-wide organization, to which Senators, Governors, Bishops and many other eminent persons have lent their names.

Apparently, in many cases, these distinguished persons are not aware that the American Federated Russian Famine Relief Committee, on whose letterhead their names appear, is working in close connection with organizations of avowed Communist sympathies, such as the Friends of Soviet Russia, nor that this latter organization has denounced the relief work conducted in Russia under Herbert Hoover as dependent on "imperialistic and reactionary conditions," nor that the Russian Red Cross, which is the agency though which the funds raised by these bodies are sent to Russia, is virtually a semi-official organ of the Soviet government.

In a pamphlet issued by this new "Russian Red Cross"—to be carefully distinguished from the Russian Red Cross which operated for many years under the old Government—it is said that the work of the Red Cross is to be conducted in countries where the governmental agencies do not exist.

What this rather obscure statement may mean is perhaps explained by the fact that the funds which are collected here by the Russian Famine Relief Committee are to be used for food which will be distributed by Soviet officials, and that the organizations with which this body is working here—the Friends of Soviet Russia. Medical Relief to Soviet Russia, and Russian Red Cross, are under the direction of men who were connected more or less closely with Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the unrecognized "Ambassador" of the Bolshevist Government, who was deported from America some time ago.

Friends and admirers of the Russian Soviet system form most of the personnel of these organizations, though not of the distinguished advisory board of one of these on the letterheads.

Information Governor Davis Got.

In at least one case, however, a man who was asked to serve on the advisory board of one of these organizations had heard something that made him suspicious. This was Governor Davis of Idaho, who telegraphed to the Department of Justice for information as to the character of these various relief committees. He got the following reply:

"Following relief committees are officered and managed by well known communists or sympathizers: Friends of Soviet Russia, Russian Red Cross, Medical Relief to Soviet Russia, and American Federated Russian Famine Relief Committee. Officers, among others, comprise Dr. Dubrowsky and Dr. Jacob Hartman, formerly connected with Ludwig Martens. Such portion of their funds or supplies as are transmitted to Russia are shipped to the Soviet officials for distribution by them.

"These organizations are aparently opposed to the American Relief Administration which handled Congressional appropriations and distributes its supplies under American direction, as is shown by the letterhead of the Friends of Soviet Russia which bears this statement: 'Our principle—we make the working class appeal. Give not only to feed the starving but to save the Russian workers' revolution. Give without imposing imperialistic and reactionary conditions as do Hoover and others.

Governor Davis's name, in consequence, is not to be found on the letterheads.

LITTLE HOPE LOWER FARES STREET CARS

Would Rather Sell Street Railway to City Than Undertake Extensions—'Bus Wouldn't Pay in East City.

LOWER GAS RATES?

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, yesterday morning told a deputation from Peterborough that asked for transportation for the East Ward, that he did not think any one had the courage to ask the government to make capital expenditure on a street railway which was losing money.

He said they would save by putting on one-man cars entirely on this system, and the Commission had recommended this, but it had not yet been approved.

He said if they could get one-man cars and the government to write down the capital and sell the railway to the city on a basis that would pay, a solution might be found to the perplexing local situation.

Wouldn't Pay.

A 'bus, he said, wouldn't pay. The Commission had tenders on trackless trolley 'buses and intended to experiment with them. He said he had seen them in the Old Country and thought they were a great success for certain districts.

If the city wished to put on a trackless trolley bus on the East Ward, the Commission he said, would probably recommend that it be operated by the Commission. He was asked in case the city put on a "gas" bus if the Commission would make arrangements for the transfers between the bus and the street railway, and he said they would consider it.

No Lower Fares.

In regard to street car fares he promised the Commission would consider if any change could be made, but he didn't hold out any hope for lower rates other than giving for the present four tickets for 25 cents for any hour of the day.

Mayor W. H. Taylor suggested the street railway construct a shelter at the river terminus of the railway, and Sir Adam spoke very favorably of this suggestion.

As to a reduction in gas rates, which was suggested, he said the Commission had that under consideration at the present time.

It was pointed out by the chairman that the auditors had recommended if the municipalities in the Central Ontario district wished to acquire the power and transmission lines in this district so as to place them in the same position as they are in Western Ontario, that the government dispose of them to the municipalities and take four per cent. 40 year bonds.

The Deputation.

The deputation from Peterborough which consisted of Mayor W. H. Taylor, Ald. H. Gainey, chairman of the Railways committee, Ald. James Hamilton, chairman of the Power and Manufacturers' committee, E. F. Mason, Utilities Commissioner, and City Clerk S. R. Armstrong, saw the Commission in the morning, and in the afternoon attended the meeting of Hydro-Electric municipalities called by Mayor C. F. Maguire of Toronto. There was a large attendance at the meeting, which was held at City Hall, with the Mayor of Toronto presiding. Resolutions passed opposed any change of control from the present Hydro Electric Commission to the government or to municipalities. A resolution was passed to the effect that the suggestion that electric radials be managed by local municipal commissions was not practicable and asked that the law be unchanged.

BAPTISMAL SERVICE.

Police Protection is To Cost More Money

Estimates Exceed Last Year By Over Four Thousand Dollars—Sent on to City Council.

THE CHIEF'S REPORT.

A meeting of the Board of Commissioners of Police took place yesterday afternoon, with His Honor Judge Huycke, Mayor W. H. Taylor and Magistrate O. A. Langley present. The two latter were welcomed to the board by His Honor, who was appointed Chairman.

Moved by Magistrate Langley, seconded by the Chairman, that the advisability of installing gasoline tanks for all the city departments be suggested to the City Council, as the board believes that considerable saving could be made by the installation of same for all departments.

Moved by the Chairman and seconded by Mayor Taylor, that the necessity for enlarging the office of the Chief Constable be brought to the attention of the City Council, and also for the installation of a radiator in the garage.

The Estimates.

Numerous accounts were ordered to be paid, and the following estimates for the year's expenditures were ordered forwarded to the City Council, the amount of same, $29,805.50, exceeding last year's estimates by the sum of $4,169.00:

Chief Constable's salary	$ 2,473.00
Salaries of constables	21,736.50
Chairman of Police Commission	300.00
Secretary	50.00
Telephone, Chief's office, station, etc.	100.00
Clothing and equipment	2,083.00
Light and gas	47.00
Printing and stationery	200.00
Telephone and telegraph	70.00
Postage	25.00
Cleaning	130.00
Fuel	341.00
Morality Department	400.00
Chief's convention	200.00
Incidentals	300.00
Upkeep of car	750.00
Motorcycle	600.00
Total	$29,805.50

The Chief's Report.

Chief Newhall's annual report was received.

The report opens with the usual preamble in which reference is made to the fact that murder was not included in the local crime calendar during the year. The force number fifteen, including all ranks, sub-divided as follows: One chief constable, two sergeants, one inspector, two detectives and nine constables. The maximum number of men to patrol the streets is four men on the day shift and six men on the night patrol with superior officers accordingly. In the report the automobile is characterized as the greatest contributing factor in the increase of crime in which an alarming number of armed youths have played a conspicuous part. Drugs and bootleggers' liquor is another fruitful cause of crime and public demoralization. The report points out that Peterborough's police protection was provided at a cost of one dollar per capita. The requirements for an efficient police force are dealt with in detail.

A Motorcycle.

To increase the present efficiency of the department, the Chief recommends the purchase of a motorcycle instead of buying several new bicycles for patrol work in the outlying sections of the city. The addition of two extra men to the force is also included in the list. Other recommendations follow: New raincoats of military pattern to replace the old-fashioned capes, which are worn out. The old helmets to be replaced by modern police uniform caps, which, according to the report, are fast taking the place of the helmets. A nominal raise of pay is recommended for Inspector James Reid in view of his efficient work in his new rank. The enlargement of the Chief Constable's office, also the installation of a radiator in the garage to keep the police car from freezing, were recommended. It was intimated that at some future time the Chief would recommend the installation of a signal system.

Watch Pool-rooms.

The following observations are included in the report:

"Special attention has been given to the conduct of the pool-rooms, as it is in these places that many young men receive their first lesson in wrong-doing.

"The Ontario Temperance Act has been strictly and honestly enforced without unduly harrassing citizens who through carelessness or lack of knowledge found themselves within its meshes."

During the year charges of misconduct were preferred against two members, one of whom was dismissed and the other punished accordingly.

Thanks is expressed to Mrs. Bunton, Police Matron, and also Adjutant Bunton, for their efficient service in connection with young girls.

This year the chief constables' convention will be held in Victoria, B. C., and an appropriation of two

GET TOMBSTONES FROM THE GERMANS

Industries Feel Effects of German Competition.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press). — Among the latest industries to feel the effect of German competition is that of the monumental granite trade in Aberdeen, Scotland, employees of which have been notified of an impending cut in wages varying from three pence to four pence per hour, according to the class of workers. It is reported that American wholesale agents, who previously purchased ten thousand pounds worth of headstones from Germany, manufactured from Scandinavian granite, while large English cities are getting tombstones and even war memorials from Germany at rates substantially cheaper than Aberdeen granite yards can produce them at the present rate of wages.

BURN UP THE FILM COLONY

Screen Star Declares Hollywood is a Pernicious Influence — Other Opinions.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—'Burn it up! The Hollywood film colony is a pernicious influence. Scatter it, abolish it—something ought to be done. Burn it up—I say."

Frank Mayo, screen and stage star and a resident of Hollywood as a member of the Universal Company, made this statement here today.

"If I express myself bitterly, I am expressing what every self respecting actor in Hollywood feels," said Mayo.

"A Pernicious Influence."

"The best thing that could happen to moving pictures would be to abolish the Hollywood colony. I am not saying it is rampant with immorality and degeneracy, for that's not true, but it is a pernicious influence.

"Why don't we actors who have respect for our art and ourselves get together and demand a 'clean up' of the undesirables?

"What good would that do? You forget that some of the biggest stars in the business are among the undesirables. They have been raised to positions for which they are not fitted. They receive enormous salaries. They haven't the brains or desire to improve themselves and they spend their money like drunken sailors. They are trying always to buy new sensations, bored to death with Hollywood and themselves. And their actions bring opprobrium on every actor in the business. They make us all suffer. It isn't fair, and I for one resent it."

Zukor Defends Colony.

Adolph Zukor, at the head of the Famous Players, disapproving of the suggestion to scatter the Hollywood colony, defended it.

"There's no more immorality in the Hollywood colony than in the New York Stock Exchange," said Zukor. 'Isolated cases of scandal in Hollywood are taken and magnified. That's because the film folk are more familiar to the public than any other class of people. I suppose disgraceful things happen in Hollywood, but they happen among men who are members of the New York Stock Exchange, and they happen in other groups.

"Even if we were so inclined, it would be impossible to abolish the Hollywood colony and scatter the actors in other sections of the country. In the first place, climatic conditions make it necessary to maintain studios here. Our company and other companies have millions of dollars invested there, and it would mean enormous loss to move the colony. Wherever we moved the actors they would be bound to gather together in colonies.

"Because of their peculiar closeness to the public, individual film stars must watch their step, but I am not pessimistic about the situation. The movies haven't gone to the dogs, and they are not going to the dogs."

For "Morality" Clauses.

Carl Laemmle, pioneer producer, at the head of the Universal Film Company, advocated "morality" clauses in picture contracts to keep stars "straight."

He expressed views on Hollywood similiar to Zukor's. The Universal has had "morality" clauses in its contracts since the Arbuckle case. An actor signing a contract with the company agrees not to do anything that would reflect dishonor on himself or the company.

CONFLICTING REPORTS ON KIDNAPPING

Report Says that Collins Administration Had Forehand Knowledge of the Raids.

IRISH SITUATION

LONDON, Feb. 11. — (Canadian Press)—Conflicting reports are coming out of Ireland concerning the attitude of the Provisional Government toward the kidnappings. The whole machinery of the Provisional Government is being employed to secure the release of those kidnapped, says the Times Dublin correspondent, who says every member of the Collins Cabinet deplores the raids.

On the other hand, there is the report that the Collins administration had forehand knowledge of the raids, and could immediately procure the release of prisoners by giving direct orders.

It is said the prisoners will be held until the members of the Gaelic Football Club now in Derry Jail are released.

FOUR BATTALIONS OF TROOPS PROMISED.

BELFAST, Feb. 11. — (Canadian Press)—On his return to-day from London, Premier Craig announced that he had been assured that four additional battalions of troops would be sent to Belfast immediately.

"We have to consider this situation carefully," he said, referring to the raids in Ulster.

FAIRLY LARGE MARKET TODAY

Eggs and Butter Still Plentiful With Lower Prices in Prospect—The Outside Market.

There was a fair market this morning, with plenty of produce. Eggs and butter and fowl in large quantities waited for purchasers at a late hour, meat-laden cars with beet and pork carcasses were backed up at the curb below, and ten or more sleighs piled high with wood were left unsold near the closing time.

Eggs were going anywhere from 45 to 48 cents; butter ranged from 38 to 43 cents, chickens sold at 25 and 30, geese at 30 and Turkeys at 40 cents a pound. Potatoes were plentiful, the fine weather bringing them in quantities, at $1.50 per bag. One man disposed of his load at one sweep for $1.40 per bag.

Carrots were 30 cents per peck; parsnips 40, and turnips 25, ebef in quarters was 10, 11 and 12 cents, and pork 18 and 20 cents.

Spys were selling at 60 cents a peck, honey at 15 and 17 in one case, and 14 and 19 in the other; and oranges, in various sizes, at 40, 50, 60, 70 and 80 cents. The fish man had fresh-water herring at 10 cents, filets of haddie at 20 cents, smelts at 15 and sea salmon at 15 cents.

There were several loads of hay and unthreshed oats on the market this morning, the former at $28 per ton, and the latter at $20. Plenty of cut wood was in evidence, $8.50 and $9 being the general price, with a load of tamarack slabs at $9, one young man with a particularly fine load offering to let it go finally for $8.50 "and my dinner."

The auctioneer, evidently with a seasonable desire to accommodate his customers, standing ankle-deep in water, was stocked up with rubber boots.

WEAK HEART NERVES BADLY SHATTERED

Many a woman who should be strong and healthy, full of life and energy is bound by the shackles of ill-health.

Some disease or constitutional disturbance has left its mark in the form of a weak heart, shattered nerves, impoverished blood and an exhausted system.

In

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

they will find a remedy that will supply food for the exhausted nerves, one that will strengthen and regulate the weak heart and invigorate the whole system.

Mrs. W. W. Parse, 14 Seaton St., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"I was left with a weak heart and in a run down condition from the 'flu.' My nerves were badly shattered, and I had such pains around my heart I could not sleep much at night. I took several doctors' medicines without getting any better. My husband got me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I took one box I got relief, and after taking six boxes I have been well and not bothered since."

Price, 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SHOWS DANGER OF GIVING SOLID FOOD.

ORENBURG, Russia, February 11.— The danger of giving solid food to starving Russians was illustrated on the platform of the station here.

When the through train from Tasgent to Moscow halted here, a woman singer, one of its passengers, took pity on a small boy begging at the car windows. She gave him a part of a loaf of white bread, which he began to eat ravenously. Within a few minutes he went into choking convulsions, and within half an hour he was dead.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND

By "SAPPER"

(Cyril McNeile)

But the American, whistling gently to himself, had his eyes fixed on the rope of wonderful pearls which Lakington was holding lovingly in his hands.

"So easy, you scum," continued Lakington, "and you thought to pit yourselves against me. Though if it hadn't been for Irma"—he rose and stood in front of the chair where he had last left Drummond—"it might have been awkward. She was quick, Captain Drummond, and that fool of a chauffeur failed to carry out my orders, and create a diversion. You will see what happens to people who fail to carry out my orders in a minute. And after that you'll never see anything again."

"Say, he's a dream—that guy," muttered the American. "What pearls as those he's got?"

"The Duchess of Lampshire's," whispered Hugh. "Lifted right under the noses of the whole bally house party."

With a grunt the detective rearranged his chewing-gum; then once more the four watchers on the roof glued their eyes to the glass. And the sight they saw a moment or two afterwards stirred even the phlegmatic Mr. Green.

A heavy door was swinging slowly open, apparently of its own volition, though Hugh, stealing a quick glance at Lakington, saw that he was pressing some small studs in a niche in one of the walls. Then he looked back was the mysterious cupboard of which Phyllis had spoken to him, but nothing he had imagined from her words had prepared him for the reality. It seemed to be literally crammed to overflowing with the most priceless loot. Gold vessels of fantastic and beautiful shapes littered the floor; while on the shelves were arranged the most wonderful collection of precious stones, which shone and scintillated in the electric light till their glitter almost blinded the watchers.

"Shades of Chu Chin Chow, Ali Baba and the forty pundits!" muttered Toby. "The dam' man's a genius."

The pearls were carefully placed in a position of honour, and for a few moments Lakington stood gloating over his collection.

"Do you see them, Captain Drummond?" he asked quietly. "Each thing obtained by my brain—my hands. All mine—mine!" His voice rose to a shout. "And you pit your puny wits against me." With a laugh he crossed the room, and once more pressed the studs. The door swung slowly to and closed without a sound, while Lakington still shook with silent mirth.

"And now"—he resumed rubbing his hands—"we will prepare your bath, Captain Drummond." He walked over to the shelves where the bottles were ranged, and busied himself with some preparations. "And while it is getting ready, we will just deal with the chauffeur who neglected his orders."

For a few minutes he bent over the chemicals, and then he poured the mixture into the water which half filled the long bath at the end of the room. A faintly acid smell rose to the four men above, and the liquid turned a pale green.

"I told you I had all sorts of baths, didn't I?" continued Lakington; "some for those who are dead, and some for those who are alive. This is the latter sort, and has the great advantage of making the bather wish it was one of the former." He stirred the liquid gently with a long glass rod. "About five minutes before we're quite ready," he announced. "Just time for the chauffeur."

He went to a speaking-tube, down which he blew. Somewhat naturally there was no answer, and Lakington frowned.

"A stupid fellow," he remarked softly. "But there is no hurry; I will deal with him later."

"You certainly will," muttered Hugh on the roof. "And perhaps not quite so much later as you think, friend Henry."

Riding Well Represented.

The appointment of the delegates was first attended to. The meeting was a representative one, Liberals from all parts of the riding being present.

Although the Liberals were defeated in the three cornered fight in East Peterboro, the contentions among most of those present excluding perhaps, the President Dr. Donald Munro, of Warsaw, was that if Captain John Dewart had been nominated earlier he would have won. Dr. Munro differed in his opinion, stating that it was apparent to older Liberals they could not win the "three-cornered scrap."

Aggressive Liberalism.

The tenor of this the first meeting since the December election was strongly for an aggressive Liberal policy in East Peterboro and those assembled decided although it did not go into a resolution that a Liberal candidate would be placed in the Provincial election in the riding.

The Liberals wanted to have their decision contest a Provincial election made known and some of those present urged calling a convention soon. Mr. Curtis, ex-reeve of Havelock wanted a convention called at the end of March. He stood out strongly for a policy of action.

Organize Liberal Clubs.

Carrying on a policy to spread the time principles of Liberalism in East Peterboro particularly among young men and women it was decided to start Liberal clubs in Warsaw, Keene, Havelock, Norwood, Indian River and Lakefield.

A resolution of confidence in the government of Premier W. L. M. King introduced by Michael Walsh and Capt. John Dewart was adopted with unanimous approval.

Urging upon the government to fill the vacancy caused in the Senate by the death of Senator Beith by a Peterboro county appointment, a resolution fathered by John Dewart and W. A. Anderson was adopted by the association, the members approving of this action in hearty terms.

"We were more than delighted with the campaign of our candidate" said Dr. Munro in reference to Captain John Dewart, M.C. "The material he put up couldn't be criticized by any of the others in the field. I thought then and I still think a three-handed scrap is a poor scrap. I think three-cornered elections

SENATOR'S LITTLE WAY OF BLOCKING BIG POWER SCHEME

Proposes That Canada Give Slice of Quebec For United States' Aid in St. Lawrence Project.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Senator King of Utah, who today introduced a resolution in the United States Senate looking to the acquisition by the United States of a slice of Canada in return for United States endorsation of the St. Lawrence waterways project, does not seriously expect that Uncle Sam will acquire added territory as a result of his move. To a Canadian Press correspondent, in an interview last night, he admitted that he was prompted by his opposition to the whole St. Lawrence project.

Senator King's resolution calls for the cession by Canada of the triangular section of the Province of Quebec bounded by the Richelieu River and Lake Champlain on the east, the State of New York on the south and the St. Lawrence River on the north. This would bring the district to the south of the St. Lawrence and riparian rights to the middle of that river within the jurisdiction of the United States from its source to "tidewater" at Sorel.

Merely an Obstacle.

The move of the Utah Senator, as understood here, is intended merely to put obstacles in the way of the projected waterway, and the resolution was not presented with any serious thought that Canada could be induced to give up a rich slice of Quebec. The resolution, it is generally stated, has practically no chance of being adopted by the Senate. It is merely a spectacular way of advancing the argument that if the United States enters the project it will be paying half the cost of a work which will be largely outside United States territory.

Opposed to Project.

"I am opposed to the whole proposition of this waterway," Senator King told the Canadian Press. However, I take the position that if we have to put up $150,000,000 or more for the waterway, we want to have something to say about the land on the south side of the bank. In order to erect power plants and the like, we must have riparian rights, and to have riparian rights we have to own the land. We can't afford to spend enormous sums of money in some other country."

A Huge Joke.

QUEBEC, Que., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—"That is the biggest joke that has come over the wires in a century," said Premier Taschereau yesterday afternoon to the Canadian Press when he was told of the plan put forward at Washington by Senator King of Utah, for Canada to give up a portion of the Province of Quebec in exchange for a partnership in the proposed St. Lawrence waterway.

OFFICIALS SILENT IN DELORME MURDER CASE

Audit of Estate Books May Be Completed Today.

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.— (Canadian Press.)— Silence is now the policy of the officials handling the Delorme murder mystery and nothing was given out for public information here Friday in connection with the death of Raoul Delorme, 24 year old Ottawa college student, found dead in the snow in the north end of this city on January 7 last.

Coroner McMahon said: "I have nothing to say," and the police officials make the same reply to questions.

It is thought in police circles that audit of the books of the Delorme estate wil be completed to-day, but it is expected that the report of the auditors will show nothing of importance.

No trace of the will made by the victim and drawn up and written by one of the professors of Ottawa College, has yet come to light. It is considered that little will be done in the case until this will is found.

DOMINIONS MUST SHARE OBLIGATIONS

In All Interests of the Empire, Says Australian Representative to the Washington Conference.

EQUAL PARTICIPATION

NEW YORK, February 11 (Canadian Press). — A precedent unique in British political history was established at the Washington Armament Conference in that the Dominions had been accepted on equal terms by the Mother Government in matters affecting Imperial welfare, declared Sir George Foster Pearce, of Australia, in addressing the Canadian Club of New York yesterday.

Sir Pearce will address the Canadian Club at Toronto on Monday next, the Ottawa Canadian Club on Tuesday, and the Montreal Canadian Club on 16th February. While in Ottawa it is understood that he will take up with members of the Canadian Government several matters affecting trade relations between the two Dominions.

Was Won in the War.

The right of consultation in matters of Imperial concern was won by the Dominions in the recent War, Sir George declared in his speech to-day. With this right has come equal participation in all future responsibility affecting the Empire as a whole. The Versailles Conference, and now the Washington Conference, he pointed out, had been the first times that this equality of interest had been developed.

"The status that the Dominions have now obtained can never be lessened at any future conference," he added.

Senator Pearce remarked upon the unison and understanding which Sir Robert Borden, the Canadian delegate, and he himself, representing Australia, seemed to feel throughout the Washington Conference. He believed it expressed the similar outlook possessed by the two Dominions.

Collective Invitation.

In alluding to the commonwealth of nations which, he said, the British Empire had truly become through the new recognition accorded the Dominions at the Versailles and the Washington Conferences, he said he was sure the Dominions had felt no disappointment at not being invited separately to the latter conference by President Harding. The invitation, he said, could only have been extended to the Empire as a whole. As it had worked out, he declared, the authority of the younger nations of the Empire had not been in the least curtailed. Their right to participate in the discussions of the Pacific problems, with which their destinies were indissolubly linked, had been avowed at London. Sir Robert Borden and himself both had the same rank as Mr. Balfour, Lord Lee, or Sir Auckland Geddes. Their credentials had been signed by the King on the advice of their own Ministers, just as the credentials of the three Old Country delegates had been signed by the King on the advice of Ministers of the United Kingdom.

No nation had more to lose at the conference than had the British Empire, Senator Pearce continued, but the Empire had accepted the responsibility of subscribing to the terms of the naval agreement mainly on the dependence it placed in the good faith of the United States. Indeed, this responsibility had been easy to accept because the British believed the United States had identically the same ideals as their own.

An Imposisble Thought.

Any reluctance to place the Imperial Navy on a parity with that of the United States disappeared before the belief that not "even the wildest conception could ever picture the Navy of the United States being used against the British Army."

Senator Pearce said that in the Pacific a special advantage had been gained by the work of the conference because Great Britain, the United States, and Japan, the three principal factors in that part of the world, had each practically been shorn of the ability to make war on the other two. Nevertheless, he added, each of the three had been left sufficiently armed to defend itself.

No nation had lost its honour or its self-respect at Washington, the Australian representative continued, and some he believed, had regained it. He commended the establishment of the open door in China as being of great wisdom and having a two-fold benefit. Not only did it give China time and opportunity to be developed from a people into a nation, but it also bound western nations with jealous ambitions in a code of honour to let China alone. This code not only benefited China, but also removed temptations, which might have brought about a dangerous situation.

U.S. Influence Great.

Senator Pearce urged that the British Empire should mould its Pacific policy hereafter in accordance with the advice of the Ministers of the Dominions abutting upon that sphere. In conclusion, he paid a tribute to the United States for having taken the initiative and declared that a complete understanding with the United States on the part of the British Empire was the greatest outstanding single influence for good arising from the Conference.

Senator Pearce was introduced by Frederick Hudd, of the Canadian Office here.

"RAINMAKER" HATFIELD IN UNEMPLOYED RANKS

Drought Was Greater Where He Operated in Alberta.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—"Rainmaker" Charles M. Hatfield will not operate in the dry belt of Southern Alberta next summer, it was authoritatively stated today by the Secretary of the United Agricultural Association. The Executive entered into an arrangement with Mr. Hatfield in regard to further operations, and the report circulated last fall to the effect that the rainmaker was to be re-engaged is without foundation, it is stated.

Drought conditions prevailed in the section of Alberta which he was supposed to reach to as great, if not a greater, extent than in the previous year.

Russia's Wealth Shrank One-Half Under Soviet

MOSCOW, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Russia has only 13 per cent. of the agricultural implements her farmers owned in pre-war times, according to a recent report of M. UNITED STATES AMBASSADORS APPOINTED WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The nominations of Alanson B. Houghton to be Ambassador to Germany, Theodore Brentano to be Minister to Hungary and Albert H. Washburn to be Minister to Austria, were confirmed late today by the Senate.

IRISH GET LEGISLATION UNDER FREE STATE ACT

Have Plenary Powers Within the Scope of the Treaty — Meets With the Approval of Peace Parties — Ulster Has Month to Choose Her Course.

De Valera's Meetings

DUBLIN, February 11 (Canadian Press). — The text of the Irish Free State Act of 1922, which is now before the British Parliament, is highly approved among the supporters of the peace treaty between Great Britain and Ireland. It had been supposed the Bill would merely set up a constituent assembly, and Eamonn De Valera already had given his reasons for not joining such an assembly, but the Act sets up a legislature and an executive responsible to it for the exercise of all the powers within the treaty's scope, The Legislature will have the power not only to deal with the constitution, but with all other business, and the only speculation left is what the second act, establishing the Free State, will contain.

Ulster's Option.

The main point of discussion now concerns Ulster. Under the treaty Ulster has one month after ratification of the Act to decide whether to join Southern Ireland, and a boundary commission will follow Ulster's refusal to join.

The question is being debated as to whether the Bill is subject to ratification or not. It is argued on the one hand that no ratification of the treaty could be more complete than the embodying of it in the schedule of an Act of Parliament and giving it force of law. On the other hand, this Bill does not formally constitute the Free State, and it is argued that Ulster cannot be asked within a

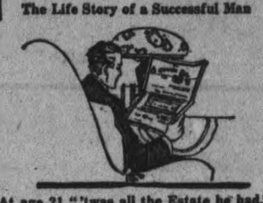
Your Estate

The Life Story of a Successful Man



At age 21 "'twas all the Estate he had."

At age 30 he wisely increases his insurance.

At age 40 he finds the security of his Estate unquestioned by his Banker.

At age 50 he has no fear of hardship for himself or his family.

At age 60 his "Estate," fully paid for, becomes a substantial fund, earning dividends.

There is but one certain way of having an Estate, and that is through life insurance.

Canadian Government figures recently compiled show that out of 107,109 persons who died in one year, 100,031 left estates of less than $10,000. The vast majority left nothing.

Creating Your Estate

THE CANADA LIFE* will guarantee to provide at your death an Estate which is twenty or thirty times greater than the amount of your annual deposit with the Company. And if you live—

Every dollar of regular annual deposit will be returned at the end of twenty years, and substantial dividends will be paid at intervals.

Our "Capital Return" Policy

1st. Deposits are made yearly. This is what you are saving, and at the end of 20 years the Canada Life guarantees the return of every dollar paid in.

2nd. Your life is insured from the day you make the first deposit—for $5,000; or whatever amount you decide.

3rd. Dividends are paid at stated intervals in addition to the return of all deposits at the end of 20 years.

4th. These dividends may be used to increase the amount of your insurance, or be allowed to accumulate at interest for 20 years.

5th. The cash value of Policy and Dividends represents a valuable asset, useful in business, and your "estate" is protected by the insurance.

6th. At the end of Twenty Years you can draw out all you have paid in, along with the accrued dividends—

—or—

you can draw a Special Cash Guarantee, together with the Accumulated Dividends, making a substantial sum, and leave the $5,000 Policy fully paid for and continuing to earn Dividends as long as you live—

A SPLENDID YEAR'S PROGRESS.

The thirty-third annual report of the Dominion Life Assurance Company, of which Mr. I. P. McNabb is the local agent, presented to the members of the company at its annual meeting held at the head office, Waterloo, Ontario, yesterday, shows that the year 1921 was one of unexcelled progress. Surplus earned was $308,969.35, and exceeds by far the amount earned in any other year in the company's history. Assets show an increase of $967,759.84, and now stand at $7,135,695.66. The rate of interest earned was 7.12 per cent. and the mortality experienced was exceedingly favorable, being only 37 per cent. of the expected. Business issued and revived amounted to $16,342,375, and the total amount of insurance in force at the end of the year was $53,175,830. These facts and figures, as well as the extracts from the report appearing elsewhere in this issue, ought to be very gratifying to policyholders and all others interested in the welfare of this rapidly growing company.

AN EMBARRASSING PROBLEM.

The Drury Government has a delicate little problem on its hands by reason of the request brought forward by the Dominion Alliance that the manufacture and sale of native wine in Ontario shall be governed by the same regulations as other liquors of more than two and a half per cent. proof spirits. The Government is, of course, a temperance administration, and under ordinary conditions would doubtless long ago have dealt with native wine along the line suggested. But here's the rub: The making of such wine is a pretty important industry in sections of the Province, and it is controlled by those who support Mr. Drury and his Government. The county that the Premier himself represents in the Legislature is one of the wine-making districts, and naturally the Government hesitates to take any action that will hurt it in the house of its friends. Consideration has been promised the request, but it is not very probable that there will be any action by the Government, although some private member may bring the native wine question before the Legislature and afford an opportunity for the matter to be discussed. It is one of those embarrassing incidents that all Governments would like to dodge if it were possible to do so.

A SPLENDID APPOINTMENT.

The appointment of Mr. P. C. Larkin of Toronto as High Commissioner for Canada in London is one upon which the King Government is to be congratulated and that will be favourably received by Canadians everywhere. Not only has Mr. Larkin the necessary qualifications for the position, but it is known that in accepting the appointment he has insisted that he shall be no mere figurehead, but a genuine business representative of the Dominion with control over the various Canadian agencies at present operating in the Motherland. Mr. Larkin will be a splendid advertisement for Canada, and it is to be hoped that he will see to it that some native-born Canadians are added to his staff. At the same time, the new Government should make some provision to have Canada's representative in London furnished with better quarters, more prominently situated, than those used by his predecessors. Every Canadian who has been in London has been struck by the fact that the Dominion headquarters occupied a very inconspicuous location as compared with the Australian and New Zealand agencies, and has seen the necessity of a change. Mr. Larkin can be trusted to see that Canada is never lost sight of in the Motherland, and his appointment, with the new powers that are being conferred upon him, is a recognition of the importance of the position and of Mr. Larkin's qualifications.

WHAT ABOUT THE CHILDREN?

The recent conference of the powers at Washington decided to limit the use of poison gas in warfare. That is a matter for thankfulness. However, even when during the war the horrible gas was employed, the soldiers were equipped with gas masks and sirens were sounded, indicating that the poison wave was coming over. No precaution that would make the fighting men immune to this "menace from hell" was neglected.

We are not so careful in everyday life. We in Peterborough still continue to feed babies tubercular milk, and nobody sounds a siren when the milkman comes along with milk containing T. B. germs. There are no gas masks or other protection provided against the Great White Plague—instead we occasionally telephone the undertaker and enlarge the population of our cemeteries.

The infant death rate in Peterborough is 140 per thousand. Are we satisfied that everything that can be done to save the lives of the little one is being undertaken? We subscribe money for re-building the Muskoka Hospital for tubercular patients, but we go on feeding raw milk that may be full of tubercular germs to our children.

We will never forgive the Germans for the things they did to the women and children of Belgium, but do we ever stop to think about what we are doing to our own little ones?

ENGLAND'S FOOD BILL.

The English people pay $3,000,000,000 a year to outside nations for food—just food, writes Herbert Casson in Barron's. Usually, they pay this bill easily and cheerfully enough, but this year the food bill is a problem that no one knows how to solve.

According to the final figures on foreign trade for 1921, which have just been made public, the exports were cut down nearly 50 per cent. There was a drop of $3,000,000,000—exactly the amount of the food bill.

England does not expect to feed herself. At present, she provides one meal a day from her own soil, and buys two meals a day from the farmers of other nations.

But at the moment the slump in farming is almost as serious as the falling off in exports.

The Agricultural Act, which offered about $80,000,000 a year to farmers in subsidies, was suddenly repealed last summer. As a result, there will probably be 600,000 fewer acres of wheat in Britain this year. There will be $12,000,000 worth of additional wheat to be bought.

Also, there has been, for some strange reason, a sudden collapse in farm values in all parts of England. There was a boom in 1918, but that has ebbed away and left thousands of land-sick farmers stranded.

Probably not one British farmer in twenty made any money last year. In fact the present situation reminds farmers of the slump in the eighties, when thousands of farms went back to grass.

One farmer in Kent, for instance, spent $200 an acre on a crop of potatoes, and then was forced to sell at a price of $68 per acre. Another farm in Essex, which I saw recently, was sold for $80,000, after being bought three years ago for $120,000.

All manner of troubles have fallen on the heads of the British farmers. The farm laborers have gone on strike. The railroad freight rates have been raised. The commissions of middlemen have been increased. The prices of all farm produce and of cattle and sheep have dropped unaccountably. Last week a cow was sold in Lincoln market for $15, and sheep can scarcely be sold at any price.

Butter is now being sold for 24 cents a pound—the first cheap butter since 1914. This smash in the price has been caused by a sale of Government butter, and registers one more loss against the semi-defunct Food Department.

There are only 25,000,000 acres of farm land in the whole of this little island, yet there has never been any effort to establish a scientific system of agriculture.

There is no Luther Burbank in England—no James Wilson—no Henry Wallace. The so-called Department of Agriculture contains very few specialists. It is bureaucratic merely and of very little importance.

There are 250,000 small farms, of less than 50 acres, and a large proportion of them are nothing but playfarms, run in an amateur way by people who really care more for scenery than profits.

The typical Iowan or Kansan farmer—mechanical, businesslike and efficient—may be found in Scotland, but very seldom in England.

Eventually, the era of scientific farming will come in England. The large estates are being rapidly broken up. Eleven more went under the hammer last year.

A generation of new owners are now in possession of the broad acres of the county families; and these new owners will presently be obliged to put their farming on a business basis.

It is a curious fact that in agriculture, at present, the one bright spot is Ireland. The fact is that Ireland is exporting more food, per capita, than any other country in the world.

England spends $370,000,000 a year in the Irish markets for food and drink alone. In an average prewar year, Ireland sent to England 250,000 pigs, 600,000 sheep and 700,000 head of cattle.

And now that the "Ire" has been taken out of Ireland by the organization of the Irish Free State, it would seem as though the farmers of that island were about to enter upon a period of still greater prosperity.

A SAFETY CALENDAR.

As another step in their campaign to make the people of this Province realize that there are far too many accidents and that the majority of them are the result of negligence and could be avoided with ordinary care, the Ontario Safety League has prepared and distributed on a large scale a safety calendar that should be a daily reminder of the need for "safety first" methods. At the top of the page for each month is a cleverly drawn cartoon, illustrating a particular phase of carelessness that is responsible for mishaps in homes, on the street or in our factories. There is a punch to each picture, and the effect is added to by a a number of impressive epigrams that appears at the bottom of each page. The following samples will illustrate:

"Life is sweet. See that the baby lives to enjoy it."

"To cause an accident is to commit a crime."

"Careful habits must be acquired in the nursery."

"The safety movement is practical humanity."

"Most accidents can be avoided by presence of mind and absence of body."

"Inattention to safety rules is often a grave mistake."

"School safety lessons should prevent many accidents to children."

"Children think of your parents."

"Work safe! Play safe! Think safe!"

"Carelessness is a short cut to the cemetery."

A SURFEIT OF LAWS.

Laws dealing with every conceivable human activity multiply increasingly. Some of these laws necessarily fail to command universal respect. Take prohibition. The law is constantly evaded by respectable and honest people. In England the careless folly and cruelty of our divorce laws are not improbably responsible for the extraordinary prevalence of bigamy. Nor is there any man who thinks the worse of himself for an attempt to purchase matches after 8 p.m. Laws should be few and correspond to the normal conscience of the people. If they do not, they will be broken—and once the habit of breaking any law, however trivial, is generally condoned, no man can say where it will stop. —London Daily Express.

Voice Of The People

THE UNMARRIED MOTHER.

Editor of Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The information contained in Adjutant Bunton's (of the Salvation Army's appeal to the City Council for a $1,000 grant to the S. A. Maternity Hospital came as a surprise to a great number of citizens, and this matter can be left with confidence in the hands of the City Council to do the just thing. What I am about to say may be of interest, and I hope a deterrent to those who think so little of themselves as to contemplate the ruination of the lives and moral character of promising young females. It is evident this crime is only too common.

During last year's session of the Ontario Legislature an act was passed, entitled, "An Act for the Protection of the Children of Unmarried parents." This act provides for the maintenance of a child born out of wedlock by the putative father. Application may be made to the judge by almost anyone interested in the case, by the mother of the child, or others acting as guardian of the mother or the child, within one year after the birth of the child, or within one year that evidence can be produced of paternity. The father is liable to have to pay for the care of the mother three months prior to birth, at birth and during such period after birth as may, in the opinion of the judge, have been necessary on the report of the medical officer; a weekly sum of money toward the maintenance until the child is 16 years of age; expenses of the burial of the mother in case of death; the expenses of the burial of the child, even if it dies before the making of the affiliation order. And the judge may require the father to give security for the amount, and on default be committed for contempt of court.

The father failing to appear before the judge, he goes to jail. The order of the judge shall bind the estate of the father after his death. In fact, the liability of the father of a child born out of wedlock is for all expenses, including the funeral of the child if it dies before the age of 16 years, for any expenses incurred by any person who furnishes food or clothing or lodgings, or other necessaries of the child, if it is under 16 years of age.

These proceedings are to take place in the judge's chamber, not in the public court; and the act came into force on July 1, 1921.

Adjutant Bunton mentioned 13 cases in Peterborough within the last 12 months. The act is upon the book to be enforced; go to it so far as you are able and assist the authorities in enforcing the law. If sentiment must come in, let it apply with equal application to the mother. This act was not introduced from any morbid emotion, but in order that justice may be done. This is another act of worthy mention enacted by the Drury administration. We hear so much of the Legislature's faults, but their record, not only along social lines, but upon general lines, will compare with anything previous to its regime when its history is recorded. There are cases which do not come under the act, where a father cannot be found, etc., where the Salvation Army work is carried on assisting all and sundry.

THOMAS TOOMS.

HIGHER CRITICS.

Editor of Examiner.

Sir,—I would not trouble you with my crude remarks if it was not that I know how many poor souls who thought that they were making for the harbor of God, find themselves cast away on the wide, pitiless waters of unbelief by the higher critics. Be Christians, brothers and sisters. Do not be critics. That is the question of today: Which are you, a Christian or a critic? Learn that the moral world is in you, that your moral world is in you and was not made by you any more than the earth we tread on was made by you. Critics criticise the outside world, and say how it could have been created better. Oh, what poor wits they have! They criticise the message of the Bible, which, if it be of God, we dare not criticise. But it is like the pure water of the spring to us—we know it is of God, for it satisfies our thirst. There is no good coming to thirsty man who has drunk at the spring and saying: "That is not what you think it is; you are deceived." The wayfarer says: "I know that I have drunk and am satisfied. That is proof of what it is. It is you who are mistaken."

So it is with any message. If it satisfies the longings of the moral world created by God within us, it is as true to say that it comes from God as it is to say that the water of the spring does, or that all the material of the earth used and even mangled by men comes from God—and who will deny that it does?

Oh, the poor mistaken ones who would go to the pools of the banquet to reform the world out of their own minds! Be of good cheer, faithful ones. You know and I know that they can bluff and criticise and put everything on a business basis, as they call it, of their own if they like, but not that which can come from God alone. It was He who made the world within us as without us; and it is a terrible crime against us, not against God, for He is above its power, that is being committed by the presumptuous and unread ones who would lead us when they know not the trail themselves. We must leave it all to God in the religious world just as we do in the natural world; for if, as Jesus says, it be not of God then it is death, or not at all. Where do the critics get their message entitling them to preach if not from the very Bible which they now scorn? No Bible, no preacher.

40,000 TICKETS FOR PAPAL CORONATION

Pope Pius Receives Greeting From Friends of His Home Town.

ROME, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Forty thousand tickets have already been distributed for the Papal coronation ceremonies. The mood of demands continues and Monsignor Sanz De Samper, the Papal Chamberlain, unable to meet all the requests for admission, has assigned a certain number of tickets to each Roman parish. Outside the Vatican to-day the crowd clamoring for admittance into the Chamberlain's office became so large that the Swiss Guards were ordered to prohibit further entrance into the Vatican of persons in quest of the highly prized tickets.

Pope Pius to-day received his brother's daughter, a pretty, slim fair-haired girl. He stated he would see them all as soon as the grave occupations of these first few days will permit, to give the Apostolic Benediction to them.

A large number of Milanese and many of his own personal friends who came to Rome to-day with the family were also received by the Pope.

Insane Man Left Trail Of Dead in Italian Town

GENEVA, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The body of Battista Pestalacci, who, on Monday, suddenly went insane and terrorized the town of Bellinzona, rushing through the streets and shooting several persons, lies unburied at his home, no one being willing to approach it or to make a coffin. The feeling is so intense that the inhabitants declare if the body is buried in the cemetery they will exhume it and throw it in the river Moesa. The local authorities are in a dilemma.

Pestalacci's victims now number five dead and eight wounded, three seriously. Evidence has been brought to light showing that he was responsible for two previous murders in Bellinzona, one of his victims being a priest.

CROWN PROSECUTORS ON A SALARY BASIS

WINNIPEG, Feb 11.—(Canadian Press).—Instead of receiving payment by way of fees crown prosecutors from districts outside Winnipeg will be placed on a salary basis, according to an agreement reached at a conference between prosecutors and the provincial attorney-general here recently. It is said the salaries will be based upon the amounts of work done during the past years, and will be graduated as the bulk of work for each is shown.

At the 1920 session of the legislature opposition members criticized the government for the large amounts in the public accounts for crown prosecutors, and the attorney-general at time declared he would do his best to reduce this amount by placing them on a salary basis.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Lord Shaughnessy, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on his arrival at Liverpool today said that Canada's great need was a considerable increase of her population. He urged the need for the removal of irksome restrictions on immigration, which he said were hampering the entry of good settlers. LOCAL HOCKEY GIRLS DEFEATED, SCORE 2-1

Campbellford Ladies Won in Clean and Fast Clash Yesterday.

The Peterborough girls' hockey team journeyed to Campbellford yesterday for a game with the Campbellford aggregation, which resulted in a score of 2-1 for the latter.

The ice was in good shape, and the game throughout was one of the fastest contests the local girls have yet entered. Campbellford suffered the only penalty.

The end of the first period showed one goal in favour of Peterborough, and the opposing fans showed their displeasure to some extent, quieting down, however, at the end of the second period, when their team tied the score, and evincing extreme delight at the final result of 2-1, in favour of Campbellford.

Miss Grace Blue, who starred for Campbellford, made both goals, and Miss Ethel Currie played a good game for Peterborough, as did Alice Ebbs, who scored the local team's lone goal.

The home team was handicapped to a great extent by the presence of only one sub, while their opponents had three, four of the regular Peterborough girl players being unavailable for yesterday's game.

The line-up was as follows:—

Campbellford.	Peterborough.
	Goal.
Harriet Potts	Alberta Curtis
	L. Defence.
Helen Carnahan	Marguerite Holmes
	R. Defence.
Margaret Dickson	Aileen Murray
	Centre.
Grace Blue	Ethel Currie
	L. Wing.
Helen Kerr	Alice Ebbs
	R. Wing.
Verna Shore	Flossie Pammett
Substitutes.
Mary Potts	Hazel Jackson
Eleanor Ferris
Lillian Moore.

Referee—Bill Jackson.

After the game, the visiting girls were entertained at a dance at the Public Library, followed by supper.

Campbellford players will stage a return game in Peterborough in the near future, when the local girls have made up their minds to defeat them.

MARYS' PRESENTS TO ROYAL MARY.

Canadian Marys May Give Princess Furs.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press)—It seems probable that the gift from the "Marys" of Empire to Princess Mary on the occasion of her marriage will not be confined to impersonal contributions to charity on her behalf. Cupid with the recent announcement, carried in a Canadian Press cable form London, that Princess Mary would leave the choice of a gift to the donors, comes in a letter from Miss Mary Frances Billington to a friend in Vancouver.

Miss Billington, who is perhaps the foremost woman journalist in the world, is on the London committee which will administer the fund contributed by women of the British Empire named "Mary", Miss Billington says that the gift is to be "something personal". At the head of the commitee is the Hon. Mrs. Geoffrey Hope Morley, Princess Mary's special girl friend for years. She is assisted by Lady Mary Cambridge (the Queen's neice) Lady Northcliffe, Mrs. Massey Lyon (Editor of "The Queen") Miss Billington, the Marchioness of Hartington, who is daughter-in-law to the Duke of Devonshire and was Lady Mary Cecil before her marriage, and several other smart society girls.

The suggestion that Canadian Marys should present the Princess with a gift of furs was countered in some circles of women's societies recently with the statement that Princess Mary had definitely expressed a wish that all gifts should take the form of financial support for charitable institutions.

Incidentally Miss Billington's letter contains the news, which will be welcome to her Canadian friends, that she has quite recovered from her recent serious illness. As representative of women's socieites in Great Britain to the Imperial Press Conference she toured Canada in 1920 and made a host of friends here. The hope that she might pay a return visit last autumn was dispelled when the news reached Canada that she was undergoing a serious operation. In her recent letter she remarks that her progress toward recovery, after the first few days has never been interrupted and today she is quite well again and able to meet the strenous tasks of her profession and social connections.

"I do wish I were going to see Casada again" she adds. "I often think of the cheery time I had in Canada."

Religious Press Approves First Acts of Pope Pius XI.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The Anglican weekly church papers extend a cordial reception to the election of the new Pope.

The Guardian sees in the earliest actions of Pope Pius XI as head of the Roman Catholic Church, an intention to throw down barriers which may have been necessary in 1870, but are no longer needed in 1922.

It would, however, not be safe to assume, adds The Guardian, that approaches to Italy will be rapid. There would be nothing undignified in the first move being made by Italy herself.

The Guardian adds: "The Vatican has gained far more than she lost by the cessation of her temporal power."

The Church Times also mentions the new Pope's friendly overtures at the outset to temporal power and notes that the Italian press has been cordial rather than merely civil in greeting the new pontiff.

Forfeited Hockey Game As Reparation of Fault

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—It is not often that a hockey team admits itself at fault and offers to forfeit a game by way of reparation, but this is what happened at a meeting of the Mount Royal Sunday Hockey League.

In the last series of matches the St. Anthony's team insisted on playing Fourtier, a senior, against a ruling to the contrary by the league. A protest was made, and at a meeting St. Anthony's were represented by a lawyer and by Rev. Father Flood. Both representatives expressed regret, admitting the team to be at fault, and expressed a desire that the game be forfeited to the opposing team. This was done, and the matter thus settled in sportsmanlike fashion.

MURDER AT SHERBROOKE; BODY BADLY MUTILATED

Young Married Man Found With His Head Crushed In.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—With Provincial police and High Constable Boievert on the scene, in addition to the local police officers, every clue is being taken up in connection with the murder of Henri Reyea, 32 years old, whose badly mutilated body was found in the bottom of his sleigh in his own yard early Friday morning.

While an autopsy has not been performed yet, the officers are confident that Reyea, who leaves a wife and three children, was killed by a blow from the blunt end of an axe on the right side of his head, just above the ear.

Sweden's mortality, in 1920 was the lowest ever recorded.

RUSSIAN RELIEF SHIP LOST WITH FOOD CARGO

Caught Fire at Sea and Sank —Survivors Relate Experience.

CHRISTIANIA, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press)—The British steamship Lowlands, bound for Murmansk with a cargo of food for Russia's famine sufferers, has been destroyed by fire off the Murman coast, says a despatch to the Tidens Tegn today from Tremso, a northwestern Norwegian seaport.

The news of the steamer's destruction was received in Tremso from six surviving members of the British crew, the despatch said. After the steamer had been burned the sailors had first been landed at Murmansk and had come there from Tromso. They described the situation in the Murmansk district as terrible and said the people there resembled wild beasts. The sailors were quoted as declaring that food alone was useless and that medical aid was urgently necessary to save the starving population.

The steamer Lowlands had a tonnage of 3,559 gross tons. She was in 1897 and was owned in Glasgow.

Having supplied themselves with all of the necessities, and many luxuries, they are now investing their surplus capital in securities, and have become a factor of some strength on the Vienna Stock Exchange.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Heavy Grain Shipments To Pacific Coast Port

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Between seven and eight thousand tons of wheat have been inspected in Calgary during the last four days, all of which has been shipped to the Pacific Coast. This has created considerable surprise to local grain men, who were under the impression that coast shipments were now practically at an end. As a matter of fact, they represent as large a westward movement as at any time during the season.

Austria Gets Half Billion Crowns From Czech Republic

VIENNA, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Conclusion of a loan from Czecho-Slovakia of 500,000,000 Czech crowns, was announced in the National Assembly on Wednesday by Minister of Finance Guertler.

The Minister said Czecho-Slovakia's action in granting the loan would be of great significance in connection with the forthcoming negotiations for credits with France and England. The Czech loan, he explained, was considered as an advance on the credits projected with the two powers, and if the latter failed to materialize before the end of the present year, Austria would repay Czecho-Slovakia from the railroad receipts.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills — the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

BISHOP FALLON GAVE AN ADDRESS SCHOOL QUESTION

Believes There is a Better Spirit Among Non-Catholic Element of Province

TORONTO, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—For months past the press of the Province has been reflecting renewed determination of the Roman Catholic Church to secure, if possible, Legislative changes that will give them a larger share of corporation taxes and the right to the establishment of separate high schools, but the campaign was given a real start in Massey Hall last night when His Lordship Bishop Fallon, of London, stated the case for his Church before a great audience. It was not as a militant leader of Roman Catholicism that he descended upon Toronto, but rather as one who came asking for nothing better than an opportunity to reason the whole thing out calmly and deliberately.

"I believe there is better spirit among non-Catholic fellow-citizens of this Province," he said, "and I have perfect confidence that if our case can only reach their ears, unaffected by prejudice or by baseless opposition, we shall secure victory in keeping with our just claims."

KILLED IN PRISON.

Fellow Prisoner Was Hit on the Head by a Hammer Weilded by Companion.

OSSINING, N.Y., Feb. 10.—With blood streaming from a wound in the neck, Alexander Cniglio, who went to Sing Sing thirteen years ago for a murder in Kings County, walked up to Dr. Amos O. Squire, prison physician, in the hallway of the hospital to-day. Cniglio, a sheet metal shop worker, was serving from twenty years to life.

"I've been hit—here," he said, pointing to his head, back of the right ear. "I was coming out of the elevator, on the ground floor of the shop, just now, and Joe Colanno stopped me. He had a hammer in his hand and said to me:

"'You're the one who had me put on that draft going to Clinton Prison to-night.'

"I told him no; I didn't know anything about it. Then he hit me back of the ear with the hammer. I—"

Then Cniglio, who was 50 years old, collapsed in the hall. He was dead ten minutes later.

THE MARKETS

OFFERINGS WERE LIGHT ON WINNIPEG STOCK MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press)—Receipts Friday were 45 cattle, 380 hogs, 170 sheep and lambs.

With but few cattle offering on the market this morning trading volume was small. While prices held generally in line with yesterday, hardly sufficient sales were completed to establish a price range.

The hog market was unsettled, bidding opening at $11 for selects with prospects of going lower.

The sheep and lamb market was about steady, good lambs weighing up from $7.00 to $8.50; mutton of fair quality $5.

EGG MARKETS STEADY.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press)—The market continues firm in sympathy with United States markets. The supply of fresh eggs arriving on the larger markets is just about equal to the consumptive demands.

Toronto unchanged. Poultry receipts light, demand dull. Very little storage moving.

Montreal firm and unchanged, specials jobbing 50.

Winnipeg market steady, dealers quoting country shippers 45 to 50. States fresh jobbing 52, local fresh straight candled 55, retail extras 65, firsts 55, seconds 49.

Saskatchewan market unchanged.

Alberta markets firmer due to severe cold holding up receipts. Edmonton market shows a 2c advance. Calgary market supplied chiefly with British Columbia fresh at $12 per case.

British Columbia fresh easier at 35 country points with 37 offered for specals. Specials jobbing 40, extras 38, pullet extras 33.

Chicago spot delivery easier at 37 1-2 to 38, March delivery 22 3-4, April storage packed futures 24.

New York lower, extra firsts 44 to 45, firsts 40 to 43.

MONTREAL GRAIN ACTIVE.

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press)—The domestic market for cash grain was more active today and prices were marked up another half c to 1c a bushel. There was a much firmer feeling in the flour market but no actual change in prices. The condition of the mill feed market was unchanged, prices being maintained. A fair trade was done in rolled oats. A steady feeling continues in hay. There was a fair demand for potatoes. The butter market was without feature. A very firm feeling prevails in the cheese market.

CHICAGO Feb. 11.—(Canadain Press)—Unfavorable conditions for the domestic winter crop, together with higher quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires, did a good deal yesterday to bring about new upturns here in the price of wheat. The market closed firm at 1 1-2 to 2 1-4c net gain, with May $1.31 5-8 to $1.31 7-8 and July $1.17 3-8, Corn advanced 7-8 to 1 1-4 at 1 3-8c; oats 1-4 at 3-8c to 5-8c and provisions 12 to 25c.

With high winds reported as prevailing in Kansas, a cold wave predicted and no moisture looked for, a majority of wheat traders appeared to regard the crop outlook as becoming more critical and as warranting higher prices. Special significance too, was generally attached to the fresh gain in values at Liverpool in particular, inasmuch as the Liverpool market had already made a straightway advance of 26 cents, as against 16 cents here. A reduction of 50,000,000 bushels in current estimates of the Argentine crop surplus was also effective a stimulus to buyers. One authority contended that if Argentine, Australia and Canada were able to move their entire remaining surplus during the balance of the present crop year, they could supply only 261,000,000, as against indicated world requirements of 350,000,000 bushels. Heavy profit-taking sales on the upturn in prices led to a moderate setback from the top level reached.

Word of serious damage to the corn crop in Argentina, was the chief factor producing higher prices here for corn. Changes in the value of oats were governed mainly by the action of the corn market.

Provisions ascended with hogs and grain.

CHICAGO CATTLE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Cattle: Receipts, $4,000; beef steers steady to strong; top, $8.50; bulk, $6.75 @ $7.75; fat cows, heifers and veal calves, steady; bulk beef cows and heifers, $4.25 @ $5.50; vealers, mostly $10.00 @ $10.75; canners, cutters and bulls, slow, barely steady; Bologna bulls, mostly $3.85 @ $4.00; stockers and feeders, firm; bulk, $6.25 @ $6.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 31,000; 10c to 25c higher than Thursday's average; close strong; shippers bought about 10,500; holdover, moderately light; top, $10.25 on 150 to 170-lb. averages; bulk lights, $10.00 @ $10.25; bulk others, $9.50 @ $9.90; pigs, 10c to 15c higher; bulk desirable, around $9.50.

FRENCH BANKS HIT BY FALSE RUMOUS

Malicious Whispering Campaign Against Country's Credit.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The police investigation of an alleged campaign to spread false news against French banks was said by Minister of the Interior Maunoury today to indicate the existence of a systematic campaign directed from London against the credit of France.

While London appeared to be the headquarters for these movements, he said, there was every indication that the campaign did not involve British subjects, but was conducted by foreigners. He said there were some indications that Germans were implicated and that other evidence led to the supposition that it was a manoeuvre of Bolsheviki.

The operators of this move are said to have selected banks of minor importance, which were unable to stand systematic withdrawals of funds, and telegraphed or telephoned anonymously to depositors advising them to look out for their deposits, as the institution selected was in a precarious condition. This move proved effective in many cases, according to the Minister of the Interior, because of general nervousness over the financial situation. It was aided to a great extent, he thought, by bears operating on the Bourse, who encouraged pessimistic news regarding the securities of banks generally.

Officials of the Interior Department today said arrests of persons suspected in the campaign were imminent.

SAYS MABEL NORMAND NEVER LOVED TAYLOR.

Murdered Director's Love Unrequited, Mrs. J. H. Borden Asserts.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.— (Canadian Press.)— William Desmond Taylor, also known as William Deane-Tanner, never had a brother and he belonged to the oldest and wealthiest aristocracy of Ireland, according to a statement here to-day by Mrs. W. O. Farnum, an old friend from Ireland, who knew him well when he was a boy.

"His father's name was Major William Tanner," she said. "He was the only one of his family who was not something of a snob. I intend to write to his daughter, Daisy, and tell her the fine side of him that I knew."

At the same time, another Chicagoan, Mrs. John H. Borden, a close friend of Mabel Normand, was rising to the latter's defence. She returned here recently after a five months' visit with Miss Normand.

"Mabel is not in love and never was in love with Taylor," she said. "Bill Taylor was in love with her, very much so, but it was unrequited. She has been engaged to Mack Sennett, but that was an old affair and now they are merely good friends. Mabel did not konw anything about the first Mrs. Taylor or the daughter.'

CONTROL LOADS BY TRUCKS ON ROADS.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Until farmers in districts where soil drifting is prevalent will abandon wheat growing to the exclusion of mixed farming, the task of keeping drains open will be almost impossible, and as a means of forcing a change in methods, farmers should be charged with the expense of such repair work, H. A. Bowman, head of the Reclamation Department of the Provincial Government, states in a statement presented to the Minister of Public Works.

The report points out that under these conditions it is impossible to carry on repair work with horses, and no machine to do it has been invented.

Mr. Bowman also recommends legislation to control the load which can be carried on gravelled roads by motor trucks.

BABY MOSS.

"Owes her robust health to Virol."

Cranfield,
50, St. Albans Road,
Moseley, Birmingham.
Gentlemen, Aug. 20, 1920.

Enclosed you will find photograph of my daughter at 17 months old. I think you will agree that she is a splendid testimony to the value of Virol as a body builder. From early days Virol has been added to her milk food, and I am quite sure that she owes her robust health to this addition.

I have many times recommended Virol and in every case there has been improvement in general health, rapid growth and easy assimilation of food.

Believe me to be,
Yours faithfully,
(Signed) GEO. MOSS.

Virol is used in large quantities in more than 2,000 Hospitals and Infant Clinics. It is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilising of milk; it is also a bone and tissue-building food of immense value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

LIFTING EMBARGO WOULD NOT HELP AGRICULTURE

Extraordinary Remedy for Agricultural Depression, Says Minister.

LONDON, Feb. 11.— (Canadian Press Cable)—A. Griffith-Boscawen Minister of Agriculture displayed some warmth when replying in the House of Commons to numerous tormentors regarding the heavy financial burdens on Agriculture in Great Britain. Several hecklers provided an opening by referring to the embargo against the entry of Canadian store cattle.

The minister briefly dismissed the financial phase as a matter then receiving the attention of the chancellor of the exchequer, but he added: "Of all the extraordinary remedies for agricultural depression in Great Britain, the suggestion to remove the Canadian embargo is the most extraordinary."

Sir A. Boscawen detailed a list of misfortunes which he said were bound to follow the raising of the embargo and finally asked the members not to waste time arguing the question.

DO YOU FEEL WEAK AND RUN DOWN?

In This Condition a Tonic Medicine is Needed

The condition of being "run down" is one that doctors do not recognize as a disease. But those who are run down in health know that it is not a fancied affliction.

The expression "run down" applied to health means a condition in which the bodily functions are enfeebled. Appetite fails, the digestion is impaired, the nerves are impoverished, the complexion becomes pale or waxy, there is no animation, but rather worry and mental depression. Fatigue is a constant symptom. No particular organ being affected you must look for relief to the blood. As it circulates through every part of the body, any improvement in the condition of the blood is quickly felt throughout the entire system. In cases of this kind a tonic medicine is what is needed and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recognized as a valuable tonic because of their direct action on the blood, and through the blood on the nerves, giving tone to the system generally and restoring vigor. Where the system is run down the value of this medicine is shown by the statement of Mrs. Gregory J. Murphy, Lower Ship Harbor East, N. S., who says: "About a year ago I was completely run down. I was so nervous and weak that I could scarcely do my housework and the least exertion left me breathless and tired out. A neighbor advised Dr. Williams Pink Pills and so much good did they do me I feel quite like a different woman. I rope some other suffering woman may benefit by my experience."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Advantages of Association

President T. Darrah gave a brief address in which he pointed out the advantages of the association as an educative proposition of interest to the general public, especially the younger generation as was evidenced by the attendance of school children under the charge of their teachers and the demonstrations given them by H. T. Lush, the superintendent of the show.

T. Tooms, M.L.A., who is also a member of the association, spoke briefly on the merits of the association, and the show of birds and exhibits which he said reflected great credit upon the directors, and was certainly placing Peterborough upon the map with regard to superior standard bred fowl, and the quality of the 1922 show which was one of the best held in Ontario and deserving of the support of all lovers of the domestic bird, which supplies the breakfast eggs.

Members are Grateful

The executive council of the Peterborough Poultry Association wish to thank the patrons of the 1922 show, held in the market hall, January 3 to 5 for its great success financially. This how was the largest and finest ever helds in Peterborough and one of the largest held in the Province of Ontario. The exhibits included rare breeds of poultry, some birds fetching as much as fifty dollars a bird, and more. There was also about eleven hundred exhibits of standard bred fowl, egg producers and table birds; the success of this year's show has filled the association with enthusiasm, which bids well to make Peterborough noted for its poultry show and rare stock of high quality fowl.

The association also thanks The Examiner for its very favorable comment and service to the show, which is an asset to the Peterborough district.

GRADUAL IMPROVEMENT IN CANADIAN BUSINESS

Change is Only Slight, But Conditions Appear Brighter.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Business conditions throughout Canada show little change from the commencement of the month, a gradual but sure improvement in all-round conditions being the feature of all reports received, states the weekly trade report of the Canadian Creditmen's Trust Association.

Montreal, Toronto and other eastern advices say that wholesalers are now feeling the effect of increased orders from country points. Drygoods, men's and ladies' wear and hardware are among those reporting improvement in general conditions. Retail trade in the larger cities is about the same as at the start of the month. Collections are still slow. Assignments are fewer.

Winnipeg wholesalers are, as a whole, optimistic as to early spring and summer conditions, finding assurance in increased orders from most parts of the Prairie Provinces. They are, however, obliged to hold the reins tight on credit, and this is curtailing trade. Retailers in Winnipeg have in the larger stores been very busy this week with bonspiel and carnival visitors, it being estimated that fully thirty thousand visitors are in the city. Collections slow. Assignments showing decided decrease.

Regina and other Saskatchewan points report business not improving as fast as was expected, both in wholesale and retail circles. Volume of business is considered to be not quite so good as in Ferbuary last year.

The circulation of the newspapers of the United States and Canada is 46,000,000.

CONCENTRATE ON THE SUSPECTS IN TAYLOR MURDER

Los Angeles Police Confine Investigations to Three Men and Mysterious Woman.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.— The field of suspects in the Taylor murder mystery to-day narrowed down to four men and Miss X., a mysterious and unknown woman.

The forces of the law tracking the murderer of the director have been combined under a single head to concentrate on these suspects, Random clues, reports of William Desmond Taylor's past life, love affairs and letters disappearing and reappearing, handkerchiefs and other bits of evidence all were consolidated to-day into a single mass. District Attorney Lee Woolwine this morning assumed leadership of the various agencies searching for Taylor's slayer. All new evidence unearthed will be placed at his disposal. New witnesses will be examined by him. Reports, whether of Taylor's past life, heart affairs, or difficulties with rivals or blackmailers, will be laid at Woolwine's disposal.

To Begin Comprehensive Survey.

From to-day, according to Woolwine, the district attorney's office will conduct a comprehensive survey of the entire case. Beautiful actresses who have given insufficient testimony, Taylor's servants, persons in the neighborhood who saw a muffled man with a cap on the night of the murder, all will be called upon to tell once more and more completely everything they know which may have the slightest bearing on the mystery.

To-day the district attorney planned to begin with Mabel Normand and Mary Miles Minter not because they are suspects, but because of their friendship with Taylor. The Mabel Normand letters to Taylor are in the possession of the district attorney's office. If they throw no light upon the murder they will not be made public.

The first of the men suspects is Edward F. Sands. The second man is the idle son of a multi-millionaire New York manufacturer, who is said to have been desperately in love with the actress whose nightgown was found among Taylor's possessions. He is reported to have been secretly betrothed to the actress.

Picture Producer Included.

The third man who was included in the list of possible suspects was today described as an "independent motion picture producer," whose phenomenal rise within the past five years has been one of the remarkable accomplishments of the motion picture industry. He was said to have been "under investigation from the first." It is said that he was in love with the same actress mentioned in connection with "the young man from the east,' and to have been recently divorced by his wife. Another motion picture executive is referred to as "suspect number four."

The mysterious Miss X. is not a pointed reference to any actress of Taylor's acquaintance. She is looked for on the police theory that a jealous woman instigated the murder.

Many new facts are expected to be brought to light. A late development was the positive assertion by a detective attached to the district attorney's office that Taylor had a woman visitor at his bungalow preceding Mabel Normand by a matter of minutes.

The report that a revolver, possibly the one with which the crime was committed, had been picked up by a milk man, is still under investigation by the district attorney's office.

Many Cook Books Received

Many of the recipes received were very similar to each other, and to decide who were the prize winners required expert appraisal of the "fine points," as is shown by the judges' report below. In fact, some of those who failed to win prizes may scarcely realize the difference between the prize-winning recipes and their own. We ask our friends who did not win prizes to await the appearance of the new cook book, when the recipes will be in such form as to make it quite clear why they were selected.

18,000 Recipes Received

The judges' task will be more readily understood when it is known that over 18,000 recipes were received and entered in the Christmas Contest. From this huge number of recipes the judges had to select the prize-winners!

Free Cook Book to Every Contestant

Every woman who sent recipes to the Christmas Contest—prize-winners and all—will receive free of charge a copy of the new Monarch Cook Book. The preparation and printing of this valuable cook book will occupy several months and will be mailed as soon as published.

Other Prizes

In addition to the prize-winners here given, there are a number of others whose recipes will be selected for the new cook book, these recipes each winning one of the $1.00 prizes. The ladies whose recipes will appear in the cook book with the above prize-winners will receive notification from us in due course.

Judged on Merit Alone

None of the prize-winners were known to the judges and none belong to families connected with the Maple Leaf Milling Company, Limited, Millers of Monarch Flour. The recipes were judged and the prize-winning recipes selected on their merits alone.

Judges Report

In judging the many thousands of recipes that were sent in during the Christmas Recipe Contest, an attempt was made to choose those which later on would be best for the New Monarch Cook Book. The recipes were judged, not only for the excellency of the product, but also for conciseness of directions and arrangement of ingredients. When two or more recipes were received which contained the same ingredients in the same proportions, then the decision rested upon the arrangement of recipe and clearness of directions. Again, many recipes were received which we were forced to discard, because the amounts used made them too expensive to be practical for the average home.

The recipe for plum pudding sent in by Mrs. Boughton, 104 Eaton Avenue, Toronto, gives an especially fine product. It is rich enough to suit those desiring a very good pudding and its fine flavor is developed by the very excellent combination of fruits and fruit juices. The directions for mixing are brief but clear and concise.

The Christmas Cake Recipe which received first prize was chosen from many hundreds of others, many of which seemed almost as good. This recipe, sent by Mrs. C. Hall, 84 Laughton Avenue, Toronto, was preferred because of the good balance maintained among the ingredients. A Fruit or Christmas Cake should essentially be a Cake which obtains its flavor from the fruits used in its composition and, consequently, this should not be detracted from by the addition of too great an amount of spices or any ingredient which would mask the natural fruit flavor.

Our attempt with both Christmas Cake and Plum Pudding was to obtain a recipe which will be most economical and yet will give a very good product.

The Short Bread Recipe sent by Mrs. Wm. Donaldson, 12 William St., Hamilton, was given first place, because of the excellent texture given by the combination of rice flour and Monarch Flour. The flavor was much improved by the use of unsalted butter and the color unspoiled by the use of a dark sugar. The directions for handling and baking were especially good and the proportions easy to measure.

In choosing the best recipe among the small Christmas-time cakes, since three prizes were to be allotted, it was decided to select a fancy cake of moderate expense, attractive and easily made. These points were satisfied in the recipe for Ressots sent by Miss A. Gray, 702 Jones Avenue, Toronto. They will be found delightful, not only in appearance, but also in taste.

The second prize was awarded to the best recipe for plain cookies sent by Mrs. W. E. Kirkpatrick, 720 Broadview Avenue, Toronto.

The third prize was awarded to a recipe for Cocoanut Macaroons sent by Mrs. M. Harford, 217 Markham Street, Toronto. These small cakes are very easily made, moderately expensive, give a delightful product and are a favorite in most homes at the Christmas season.

Many cooky recipes came in which had very good proportions among the ingredients, but flavorings were entirely omitted, which left a tasteless product and resulted in the discarding of the recipes. We think the one chosen will meet the cooky requirement for the homes of the users of Monarch Flour. The prize-winning recipes will, of course, all be published in the New Monarch Cook Book, when it is issued, a few months hence.

PROMPT RESPONSE FROM CANADIANS TO RUSSIAN FUND.

Many Subscriptions Received For the Relief of Children Who Are Starving.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.— (By Canadian Press.)—Sir George Burn, treasurer of the Canadian committee of the Save the Children Fund, stated last night that he was impressed with the spontaneous response of the Canadian people to the appeal for aid to famine stricken Russia.

It is just a week since the Canadian Press sent out a statement of the organization of the national committee and subscriptions to the fund have already been received at Ottawa headquarters from as far west as Saskatoon and Engelfield, Sask., and as far east as Fredericton, N.B.

It is stated that Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton and London were among the first cities to respond, but the smaller ones are also responsive. Subscriptions have come in from many points in western Ontario. The amounts vary from $5.00 and $1,000 to $5.00 and $1.00. One lady in St. Catharines sent in a diamond ring valued at $90, to be sold for the fund. As it is possible to feed one child for a month for one dollar, under the efficient staff of the British relief workers in Russia, the Canadian response will save the lives of many starving children.

The Greatest Medicine in the World, Say Doctors.

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, you are constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your Liver is out of order and is not exiting bile into the bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 90 per cent. of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour bile into the intestines; your system is unable to excrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome you cannot expect to have perfect health, and life to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about 15 minutes before each meal, or you may take two at bedtime, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No sedlitz, salts or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-eliminating.

Tanated Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act soon after taking. It has no bad after-effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste poison, making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous and vivacious again.

Tanated Calomel is sold by F. C. Webber, Charlotte street.

How the English and Scotch Young Folk Celebrate St. Valentine's Eve

Origin of the Merry Festival-Activities For Occasion in Local Feminine World.

There are few valentines such as we used to see in the olden days. Probably no one will mourn the passing of the comic sheets, with its yellow and green monstrosities, and its personalities that often brought their lazy paraphenalia, sentimental rhymes and large pierced hearts are no more .It is said that the 'flapper' of to-day prefers something more substantial in the gift line to a mushy effusion of bad poetry.

St. Valentine's Day has become the almost exclusive property of the children, and there are certainly plenty of creations in the stores for their small fancies. Glorified, golden haired damsels make eyes from behind plumed fans, blue-eyed milkmaids with tiny accompanying poodles languish in miniature size on smartly-colored glossy cutouts, dainty small ladies with parasols and smiling visages; with kittens and ice-cream, and player pianos that grind out "Love's Old Sweet Sog", look forth from artistic creations, and there are hardier pieces for the boys, sleds, and drums, and skiis taking the place f the old-time doggerel verses.

But sentiment still has its day, in another form. Under spreading movable fans and huge flower-pots, you will find the old-time red heart, pierced with the old-time golden arrow. They cover up their sentiment nowadays, but it's there all the same, and in one of the stores, there was a large box full of lacy little affairs, with wreaths of pink rosebuds and a saucy Cupid prancing over a bleeding heart.

And there are lovely little beribboned bookmarks, and lavender post-cords, with dainty sweet damsels thereon, and Cupids and place cards and tiny red seals and golden arrows to send as reminders of the sentimental day.

Local Celebrations

Various activities in the feminine world are being arranged for St. Valentine's Day, a favorite date at this season of the year for any special festivity.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A., which does a great deal of work among returned men and their families, as well as sewing for children, visiting the sick in homes and hospitals, and looking after the dependents of veterans in every possible fashion, is holding a Charity Ball at the G.W.V.A. hall.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A., a Valentine tea and sale of home-made cooking is being held on the afternoon of this day, in the reading room of the Y.M.C.A. The Ladies Auxiliary looks after the needs of the Young Mens' Christian Association generally, in the way of supplying linen for the dormitories and the dining-rooms.

A Talent Tea is also being held at St. George's Rectory, on the after noon of Feb. 14th. in aid of the Rectory Fund.

And the local branch of the United Farm Women of Ontario is arranging for a "shadow box" social at their Simcoe street rooms.

A Martyred Saint

The origin of the term "St. Valentine's Day" has been variously ascribed The first St. Valentine was a saint of Rome, who was martyred, being first beaten with clubs and then beheaded, in the third century, during the Claudian persecutions. His remains were interred in the church of St. Praxedes in Rome, where a gate now called the Porta del Populo was formerly named for him, Porta Valentin.

Another Bishop Valentine was he who healed the son of Crayon, the metorician, and was choked to death with a fish-bone, but, as the historian says, "either of these two godly gentlemen would be most surprised to find themselves acclaimed the patron of lovers.

The etymologist explains it like this: V and g were often interchangeable in the popular speech of long ago, and thus the Norman word galantin, or a lover of the fair sex, became valantin or valentine.

The historian explains it thus: It was the practice in ancient Rome, during the greater part of the month of February, to hold Lupercalia, which were feasts in honor of Pan and Juno, which latter deity was named also Februata, Februalis ond Februalla. On this occasion, names of young women were put in a box and drawn by young men, and the pastors of the early Christian church desiring to stop these practices, substituted saints' names for women, and the feast of Lupercalia, which came about the middle of February, were changed to St. Valentine's feasts, his death having occurred on the 14th of the month.

Their True Loves

Mission, a learned traveller of the 17th century, says: "On the eve of St. Valentine's Day, the young folks in England and Scotland celebrate. A equal number of maids and bachelors get together, each writes their true love's or some feigned name on separate billets, which they roll up, and draw by way of lots, the maids taking the men's billets, and the men the maid's, so that each of the young men has a girl that he calls his valentine and each of the girls has a young man whom she dubs in like manner by this asrangement, each has two valentines, but the man sticks faster to the valentine that has fallen to him than the valentine to whom he has fallen. Fortune having thus directed the valentines into so many couples, the valentines give balls and treats to their mistresses and wear their billets upon their bosoms or sleeves."

Pepys, in his Diary, 1667, records the giving of gifts to relieve the obligation laid upon a man who has been chosen a valentine, and he speaks of the valentine received by his wife, 'writ upon blue paper, with fine gilt letters", and a motto, "Most courteous and most fair".

Large sheets of gilt-edged paper, inscribed with gilt cupids, came later, and the first printed valentine was a flashy affair, showing a simpering maiden, invariably clothed in a scarlet gown, blue or green shawl, smiling at a gentleman in lavender trousers, yellow waist-coast and green or crimson cravat.

In 1754, a charm for lonely maidens on St, Valentine's Eve was as follows: Procure five bay leaves, and pine one to each corner of the pillow and one in the centre. If one dreams of one's sweetheart under these conditions one will be married before year is out. Still another idea was to eat a hard-boiled egg, shell and all, not drinking nor speaking afterwards, and await an ensuing dream. (It is quite likely that some dream would follow this performance).

And still another: Write your several lovers' names upon bits of paper, roll them in clay and drop in water. The first to rise to the top would be one's valentine.

THIN, FLAT HAIR

"Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all Dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass—so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair — fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy, and luxuriant.

Executive Meeting Of Big Sisterhood

An executive meeting of the Big Sisterhood was held this week, at which encouraging reports were presented of the actual work being done, many of the workers, however, being absent through illness contracted from over-zealous attention to their duties.

Three hundred and fifty yards of flannelette, many webs of grey flannel, and of white, have been made up recently into underwear and night garments for women and children; 17 quilts have been made and given out, and quantities of clothing and underwear disposed of.

The ladies are asking particularly just now for men's and boys' clothing of all sorts, for distribution to many needy cases, and one woman has been asking for a chest of drawers from some kind home.

The list of needy cases is increasing as the days go by. In one afternoon alone, recently, 17 telephone calls came in, all requiring assistance of one sort or another. The visiting committee has a total of nearly 180 children on its list, in families ranging from 3 to 8 children in each. And in some cases, it takes only a little paper on the walls and a piece of white oilcloth on the table to make the homes look better and more habitable.

Musical Afternoon Women's Art Assn.

The Women's Art Association are holding their next musical afternoon on the 25th of February, when the programme will be under the direction of Mrs. Maurice Park.

The dramatic section of the society, with Mrs. W. McKee Bingham in charge, has been reading plays with a view to selecting short productions for presentation before the association, something in the manner of the very successful Shakespearian afternoon recently put on.

Two types of comedy, "The Maker of Dreams," a fantastic poetical comedy, and "Spreading the News," an Irish play by Lady Gregory, were selected, but it will be impossible to proceed with them until after Easter.

The idea of the dramatic section is to form the nucleus of a dramatic club which might become a permanent section of the association, to produce later on one-act plays of the best type, for discerning audiences, something after the fashion of the Hart House Theatre in Toronto.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE WHITENS RED HANDS

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a botle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter-pint of harmless and delightful lemon-bleach lotion to soften and whiten red, rough or chapped hands. This home-made lemon lotion is far superior to glycerin and rose water to smoothen the skin. Famous stage beauties use it to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, because it doesn't irritate.

NEW HAIR DRESSING MODES NOT SIMPLE.

Hair dressing styles are not becoming simpler. More and more young girls and women are adopting the bobbed hair fashion so that most of the beauty parlors which do permanent waving now make a specialty for permanently waving short hair. The unfortunate part of this is that short hair has to be cut about once a month so that the wave is constantly being clipped off.

Otherwise the tendency is toward a very sophisticated type of hairdressing; for instance, the hair pulled back from the face as much as is becoming and drawn to knot that is quite high in the back. This is a style that looks very well on young girls and is almost the only style that looks well on the woman with a weak or undeveloped chin. Unfortunately it is a style that makes a woman look a little older.

Hair is being waved more this season than ever before. This, too, is unfortunate, because waved hair makes a woman look older than straight hair. But the waving this year is done very lightly, that is, instead of short ,stiff and artificial waves, the hair is done very loosely indeed. It is far more becoming and far more natural than the old method. If a woman wants to imitate this at home, she can do so best by moistening the hair and rolling strands of it around very soft, thick kid curlers.

Fortunately no artificial hair is used. Hairdressers say it is the position of the knot, rather than its size, which makes it fashionable.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are changeable—one bright, the next one cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds, and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"The woman who hesitates is lost," said the girl at the piano.

"Not lost," corrected the jaundiced bachelor. "Extinct."—Sunday Express.

BROKEN BLOSSOMS.

Perhaps the flowers of heaven are flowers
That here at birth were broken on the ground,
Perhaps the hours of heaven are happy hours
That here we often sought, but never found.

Origin and Meaning Of Classic Songs

Madame Luhgrin-Fahey, singing at George street Methodist church recently, introduced her songs with charming little descriptions of their origin and meaning. This was particularly apt when a certain number in Italian was given. There are few local people, outside of the real native-born Italian, who understand what a song in Italian is all about, and, although they may try to look intelligent through its rendition, they are just as likely as not to think that the girl is being murdered when she is only expressing her rapture over a loved one.

So, at the last lyceum concert in the Conservatory of Music this week, the lady who gave a short recital of the origin of the bassoon, her cumbersome-looking instrument, was listened to with interest.

In the stringed instrument class, she said, there are the four well-known varieties, the violin, viola, violoncello, and contra bass, or bass viol, and, corresponding to these, in the realm of the double reeds, are the oboe, the English horn, the bassoon, and the contra bassoon, larger and heavier still.

The bassoon is known as the "monkey or clown" of the orchestra, and, on account of its resemblance to a bunch of faggots tied together, is called "faggoto" in Italy.

A Holycaust on the Altar of Maternity

There were twenty-five in all in two days. Twenty-five victims who offered themselves, a bloody holocaust, on the altar of modernity.

Robust and red one hour, white, recumbent, sheeted form the next, some of them silent, others moaning with pain. The knife was relentless. Old and young, it claimed its prey, and with swift strokes of the wrist severed from them that which an erring Creator had endowed them with.

This executioner was ultra-modern. He did not believe in deadening the torture to any extent, so no even the benumbing ether could hel them along very much, and the stood it after the r several fashions Some yelled and some wept, and others merely gritted their teeth ,b fore opening their mouths wide, very wide.

Not a Russian blood-feast—not an explosion, nor a theatre accident, or a runaway train. Simple voluntary self-immolation, induced by the exigencies of modern existence. Just the 25 citizens of Peterborough who, within two days recently, had their tonsils extracted.

"The general influence of a musical atmosphere, where Melancholy lifts its head, Sloth unfolds its arms and wakes, listening, Envy drops her snakes."

HANDY SCRAP BAGS

Keep two bags hanging on the door of your sewing room. In one put all pieces large enough to prove useful. In the other put tiny cuttings and trimmings, such as would be thrown away ordinarily. When sewing it gives a little child great pleasure to cut these into smallest pieces, which make the most delightfully soft filling for sofa pillows, and eliminate the cost of expensive down or feather cushions.

DUMMER MAN HAD A STILL APPARATUS

Churchill Lytle Assessed $253 in Police Court To-day.

Having appartus for making beer, mash or spirituous liquors in his possession when inspectors called on Monday night, cost Churchill Lytle, of Dummer township, a fine of $200 in to-day's police court.

On Tuesday last accused pleaded not guilty to a breach of the Inland Revenue Act.

Costs in the case amounted to $53 and the total assessment of $253 was paid by the family to-day.

In this case, W. H. Buller, Inland Revenue Officer, stated this morning that only the one arrest had taken place. The father, Matthew Lytle, was not taken into custody, nor the son's brother-in-law. They came to Peterborough in connection with the case, but only in Churchill Lytle's interests. Neither was a 16-year-old boy, who, it is said, was around the still when it was found, arrested, as was stated in Norwood yesterday. The Lytle homestead is 10 miles north of Norwood, practically at the end of the road. The rectifying apparatus, one of a crude nature, was seized by the Crown.

Economies for Peterboro' homes

The Household Editor of The Detroit News is conducting a column for the discussion of simple home economics.

She says:

"Keeping out of debt is the lively game which is absorbing the attention of many housekeepers nowadays.

"How do you do it?

"Why not pass along your good ideas on this subject to other housekeepers who are working on the problem, too, and who, in return, will be glad to share some of their bright ideas with you?

"Do you pay cash, or do you find that bookkeeping is simpler if you pay your bills once a month? Do you meet the keeping-out-of-debt problem by earning a little extra money or by cutting down expenses?"

One woman gives her experience:

"I used to spend a great deal of time trying to save money on my weekly table allowance by using the cheaper cuts of beef. But I found that the tougher pieces took a great deal of cooking and used up a great deal of time, gas and seasoning. Now I buy a good roast of beef or pot roast, a leg of lamb or other tempting cut and use it sparingly. The family would rather have a cut less often than meat of poorer quality every meal. On the days when I do not serve meat I usually provide a cheese dish, a pan of baked beans or a big dish of baked corn souffle. But when it comes to meat I find that the family get more out of a good roast once in a while than a poor one oftener."

Another:

"Good mayonnaise is not an extravagance as one is sometimes led to believe, for by its use many odds and ends of the leftovers can be combined into nourishing and palatable dishes. I have found that my one slice of veal mixed with some left-over celery and perhaps a little flavoring of spiced pickle makes a salad that will serve two for luncheon, and with a dessert that is wholesome, and a good cup of coffee, is quite enough and perfectly satisfying."

"The Dutch may have their Holland,
The Spaniard have his Spain,
The Yankee to the south of us
must south of us remain;
For not a man dare lift a hand against the men who brag,
That they were born in Canada
beneath the British flag.'

For Women

Keep on hand a bottle of equal parts of lime water and linseed oil, which can be shaken into a creamy emulsion in an instant and applied as first aid in case of a burn.

Before putting furs away, see that they are thoroughly cleaned by beating them gently with a velvet-covered fly swatter, or a small, looped length of rubber tubing, then pack away with cedar chips, tobacco moth balls, or black pepper, in a tight new pasteboard box, sealing the opening with a strip of paster cloth.

Once a week purify kitchen and bathroom pipes by pouring down a solution made of two ounces of chloride of lime, to two quarts of warm water, using this solution at night when it will not be speedily washed away by frequent use of the plumbing.

When pressing a fabric which has been cleand with gasoline, wring a cloth out of a mxture of three parts water and one part vinegar, in order to free from gasoline odor and to avoid the likelihood of rings.

White collars and cuffs of woolen material may be effectively cleaned by rubbing thoroughly in cornmeal, changing the meal until the fabric is fresh and clean.

THEATRES

CAPITOL—The cleanest and cleverest comedy ever made on events of the great war, entitled "Three Live Ghosts." Balance of the offering consists of special productions.

GRAND—"Evangeline," a picture of the most sublime drama in the history of literature.

ROYAL—"The Lady From Longacre," "One Moment, Please," "Big Town Ideas," and Comedy—15 reels.

REGENT—Marie Prevost in "Nobody's Fool," a joyous comedy of sparkle and pep and a big Paramount feature.

AT THE GRAND.

"EVANGELINE."

This afternoon and evening, "Evangeline" is shown for the last time at the Grand Opera House. The story of Longellow's poem has not been changed from the original, and those who have read the pathetic recital of the deportations among the simple Acadian farmers will be anxious to see th screened version, which has been produced amidst scenes of wonderful natural beauty.

The homely touches conveyed by the art of the photographer include many scenes from the village life of Grand Pre, with the mild, gentle existence of its inhabitants and the simple love-story of the two lovers.

A charming note is given to the performance by the introduction of a modern interlude, picturing the quarrel of two young people, with their reconciliation later on.

"Stop Thief", aside from being one of the funniest comedies ever written, is so "different", it is almost melo-drama, such mysterious things happen and with a speed that is quicker than the eye. After the two thieves start working in the home of a perfectly nice family, it soon looks as though the family themselves were thieves, and the two crooks were the only people above suspicion, and when a missing bundle of money suddenly turns up in the minister's coat tail pocket, things do happen.

Rex and Zana will appear as the two crooks, something very different from anything they have done before, and one might almost think it a pleasure to be robbed by a couple of highway men, who make so much fun of their "work". M. Yule is also co-featured in one of those parts he plays so well, that of the innocent old Kleontomanaic The balance of the company are well cast.

"IRISH EYES"

A number of new charming songs which have been cleverly worked into the thread of "Irish Eyes", form a most pleasing feature of Walter Scanlan's new comedy, which the youg romantic actor, will shortly present at the Grand Theatre.

Scanlan's voice is in fine fettle and his singing as ever a delight to his host of admirers. "Irish Eyes" is a charmig mixture of romance and mystery, with its scenes laid in Ireland and America, and is declared to be one of the best Irish comedy dramas ever presented.

AT THE CAPITOL.

All Records Smashed in Filming of Cecil B. De Mille's Superb Paramount Production. "Saturday Night."

What is believed to be a record for editing and titling a special production was set by Cecil B. DeMille and staff in finishing up the director's latest Paramount picture, "Saturday Night," in order that he might embark promptly for his vacation in Europe. Twelve working days were required. The production will be the feature at the Capitol theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

This demand for speed gave rise to reminiscences on Mr. DeMille's part concerning the rapidity with which it is possible sometimes to work on a picture without detracting from its value.

"I made two pictures at the same time once," he said, "one during the day and the other at night. And they were both very successful, too,—'The Cheat' and 'The Golden Chance.'"

"The man elected to stick it out with me was Alvin Wyckoff, director of photography. He and I slept an hour every evening. Of course we were younger then," he added, smiling. "Perhaps it couldn't be done now. Aside from us, there were two complete crews, for each company.

"And I remember when we had Geraldine Farrar under contract for eight weeks. During that time we were entitled to make one or more pictures. We actually made three, and one of them was 'Carmen.'"

According to Mr. DeMille, it does not pay to rush a picture's production. Only in the rarest cases, he declares, where sets are few and simple, where no outside location work is required, and where weather does not intervene to delay, can a picture be done well and quickly.

A notable example of this was the filming by William deMille of "Miss Lulu Bett," which, owing to its simple and compact sets, was finished, so far as actual "shooting" was concerned, in slightly over a month, and already the author of the story Miss Zona Gale, has declared it is an improvement on the original drama. "Saturday Night" required considerably more time.

The balance of the programme will be specially selected to fit in with this remarkable nine-reel production, and combined with the music of the very excellent Capitol orchestra, will leave nothing to be desired in the way of really high-class entertainment at popular prices.

FAN-FAN.

AT THE REGENT.

"BURIED TREASURE" A REMARKABLE PICTURE.

Marion Davies' New Cosmopolitan Vehicle is Massive, and Cost $250,000.

Eclipsing in point of expenditure sumptuousness and sheer beauty anything of the kind ever before shown on the screen, "Buried Treasure," the Paramount-Cosmopolitan version of F. Britten Austen's story which created a sensation when it was published in Hearst's Magazine, will be shown at the Regent Theatre next Monday, with Marion Davies as the heroine.

This picture was made at a cost of approximately $250,000. An entire company of two hundred players was transported to California for an entire summer, 5,000 extras were employed in some of the largest and most lavish sets ever seen on the screen and designed by Joseph Urban, probably the most distinguished scenic artist to-day.

Two pirate ships costng $50,000 each, the rear end of one of these being tipped with gold in the fashion of the period were used continuously. Through the courtesy of California's multi-millionaire, John D. Spreckels, many of the striking scenes were made on his palatial half-million dollar yacht, "The Venetia." The staff utilised by Cosmopolitan productions included five camera men, 30 musicians, 150 carpenters, and 20 electricians. Costumes, jewels, and other accessories used by Miss Davies cost many thousands of dollars.

This is a picture dealing with the pertinent question of reincarnation and communication of the living with the dead. Norman Kerry is the leading man and heads a strong supporting company, th principals including Anders Randolf, Edith Shayne, Earl Schenck, John Charles and Thomas Findlay.

AT THE ROYAL.

No one who has seen William Russell in a strenuous western photoplay would suspect him of descent from the British nobility.

When the famous Fox star was approached upon the subject he cleaned up the mystery. It seems in his new photoplay, "The Lady from Longacre," which is now playing at the Royal Theatre, Mr. Russell is called upon to portray the chartacer of an aristocrat who prefers democracy and midnight partees to high society and pink teas. During the staging of some scenes, Mr. Russell called the director's attention to errors in the social formality, and was asked where he had learned so much about the workings of society. Mr. Russell leaned over, jokingly, and answered:

"I never have told anyone, but I am a son of the Earl of Cheshire. Before I ran away from home I was qquite familiar with the hows-and-whys of the royal court." As a matter of fact, he is a New Yorker by birth. Eileen Prey in "Big Town Ideas," plays the part of a restaurant girl at a jerkwater railway station, who pines for life in a big city. The play, which is naturally a comedy disguised as a drama, shows how she gained her ambition. She is the direct means of releasing a young man sentenced for ten years for stealing bonds by proving his innocence and also of catching the real thieves. She and the young man forge bonds of matrimony from prison bars. The comedies are bright, full of laughter and pretty bathing girls.

BASKETBALL

PETERBOROUGH JUNIORS.

The Peterborough junior basketball team will stack up against either Varsity 3rds or Simpson Avenue Methodist Church teams in the semi-finals of the Junior O.A.B.A. series. Varsity 3rds are winners of group 1 and the Simpson Avenue team are winners in group 2 of the Junior T. & D. series. Varsity have only lost one game this season, whilst Simpson Avenue Church have a clear sheet in that respect as yet. Varsity are favorites and are expected to win the series, but last year Simpson Avenue team eliminated them in the semi-finals, and hope to repeat again this year. The games are called for the 14th and 21st of this month at the Broadview "Y," so Peterborough will know by the 21st whom their next opponents will be. The winners of the western group of the series has not yet been determined, but the Petes are not worrying about that until they eliminate the winners of the T. & D. series.

CAN BLAME THEMSELVES.

The suggestion that the group winners in the Tankard should play off in sections of four and the four survivors come to Toronto for the final has been revived by the soft-water experience of the finals just finished, says the Toronto Telegram. But when it comes up at the annual meeting it will be voted down as usual. The visitors may do a lot of howling about the weather, etc., when they are in the city, but, after all, they like the trip. The prize they curl for in the primaries is not so much the Tankard as a chance to get down where the street cars rumble past the rink and the stones roar over the boarded floors. Anyway, it is up to themselves. They needn't trouble to place the blame on the city clubs whose ice they monopolize for the best part of a week.

STEINMETZ TIGHTENS HOLD ON TITLE OF AMERICA'S AMATEUR SKATING ACE

Won 400-Yard Dash and Was Second in the Three-Quarter Mile Race at Lake Placid on Friday in Diamond Trophy Events.

Has Total of 110 Points.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press.) —William Steinmetz, of Chicago, virtually clinched the title of Amateur Skating Ace of America late Friday by winning the 440-yards dash and finishing second in the three-quarter mile race, the second day events on the card of the Diamond Trophy Championship. He now has a total of 110 points. Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid comes next with 55 points.

Jewtraw's work of winning the three-quarter mile race and finishing second in the 440 yards dash boosted him into second place.

Joe Moore, of New York, who finished third in the three-quarter mile race is third, with 40 points. Roy McWhirter, of Chicago, is fourth, with 25 points scored yesterday. Charles Gorman, of St. John, N.B., to-night had only ten points, secured to-day when the finished third in the 440 yard dash.

Jewtraw's Chances.

In order for Steinmetz to lose the title Jewtraw would have to win both the half and three mile races to-morrow and the Chicago man fail to get a place.

Richard Donevan, of St. Paul, to-night led the Silver Cup contenders with ninety points. His nearest competitor is Paul Forman, of New York., who has only 30 points. The Diamond Trophy events to-day were more spectacular than yesterday. As in the 220 yard dash yesterday, Steinmanz gave the spectators an unexpected thrill by winning. At the start Jewtraw took a big lead and held it for the first lap. Gorman then closed in on him and it appeared to be a fight between these two. Suddenly, near the stretch, Steinmatz flashed past the leaders and streaked across the line a winner. McWhirter was fourth and Moore fifth.

Fell at Last Turn.

In the three-quarter mile race Moore took the lead at the bell tap and for a moment it looked like he would win without much contest. On the back stretch, however, Jewtraw quickened his pace, fought it out with Moore to the turn and then came down the stretch in the lead. Steinmetz nosed into second place with Moore third. McWhirter and Gorman both fell at the last turn and slid off the course.

Donovan gave a brilliant exhibition in the half mile race. At the last lap he was pocketed, but fought his way to third place and then, as the skaters came down the stretch abreast, dove through to the finish. William Murphy, of New York, was second and Valentine Bialis of Lake Placid, third. In the mile event Donovan took the lead at the bell and never was headed. Fred Buandgen, of Chicago, finished second and Herman Parleberg of Cleveland, came in third.

PACIFIC COAST HOCKEY ASPIRANTS FOR THE ALLAN AND STANLEY CUPS

Are Going After Allan Trophy For First Time Since Back in 1912.

(Written for the Canadian Press by A. P. Garvey.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 11.—The Pacific Coast League has for years been an outstanding factor in professional hockey, frequently holding the Stanley Cup, emblematic of world supremacy among the puck chasers. This season the British Columbia athletes will not only lay claim to this coveted trophy, but will also attempt to conquer the amateur field and carry off the Allan Cup which represents the Dominion championship in this class. The province west of the Rockies looms big in the hockey map and intends to be more outstanding than ever this winter.

The professional league out here, represented by the teams of Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, is however meeting difficulties developing new talent good enough to step out into the classy company which continues to thrill the pro-hockey fans on this coast. While there are included in the personnel of the various squads players who still star and are good for a few more seasons, Frank Patrick, president of the league, and his aides are frank to admit that the player problem is one that is causing a lot of worry. That the majority of amateur players in the west have hardly reached the stage where they can be considered of major league calibre is the opinion of the coast magnate who, it will be recalled, experienced no end of difficulty in mustering full teams to start the present season. After gathering all of the regulars of the previous season into the fold Patrick made many futile attempts to bolster up the ranks with players from the prairie provinces. Alberta and Saskatchewan teams had gathered in all those available for professional company and the coasters did not figure that the remnants were worthy of places on major league teams.

Fast Company

"Notwithstanding the great army of puck chasers in the game today throughout the country, I doubt very much whether there would be more than a dozen who would be considered good enough for fast company," Patrick stated a few days ago. "Here in Vancouver we have over one hundred amateurs playing the game and yet there is not more than one, two at the most, whom I would consider ready for professional company. No doubt players would develop fast were they able to devote more attention to the game but at present the amateur has only a couple of nights a week on which to work out, and this is not sufficient to enable the player to show his best form or to develop faster. I have no doubt that the eastern professional clubs find it just as difficult to obtain first-class players from the amateur ranks, and unless more come to the front within the next year we are certain to be faced with a scarcity of professional material next year."

This season the Pacific Coast League has introduced four new players and they appear to have made good for permanent berths but they have not yet reached the stage where they can be classed with the old timers on the circuit. Of the quartette, Parkes, the Ontario recruit, has made the most impressive showing. He bids fair to develop into one of the best players who has ever performed on the coast loop. "Red" Briden and Gordon Fraser, recruits from the prairies, have made good with the Seattle club and have been given ample opportunity to acquire experience. Fraser is probably the better man of the pair but Briden is rapidly showing class on the left wing. Victoria has Slim Halderson, former Winnipeg Falcon star. He is not a finished skater and gets around slowly, but Lester Patrick believes he will make good.

With the half way mark passed the coast clubs will be soon on the home stretch. At this stage, it's anybody's gonfalon. Vancouvers have probably shown more class than the opposing clubs and unless the dope goes astray the Millionaires will be in the championship play-off. Injuries have militated against the success of both Victoria and Seattle clubs during the past few weeks. Seattle has played many games with Roy Rickey, their defense star sitting on the bench, while Eddie Oatman, Victoria's flashy captain, has been out of several games. The absence of these stars has been no small factor in ho'ding the Seattle and Victoria clubs back.

Coast Play-offs

No dates have yet been allocated for the coast play-off. The last league game is scheduled for February 24. Then follows the home and home games between the leaders. Right on top of this classic comes the play-off with the winners on the prairie loop, the team coming through in this series making the trip east to play for the world's championship and the Stanley Cup. The series will start in the east not later than March 15.

The Pacific Coast is going after the Allan Cup this year for the first time since the ill-fated expedition of the Black Bros. champions back in 1912 when the locals were badly beaten in the preliminary round. This season, however, the coast champions hope to go a long way in the championship series. Towers of Vancouver appear to have the edge on all other local teams, but they must first defeat Victoria's champions before qualifying for the eastern jaunt. B.C. is drawn against the champions of Saskatchewan in the preliminary series. The amateur game is enjoying a fairly good season here, but with the B.C. Varsity unable to place a team in the running the simon pures lost the backing of at least a thousand leather-lunged rooters of this institution of learning.

Junior Champs.

British Columbia junior hockey champions will not, however, be listed among those present when the national finals are played this season. The coasters made a trip as far as Calgary for the qualifying round a couple of years ago, going to heavy expense on the understanding that they would be reimbursed. They have waited for over two years for some financial return from the national body but beyond receiving promises they have nothing to warrant them launching another cup-hunting expedition, and this season it is definitely announced that there will be no British Columbia entry for the national junior puck-chasing event.

WADDELL TROPHY FINAL POSTPONED.

Making Third Major Competition of the Open Bonspiel Still Undecided

Mild weather and its companion, soft ice, cut short the Waddell Cup competition Friday afternoon with the conclusion of the semi-final round, leaving J. W. McDermid and Miles Hamilton to play off for the trophy and the prizes as soon as winter gets back on the job with a little freeze. Apparently the Bonspiel Committee is still pursued by the jinx that persists in spoiling the show just as the curtain is going up for the last act, and W. G. Morrow and Harry Foote probably realize by this time that the easiest part of a bonspiel is starting it. Fortunately, the Peterborough Cup competition, which was won by McCallum of Lindsay, was wound up before the thaw came, with the result that only the convenience of the local competing rinks has to be considered.

The three major series of the open bonspiel are still undecided, and the finals of the Morrow, Matthews-Blackwell and Waddell Cups competitions are postponed indefinitely. Everything was set for the Matthews-Blackwell game Thursday night, but the curlers were more or less groggy—fatigued is perhaps a less suspicious word in these days of O.T.A. sniffers and snoopers—after the two days' work of winning Lakefield club's two brand new cups. Around the curling rink there is a conviction that bruin saw his shadow on Candlemas Day, and there is also a little apprehension about the arrangements for various other annual bonspiels and matches that remain unerased on the season's programme.

Next week will take three or four rinks to the Oshawa bonspiel, and the question of whose are going is one of the week-end topics of conversation.

ECZEMA ON FACE AND HEAD FOR FIVE YEARS

Eczema or salt rheum, as it is so often called, manifests itself in little round pimples which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to a strong heat, is almost unbearable and relief is gladly welcomed.

There is only one way to get relief and no remedy like

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Take it internally and it gets at the seat of the disease in the blood and drives it out of the system.

Apply it externally and it takes out the itching, stinging and burning and promotes healthly healing.

Mrs. J. Sage, 215 Princess Ave., Vancouver, B. C., writes: "Having suffered with eczema on the face and head, for the last five years, I consulted several doctors, and tried various kinds of salves and lotions, but I derived no benefit from any of them. I did not know what to do until a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after I had used two bottles I began to get better and now after taking eight bottles I have not even a blotch on me. I feel that I cannot praise B. B. B. too highly I hope you will make full use of this recommendation for the benefit of those who are suffering from this terrible complaint, eczema."

MORRIS SIEGEL COMPLETES TOUR

Visited Peterboro on Last Lap of 10,000 Mile Walking Jaunt.

On Wednesday of this week, Mr. Morris Siegel, of Toronto, visited his Hebrew friends in this city on the last lap of his 10,000 mile walking tour.

Mr. Siegel, who is about thirty years old, is physical instructor at Y.M.H.A. of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, of Toronto, an organisation which corresponds to the Gentile Y.M.C.A.

This society, stung with the idea, publicly proclaimed, that Hebrews are not as prominent in sports matters as their Gentile brethren elected Mr. Siegel to put through a 10,000-mile walk, on which he started on 13th April, 1920, and which he expects to finish in Toronto on Tuesday next, when a demonstration has been planned as a proper reception for his return from his long hike.

Mr. Siegel's itineray led him though many parts of Canada, the United States, and Mexico, during which time he wore out 14 pairs of shoes. He kept pretty well to the railway lines, travelling only in the daytime, and maintaining a rate of about 40 miles a day in the warm weather and 10 miles daily in the winter. He has travelled through days of heat which averaged up around 120 degrees in the southern States, and in zero weather during the latter part of his trip, his only protection from the cold, as he wears no overcoat, being a 16-pound sweater, made especially for him by his wife, of heavy wool, padded and interlined with canvas and silk in layers

Starting out with no money, he depended throughout his tour on the kindness and hospitality of his Hebrew friends, who looked after him wherever he went, and is returning fom his lively jaunt in the best of health, albeit in slightly weather-beaten condition

ISSUES A REPLY TO SIR ADAM BECK.

Wonders Why Experts Did Not Appear Before the Sutherland Commission.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11. — (Canadian Press).—In a statement issued today, A. C. McCallum, one of the commission which prepared the Hydro radial report, replied to Sir Adam Beck, who questioned the judgment of the Sutherland Commission and declared that, after all, "That is just Sir Adam Beck's opinion I suppose, and it may be left at that."

Referring to Sir Adam's statement that experts of the Hydro believed that the proposed radial system may be successfully carried forward along the lines originally intended, Mr. McCallum says that it would be interesting to know who these experts are, and why they did not give evidence before the Commission.

CHAS. INGLIS.

The coming to Peterborough of Mr. Charles Inglis will give the people of this city the opportunity of hearing the last remaining preaching companion of the late D. L. Moody. Twenty-five years ago they preached together. Mr. Inglis has preached in many lands, and his missionary activities have taken him across the ocean seventy-six times. God has given him many tokens of approval, and hundreds have been turned from sin to salvation through his ministry. It is hoped the Regent Theatre may be too small on Sunday night.

SPEND A PLEASANT SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

The members of the Peterborough Pleasant Sunday Afternoon Class enjoyed a most delightful and helpful address last Sunday at 3 p.m., given by Mr. H. B. Cowan, of the Farm and Dairy Journal. The subject was an interesting one, "The questions we are often asked and how we answer them." It is to be regretted that not every member of the class was present. Messages of this sort from our prominent and capable laymen are particularly encouraging to men in these days of multiplying difficulties.

Mr. Arthur White sang the old song, "A Sinner Was Wandering," and was accompanied by his father on the refrain.

To-morrow the meeting will be open to both men and women, and will be addressed by Mr. Chas. Inglis, the famous gospel preacher of England. Such a speaker should attract a large attendance and prove an invaluable blessing to every one who hears him.

A cordial welcome awaits every new comer, as well as those who are already coming in.

SPECIAL WEEK END AT THE TEMPLE

Very special services will be conducted at the Temple during this week end by a visiting officer from Toronto in the person of Adjutant Young, late of Leeds, England. The Adjutant with his twin brother, has done many years valiant service in the Salvation Army and it is very interesting to hear of some of his experiences in the early days when the Army was not so well thought of as it is to-day. There is no doubt but that the plain, old-time gospel will be preached in a stranghtforward, gripping manner, and a large attendance is anticiated at the Temple this week end. Everyone is welcome.

The usual services will also be conducted at Brownton, where there is a very encouraging increase in attendance, especially in the Sunday school.

SEIZES 4,8000 CANS OF PORK AND BEANS.

OSHAWA, February 11. — Two hundred cases of pork and beans have been seized at and removed from the Oshawa Canning Company's factory by Senior Dominion Food Inspector H. J. Dager and local Sanitarf Inspector F. C. Palmer. It is alleged that the 24 cans of pork and beans in each case were unfit for human consumption.

In an interview, Mr. M. F. Smith, of the Oshawa Canning Company, stated that while the goods were not of the highest grade, being put up for a class of trade demanding a cheaper line of goods, still the pork and beans were pure and wholesome. They were packed under the supervision of the Dominion Government food inspectors. In Mr. Smith's opinion the seizure had resulted from the operations of a malicious party who had threatened to get even with his company.

Market News

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Re-actions of one point in Gulf States Steel and Royal Dutch featured a re-actionary tone of the Stock Market at the opening of to-day's session. Other Steels and Oils as well as Motors, Equipments and Food Specialties eased fractionally under professional pressure. Rails alone displayed firmness, although subjected to realizing sales. Prices steadied in part before the end of the first half hour under the lead of Baldwin. The entire range of foreign exchanges forfeited more of heir recent rise, sterling exchange losing 1½ cents, New York.

With a few unimportant exceptions the range of prices was fractionally lower at the dull opening of to-day's Stock Market, despite part covering over impending double recess. Steels and Motors reflected especial pressure.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. — (Canadian Press).—Opening wheat quotation was 1-8 to 5-8 higher, with May at 132 to 132½, and July at 117 3-4 to 118. May dropped a shade an hour after the opening, as did July, but both held to narrow limits. Corn was ¼ to ½ up at start, and held to within narrow limits during the initial hour. After opening at 59 3-8 to 59 5-8 for May, the market dropped a shade, but continued later to show some strength. Oats started a shade higher and held this during the early trading.

THE MONTREAL MARKET.

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Trading was dull during the first half-hour this morning, and the only interesting issue was Bell Telephone, which yesterday registered a decline of 3½ points to 103½, after the announcement of the Railway Board's refusal to grant the company permission to increase its rates. This morning the stock sold a half lower at 103. Brazilian was unchanged at 31 3-4.

OXFORD CHOCOLATES A STUDENT'S JOKE

Sender of Supposed Poison Candy Confesses and is Pardoned by the Vice Chancellor.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The mystery of the chocolates sent to Dr. Farnell, Vice Chancellor of Oxford University, was solved to-day. Professor Soddy writes as follows from the chemistry department of which he is chief:

"The Vice Chancellor has authorized me to make the following staement in the hope it may close the recent incident which excited so much comment and some scandal:

"Those who are responsible for sending the Vice Chancellor a box of chocolates supposed to have been poisoned, have come forward voluntarily and made a frank statement. The sender was an undergraduate who acted under the suggestion of an older man, not a member of the university. The Vice Chancellor is convinced they intended it merely as a harmless joke and had no malicious intention. The sender was unaware the powder used was deleterious. He had no connection with any club or party and had no grievance against the Vice Chancellor. No stain attaches to any member of the university and the offender has been granted a free pardon by the Vice Chancellor."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press).—While parts of Canada were reporting stormy weather and temperatures away below zero, lower Ontario to-day basked in summer sunshine, which melted what little remained of the winter's snow. Head Noises and Ringing in the Ears

Weekly Health Talk No. 17
By A. P. Rogers, D.C.

Head noises and ringing in the ears are the natural accompaniment of catarrhal trouble. The ear passages and the air passages are connected, and the stopping up of the air passages by mucous, as in a cold, extends to the ear passages and causes trouble there. Deafness is quite frequently an accompanying symptom.

A cold that affects the hearing is usually quite severe in character, and is usually so discomforting to the sufferer that everything possible is done to get rid of it. However, the fact that its cause is in the spine, and that the quickest possible relief is usually to be had from chiropractic spinal adjustments, is not generally known. The adjustments restore the full tide of spinal nerve impulses into the air passage tissues and cells and with this aid Nature soon clears the trouble.

DEAFNESS OF 28 YEARS IS ENDED

Arthur R. Thompson, proprietor of a steam laundry says: "I was afflicted with deafness for twenty-eight years prior to my trial of chiropractic spinal adjustments. I could not hear a telephone ringing on the desk beside me. After adjustments my hearing began to come back and to-day is completely restored. This statement I make under oath." — A. R. Thompson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1302H.

You Should be Healthy

Upon arising from your rest in the morning, your body should be filled with the vigor and exultation that spurs you on to your daily tasks. As the day wears on, it should find you less fresh, naturally; but with abundant reserve to carry you on with enthusiasm to cause you something akin to regret to lay your duties over to the morrow.

If you are "fagged out" in the middle of the day, if you are sluggish after your noon meal and your brain is less efficient—FACE THE FACTS. You know that your nerve energy is slipping. You know that decreased nerve energy means decreased efficiency all along the line—low vitality, weakened resistance, lazy organic functioning.

No wonder you are "fagged out" before the day is over.
No wonder your production is cut in half. But realizing it and deploring the condition will never rectify it.

Better get down to hard facts; apply reason and logic to the condition. Lowered bodily condition is lowered nerve energy.

To get back this vital "something" which makes you feel young and vigorous, look to the source—the cause of the deficiency.

Nerve pressure alone causes nerve disorders, and nerve disorders are responsible for subsequent ills. Not once, but always. This nerve pressure is possible at only one place in the body—where the nerves leave through the holes or foramina of the spine. The vertebrae, or spinal segments, lose their juxtaposition, their misalignment closing these holes, producing pressure on the respective nerves. Without normal nerve function normal health is impossible.

If you are determined not to alleviate effects or symptoms, but to go direct to the CAUSE and have it adjusted, come to our office today. Let us talk over your case. Let us tell you frankly just what Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments will do in your case and then you be the judge.

Liberal Association Held General Meeting

Delegates Appointed to Attend the Ontario Liberal Convention—Speeches by Mr. G. N. Gordon M.P., Mr. R. R. Hall, Mr. J. Wearing and Others.

POLICY REAFFIRMED

A general meeting of the Liberals of West Peterborough took place at the G.W.V.A. hall on Saturday afternoon, with a good attendance of men and a sprinkling of feminine supporters.

The meeting, called for the express purpose of appointing delegates to the Ontario Liberal convention, to be held in Toronto on the first and second days of March, when a Liberal leader for Ontario will be selected, also elected officers for the Liberal Association of the riding of West Peterborough, expressed its confidence in the Hon. Mackenzie King and in G. N. Gordon, M.P. for West Peterborough. Mr. J. J. Hartley occupied the chair. Mr. C. R. Widdifield and Mr. R. R. Hall were also on the platform.

Mr. Gordon, in a brief address, eulogized the work of the Liberal association in West Peterborough in the recent elections, men and women both having worked hard with such complete success and emphasized the necessity of a vigorous and complete organization which should be of service to the member in helping him with decisions that must be made from time to time, and providing an advisory body with whom he might consult. Questions such as the re-instatement of officials "kicked out" by a partisan government which has been influenced by men seeking to create vacancies which they wished to fill themselves were important considerations.

Advisory Committee.

Mr. Gordon recommended the nomination of a committee which might work in harmony with the executive of the association, this committee to represent more particularly the sub-divisions of the city at large, to keep the spirit of Liberalism alive, and distribute its literature.

He acknowledged with gratitude the work of the men and women in the last two elections, and especially of J. J. Hartley, C. R. Widdifield and Joseph Duffus, and emphasized the importance of a choice of leader for the province, "one capable of holding the position of premier of the province, as he will no doubt shortly be called upon to do."

Mr. Joseph Wearing, in an eloquent address which followed his introduction of a motion that the old executive be retained in the West Peterborough Liberal Association, paid a moving and hearty tribute to the work of Mr. J. J. Hartley, as president for the last 16 or 17 years. Alluding to M. Hartley as "the grand old man of Liberalism in this city," he said that Mr. Hartley had stuck to his principles through thick and thin, never swayed by opinion, and persistent even when his views might easily conflict with his adherence to the rights of labor, and he felt that the example afforded by a man of Mr. Hartley's calibre, who had never earned a cent or got a job through his devotion to his party, was a notable one, and the benefits to his cause were incalculable. Mr. Wearing also mentioned the excellent work of the secretary, Mr. C. R. Widdifield, and of Mr. Duffus, "without whose assistance neither of last year's elections could have been won."

A PONDEROUS CONTROVERSY

President's Right to Pardon a Boy is Questioned in Courts.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press.—A ponderous legal controversy has arisen between President Irigoyen and the courts over the President's right to pardon a boy who had been sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary for stealing a dozen pairs of cotton socks.

Jose Ibanez, the 19-year old youth who was employed in a Buenos Aires clothing store, did not steal the socks for himself, but for a poor boy who had none. Nevertheless, the judge game him the full penalty of the law.

Appeal was taken to the Criminal Court of Appeals and Jose was kept in jail for 11 months while the judges deliberated President Irigoyen intervened and pardoned him and Jose returned to his home.

The court then ordered the police to arrest him and return him to prison, asserting the President had no power to pardon a person whose guilt or innocence had not been legally determined. They said, as Jose had not been convicted pending their decision, he could not be pardoned.

However, the usually efficient Buenos Aires police have thus far singularly failed to locate the boy classed by the court as a fugitive from justice. Meantime the Appellate judges and the Minister of Justice are engaged in a lively debate as to the constitutional rights of the President to pardon the boy. La Epoca, the government organ, prints seven columns quoting precedents and authorities including those of American jurists in support of the President.

About fifty people attended the recital, and refreshments were served at its conclusion. The pupils were assisted by Mrs. Mendell Braund, who sang Tosti's "Good-Bye" very sweetly, and by Donald Greene, who gave some enjoyable violin numbers.

Pupils taking part were: Clara Kennett, Elsie Breadman, Jean Bunton, Greta Griffin, Ella Cummings, Hazel Fredenburg, Gertrude Leggott, Josephine Arthur, Gordon Braund, Garth Braund and Eldon Braund.

MAY AFFECT VERDICT OF GOVERNMENT

Saturday's Clash in Ireland is Causing Some Anxious Moments on Both Sides — The Amnesty.

A NEW VERSION

LONDON, Feb. 13. — (Canadian Press). — The Provisional Government is highly perturbed over the affair at Clones Saturday as it has dashed the high hopes based upon the amnesty of the Collins Cabinet and the British decision to release all prisoners held for offences committed in England from Irish political motives prior to the truce in Ireland. Developments are awaited with the utmost anxiety.

A new version of Saturday's clash is that special constables were approached by Fitzpatrick, the Republican Army leader, and ordered to surrender as they were in Free State territory. The only reply to his remand, it is said, was the shooting and killing of Fitzpatrick, upon which the Republican Army men fired.

BELFAST, Feb 13.—(Canadian Press).—Chief of Staff O'Duffy, of the Republican army, who went to Clones to investigate Saturday night's disorders there, said in an interview to-day that he found the feeling very tense throughout Monaghan county, because of unlawful arrest of entire divisional staff of Republican army at Dromore, County Tyrone.

"I succeded in allaying the feeling somewhat", he said, "if the army officers are not released I cannot promise or guarantee peace in this part of the country. I cannot conceive that the British Government will continue to hold these men. If they do, I am full of the gravest fear for what may happen in the north."

WARNS ASSOCIATION.

LONDON, Feb. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, sent a cablegram to-day warning the American Association for the recognition of the Irish Republic not to assist to coup d'etat, which he declared was being planned against the Irish government, says a Dublin despatch.

CURFEW IMPOSED.

BELFAST, Feb. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Beginning to-night curfew extending from nine o'clock in the evening until five in the morning will be imposed.

EIGHT KILLED.

The Lord Mayor, Military Commander and Police Commissioner decided on this action to-day. Up till three o'clock this afternoon eight persons had been killed since Saturday.

A gang entered the public house of Patrick Lamb on York street to-day and attempted to hold him up. On Lamb resisting they riddled him with bullets. At the same time a bartender in a neighboring saloon was shot and seriously wounded.

Two newspapermen who were arrested in interior last week, were back in this city to-day. Their release was obtained through Chief of Staff O'Duffy, of the Republican army.

SAYS HOWARD FERGUSON HEADS DOWN-AND-OUTS

Missed His Vision Declares Mr. G. N. Gordon at Fenelon Falls.

Speaking at the convention of North Victoria Liberals at Fenelon Falls, Friday last, G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. for East Peterboro, said that the Farmer Government started out well. "I was favorably impressed and was friendly to the Drury Government." Mr. Drury was very frank and confessed that there had been some mistakes and though there was no thought of dishonesty, there is always apt to be a suspicion when business is transacted in secret.

They came into power when things looked bad. Howard Ferguson, the speaker stated, is the head of a down-and-out club. He had missed his angle or vision. The leadership does not represent the rank and file.

He then dealt with the Shelvin-Clark Company, and said it was no wonder the Drury Government had easy work to get in; and they, with the assistance of the Liberal party, are getting back what belongs to the Province.

The finances of the Province, he declared, are being handled through a firm of Toronto brokers, with a loss to government of one or two millions. They have failed because of their lack of knowledge and experience in public life. There is now a mortgage of $1,500 on every citizen of this Province. What saves our country is our resources. There is no reason for salaries being raised when prices are going down.

BROKER TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Leaves $60,000 Insurance to His Widow and Asks Her to Take Their Son to Europe.

RYE, N. Y., February 13. — At 30 years of age, the financial worry and stress of life proved too much for Raymond W. Bayliss, member of the investment firm of Davis and Bayliss 60 Broadway, Manhattan, and when his 22 year old wife left the side of their 18 months old son, Eric, to awaken her husband she found him dead in bed, a pistol suicide.

Scattered on the floor were scores of the ends of cigarettes, which Bayliss had smoked during night when he lay awake—his young wife and the child in an adjoining room—and waited for his courage to match his determination to die. An empty pint flask, presumably another aid, was on a stand near by. Scrawled on the pages of a theatrical magazine which had dropped from the bed were notes, the thoughts that had flitted through Bayliss's mind in the hours before he had fired.

With the death of Bayliss his firm was left without a principal, for last August Frank Faville Davis, the senior partner, was killed in an automobile accident near Everett, Pa. Employees of the firm deny any business embarrassment.

Used .22-Calibre Pistol.

Mrs. Bayliss went into her husband's room at 7 o'clock Saturday morning to call him. Instead of going directly to the bed she called him, turning toward a dresser. Her husband propped half up and against the pillows, seemed to be sleeping soundly and she went to the side of the bed. She saw the stains where the top of his head rested against the pillows and saw the antiquated .22 calibre revolver clutched in the right hand which lay limply over the edge of the bed. Then she saw the cigarette stubs, the magazine and a note and terrified she notified the police and Coroner Edward F. Fitzgerald, who soon arrived and obtained from Mrs. Bayliss her story.

She told the Coroner that her husband had been much depressed of late and admitted that he had been worrying about financial matters. When he returned from his office in New York he apparently had resolved to lay aside his troubles—what they were his wife or associates did not know.

Suffering from a severe cold, Mrs. Bayliss said she and her young son had been occupying a bedroom adjoining the young broker's room in the home in Sunset Lane, Rye-on-the-Sound, and that about 11 o'clock the family had retired, Mr. Bayliss saying that he planned to read in bed for a while.

At midnight Mrs. Bayliss said she had suffered from a dream so vivid that she awoke. She told the Coroner that she had dreamed she saw her husband dying. The vision had been so real that she hurried into her husband's room in order to reassure herself.

She found him lying on the bed, apparently absorbed in thought. He seemed to be surprised at her visit, and when she told him of her dream, he laughingly told her to go back to bed, as he was "all right." He gave her some medicine for her cold and a small drink of whiskey to go with the medicine.

Wrote Messages in Magazine.

Hours later, the Coroner thought, and maybe only a short time before Mrs. Bayliss found him dead, the young broker fired the single shot that caused his death. He had thrust the pistol into his mouth before firing and this had muffled the report so that the shot had not been heard by the wife or the child in the near by room. That Bayliss had carefully planned his death was evidenced in the marginal notations in the magazine of the theatre and in the note he left for his wife. In this letter among other things, he wrote:

"I am tired of worrying and living, my $60,000 life insurance is left to you and you will be better off after I am dead. I have had so much wor-

ELIMINATING FARMERS' PEST

Government Will Take Drastic Action Against Corn Borer--Telegraph Briefs.

OTTAWA, February 13 (Canadian Press). — Drastic steps to eliminate the European corn-borer from the Province of Ontario have been taken by the Government on the recommendation of the Minister of Agriculture. Regulations passed provide for the quarantining of a large number of counties and townships in Western Ontario, and from these areas removal of corn fodder or corn stalks, including broom corn, whether used for packing or other purposes, green sweet corn, roasting ears, corn on cob, or corn cobs is prohibited. Quarantine does not apply to articles enumerated when they have been manufactured or processed in such a manner as to eliminate all risk of carriage of the pest.

ADDRESSED ROTARIANS LUNCH TODAY

Export Trade Was the Subject of an Interesting Address by H. B. Boussette of Department of Commerce.

BENEFITS DERIVED

H. B. Boussette, Director of Commercial Intelligence in the Department of Trade and Commerce, spoke on the importance of export trade to the Rotary Club, at their noon gathering in the Empress Hotel today.

"If you build up an export trade in the words of that great philosopher Emerson, the whole world will beat a path to your door,' he said. "I don't think the people of this country really appreciate what export trade means," he said, continuing to point out that every person in the community even to the bootblack and the newsbop, benefits from busy factories, turning out goods for the foreign factories. The courage and steadfastness of manufacturers in entering foreign markets should be appreciated he said.

Help Industries.

He dwelt on the work of his own department in collecting and giving to manufacturers in this country information on foreign trade. Twenty two agents are busy in foreign countries opening up connections for Canadian firms. The cost of this work was $230,000 last year but millions of dollars worth of business accrued. The agents are trained for one year before being sent out, and every one is a competent official, understanding commercial conditions, he said. An important feature of the work is an active propaganda to induce foreign manufacturers to locate in Canada.

Mr. Boussette urged the Rotarians to take an interest in export trade, and exercise their influence to advance Canadian manufacturers.

Guests Present.

John Crane presided at the meeting to-day. Guests of the club were Homer Meyers, B. D. Hall, Kiwanian J. J. Duffus.

A deputation of Lindsay men interested in forming a club were here to get information. The deputation cnsisted of Messrs. Taylor, Squire, Middleton, Beal and Orr. The birthdays of Reid Wren, W. H. Bradburn, W. J. Thompson and F. H. Dobbin were noted by the Secretary, and the usual kindly bantering occurred.

Next week there will be no Monday luncheon but on Thursday night Rotarians, their wives and friends, will hold down the grill room, the proceedings commencing with luncheon, then business and lastly a social programme.

The Convention.

Rotarian R. L. Dobbin explained the transportation arrangements for the Rochester convention to be held the end of this month.

The rumours having reached the club that the Kiwanians were prepared to engage in a hockey game with the Rotarians, Claude Rogers and Dr. A. W. McPherson were instructed to line up a team to put up against the Kawani's ice-artists.

STORM CAUSED VERY LITTLE LOCAL TROUBLE

Policy of Tree Trimming Protects Power and 'Phone Wires.

Sunday night's severe wind storm caused no undue damage to the systems of the Bell Telephone Company or the Utilities Commission, the Examiner was informed at both offices to-day.

The Bell Telephone lines, which are mostly in cable, did not suffer and only the ordinary local troubles occurred. Yesterday the Commission found the benefits of extensive tree trimming, Manager H. O. Fisk said. A violent storm of that sort, he said, would have cut to pieces their lines that pass through tree tops, had not those trees been trimmed. No serious interruption of the services took place. As a result of a contact on the Charlotte street line, the power was cut off in the west end for a time in the morning, but a gang of men rushed on the job executed a speedy repair.

The snow fall gave some exercise to the snow plough men, who have had a comparatively light winter. Indications are that they will not earn their money as easily as in 1921.

THE BUILDERS' AND SUPPLY ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD A MEETING IN THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, ON TUESDAY, 14TH FEBRUARY. IMPORTANT BUSINESS.

A DEPUTATION GOES TORONTO

Still After the Plowing Match for Peterborough County -- Meet Representatives.

Referring to the action of the City Council in refusing to make a grant to the projected Plowing Match to be held early in the month of October of this year, The Examiner made enquiry to-day of Mr. J. J. Duffus as to his opinion of the matter, from a civic standpoint.

Mr. Duffus said that he fully appreciated the Council's position and their efforts to keep expenditures in connection with the city as low as possible, and he congratulated them on their views with regard to enforcing civic economy, wherever possible, but he felt that it was unfortunate that the report of their answer to the request of the plowmen and the citizens who supported them should have got into the newspapers and have gone broadcast throughout the country. These reports would certainly act as a detriment to the city and to the efforts being made to bring a project here that had brought to the city of Woodstock last year upwards of 45,000 people.

"However," said Mr. Duffus, "we are going to Toronto in the morning with a very representative deputation from the city and county, to do our best to secure the event for the city of Peterboro."

This deputation will consist of members of the city and county councils, of the Plowmens' Association of the counties of Peterboro, Durham and Northumberland, and of members of the Chamber of Commerce. Messrs. T. Tooms, M.L.A. G. A. Brethen, M.P., E. McDonald, M.L.A. and possible G. N. Gordon, M.P., will also accompany them. The deputation will meet representatives of the Provincial Plowmens' Association to-morrow at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, at 1:30.

REPORTS A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

Fewer Houses Placarded This Month Dr. Young, M.O.H., Reported at Meeting of Board of Health.

REPORTS RECEIVED

Reporting to the Board of Health, which met to-day, Dr. T. W. H. Young, Medical Officer of Health, stated that two cases of diphtheria and 19 or 20 of scarlet fever had been reported this month. There are now 39 houses under quarantine, a reduction of seven since the first of February. The diphtheria is abating, he said.

Mr. E. F. Mason suggested that closer co-operation with the medical doctors might result from a meeting of the Medical Society and the Board. Dr. Young claimed the epidemic existed here because of the patients themselves not reporting. He said a minister called upon one of his congregation who had been away from church, and discovered that the lady was recovering from scarlet fever, after he had talked some time to her. She said she hadn't reported her case, or had a doctor, because she thought she would lose her boarders.

Dr. Young would not say he enjoyed complete co-operation from the doctors in the reporting of cases.

G. H. Duncan, chairman of the Board, felt the doctors would take such a meeting as a reflection on their work.

"No, we don't want to put it that way. It's just to get their co-operation," said Mr. Mason.

On motion of Mr. Mason, seconded by Mayor W. H. Taylor, the Medical Officer of Health was asked to arrange with the Medical Association to meet the Board to confer on health conditions.

"I think the public are a little more careful than they were," Dr. Young told the Board.

Literature on Precautions.

"Wouldn't it be well to have the Provincial Board send down more literature in regard to precautions and have it distributed around," suggested the Chairman when the doctor reported the distribution of literature among the schools.

"We could put it in hotels and other places," added Mr. Mason.

"We can easily write and secure it," said Dr. Young, and the Board evidently understood he would do his.

Seventeen in Hospital.

The report of Queen Mary Hospital for January showed that on January 1 there were 17 patients in the hospital; seven were scarlet fever, five were diphtheria and one was stated as mixed infection. During the month 25 natients, 12 scarlet fever and 13 diphtheria, were admitted. Of the total of 42 cases, only one (diphtheria) was from out of the city.

Twenty patients were discharged during January. Two deaths occurred during that month, one from mixed infection: the other occurred 16 hours after admission. On February 1 there were 20 patients in the hospital, 13 scarlet fever and seven diphtheria.

Month's Expenditure.

Queen Mary Hospital expenditure during January was $1,414.65, salaries totalling $546.70.

Of this total, $206.50 represents the salaries of three special nurses. Other items were drugs and medicines $34, furniture and furnishings $144 03, groceries and provisions $486.58, light $7.73, telephone $15.27, water $16, incidentals $164.34.

To Test Milk.

The Board of Health made arrangements to-day for Dr. T. Y. McNair, of the Provincial Laboratory here, to make tests of the milk sold in Peterborough. Dr. Young said the testing of milk by the Laboratory to determine if it was pure was important. The Board discussed the matter of how best to carry out the test, and finally decided, after consulting Dr. McNair, to have the milkmen leave a pint of milk at the Sanitary Inspector's Office the first week in every month.

Each licensed milk vendor will be notified by the Sanitary Inspector by advertisement in the paper to deliver at the office a pint of milk each month. Dr. McNair stated that 20 tests could be made daily, so that in two days the work should be complete. If the milk is found deficient, an investigation of the source will be further carried out. It was recognized that a great deal of the milk sold is a mixture from many sources. The milkmen will be paid, it was decided. A bacteriological test of the milk will not take place unless the milk is found to be below standard, Dr. McNair stated.

Want Refrigerators.

Miss A. M. Price, matron of the Queen Mary Hospital, asked for two small refrigerators for use in the diphtheria and scarlet fever wings. The present ones are not satisfactory, she stated. The Chairman and the Medical Officer of Health were asked to go into the matter.

Inspect Restaurants.

Mr. G. H. Duncan asked Sanitary Inspector Stapleton if he had in-

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"
(Cyril McNeile)

But Lakington had returned to the chair which contained, as he thought, his chief enemy, and was standing beside it with an unholy joy shining on his face.

"And since I have to deal with him later, Captain Drummond, D.S.O., M.C., I may as well deal with you now. Then it will be your friend's turn. I am going to cut the ropes, and carry you, while you're so numbed that you can't move, to the bath. Then I shall drop you in, Captain Drummond, and when, afterwards, you pray for death, I shall mercifully spare your life—for a while."

He slashed at the ropes behind the chair, and the four men craned forward expectantly.

"There," snarled Lakington. "I'm ready for you, you young swine."

And even as he spoke, the words died away on his lips, and with a dreadful cry he sprang back. For with a dull, heavy thud the body of the dead German Heinrich rolled off the chair and sprawled at his feet.

"My God!" screamed Lakington. "What has happened? I—I——"

He rushed to the bell and pealed it frantically, and with a smile of joy Hugh watched his frenzied terror. No one came in answer to the ring, and Lakington dashed to the door, only to recoil into the room with a choking noise in his throat. Outside in the hall stood four masked men, each with a revolver pointing at his heart.

"My cue," muttered Hugh. "And you understand, fellows, don't you?—he's my meat."

The next moment he had disappeared down the ladder, and the three remaining watchers stared motionless at the grim scene. For Lakington had shut the door and was crouching by the table, his nerve utterly gone. And all the while the puffed, bloated body of the German sprawled on the floor.

Slowly the door into the hall opened, and with a scream of fear Lakington sprang back. Standing in the doorway was Hugh Drummond, and his face was grim and merciless.

"You sent for your chauffeur, Henry Lakington," he remarked quietly. "I am here."

"What do you mean?" muttered Lakington thickly.

"I drove you back from Laidley Towers to-night," said Hugh with a slight smile. "The proper man was foolish and had to be killed." He advanced a few steps into the room, and the other shrank back. "You look frightened, Henry. Can it be that the young swine's wits are, after all, better than yours?"

"What do you want?" gasped Lakington, through dry lips.

"I want you, Henry—just you. Hitherto you've always used gangs of your ruffians against me. Now my gang occupies this house. But I'm not going to use them. It's going to be just—you and I. Stand up, Henry, stand up—as I have always stood up to you." He crossed the room and stood in front of the cowering man.

"Take half—take half," he screamed. "I've got treasure—I've . . ."

And Drummond hit him a fearful blow on the mouth.

"I shall take all, Henry, to return to their rightful owners. Boys"—he raised his voice—"carry out these other two, and undo them."

The four masked men came in, and carried out the two chairs.

"The intimidated rabbit, Henry, and the kindly gentleman you put to guard Miss Benton," he remarked as the door closed. "So now we may regard ourselves as being alone. Just you and I. And one of us, Lakington—you devil in human form—is going into that bath."

"But the bath means death," shrieked Lakington—"death in agony."

"That will be unfortunate for the one who goes in," said Drummond, taking a step towards him.

"You would murder me?" half sobbed the terrified man.

"No, Lakington; I'm not going to murder you." A gleam of hope came into the other's eyes. "But I'm going to fight you in order to decide which of us two ceases to adorn the earth; that is, if your diagnosis of the contents of the bath is correct. What little gleam of pity I might have possessed for you has been completely extinguished by your present exhibition of nauseating cowardice. Fight, you worm, fight; or I'll throw you in!"

And Lakington fought. The sudden complete turning of the tables had for the moment destroyed his nerve; now, at Drummond's words, he recovered himself. There was no mercy on the soldier's face, and in his inmost heart Lakington knew that the end had come. For strong and wiry though he was, he was no match for the other.

MONAGHAN'S UNEMPLOYED ASK COUNCIL FOR WORK OR FOOD

Township Faces Necessity of Adopting a Relief Scheme Operated By Municipalities and Governments in Conjunction —Reeve Alleges Threats By Several of Unemployed.

Heavy Grocery Bills.

A lengthy session of the North Monaghan Council on Saturday threatened to run into Sunday, and probably would have if it had been proper and if the members had not had to get their horses out of the livery barns. As it was the meeting lasted until 10.45 p.m. and several matters have yet to be discussed it is said. It is quite possible that semi-monthly meetings of the Council will be instituted to expedite the conduct of municipal affairs.

The meeting, which was held in the Court House, opened shortly after two o'clock, with Reeve H. B. Rye presiding. There were present besides the Reeve, Deputy-Reeve R. T. Lillico, Councillors J. Barns, J. S. Bell and R. A. Dobbin.

An order of business which Reeve Rye had complained of not having at the January meeting was instituted on Saturday. It is as follows: (1) Reading of the minutes, (2) Hearing deputations, (3) Reception and disposal of communications, (4) Reception of reports of committees and action thereon, (5) Notices of motion, (6) First, second and third reading of by-laws, (7) Motions of with notice have been given, (8), Motions and questions and the consideration of any business introduced by members.

Want Work or Relief.

Said to have been the largest deputation that ever waited on the Council, about 25 unemployed residents of the township attended the meeting asking for work or relief and were advised that the Council were considering giving unemployment relief similar to the other municipalities. Many of those in the deputation were there at the invitation of the Reeve to hear his frank opinion of their conducts. Reeve Rye, singling out two men in the group, charged one with using abusive language in regard to the Reeve and the other with making threats to him. Prompt denials were made by each man.

The Reeve declared the Council had honestly done all they could to provide work. He declared many men were ungrateful for what had been done and had complained about the wages. "It seems to me you're all out looking for a 'cushy' job," he said. Plans were under way for relief, but the Reeve declared that the two men referred to would have to work.

Warned the Reeve.

Speaking for himself one of the men said he had not made a threat against the Reeve, but merely warned him that there was trouble brewing on New Chamberlain street." I thought it was well for him to know there was trouble brewing," he said.

"Thank you for the warning," said the Reeve, with an obvious inflection in his voice.

The case of the out-of-work was presented clearly by one man. "We appreciate very much what the Council has done but we can't live on the past or the future. It's the present we're concerned with. I have been out of work 18 weeks and in that time have only made $17 or $18 that I got from the township. If I hadn't been saving I couldn't have existed."

Don't Want Charity.

There was no lack of spokesmen among the group and practically every man gave his views. "We don't want charity," several men said. 'I'll do anything,' one man said, and hope leaped into his eyes when Councillor Barnes mentioned a job cutting wood in Smith township. Another man also got the address.

Several single men complained of getting laid off the work. No complaints about the 30 cents an hour paid by the township were heard the men said. The deputation departed with the information from the Reeve that they would likely go into the unemployment relief scheme, but if the men wanted relief "they would have to be civil."

"If you get a chance to work you'll have to work," he told them.

Appreciatees of Situation.

The unemployment situation was recognized as acute by the Council. In the Brownton section there are great numbers of men workless. The Council decided to secure information in regard to unemployment relief and the Clerk was instructed to write the Deputy Minister of Labour

SPECIAL SERVICE FOR MEN.

An innovation to the regular evening service was made on Sunday evening in the Methodist church, when the music was led by a choir composed of the Alpha Bible Class, assisted by an orchestra of nine under the efficient leadership of the organist and choir master, Mr. R. T. Cowell. Those assisting in the orchestra were Messrs. James Mitchell, Charles Mitchell, Walter Lowe, D. A. Mitchell, Everett Thomas, Clarence Williams, Hugh Innis and P. Gould. A saxophone solo by Mr. Chas. Mitchell, as well as the anthem by the choir "Let the Lower Lights be Burning," was well rendered. Rev. Mr. Kenny preached a very able and helpful sermon from the words found in I Sam., chapter 4, verse 9, "Quit yourselves like men." Despite the rather inclement weather the church was well filled for this most helpful service.

CARNIVAL HELD LAKEFIELD RINK

Six Hundred Persons Took in the Event—Lakefield News.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 13. — The first carnival in the new rink was held on Friday evening and was a big success in every particular. About six hundred people were present either in costume or as spectators. The rink was decorated with flags and pennants and presented a gala appearance. The presence of the re-organized Lakefield band was a decided attraction and as they were very generous with their music it added greatly to the enjoyment of everyone. There were a large number in costume and the judges found it very difficult to pick the winners. The judges were Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald, Mrs. W. Sherin, MissTanner, Mr. J. W. Ridpath, Capt. T. B. Marling and Dr. S. J. Gibson.

The prizes were presented by the Reeve of the village — Warden J. C. Strickland and all were valuable and well worth winning. Mr. W. Trude, who won the gent's comic prize gave a solo which was much appreciated. There were many costumes which deserved special mention, one large black dog with an enormous orange bow skated past the judges' stand but did not deign to give his name. Pullen of "The Grove" as the "Mad Hatter" was especially good. Stanley Richardson in Highland costume, E. M. Grier as a court jester, J. S. Little as Viscount de Bragdon were all good and with their gay gowns were striking figures on the ice. Miss Braden as "an old maid of 1870" was one of the very good characters in the ladies' comic class and Mrs. W. J. Millage as "Ireland" had a splendid costume which was well carried out. Mrs. Hench as "Canada" and Mr. Ralph Payne as "Uncle Sam" were also very good indeed. Miss Mildred Watley as Red Riding Hood was excellent as was also Mrs. Grier, who impersonated the same character. The rooster was one of the greatest mysteries of the evening as there was much speculation as to the sex of the wearer of very cleverly designed costume. The judgs only learned when "Chanticler" skated with the Ladies Comic parade and the majority of the spectators only learned the truth when she was called by name to go forward for the prizes.

There were delegations from Peterboro, Young's Point, Warsaw, Bridgenorth, North Smith and Buckhorn and all were enjoying themselves. The following is the prize list.

BEFORE BABY COMES

Watchful Care Necessary

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine and should be taken by the expectant mother. It will assist her in keeping well and strong. This is very necessary, not only for her own comfort but for the future.

Read the experience of Mrs. Barton of New Brunswick, and please bear in mind that every letter published recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is genuine and unsolicited. They are expressions of gratitude from women.

Cumberland Bay, N. B.—"I was troubled with weak feelings, headache, all the time, a cough, fainting spells and pains in my back and side. I could not do a single bit of work and had to be helped out to the hammock where I lay in the fresh air from morning until night and I had to be carried up and down stairs. After other medicines had failed a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she said it was excellent for anyone in the family way. Before the first bottle was taken I could walk alone and as I kept on with it I got stronger, until I was able to do all my work. My baby is now six weeks old and is a big fat healthy fellow. I am sure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me and I recommend it."—Mrs. Murray J. Barton, R. R. No. 1, Cumberland Bay, N. B.

The game here Wednesday between the two leaders should be a hair raiser, as both towns have some real stars. Havelock's line-up was as follows: Goal, Douglas Laing; right defence, Denike Fennell; left defence, Harry Plunkett; centre, Glynn Wright; right wing, Archie Laing; left wing, Harold Buchanan. Subs, Oswald O'Brien and Gordon Wilde.

SAYS TREATY DENIES IRISH SOVEREIGNTY

De Valera Tells Dublin Crowd How Far Short of Republican Idea the Agreement Falls.

Obtained Under Duress.

DUBLIN, Feb. 12. — (Canadian Press.)— Eamon De Valera to-day opened the campaign against the provisional government with a great demonstration held in O'Connell street. Three large platforms had been placed for the speakers and each was surrounded by large crowds. Members of the Republican and Metropolitan police regulated the gathering. About one thousand Republic soldiers paraded prior to the meeting.

Mr. De Valera was accorded a great reception. He spoke from the principal platform at the Parnell Statue. Count Plunkett, who presided, introduced Mr. De Valera as "President of the Republic." Six resolutions were proposed during the meeting, outlining the attitude of the Republicans.

The resolutions affirmed that the Irish nation was one and indivisable that all State authority in Ireland is derived solely from the Irish people; that the British Crown is an alien crown and that Ireland is no part of the British Empire.

Treaty Null and Void.

The resolutions further declared that the articles of the London agreement failed to represent the true desires of the Irish people; that the treaty was obtained under duress; that the Dail Eireann is not competent to give it legal sanction and therefore it is null and void. They added that to force upon Ireland an election involving recognition of partition before the Dail Eireann has expressed its sanction is unconstitutional. An additional resolution called upon the people for support for the dependents of prisoners.

Mr. De Valera in his speech said it was a lie that the Irish people would by a majority accept the treaty. He added that although the meeting had been advertised for only three days, thousands of persons had assembled in support of the Republic, which had been proclaimed during "Easter Week" and which was ratified at the Irish elections. The London agreement was not a treaty but an instrument which in every line denied Irish sovereignty. It was signed under duress and was no more binding than the infamous Act of Union.

Still a Monarchy.

Mr. De Valera said the articles of the agreement bound the Irish people to exchange their republic for a monarchy. He asked if the people wanted as their monarch "King George of England," to which there were replies of "No, no." The King would be embodied in the Irish Constitution and be really the authority of Premier Lloyd George and his cabinet. The foreign monarch's forces could hold the principal forts and have air facilities; and when Great Britain was at war, which was practically always, the British Government could take over the harbors and Ireland would be made a belligerent, liable to attack by Great Britain's enemy, Ireland, the speaker continued, was to be saddled with tribute to the British war pensions, and as yet undetermined share in Great Britain's national debt. Ireland was to be broken up into two warring states in order that England, which was supposed to be evacuating the country, might have the six northern counties to use.

Meetings Unanimous.

The alternative policy, Mr. De Valera declared, was the policy of the last four years, the policy which the present opponents of the Republicans once shared with them. His own policy, he declared, was to allow the parts of Ulster, which by plebiscite or district council votes asked for it, to have authority or a subordinate parliament. That would deny the unity of the Irish State. The speaker appealed to the Irish people again, for the third time, to defeat at the elections an attempt to misrepresent the people's views. Subsequently Mr. De Valera spoke from another platform.

The resolutions were adopted at all the platforms amid great cheering. There was no indication of any opposition to them.

SUTTON JUNCTION, Que., Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Gen. D. C. Draper, O.C., of the Fifth Mounted Rifles, has received a handsome gold medal from the citizens of Cambrai, France, as a token for saving them from the hands of the enemy. Coming as this does more than three years after the close of the war, it shows that the work of the Canadian troops is not forgotten.

CORONATION OF POPE PIUS

Vast Assembly of Dignitaries of Church and State Witnessed Brilliant Ceremony at St. Peter's, Rome.

Impressive Cordiality.

ROME, Feb. 12. Canadian Press.—Pius XI was crowned Pope in the Basilica of St. Peter's to-day amid scenes of pomp and enthusiasm and in the presence of princes and dignitaries of the church, the diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, members of the Roman aristocracy and a vast assemblage filling the great structure to its very doors. The ancient custom was carried out with impressive ceremonies and the newly elected pontiff now occupies the throne of the first Pope reported crowned, Leo III—who reigned from 795 to 816.

With the exception of Leo XIII and Benedict XV, who owing to the strained relations existing between the Quirinal and the Vatican in 1878 and the world war in 1914, preferred to be crowned in the Sistine Chapel, the coronation of all the popes elected since the erection of the Basilica has been celebrated there.

Blessed Crowds Outside.

Pius XI again blessed the crowds from the outer balcony of St. Peter's —this time nearly 200,000 people crying, "Long live the Pope," and waving handkerchiefs, many of them multicolored, and admission tickets which had failed to find them room inside the great church.

It had been officially announced that "owing to the cold weather" the Pope would not bless the crowds from the outer balcony but such was the insistence and the warmth of the cheers, lasting three quarters of an hour, that the pontiff finally decided he must answer the call of his children.

Thus, it was long after one o'clock in the afternoon when the Holy Father appeared on the balcony, surrounded by Cardinals Vannutelli, Gasparri, Mercier and Bourne, and bestowed the Apostolic Benediction. Then with the familiar little shake of the hand he again disappeared into the interior of the Basilica.

Previous to this the sixty-thousand gathered within the edifice, rising spontaneously, had cheered the Holy Father, as Cardinal Lega placed upon the Pope's head the Tiara, emblem of supreme sovereignty. The cheers continued for so long a time that the Pope was compelled to make signs with his hands as if seeking silence in order that the ceremony might continue. Old Romans, who had witnessed the coronation of several Popes, say that the enthusiastic reception accorded the present Pope has never been equalled in their memory.

A Perceptible Change.

Good will, sincerity and hope were the dominant emotions prevailing in Rome as the new spiritual leader was receiving the triple crown with the magnificent ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church, but with a tinge of the matter of fact and business-like manner obtaining in the world today. Silver bugles of the Sixteenth Century announced the coronation, and the red robes of the aged cardinals mingling with the uniform of the Swiss Guards recalled the middle ages, but the crush of spectators at the heavy bronze gates of a formerly forbidding Vatican, revealed that something was changed in Rome.

Sixty thousand persons were packed in the noble and impressive Basilica of St. Peter's, silent and reverential, with one thought pervading all—that the saintly old man within the Vatican walls may yet enjoy that which was the recreation of young Ratti of Desio—climbing the Alpine mountains of his native land. To-day, he is a prisoner within the Vatican walls, but tomorrow the hope is freely expressed, he may be free to mingle among the crowds of the people he loves so well.

From Many Countries.

Standing upon the throne directly under the cupola of St. Peter's, Michael Angelo's masterpiece, Pius XI., with head adorned with tiara, bestowed the blessing upon those below, in which many races and many creeds mingled. The Gregorian Psalms and hymns of joy rendered by the choir were taken up by the assemblage in Latin, in which

SINN FEINERS SHOOT AND KILL AT ULSTER STATION

Swift Surprise Attack on a Party of Special Constables at Border Railway Town on Saturday —Four Specials Dead and Eight Wounded.

Sinn Fein Leader Killed.

BELFAST, February 12. Canadian Press. — Four Ulster special constables were shot to death at the railway station at Clones on Saturday afternoon. Eight others were wounded and six were missing.

Matthew Fitzpatrick, leader of the Sinn Feiners, was shot dead.

The specials on their way to Enniskillen, were waiting at Clones for the arrival of a train from Belfast to convey them to their destination. The train had entered the station and some of the specials were in the act of getting into the carriages when a party of the Irish Republican army men with rifles and a machine gun, came on the platform. They immediately opened fire on the specials with their rifles and machine guns and four of the constables were shot dead, one of them having his head blown off. Some of the others were wounded, some were taken prisoner and the remainder escaped. The Republican Army men then fled. Taken absolutely unawares the specials had no time to fire a shot at the attacking party.

A Border Town.

Clones is in that part of Ulster which is included in the Free State territory. It is very near the border.

Belfast received its first intimation of the tragedy through a message to the stationmaster at the Great Northern terminus, to the effect: — "Send no more troops, regular police or specials by train." Then followed the news of the shooting and the casualty list. The Belfast police declare the specials were lined against a wall and then mowed down.

Craig Demands Action.

Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has addressed an urgent remonstrance to Premier Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Viscount Fitzalan, in which immediate action is demanded.

There are various versions of the affray current, but inquiries among the civilian passengers on the train from which the special constables alighted, showed that the constables had a 20 minutes wait on the platform for the Dublin train, during which time they paraded quietly up and down the platform on which

SMUTS APPEALS FOR SETTLEMENT OF MINES STRIKE

Pyrric Victory For Both Sides If Work Not Resumed Pending Government Mediation.

LONDON, Feb. 12. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—In a statement calling upon the striking gold and coal miners to return to work and leave the terms of settlement to the parliament of South Africa, Premier Smuts, says a Reuter cable from Pretoria, emphasizes the great loss that will result from a protracted strike and declares that victory itself for either side in such circumstances would become meaningless.

The strike must be ended without further delay, says the Premier. He continues: 'It is useless to waste further time in trying to obtain satisfactory terms of settlement. Final settlement must be left to parliament after the holding of an impartial enquiry."

Promises Review Board.

In the meantime General Smuts appeals to the Industrial Federation to call off the strike on the basis of the terms offered by the Chamber of Mines with subsequent modifications. He adds that the government will appoint an impartial board to review all the issues and submit a basis of settlement for the consideration of the government and parliament.

Premier Smuts expresses the conviction that parliament will do its best to give both sides a square deal. He recognizes that large numbers of men will probably be unemployed as an aftermath of the strike and says that schemes are being worked out for employing some thousands on afforestation, irrigation and other public works.

Appeals to Owners.

Premier Smuts promises police protection to miners resuming work and calls on mine owners to restart the mines where sufficient men respond to his request.

The Chamber of Mines, responding to the appeal, announced that the mines would be re-opened on February 13, but the president of the industrial federation has instructed the miners not to return to work pending a decision by the workers' executive committee.

The proposals of Premier Smuts were rejected at a clamorous open air meeting of the miners held today.

A DOMESTIC LOAN COMING?

Can Canada, with the impetus of wartime patriotism removed, and in the face of industrial and business stress, float a $400,000,000 domestic loan during the present year? It is reported that Hon. Mr. Fielding contemplates such an effort during 1922, functioning along the lines of the Victory Loan drives and using the same machinery, the bond men of the Dominion. There seems no reason to fear a failure in this big task. The people of Canada have been educated to the bond form of investment through the Victory Loan campaigns, and the work of floating a big loan in the present year would be much less than if the raising of one-fifth of the amount had been attempted before the war. The machinery has been tried out in successful campaigns, and the organisation can be quickly effected and started to work smoothly and with no confusion. There is plenty of money available in the country, and it is not believed that Canadians will be any the less ready to invest their savings with their Government in the piping days of peace than they were in the war years. The need of such a loan is apparent, for it is stated that $240,000,000 will be needed to square last year's accounts and to refund the Victory Loan of 1917, which falls due in December of this year, and will require $194,000,000.

SIDETRACKED ONCE MORE.

For the present at least, Peterborough has been sidetracked once more in the matter of Senate representation, for it has been announced that the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Beith, of Bowmanville, has been filled by the appointment of Arthur C. Hardy, of Brockville. President of the Ontario Reform Association. There is no quarrel with the decision in so far as the qualifications of the new Senator are concerned. Senator Hardy doubtless will be a source of strength in the Upper House, and has claims for promotion because of his work on behalf of the Liberal Party. There will be regret, however, that the Government has seen fit to go outside of the midland district in making the appointment, and in Peterborough especially there will be a feeling of disappointment that such an opportunity to give this city the representation it has so long been denied by both political parties should be neglected by the new Government. However, the administration of Hon. Mackenzie-King has been informed by resolution of the City Council and in other ways that Peterborough feels that it has for many years been slighted in regard to the Senate, and that the whole district expects this fact to be recognised in the near future. There will be other Senate appointments to make from time to time, and the feeling is widespread in this section of the Province that this district should not be overlooked when selections are being made in the future.

THE ONTARIO EQUITABLE COMPANY.

The reports of the Ontario Equitable Life and Accident Assurance Company for the year 1921 show that this company has made a most excellent record for its first thirteen months of business. The second annual statement contains some notable figures. On 31st December, 1920, the insurance the Ontario Equitable had in force amounted to $1,053,300. At the end of the first full year the Equitable is now able to report a total of $7,007,186 insurance, a record which will stand as a memorable achievement in the annals of Canadian insurance. A special feature in connection with the company is that its business is confined to the non-participating plan of insurance, because it is felt that this form of low cost insurance is coming into greater demand with the public in view of the guarantee of low premiums, its simplicity, and the absence of all uncertainty as to cost. The double indemnity and double disability provisions included in the Equitable's policies are also proving very popular, and the pioneer work of the Equitable in introducing and making these features available has been rewarded by $2,845,380 business in force on the double indemnity basis. Fewer companies have been able to report such rapid progress. The Equitable is now operating in Ontario, Saskatchewan, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Newfoundland, and no difficulty is expected in doubling the insurance in force during the present year without increasing the agency staff. At the close of 1921 the Equitable showed assets amounting to $268,048, with a surplus to policyholders, including $102,000 capital, of $180,383. During the year the company's total income was $294,972, including premium on capital stock, and its total disbursements were $187,256. The paid-up business written in 1921 was $6,672,288.

The Equitable Life is represented in the Peterborough district by Mr. D. S. Gordon, whose office is situated in the Barrie Building.

THE COMING SESSION.

The House is now in order. The stage is set, and all that remains to launch the Mackenzie King Liberal ship on its first voyage across the waters of legislative endeavor is the setting of the fatal day on which His Excellency the Governor-General will instruct his faithful Commons to go forth and do mighty deeds. Incidentally these deeds will be politely forecast in a be-ribboned manuscript, written and re-written by Mr. King and his Ministers. The election of Mr. Meighen in Grenville was the last act prior to the lifting of the curtain, and while orders-in-council may contain matters of importance prior to the first session of the Fourteenth Parliament, the real drama will not commence until the manuscript above mentioned is properly read in both English and French.

The successful return of Mr. Meighen to the role of one of the representatives of the people is actually a matter of congratulation throughout the country, and while joyously hailed by the Conservatives, is also looked on with favor by understanding Liberals. Mr. Meighen is a leader of note, a parliamentarian of long experience and one whose services to the country can well be worth while. Criticism is his long suit, and criticism is the function of the leader of the Opposition. The first session should be watched with care by everyone as its developments will indicate the trend of events for the next five years, and will bring out for good or ill the capabilities and weaknesses of those occupying the seats of the mighty.

The first session promises to be short. There is very little legislation which can be prepared in the short time at the disposal of the Government. True there will be a bill providing for the amalgamation of the Departments of Militia and Naval Affairs, and, as a remote possibility, a Redistribution Bill, resultant from the recent census. Enactments may also be sought looking toward a solution of railway problems; while there is almost certain to be something in the nature of a torpedo aimed at the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. Torpedoing government shipping has been a favorite game of the Liberals for the past two sessions, and there is every reason to believe that their threats of other years will become realities of this. Mr. William Duff, who sits for Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, and whose terrific drive on the fleet last session, marked him as a bitter enemy of the "C.G.M.M.," will probably impress this point upon Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Just what the Government will do is largely a mystery. Ships cannot be said to be selling freely these days, and certainly not at anything near war-time construction prices.

In the estimates the new Government promises economy, which is well; but in human nature there is always the desire to show the folks back home, and therefore a few post offices, wharves, roads and custom houses will undoubtedly creep in. In the old days it was customary to offer armories on the shrines of faithful constituencies, but the old days have passed, and it's almost a safe bet that post offices will reign supreme as a sacrifice to the importance of the home towns. If this occurs it is not to be taken as a case for pointing the finger of scorn. It is politics and therefore respectable. It is something that may be taken as a manifestation of the national spirit. It's not harmful, or very severe on the national bankroll.

That a goodly dish of tariff will be served as one of the main items on the menu is a practical certainty. There is much tariff in the Liberal platform, and some of it will have to find expression. Just sufficient to satisfy the honors of those who said these things would happen. Tariff discussion is generally a bitter business; it will have to be approached with care; handled with silken gloves, and perhaps eventually laid aside without regret. The trouble is that men in all parties have different views as to what the tariff should be, depending whether or not they are representatives of industrial centres or rural districts. Then there are the others who seem to be neither fish nor fowl, but who are open to conviction—with mental reservations. The words of the famous English poet fit:

"To every man there openeth
A high way and a low,
While in between on the misty flats,
The rest drift to and fro."

It had better be explained that he was writing very beautifully about souls and not the tariff. Whether a man in a tariff argument has a soul, either beautiful or otherwise, is a question which might form a sufficient groundwork for strenuous debate.

While the session may not be long, it is certain to be marked by oratory, such being the divine prerogative of the member of the Commons, especially those newly-elected and whose first speeches are sometimes "wunnerful." This is hardly fair to them all, however, as many a new member wins stout applause in his maiden effort. Oratory in itself is something well worth listening to, but when indulged in during the early hours of the morning, and to a practically empty chamber, it is something to make the gargoyles jump down from their niches and weep bitterly in the corridors. However, there is this to be said for the oratory when the old masters stand forth to deliver their messages a lesson may always be learned in the beauties of our native tongues.—The Veteran.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Prosperity is just around the corner.

Most people are neutral. They don't care how hard the Council hits the tax rate.

And now they propose to reduce the strength of near beer. Sounds like an impossible proposition.

The new High Commissioner for Canada should see that some real Canadians receive appointments under him.

Mayor Coppley, of Hamilton, is not satisfied with the meeting of the municipalities in regard to Hydro-Radials. It is to be imagined that Premier Drury is not any too well pleased either.

It promises to be quite a while before transfers to East City will be in demand.

The greatest puzzle of the day is which faction in Ontario is to be considered as expressing the voice of Labour. The workers' organisations don't seem to know where they are going or what they are going to do when they get there.

McNamara, McBride, and Halcrow are to sit on the Opposition benches. And their presence there will be as welcome to the administration as the announcement that the British embargo will not be lifted.

If the police would use that motor cycle they are asking for, to catch speeding motorists, a lot of people would vote for its purchase with both hands.

LITERARY GEMS.

HEART'S EASE.

Each sense is satisfied, yet stirs the soul
With longings vague, a will for sustenance
Beyond the garden's charm—to wake from trance,
From lethargy, from beauty's sweet control;
To face a world of ugliness and dole,
To feel the tentacles of grim mischance,
To taste what's bitter, hear sharp dissonance
To smell foul weeds—and all to reach what goal?
Above discomfort spreads a lofty palm,
Each branch the prize of inward victory,
There grows the boy, each glossy leaf unfurled,
Rewarding effort—oft-time failure's balm—
And there, heart's ease, by scarifice set free,
Bears lasting flowers, with Heaven's dew begarled.

there were also many civilians. There was no sign of any immediate attack.

Emptied the Coaches.

When the Dublin train arrived and the constables moved toward it, however, firing began from two machine guns posted on a wooden bridge spanning the railway track, and then from a motor on the station premises. A large body of armed men rushed upon the train and after some revolver firing ordered the frightened passengers, who were cowering on the floors of the coaches and under the seats, to get out.

All the occupants of the train then were marched to the station platform and drawn up in two bodies—civilians on one side and special constables on the other. Everyone was searched for arms. The civilians were ordered back to the train, while the unwounded constables were taken away to an unknown destination.

Specials Caught Unawares.

Meanwhile the dead and wounded, who fell at the first onslaught, had been laid in rows on the platform. Only a few of the special constables had time to draw their revolvers before they were overpowered.

In the exchange of shots Fitzpatrick, who apparently was in command of the attacking party, was shot dead. A peculiar feature of the affray is that a couple of regular Royal Irish Constabulary men on the train, who were unarmed, were allowed to proceed unmolested with the civilians. It is estimated that about one hundred men participated in the attack.

under whose direction the scheme is operated.

Relief Officer Frank Pratt complained to the Council of overlapping in his work on account of the efforts of organizations. He advised that conferences of the charitable organizations and the relief officers should take place to eliminate confusion.

Grant to Plowmen.

A grant of $50 was made to the Peterborough Ploughmen's Association providing the Provincial ploughing match is held in North Monaghan. Deputy-Reeve R. T. Lillico, who moved that the grant be given, met with opposition from Councillor R. A. Dobbin, but when the latter found the match was likely to be held in the township he supported the grant. H. G. Webber formed the one-man deputation asking for a grant. He pointed out the importance of the Provincial ploughing match and said this was the first time they had a chance to get it in Peterborough.

Claim For Payment.

J. Wright, a farmer on the gravel road, complained of not having received any pay for stone the township got from his place for construction of sidewalks. Several teams drew stone he said. The Council promised to investigate his complaint. Mr. Wright felt "it was up to the township" to see that stone the Department of Public Highways left on the quarter line near his place be moved. "It's bettween the township and the Department. They got the stone for use on the road and never used it. Now the crusher is a mile and a half away. Why didn't they use it when the crusher was there? They were drawing stone from other places. It cost me $250 to follow them up with wire, besides new windows in my house, the glass having been broken by the blasting," he declared.

On motion of Councillor Bell and Deputy-reeve Lillico, the Clerk was instructed to write Mr. McLean of the Department and notify him to have removed at once the stone which had been left on the quarter line there by their employees.

Auditor's Report.

H. G. Webber, township auditor, submitted the auditor's report for 1921. It was received and his recommendation that authority be given to the Reeve or Deputy to approve of the pay sheets instead of their having to be presented to the Council was adopted. The auditor again recommended that the Council request the trustees of S. S. No. 2 to discontinue the practise of including the amount of debentures maturing each year, in their estimates, as he said it was confusing to the treasurer and unnecessary. The auditor found everything in order in connection with Treasurer W. H. Bradburn's books. The statement showed that receipts for the year with two bank overdrafts of $14,519.55 totalled $49,724.94. Expenditure was $49,724.94 with principal items of $10,530.43 for sidewalks and $11,752.96 for school purposes.

The Charity Menu.

Before Council adjourned the "bill of fare" for charity cases in North Monaghan was decided upon. No meat is given. The Relief Officer was instructed to give bread, butter, tea, sugar, rolled oats and potatoes.

YELLOW FEVER WANES.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12.—(Associated Press.)—Encouraging reports to the effect that yelow fever is on the wane in Mexico were recently given out by the National Board of Health.

In 1921 there were 115 cases with 53 deaths compared with 505 cases and 249 deaths in 1920. The majority of the cases were reported in the states of Vera Cruz and Sinaloa, widely separated regions.

The good showing for the past year is ascribed by the board to the co-operation it is receiving from the physicians of the republic in stamping out the disease.

HEARTBURN

A SEVERE CASE

Many people are troubled with heartburn who really do not realize just what it is.

In cases of this trouble there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite. It is generally caused by great acidity of the stomach, and whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment and becomes extremely sour, causing heartburn. In such cases vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter.

The way to get rid of heartburn is to keep your liver active by using and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles such as constipation, jaundice, water brash, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, foul breath, etc.

Miss Agnes Cutting, Shallow Lake, Ont., writes:—"I have had heartburn for a long time. There were gnawing and burning pains in my stomach, and then when I vomited there was a sour and bitter taste. I used two vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of my heartburn. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine."

MANNING DOHERTY IS STILL HOPEFUL

Thinks the Embargo on Canadian Cattle Will Soon be Lifted by Britain

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—(Canadian Press.—Interviewed today by the Canadian Press Hon. Manning Doherty, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, expressed his confidence that the embargo on Canadian cattle would soon be lifted by the British Government despite its recent decision. Although import of Irish cattle had been prohibited recently, Mr. Doherty believd that the embargo would soon be lifted as Britain depended largely on Ireland for meat And if permisison were given Irish free state to ship cattle to Britain then he thought an embargo could not legaly be imposed on Canadian cattle.

MEMORIAL EDITION TOLSTOI'S WORKS.

Three Unpublished Series Are Included.

MOSCOW, Feb. 12.—(Associated Press.)—Three unpublished works of Count Leo Tolstoi are to be included in the Memorial edition of his works which his daughters are planning to issue.

The mos timportant of thees is his diary, which will run to eight volumes of 500 pages each. The diary was begun in 1850 and continued to 1870, without a break, then abandoned until 1889, when the great writer renewed it and kept it until two days before his death in 1910.

The first 20 year period of the diary describes his life as a soldier in the Caucasus, during the siege of Sebastopol and his marriage. The second period of the diary is less personal and devoted to questions of religion, philosophy and politics.

A second of the unpublished works is an unfinished romance called "The Story of Peter the Great," and deals with revolutionary plots of that itme.

The third work is a comedy in five acts, "The Nihilist," written in 1860, poking fun at short-haired women, long-bearded idealists and other Russian types. It was refused by the Art Theatre of those days, a fact which made the author down-hearted.

Other than these three weeks, there are a large number of unpublished or incomplete short stories to be issued.

As Tolstoi made his daughters promise no to copyright any of his works, after his life rule, these new works will be published simultaneously throughout tse world.

CHARITY IS THEIR VERY LAST RESOURCE

Most Respectable Persons Shudder at the Thought.

Scores of pitiable cases engage the attention of the city relief officer. If a person sat in Mr. Miller's office all day, at the end of that time the sum total of misery and suffering that is revealed there would leave the observer sick at heart and more firmly convinced than ever that one-half the world does not know how th other half lives.

Th natural and inherent repulsion of people to accept charity is constantly revealed. An appeal is not made to Mr. F. W. Miller until the people are right up against starvation. "And that is not necessary," Mr. Miller remarked; "I'm here to give charity and should be consulted before actual suffering occurs," continued Mr. Miller, pointing out that one case had come to his attention in which a mother of two children, her husband out of work and physically unable to labor if he had employment, had sold a kitchen stove that cost $110 two years ago for $40 as a las resource for acquiring life's successities. Previously $200 had been borrowed from the bank; the family had raised money every way they could to escape charity. Finally an appeal was made and assistance is now being given by the Charity Board. Mr. Miller has informed charitable institutions of the case, and groceries, fuel and clothing will be provided.

PUBLIC MEETING HELD MILLBROOK

School Issues Discussed by Mr. M. J. O'Brien of Ottawa-Defence League Formed.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 13.— There was a good attendance at the meeting held in the town hall on Saturday, for the purpose of discussing the problems affecting the Public school system of the present day, and of organizing a county branch of the Ontario Public School Defence League.

Reeve J. L. McCamus of Cavan, was in the chair, and on the platform were: Mr. M. J. O'Brien, of Ottawa, Rev. A. McLaughlin of Pontypool, Rev .G. S. Gervan, Rev. S. T. Tucker, Rev. C. R. Spencer, and S. S. Staples, M.P.P.

Mr. O'Brien, the speaker of the afternoon, reviewed the claims made by His Lordship, Bishop Fallon, of London, who, he asserted, is the recognized leader of the movement, as being: (1) That Regulation 17 be abolished, and French be placed on an equality with English in our Public and Separate schools, (2) That Secondary Roman Catholic schools, or Collegiate Institutes, be established, and (3) That the assessment act of the province be amended so that the Separate schools receive their rights in regard to taxation.

With regard to the second claim, Bishop Fallon asserts, said the speaker, that his church is only claiming rights which have been here since 1867.

The Church of Rome claims that the Sepaarte school system is a public service, and therefore it is the duty of the provincial government to see that it is financed properly, but Protestants claim that this system benefits only one class and one creed, and that other should not be asked to contribute to its upkeep. The Church of Rome paints a sad picture, pointing to the 80,000 little Roman Catholic children who will be deprived of an education unless financial assistance is afforded them, but what about the 471,000 children of Public school supporters in this province who would be financial losers if this were done?

Mr. O'Brien claimed that the Public schools could easily take over these 80,000 Roman Catholic children at any time and give them a better education than they were now receiving. He, personally, would consider it a blessing from God if the Separate schools did go bankrupt, and Protestants would be traitors to their duty if they did anything to encourage the Separate school system.

Ontario has six separate Protestant schools, a fact which constitutes a blot upon the province, since to escape persecution, the Protestant minority in six sections have had to establish their own separate schools.

"The Church of Rome gets her property exempted from taxes by hook or by crook—mostly by crook." It would be good policy, the speaker thought, for every Protestant denomination to pay taxes on all their church property, because then, in all fairness, the Church of Rome would be compelled also to pay taxes on her Catholic convents, schools, etc., throughout the province.

"We can abolish the Separate schools if we wish, because we can have exactly the kind of laws we want if we insist upon them.

Dr. Ryerson, in 1865, saw this day coming and stated that we would never have either peace or safety until that day when we sweep every vestige of Separate school law from our Statute books." Mr. O'Brien stated that he, pesonally, would rot in prison before he would pay to support the Roman Catholic Separate school system.

Mr. O'Brien said that the Toronto government was weak, and if we give in now to the demands made by the Church of Rome, we will get in Ontario what the Protestant minority are now getting in Quebec. In that province the educational laws were drafted by a Jesuit and the largest share of the taxes goes to Roman Catholic schools.

The speaker explained the nature of the Ontario Public School Defence League, and said, "The issue, in plain English, is really a religious one, for if you wreck your Public school system where will the Protestant faith be in this country?"

All clergymen and school teachers have been asked to give their support to the movement. A monster delegation will go to Toronto in March, and wait on the Premier. Premier Drury had said to the Catholic delegation, "Go out, gentlemen, and show your strength." "He did not ask us," the speaker concluded, "but we propose to do so, anyway, and let him see that 'hands off," gentlemen, is the popular feeling regarding our Public school system.

It was moved by Rev. Mr. McLaughlin, seconded by J. J. Clarke, of Manvers, that a branch of the Ontario P. S. Defence League for East Durham be organized.—Carried.

The following officers were then nominated and appointed: President, Rev. A. McLaughlin, of Pontypool; Vice-Presidents, J. J. Clarke, Manvers, J. L. McCamus, Cavan, J. Stinson, Millbrook, F. W. Galbraith, Port Hope, Wm. Gray, Perrytown, S. Stinson, Janetville, and Rev. S. Weir, Bethany; Secretary-Treasurer, J. Richardson, Pontypool.

A Weekly Talk with Home

by Long Distance

"WHY don't you talk home by Long Distance telephone?" said Mr. Wyndham-King, Banker, to his secretary; "Have a good talk with your mother occasionally; it will do you good."

The young woman, an invaluable aid to the busy banker, had not been at her best for some time, and her work was suffering.

"I never thought of telephoning," she confessed when the suggestion was made, "I'll surely try it!"

She was simply homesick; her employer had guessed right!

Those weekly talks with her home have made a wonderful difference in the girl's life. Her health, her work, her general outlook on life have all reflected the change.

Long Distance did it! It is doing the same thing for hundreds by bridging the gulf between them and far-away home and friends. Station-to-Station service with low Evening and Night rates has brought Long Distance within the reach of everyone.

After 8.30 P.M. Station-to-Station rates are about half the day rate. At midnight they become about one quarter the day rate.

SECOND FIRE WITHIN A WEEK

Apsley Home and Contents Totally Destroyed -Apsley News of Interest

APSLEY, February 13. — A second fire within a week occurred on Friday evening when the house owned and occupied by Cos Coones, on the Burleigh Road, south of Apsley, was totally destroyed together with all the contents. Mr. Coones, who lives alone, was paying a visit to a neighbor, leaving a fire in the stove, to all appearances perfectly safe.

The first indication of the fire was seen by a neighbour who at once telephoned the residents along the road, but by the time they arrived the whole house was ablaze and attempts to salvage the contents were useless.

CORONATION OF POPE PIUS

various accents, Anglo-Saxon, German, French and Scandinavian, were noticeable.

The cortege from the Vatican to the Basilica was led by Monsignor Carlo Respighi. The Master of Ceremonies was followed by the heads of the various Roman Colleges, and escorted by two Swiss Guards. The Confessor of the Pontifical Family, wearing the habit of his Order, came next, then the servants, the "bussolanti," in their red uniforms. A Chaplain Ordinary, wearing a purple cape and escorted by Swiss Guards, bore the tiara on a velvet cushion. The jeweller to the Vatican walked alone behind the tiara.

Choir and Household.

Then in order, came Ordinary Chaplains, carrying the precious mitre; two Apostolic Couriers in violet-colored uniforms, the secret camerieri, led by Monsignor Nasalli-Rocca; the Honor Chaplains and participants wearing purple capes; the choir of the pontifical chapel, and the entire pontifical household in multi-colored uniforms, including the "penetentiari" of St. Peter, wearing white chasubles.

The ushers of the "Red Mass" custodians of the papal Cross during the ceremony were next in line, with bishops not attending the throne, archbishops and prelates from the Orient, bishops and archbishops attending the throne, patriarchs, cardinal-deacons, cardinal-priests, cardinal-bishops and Princes Orsini and Colonna, assistants to the throne, following after.

Secret Camerieri of the Cape and Sword, led by Marquis Sacchetti, and the Forager Major and Palatine Guards, commanded by Baron Tabanelli, escorted the papal chair, which was borne by parafrenieri, wearing red uniforms. Eight prelates carried the canopy over the pontiff's head.

Seated on the papal chair, wearing a great white cope, embroidered with gold and the precious mitre, the newly-elected Pope blessed the worshippers who lined the corridors of the Vatican and the entrance to St. Peter's. Surrounding the chair with drawn swords were Swiss Guards, officers of the Noble Guard and officials of the pontifical court, with two huge Swiss Guards, closed the procession.

The crush inside the Basilica was terrific, many women fainting.

The Pope appeared pale, ill at ease and nervous as he emerged from the chapel of the Holy Sacrament, seated high in the pontifical chair. But as the ceremony proceeded, his face became flushed, beads of perspiration standing out on his forehead, when a few minutes after midday, Cardinal Legga, in the absence of Cardinal Bisletti, Dean of the Cardinal Deacons, placed the marvellous jewelled tiara on the pontiff's head.

Sic Transit Gloria Mundi.

At the entrance of the Basilica, the Pope was received by Cardinal Merry Del Val, arch priest of St. Peter's, who rendered homage. The customary quaint ceremony of burning hemp was carried out during the progress across St. Peter's. One of the papal officials halted the chair and knelt three times before the pontiff, on each occasion setting fire to a small bundle of oiled hemp, chanting, "Pater Santo, Sic Transit Gloria Mundi" (Holy Father, thus passes the Glory of the World).

Reaching the altar, the Pope intoned, "Gloria In Excelsis," in loud, clear voice; all trace of emotion had disappeared.

One of the assisting cardinals removed the mitre from the head of the pontiff and placed around his head the pallium—a consecrated vestment in the form of a scarf of white wool, embroidered with purple crosses. The pallium was next fastened to a staff with three large pins, surmounted with precious stones. The Dean kissed the Pope on the cheek, as did also the other two cardinals. Cardinal Lega placed the tiara on the head of the pontiff and Cardinal Merry Del Val, an arch-priest, greeted him, and welcomed the new pontiff into the Catholic city's supreme church.

Then, headed by Vanutelli and in order of seniority, the cardinals mounted the throne and kissed the Pope's hand; following them came the patriarchs, archbishops and bishops.

The special litany for the Pope was sung, in which the reply to the invocation of the name of every saint, instead of being "Ora Pro Nobis," is "Tu Illum Adjuva," meaning "Thou assist him."

HEAD OFFICE—IMPERIAL LIFE BUILDING

CLIFFORD ELVINS, ADVERTISING MANAGER

Toronto, Ont. Oct. 21, 1921.

The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association,
Excelsior Life Bldg.,
Toronto.

Gentlemen:-

In response to your request for an expression of our opinion as to the value of newspaper advertising, we are proud to be able to say that while The Imperial Life has used only a small amount of newspaper space, and that all within the past eight years, there is abundant evidence to show that this advertising has been a factor of no little importance in establishing for this Company the prestige and goodwill which it enjoys.

Yours very truly,

C. Elvins

CE/MER. Advertising Manager.

The Imperial Life Assurance Company have proved that for gaining prestige and goodwill, no aid is comparable to that of Daily Newspaper advertising. Financial institutions have learned to reach with certainty the "inaccessible" busy man. He never misses— cannot afford to neglect—his morning and evening Daily Newspaper, often his only reading matter.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such upbuilding treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Get the nerves right and the headaches will not return.

Mrs. W. J. Pearse, Nunn St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to bind a cloth tightly about my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

ARREST IN MONTREAL MURDER CASE.

WATERLOO, Que., Lebruary 13 (Canadian Press). — Provincial Detectives Grevier and Houle on Saturday afternoon placed Raoul Brodeur, of St. Joachim, under arrest in connection with the murder of Henri Royea, whose badly mutilated body horse had drawn home on Friday harse had drawn home on Friday morning.

Backache? Rheumatism?

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime-salts in the arteries, veins and joints. We often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," is bound to give immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia, in ridding the impoverished blood of its poisons by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store, by simply asking for "Anuric" for kidneys or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising from bed at night.

Send to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for a 10c trial pkg., or ask your druggist for Doctor Pierce's An-uric (kidney and backache remedy).

Many of your neighbors have been benefited just as has Mr. Collinson.

Crofton, B. C.—"I tried several cures for rheumatism, but did not receive any benefit from any of them. I had been in the hospital for months, being unable to walk. A friend advised me to try Doctor Pierce's An-uric Tablets. After taking the first bottle I began to improve, and after taking six bottles I had no more rheumatism. I think Dr. Pierce's An-uric is a most wonderful medicine for rheumatism."—Melville Collinson.

GERMANS GAIN BY PACT THEY BROKE.

Paradoxical Decision of Privy Council Judicial Committee.

LONDON, Feb. 13. — (Canadian Press).—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council Saturday delivered a judgment affecting German property which Lord Sumner, who presided, declared was paradoxical.

Three German merchant ships were, at the outbreak of the war, seized in British ports and ordered by the Prize Court to be detained as prizes of war.

The Privy Council now sets aside that decree, declaring that the owners were entitled to benefit under The Hague Convention, an article of which provides that merchant ships, on the outbreak of hostilities, should not be confiscated when in enemy ports, but merely detained if unable to leave within the recognized days of grace.

STRIKE VOTE CLOSE, RECOUNT ORDERED.

The Irish Railway Trouble Unsettled at Stormy Meeting.

CORK, Feb. 12. — (Canadian Press). — The striking railwaymen Saturday night, at a prolonged and stormy meeting, voted to end the strike in accordance with the terms of the agreement reached at the recent Dublin conference.

When the ballots were counted, however, it was found that the majority was a narrow one, and a recount was demanded by those favoring a continuance of the struggle. The recount will be made to-day. Meantime the men have been ordered to await instructions concerning resuming work.

All the railway stations seized last week have been evacuated by the strikers.

SHARP CRITICISM OF GEDDES REPORT.

Not a Sacred Document, Says Secretary to the Admiralty.

LONDON, Feb. 12. —(Canadian Press Cable.)— Full responsibility for the issue of the remarkable Admiralty memorandum bitterly attacking the Geddes report is assumed by Col. Amery, Parliamentary secretary to the Admiralty in a statement to the Weekly Despatch.

He says: "The statement was issued on my instructions in accordance with the general authority given by the cabinet to ministers to deal with matters arising out of the Geddes report as they thought suitable. The report is so gravely misleading and dangerous in many respects that it was necessary to issue a definite correction immediately."

The Geddes commitee was appointed to show £100,000,000 could be cut off national expenditure and the report finds that many millions of this sum can be clipped from naval expenditure. For instance the report declares there is an excess of more than 33,000 officers and men in the navy.

POPULATE EMPIRE WITH SURPLUS OF BRITAIN'S MASSES

State - Aided Policy For Settlement Would Be Boon to Old Country and the Dominions.

LONDON, Feb. 13. — (Canadian Press).—"The present situation is unsatisfactory, both this country and the Dominions," states the Overseas Settlement Committee in its report for 1921, which refers to the congestion of population and grave unemployment in Great Britain which costly special measures of relief fail to cure while overseas land is calling out for development and cultivation.

The report says that in Canada the need for large numbers of British settlers is vital and urgent. In Australia, lack of population is a source of danger, says the report.

The committee is convinced that the best remedy is a strong policy of state-aided Empire settlement.

"You may not think so, dear, but my jealousies were before I loved you."

"I lay across my bed so the bullet won't strike Eric."

"Dearest—please forget me as if I were nothing in your life and forget except Eric."

Apparently jotting down his many thoughts as he read through the magazine. Bayliss wrote on page 97, 'Yon and Eric asleep little know that I crave for you both." On the next page he pencilled:

"How can I make you know how my heart calls out to you," and beneath pictures of the characters in the play "Jimmy Valentine," he wrote as a farewell:

"Good bye, precious, I love you."

The Harp in Canada

LAKE LOUISE ALBERTA

M.A.HARGADON

From time immemorial nature has been a source of inspiration to the poet. The majesty of the mountains, the serene beauty of the forests, the charm of rivers—all seem to have the effect of moving poetic souls. Canada, with its wealth of glorious scenery, is therefore naturally the home of poets, and, indeed, it has been said that one cannot throw a snowball without hitting one.

The Canadian school of poetry is essentially a nature school. Bliss Carman, Charles G. D. Roberts and Archibald Lampman have set the standard, and a very high standard it is. Probably nothing in Canadian literature has been more quoted than Bliss Carman's "Low Tide on Grand Pre," a poem which breathes the spirit of nature as felt on the lovely shores of Nova Scotia. The modern Canadian poets are following in the footsteps of these writers, but going further afield, as the facilities for travel throughout the great Dominion are extended. Thus, for instance, in a neat volume of poems by a young Irish-Canadian poet, M. A. Hargadon, the scene changes from Ireland to Nova Scotia, Quebec, and the Canadian Rockies. Here is a charming verse from a poem about Lake Louise:

"This lake is God's best picture; that is why
He hung it on the mountains at the sky
And set it in so beautiful a frame;
Art galleries of heaven have none the same."

This is the closing verse of a poem inspired by the majestic beauty of Banff:

"There is no lovelier place to live
And when at last I die,
I think my soul will go to Banff
Instead of to the sky;
For here there is no sorrowing,
No suffering nor care,
And, up so near to paradise,
It seems enfolded there."

The French-Canadians are described as:—

"Branch of a splendid race transplanted here
Illuming life through all this lovely land."

In Nova Scotia Mr. Hargadon is inspired to write lines that are particularly happy:—

"God writes His poetry to-day;
I see the flashes of His hand
On distant hills, along the bay,
All through the fair Acadian land.

"His book is every scene about,
There are a million happy lines;
The sweetest I have chosen out
Beneath the steeples of the pines."

Many of the poems are about Ireland, a country which has given Canada many good settlers, and no doubt, will give many more. Here is a verse from one:

"Young April is in Ireland now,
I wish that I were with her there,
For she is far the loveliest
Of all the Aprils anywhere;
She has the sweetest voice and face;
She has the brightest gowns to wear."

Irish and Canadian poems are illustrated with attractive photographs of scenes in Canada and Ireland. With St. Patrick's day approaching, and with Ireland now taking her place amongst the nations, the book is likely to create a wide interest at the present time, as it appears at a particularly opportune moment. It is prefaced by a sympathetic introduction by Colonel George H. Ham.

Irish and Canadian Poems are issued by The Modern Printing Company, 39 Dowd Street, Montreal. Price, one dollar.

According to Basil Graham, office manager for Bayliss's firm the partnership was in on diffculties and he was at a loss to account for the suicide. Bayliss was born in Hartford, Conn.

KEEP THE SINK CLEAN.

Soap jelly, which is made by dissolving a large bar of soap in two quarts of boiling water and two tablespoonfuls of kerosene, is a great aid in keeping a white, shining sink. Keep a glas of soap jelly on the sink shelf, and when you have finished washing dishes, put a little on a cloth which should be kept especially for that purpose, and clean the sink. Then wash the sink out with clean, hot, sudsy water, and the result is well worth the effort.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

"TEN YEARS LATER"

One of the first acts of William J. Flynn, aftW taking charge of the New York office of the United States Secret Service, was to order the arrest of two Italians, Vincenzo Lupo and Guiseppe Morello, on charges of manufacturing and passing counterfeit money. But the Sicilians, anticipating such a move, had taken care that their trails were well covered, and at the trial they produced a flock of witnesses who swore to alibis which effectually prevented a conviction.

As Morello and his companion passed out of the courtroom, after the case against them had been dismissed, Lupo remarked in a voice loud enough for Flynn to overhear: "Those pigs of American detectives haven't the brains to get the evidence they need. They'll never be able to land us."

The man who later became the head of the Secret Service said nothing at the time. But he determined to keep a watchful eye upon the pair who had sneered at the detective ability of the best man in the Government service, for, as he figured, they would continue their counterfeiting operations, and, sooner or later, they would make a fatal slip.

It was three years before Flynn again came in contact with the two Italians, and again the Federal forces had to be content with the losing end of the argument.

This time the case was the famous one of the "Morristown Fives"—five-dollar bills printed in precise imitation of the currency issued by the National Bank, of Morristown, N.J. Flynn's men found that the trail led directly into "Little Italy" in New York, right up to the door of a grocery store owned by Guiseppe de Primo. But there, apparently, it disappeared into thin air.

Flynn investigated the matter very carefully from the outside, but the only suspicious circumstance that he could discover was that De Primo was importing a much larger quantity of olive oil than his business appeared to warrant. On account of the duty, olive oil is usually imported in barrels and then canned, or bottled on this side—the empty cans being shipped from Italy ready for use.

Feeling certain that there must be some connection between the olive oil and the mysterious counterfeits, Flynn first tapped several of the barrels consigned to De Primo. But these were filled to the brim with oil of the precise quality mentioned in the bills of lading. Then, merely to make certain that he had not neglected any possible angle of the case, the Secret Service man ripped open one of the boxes of "empty" cans. Instantly the mystery was solved. The cans contained roll upon roll of the "Morristown Fives," manufactured in Italy and shipped to De Primo to be passed in this country!

In the round-up which followed this discovery, Lupo and Morello were gathered in by the Government agents and charged with passing counterfeit money. It was a moral certainty that the two Sicilians had had a hand in the plot—in fact, Flynn suspected that they were the ring-leaders—but none of the others would implicate them, even to save themselves. De Primo and his associates went to the penitentiary, but Lupo and Morello walked out of the courtroom, still sneering at the "brainless American detectives."

During the years that followed, counterfeiting operations and Black Hand murders, extortion of all kinds were almost traced to Lupo and Morello—almost. Apparently they worked as far west as Chicago and south to New Orleans, but every time the police or the Government agents started to close in on them, the pair slipped out through some legal loophole prepared in advance.

It was nine years after the original Lupo-Morello case that Flynn got wind of the fact that the Italian colony in New York were planning a big counterfeiting coup. The only thing lacking, according to the information which reached Government headquarters, was a printer.

A few days later, a young Italian named Comito, who claimed to be a printing expert who had been forced to leave Italy on account of participation in a number of Mafia outrages, applied to Lupo for a position. The recruit was put through a grilling cross-examination, but Flynn had seen to it that he was supplied with the proper answers to all the questions, and it wasn't long before the Secret Service had an operative planted in the very heart of the counterfeiting plot.

Comito reported that the gang was operating from a small farm near Highland, N.Y., and that thousands of dollars in spurious currency was ready to be released.

"But Lupo," he added, "is preparing to take a trip to Italy and won't be back until the spring."

"Very well," replied Flynn. "We can't wait. Just lay low until he returns. Then we'll nail the whole bunch."

It was early in the following year—ten years after the first arrest and release of the Lupo-Morello combination—that the Secret Service sprung its trap and rounded up sixteen Italians. During the trial which followed, physicians and other witnesses swore to alibis which had been previously prepared. But the Government, aided by Comito's first-hand evidence and the testimony of the men who had been trailing the Italians, proved every point in its case, though it took the evidence of three hundred people to do it.

As a result, Lupo and Morello went to the Federal prison in Atlanta for 25 years, and Flynn was well satisfied with the 150 per cent. interest upon his original investment of ten years' work.

SUCCESS IS THE RESULT OF

WISE INVESTING

In the ladder of financial success, the first step is to earn; the second to save, and the third to make the savings earn for their owner.

Many men feel that 5% coupled with safety of principal is the limit of returns of an investment, and it is if you have a fortune to invest. But if you wish to acquire riches, your money must be given a chance to make big money.

Never has there been such opportunity as there is today, for investment in the OIL industry.

If you have but little money and want to build a fortune or acquire a competency, give your each $100 a chance to earn $10,000, and you will be on the right road to success.

No other industry offers the small investor so quick or such enormous returns from his investment.

SECOND OF SERIES OF INSTRUCTIVE SERMONS

Rev. R. Pogue Preaches on "The Fatherhood of God."

Continuing his special series of sermons on "The Great Doctrines of the Bible," Rev. R. Pogue of St. Paul's Church preached Sunday evening on "The Fatherhood of God." He said in part:

"I need not tell you that the doctrine of the fatherhood of God is the popular doctrine of the day. It is not only the doctrine of a certain type of theologian, but also of people who have no special use for the church or her doctrines, and who do not hesitate to say that 'their religion could be summed up in the brief creed.' 'I believe in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.' A recent writer has said: 'The doctrine of the fatherhood of God is the popular doctrine of the day. It is proclaimed by almost all schools of theology. It is sometimes declared to be virtually a new discovery of the last half century. It is set over against previous doctrinal systems as being so different as to constitute a revolution in religious thought.' Still another has said: 'The doctrine of the fatherhood of God is the great theological discovery of the 19th century.' It may seem a somewhat daring thing to call in question a doctrine which is proclaimed by almost all schools of theology and which is declared to be the great theological discovery of modern times. We are compelled to do so, however, for the simple reason that it is nowhere taught in the Bible. There is a worthier conception of God than that which is so ardently believed by many and so earnestly preached as His universal fatherhood.

Man's Creator.

"One reason for the error is that His fatherhood has been made synonymous with His work as Creator. God is man's creator. It is a fact that He regards the world as one great family. 'God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on the face of the earth.' But God has created the birds and the fishes, the mountains and seas. We would never think of calling God the father of these in the sense men use the term to describe God's relationship to men.

"Another reason for the error is that men have imagined that likeness to God implied His fatherhood. It is true man was created in the image of God, that he was created an intelligent and a moral being, with reason, conscience and a free will. But that does not imply that God is the father of men.

"Still another reason for the error is that some have thought that because God loves men, loves them with all infinite love, therefore He is their father. There is no note so frequently struck from this pulpit as the note of the love of God. God loves men, all men, with an infinite love, and you cannot put bounds to infinity. The history of the race is a history of rebellion, insolence and defiance of the God who made Him upon man's part, and the most long suffering patience upon God's part. God's love is greater than a father's love, greater than a mother's love. No father, no mother ever knew how to love a child as God loves the world, as He loved it when He gave His Son to die for it. But because God loves the world with an infinite boundless love He is not the father of it. Love can exist apart from fatherhood.

Relation to Christ.

"It is claimed Jesus taught the fatherhood of God. He nowhere taught the universal fatherhood. He took the divine fatherhood for granted in relation to Himself. But He never took it for granted in relation to all men. Instead He taught that God was only the father of those who sustained a special relation to Him. He taught that God was the father of those who received Jesus Christ as their saviour and none others; and that the only way for one to make God father was to take His Son Jesus Christ as saviour. He denied divine fatherhood to all who took up an attitude of opposition to Him. 'If God were your father,' He said, 'ye would love me. Ye are of your father the devil.' He said: 'Love your enemies that ye may be children of your father who is in heaven.' Here He makes fatherhood to rest upon a certain moral quality, a filial relationship in the persons spoken of. Only one who has been born again by the spirit of God can call God father. Christ distinguishes between the 'sons of the kingdom' and the 'sons of the evil one,' plainly showing that sonship is limited. He shows that the doctrine of the universal fatherhood of God is of no value to the man who does not make God his father. And the only way to do this is to take Jesus Christ as saviour.

"The doctrine is not only of no value. It is a dangerous doctrine, for it gives the impression that there is something safe and comfortable in the universal fatherhood when there is not. It gives the impression that God is like a soft-hearted mother who is too kind to punish evil-doing. Jesus correctd that view in the minds of those who thought there was something safe in being able to claim Abraham as their father by telling them that the axe was already lying at the root of the tree. There is just one way of becoming a son of God, and of being able to call God Father; it is by receiving His Son. "To as many as received Him to them gave He the right to become the sons of God." Nowhere do we read that He gave that right to any others.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatims, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

LIBERAL ASSN. HELD MEETING

Mr. Wearing's motion was seconded by William Scollard, and adopted by the convention. Mr. Hartley, in a voice touched with emotion, acknowledged the tribute paid to him in a brief speech, which was interrupted by the singing of "See Him Smiling Just Now," by an enthusiastic audience.

The Officers.

The officers for the Liberal Association of West Peterborough were then announced as follows: President, J. J. Hartley; Vice-President, Joseph Picard; Secretary, C. R. Widdifield; Treasurer, Joseph J. Duffus. Vice-Presidents for the various townships were appointed as follows: For Galway and Cavendish, John Clark; for Harvey, Robert Shaw; for South Monaghan, J. H. Dawson; for Smith, John M. Telford; for North Monaghan, Fred E. Wilson; for Ennismore, J. F. Flood.

Election of the Executive committee resulted as follows: Mrs. P. H. Neville, Mrs. Thos. Allstone, Brownton, Mrs. F. Whitehouse, Messrs. W. H. Taylor, Jomes Ellis and Jas. H. McDonald.

The Liberal Leader.

Mr. R. R. Hall explained the reasons why the Liberal party should take a keen interest in the coming election of a Liberal leader for the province of Ontario. "There is no question about it," said Mr. Hall, "that the choice of a leader is of great importance, in order to properly run an election and to carry it to success.

If the coming Liberal leader be elected to the position of prime minister of the province of Ontario, we want to have a man of the capacity and ability to fill that duty. Therefore this Toronto convention is one of the most important since the convention in Ottawa two years ago, when Mr. Mackenzie King was chosen as leader of the Liberal party.

"The political situation in the province of Ontario at present demands the serious attention of every right-thinking person. Problems arising cannot be met in the halting and hesitating way in which they are being dealt with by the present administration. The province is so heavily in debt that it seems as if some sensible class of people will have to take a hand in the affairs of the province in order to avoid bankruptcy." (Laughter.)

The Ross Regime.

The speaker alluded to the alleged extravagance of the regime of the Hon. G. W. Ross, whose annual expenditure in running the affairs of the province thirteen years ago amounted to some five or six millions, and who was deemed unfit for office on account of this extravagance. The population of the province in the last thirteen years has increased only from fifteen to twenty per cent. and the farming population has decreased, yet the annual expenditure is four or five times greater than it was during the administration of Mr. Ross.

The imposition of various forms of taxation, which Mr. Hall regarded as "only the thin edge of the wedge," to be increased as time goes on; the question of hydro or radial extension lines, which may mean the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars, with a probable resulting deficit, which may eventually have to be borne by those not directly benefitted by them, was referred to by the speaker.

The humiliating position in which the present premier is placed, by reason of the action of one of his "own employees" (Sir Adam Beck) have practically moved a vote of want of confidence in his "Master's policy," was alluded to and the action of Sir Oliver Mowat in summarily demanding the resignation of one of his officers acting in a similar manner, was cited as an instance of the proper procedure.

Equal Justice.

With regard to the question of education, which will be a matter of discussion at the forthcoming Liberal convention in Toronto, Mr. Hall said: "What we want is equal justice in dealing with all classes of the community. The question I refer to is the question of education throughout the province. It is claimed by the Separate school supporters that they are being deprived of a fair share of the monies to which they are entitled and that even a solemn investigation is practically denied to these supporters. Now, in Ontario, the ground I take is this, that the education of the people and of the youth of this country forms a most important national asset and that we, as a province, are interested in all of the children of the province receiving a fair and proper education, and that it is not in the interests of the province to adopt means of granting money so as to deprive certain sections of a proper education. I do not think that in Peterborough, there is much abuse along this line, but in certain parts of the province great injustice is being done, and this province surely must have a sense of justice and a sense of fairness sufficient to deal with all classes fairly and justly, and to give them their proper due.

"These things will all be dealt with, and should be dealt with in sentiments based upon morality and a high sense of justice and right."

The Delegates.

Mr. Jos. J. Duffus having explained that the delegates to the Liberal convention in Toronto would consist of all the senators in the province, all the members and defeated members, members of Liberal executives in Ontario and four others, to be appointed by each riding in the province, the election was made of, Messrs. R. R. Hall, F. D. Kerr K. C., Joseph Picard and Mrs. Chas. Perry, with alternates, Messrs. Jas. H. McDonald, Wm. Rudkins, George Gladman and Mrs. P. J. Dorris.

G. N. Gordon then named a committee to deal with the question of organizing an active election body, a committee composed of Messrs. Wm Thornton, Joseph Picard, George Ball, F. D. Kerr, Joseph Wearing and William Scollard, with power to add to their numbers.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., here added a word of warning against the feeling that "we are in such a state of Liberal prosperity that we nothing further to do," and the meeting broke up with three cheers for the Hon. Mackenzie King and for G. N. Gordon.

A Resolution.

A motion, put forward by C. R. Banks, seconded by Jas. H. McDonald, and unanimously adopted, was as follows:

"That this convention of the Liberals of the West Riding of Peterborough, assembled, do hereby place on record, our confidence in the Honorable Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, and his Government, and we endorse the announcement that has been made by the Honorable W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, that strenuous efforts will be made to effect economy and to postpone all Government expenditures son urgently needed, until the period of reconstruction is over and business reaches normal conditions again.

'And we further express our complete confidence in Mr. G. N. Gordon, Member for West Peterborough, and his active, vigorous policy of promoting the interests of the riding of West Peterborough and of his support of good government."

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmola Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A case is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat, but can reduce steadily and easily without going through long sieges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet or fear of bad effects.

TORONTO, February 13 (Canadian Press). — The Ontario Legislature opens to-morrow afternoon. It will be the third session of the fifteenth Parliament and the first to be opened by Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt. While holding its impressive features, the ceremony will not be very elaborate. The demand for seats and tickets of admission is said to be greater than at the previous openings.

It is thought that in his speech at Hamilton to-night Premier Drury will touch upon the intended legislation and the attitude of his Government on Hydro-Radials, the eight-hour day and the temperance questions.

ECONOMIC DEADLOCK

Like J. R. Clynes, Labor M.P., of Britain, who is responsible for the origin of most of the ideas expressed herein, I believe a substantial change in an industrial and social system must emerge from the acceptance of new ideas, and the belief in the principles of a new economic order.

I am a strong believer in co-operative action and co-operative organizations would be successful in particular areas, but I do not think they would change the general system of wealth production and distribution. No change can be made that will last until people are sufficiently dissatisfied with things, and are willing to accept the new ideas and believe in them. Threats, terrorism, force can end only in a condition worse than that which it may displace.

Within our present social and industrial system great improvements can be made which would express more just and humane relation between rich and poor. Within our system there could be greater co-operation, a more fair distribution of the products of labor, a better plan of superintendence, the concession to Labor of a share in the control and management of that part of industry which immediately relates to their conditions of employment, hours of labor, and rates of pay. Within the system there could be a substantial minimum remuneration for labor, and a maximum reward for capital, and distribution or investment of any margin left outside the proportions of payment which both labor and capital have agreed to accept.

On the basis of these conditions the general results would depend upon the degree of genuine mutual association for the best return which joint effort could produce.

Needless conflict involves so much waste, and lack of co-operation stimulates such selfishness that the harmful results should not escape anyone. As I write this, I chill to think of the one thing needful to bring these things about. Do we, as a people, possess that quality? If so, are we willing to exercise it? That great spirit of human brotherhood, unselfish Christian spirit in our everyday routine business. We have got to be educated up to and believe in it before any great permanent change can be made. "The idealist is the surest guide for practical men."

No one desires to solve the unemployment problems on lines merely to find work. Work is but the means to an end, and that end is an increase in wealth. All work should be conducted with the conscious and definite object of some enduring benefit to the, worker and the nation. A true foundation can be found in the ideas of patriotic action. I do not mean sham patriotism, shouting for one country without thinking of any other. Real patriotism is unselfish; while expressing a pride in one's own land we recognize the rights of others. Patriotism should not be a war period emotion. During war everything was subordinated to victory. A corresponding patriotism in peace times should produce continued organization and unity to ensure for the country by labor of hand and brain the removal of all the disabilities and sores which poverty and idleness represent.

The appalling losses due to economic countries could have been avoided if the Allies had continued in the years of peace the co-operation or world progress which in war was shown to conquer the enemy. Community well being is rooted in community action, and most sections of the people must have some share of the national outlook, and not merely class outlook.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, speaking at the Reform Club here Saturday afternoon in connection with a speech by Henry Marler, M.P.-elect, for the St. Lawrence division this city, characterized the speaker as a brilliant young man whose career he would watch in the House of Commons," and predicted for him "not only a useful, but a brilliant career."

CHURCH DEBATE ON THE STAGE

Pastor Says Movie Conditions Menace to Public Morality.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Members of the Calvary Baptist church congregation are trying to reach a verdict as to the winner of the three-hour controversy in the church yesterday, between John Roach Stratton their reformer pastor, and William A. Brady, theatrical producer, on whether conditions on the stage are a menace to sound private and public morality.

Brady charged that the church is not the place for such a debate, and that he went to church, not to defend the black sheep, but decent men and women of his profession. At times argument was so acrimonious that the excitement approached a disturbance. Stratton based his charges largely on recent events in the moving picture colony in California.

Understands Murder.

"Facts now prove," he said, "that the price of promotion for many women and girls upon the stage is that they shall surrender their virtue." Then he elaborated: "We can well understand how one of these managers occasionally turns up with a bullet through his brain."

He attacked the Jews, and asked. "Why don't the people of the stage throw off this bondage in which they are held by Jews."

REPORTS A CHANGE

spected local restaurants, and Mr. C. S. Stapleton replied that he had not lately. In past years the Chairman said they had found frozen fish under the tables where the proprietors expectorated, and he thought it advisable to go around with the Sanitary Inspector shortly. Some complaints regarding the restaurants had come to him, he said. The Chinese laundries, he also felt needed inspection, as he believed there was a laxity there in accepting clothes that were refused by other laundries.

Dr. Young reported that Dr. George Clinton, Medical Officer for this district, had suggested the Board secure a fair-sized house for contageous convalescents, as the accommodation at the hospital was limited. The Barnardo Home was mentioned as a possible location, but it was found the Home would not be vacated till March. The Board did not discuss the recommendation at any length.

Set aside in a cool place for an hour or more, then roll and cut into shape. Bake in a moderately hot oven. If desired glossy, brush over each cookie with slightly beaten egg before baking.

MAKE ORANGE PEEL EASILY

To peel an orange easily and to get the skin off in one piece put the orange in front of the fire for three or four minutes. The skin will then come off easily. This method is particularly useful when you wish to fill the peel with jelly. Just cut the peel round in straight line before putting the orange down to warm, and the two cups will be easily removed and preserved in good shape.

JEWTRAW MADE BRILLIANT TRY FOR TITLE WON BY STEINMETZ

Won Both Events at Lake Placid on Saturday, But Steinmetz Showed Total Score of 120 to Jewtraw's 115—Closest Margin on Record of This Sport.

Previous Tie Reconsidered

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—William Steinmetz, the Chicago whirlwind skater, won the title of amateur skating ace of America on Saturday. His total for the three days' meeting of the Lake Placid Diamond Trophy Championship events was 120 points.

Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid, finished in second place with 115 points. He won both events on today's card.

There was much argument last night over the rating of the skaters on the basis of points. When Jewtraw finished the meet so close to Steinmetz, the finish of the one mile race, the first day of the meet was brought up for consideration. In that event Jewtraw and Roy McWhirter of Chicago, were tied for third place and the ten points for the position were divided between them. No comment was made at the time, but yesterday, when Jewtraw drew up so close to Steinmetz, the matter was placed before the skating authorities for reconsideration. They ruled late last night that Steinmetz was the undisputed winner of the title.

Jewtraw's Great Work

Jewtraw's performance yesterday was the outstanding feature of the meet. He entered the third day's events with a chance to win the title if he should take first place in both and Steinmetz was not placed in either. Jewtraw won both bue Steinmetz finished third in the half mile race and won the title by what is said to be the narrowest margin in the history of the sport.

In both races on the card the "Lake Placid Flash" gave a brilliant exhibition of speed, stamina and craft. In the half mile he trailed the field until the last turn when he spurted and finished ahead of Charles Gorman, of St. John, N.B., and Steinmetz, by a safe margin.

An even more brilliant performance featured the three mile race. The ice was soft and the skaters took the early laps at an easy jaunt, waiting for the bell before making the final spurt. When the spurt came, Joe Moore, of New York, and Gorman were out in front. Jewtraw trailed the field to the backstretch and then, with a great burst of speed, finished a yard in the lead. Moore was second and Gorman a close third.

Other Winners

Richard Donovan of St. Paul, won the Silver Cup competition with 120 points. Harry Kasky of Chicago, was second with 50, and Paul Forman and William Murphy of New York, and Valentine Bialis of Lake Placid, were third with 30 points each.

Maurice Cogan, of Cleveland, won the 220 yard race for boys of 16. Earl Finch of Lake Placid, won the 440 yard event for boys of 14. Jack Shea of Lake Placid, the 440 for boys of 12, and Eugene Shea of Lake Placid, the 440 for boys of 10.

How a Shoe Business Was Saved

YOU would know the firm name—it is that of a well-known retail shoe business.

The partnership, which was formed when the store opened, lasted nearly twenty years.

One partner—let us call him Mr. A.—was gifted with exceptional organizing ability. The other (Mr. B.) was not well versed in either organization or finance, but knew enough about shoes to be a wonderful asset to the partnership as buyer.

When A contracted a fatal illness, B was left with no one to assume the duties he had always left to his partner. But fortunately B did have a bulwark against the financial worries consequent upon his partner's taking-off. He had $20,000 in cash—the result of a North American Life Partnership Insurance Policy negotiated by the two merchants some years ago.

The knowledge of that $20,000 fund gave B courage to carry on. It also served to stabilize his credit with his bank and with the trade. Mr. B, moreover, was easily able to pay $5,000 to a competent auditor until he could find a man worthy to assume his late partner's place.

No business is properly safeguarded until every man who is a factor in it is amply "covered" with insurance.

Lay before us the conditions surrounding your business — and we will advise as to the sum required to adequately insure against the inevitable contingency which must some day be faced by those left to carry on a business without the help of a valuable co-worker.

Magnificent Record Achieved by Ontario Equitable

Non-Participating Company Makes Rapid Strides in 1921.

Those who attended the Second Annual Meeting of the Ontario Equitable Life & Accident Insurance Company, at Waterloo, on February 13, heard a Financial Report presented which marked the operations of this Company during 1921 as a unique success among the uniformly successful Canadian Life Companies.

The shareholders who met in February, 1921, were presented with a report of the then six weeks old Company, showing Insurance in Force of $1,053,300 and Assets of $174,985. The story of the unequalled growth during its first full year was outlined by the President, S. C. Tweed, who presided at the Second Annual Meeting.

Financial Report.

The Income for 1921 was $240,387.26 as against Total Disbursements of $187,255.98. Payments on account of Death Claims stood at the remarkably low figure of only $6,500.

During the year Assets increased to $268,047.76. Of this amount $202,643.63 was invested in Dominion (Victory), Provincial and high-grade Municipal Bonds and $5,850 in Mortgages.

The Total Liabilities were $189,664.48, including Policy Reserves of $64,103.

The excess of the Assets over these Liabilities was $180,383.28, which is surplus security to Policyholders. Of this $102,000 is Paid-Up Capital and $78,383.28 the Company's Net Surplus.

The Insurance in Force after deducting all terminations was $7,007,186 as at December 31st, 1921. Including business on the Double Indemnity basis the Grand Total amount to $9,852,566.

The Company invested in only the highest class of securities. Those held had increased in market value by more than $12,000 over cost price. The Company's average interest yield for 1921 was 6.44 per cent.

The volume of 1922 business so far written by the Ontario Equitable was a most satisfactory indication of the strides the Company would continue to make.

Mr. D. S. GORDON, Barrie Bldg., Peterborough, is District Manager for the Company.

A Little Sporting Gossip

Lively as were the City League battles last week, the double-header on Wednesday evening should produce even more exciting hockey, for the race has got to the stage when one of the teams is facing extinction altogether and the others have to watch their step to have a chance in the second section. The Wm. Hamilton and Lakeview teams meet in the first game, and it is a case of do or die with the former. If they lose on Wednesday night, last year's champs are out of the running for the season. A loss for the Lakeviews will knock the Red Shirts out of the second half race, but they will, of course, still figure in the final play-off because of winning the first section. In the second game the two winners of last week, the C.G.E. Tool Room and the Bankers, clash. The winner goes out in front in the second section, and is sure of a play-off for the section honours, so that the game will be full of pep all the way.

The skating championships at Brock Street Rink to-morrow evening promise to provide some good sport, not only for the competitors, but for the spectators as well. It is the first meet of the kind held here in years, and should attract a big crowd.

They may talk about the old-time sporting spirit being dead, but once in a while there is a flash that shows that even yet the spark still lives. Clayton Ridpath, the Lakefield boy who plays on the Peterborough Collegiate hockey team, furnished a proof of this fact on Saturday. He had gone home on Friday, intending to motor in at noon on Saturday to take part in the game with Belleville High School. Something went wrong with the transportation arrangements, and at noon Ridpath found himself faced with the alternative of missing the game or of negotiating the ten miles of slush-covered roads on foot. He elected the latter course, and at five minutes after twelve started out to run to Peterborough. He was here at 1.40, and a little after two found him in uniform at Brock Street Rink, turning in a good game for Collegiate against the Quinte crew. You can't beat that spirit.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"All we want is hard ice at Belleville." —Ernie Legon.

All clubs or firms interested in the formation of an Indoor Bal League are asked to get in touch with Walter Smaill, who has secured good quarters, and expects a banner league. Clubs are asked to leave the names of their teams' representatives and the 'phone number of the latter at the P.A.A.A. office at the Y.M.C.A.

Most local fans who have been following the fortunes of the Aura Lee team with considerable interest since Dick Carroll's team played here, are regretting the defeat of the Aura Lee outfit at th hands of the Granites on aSturday. However, the osers are sure of a play-off in any event.

Little time should be lost in clearing up the baseball situation. The date of the annual meeting of the Central Ontario League is only a few weeks away, and before that time the local club should be organised and ready.

To-day's Happy Thought:

It is nice of the Weather Man to provide good ice for the teams still in the running.

Peterborough Collegiate Win From Belleville Team

Have a Lead of One Goal in Inter-scholastic Semi-finals—A Hard Fought Game Sees Peterboro in Front by 3 to 2.

The Peterborough Collegiate have a lead of one goal to take with them to Belleville in the second game of the Inter-scholastic semi-finals. On Saturday at Brock street rink, the local Collegians triumphed over Belleville High school on ice that was so sugary and soft that skating was a matter of labour and stick-handling nearly an impossibility, by a score of 3 goals to 2. Outside of the first period when Belleville scored the only goal, the Central Park crew had considerably the better of the argument and they were unlucky not to have a bigegr lead in view of the fact that they were almost constantly on the aggressive, especially in the last twenty minutes.

Ernie Legon was the star of the winners, and the best boy on the ice. He never stopped trying and his dodging rushes even on the heavy going were a constant source of danger to the visitors. His dash for the counter that put Peterborough ahead in the second period was the best effort of the day. Gilchrist on the defence was prominent all the way, doing some real nice stick-handling in his raids down the rink, while Ridpath was a very useful forward.

For Belleville, Curry the goaler, proved himself a cool and clever net guardian, and Hurley on the defence, uncorked some dangerous rushes. There was a lot of speed on the forward line, but the close checking of the Petes kept the visitors in check. Belleville got the only goal of the first period and it was a lucky one. Strachan went down the side and took a golf swipe at the rubber from well out. Stacey stopped the shot, but before he could clear Strachan followed in and batted the rubber into the net. Peterborough tried hard to even up but could not beat Curry, who saved what looked to be a sure goal when Gilchrist stick-handled through the defence for a close-in shot.

Early in the second period Pogue evened the counter by a drive from the boards that fooled Currie. The Petes lost several other good chances and finally Legon broke away from in front of his own nets, eluded the Belleville forwards and swept down the ice to whip a vicious shot past Currie for the goal that put the local Collegiate in front. Belleville were rarely dangerous in this period and it was tough luck when, just before the session ended, Merriam took a pass m front of the nets and shot the equalizing goal out of Stacey's reach. That left it 2-2 at the close of the second.

Ridpath took a pass from the corner and registered the winning goal before the last period was long under way. The locals pressed all through, but try as they might they could not get another counter past Curry, although they threatened a dozen times.

The return game will be played at Belleville Saturday.

The teams:—

Peterborough: Goal, Stacey; defence, Gilchrist, Ridpath; centre, Legon; right wing, Pogue; left wing, Chew. Subs, Henry, Maniece.

Referee—Walter Smaill.

QUEEN CITY FIVE WIN L.O.B.A. GAME

Good Shooting by Visitors Brought Victory Over Local Girls.

Good team work and accurate shooting gave the Toronto team a 35 to 5 victory in an I.O.B.A. game with the Peterborough ladies' five at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night. The visitors won their game at home a week ago by 30 to 11.

The Queen City basketes had the game well in hand at all times, and led at half-time with the count at 24 to 2. Miss R. Grosse, who did much of the scoring for the visitors, found the basket for six field goals in this period.

The Peterborough girls did better in the second period. They were unfortunate in their shooting, the ball playing all sorts of pranks on the iron rim of the basket. Miss B. Pidgeon got the only field goal for the Petes.

The Toronto ladies have the benefit of several years' experience in basketball, and all the members of the team are keen athletes. Miss Conacher, who played centre, is a sister of Lionel Conacher, the Aura Lee hockey star, and Miss C. Hennessy is a sister of "Duke" Hennessy, catcher for Hillcrests, Ontario amateur baseball champions.

The teams:

Toronto—R.F., Miss R. Grosse; l.f., Miss L. Reid; centre, Miss G. Conacher; r.g., Miss C. Hennessy; l.g., Miss M. Bain; spares, Miss J. Allan, Miss D. Smack, and Miss A. Gibb.

HAMILTON'S MUST WIN THIS CONTEST

Keen Games Promised in Midweek Bill in City Hockey League.

The Wm. Hamilton A. A., City Hockey League champions, must win their game with Lakeviews next Wednesday night in order to stay in the race. The champs won two out of three starts in the first half, losing to Lakeviews after a lively battle. The two teams will be at full strength for their second meeting, and the game will be a hummer. It comes first on the mid-week card.

Look out for thrills in the second game, which brings the fast-travelling Bankers against the C.G.E. Toolroom. Many fans concede the financiers a fine chance for the honours of the second half, following their showing against Lakeviews last week.

ALGONQUINS WIN AT INDOOR BASEBALL

AT THE CAPITOL.

To-day the Capitol Offers the Big 9-Reel De Mille Production, Saturday Night, and the Balance of an excellent and well-selected programme of Short Reel Pictures at the Usual Capitol Prices.

Many people wonder how it's possible to offer the Peterobrough public the splendid big picture productions seen last week at the Capitol, The Little Minister and Three Live Ghosts, and throw in for good measure a fine programme of the best in comedies and short reel pictures and the best orchestra in the city, and at a price of admission away below any first class theatre in Toronto or any other city. But the fact remains they are doing just that thing and have been for many months past. The record crowds of last week is the very best proof in the world that the efforts of the Capitol management is being fully appreciated by the theatre-going public of this city. To-night another of the big Cecil De Mille 9-reel special productions will be offered at just the usual prices. Saturday Night is the name of this big production and it should do capacity at every performance. A short resume of the story follows:

Nothing in years has so astounded New York society as the marriage last Saturday of Richard Prentiss, heir to the Prentiss millions, to the daughter of a washerwoman—Shamrock O'Day. The sudden wedding is all the more surprising in view of the fact that only a few days ago Mr. Prentiss's engagement to Iris van Suydam was formally announced.

'It is simply a case of real love breaking class barriers," said Mr. Prentiss when questioned this morning. "Shamrock is the girl of my dreams. What matter if she lacks superficial culture? That is not half so important as genuine womanly worth. I am sure we will be very happy."

Mr. Prentiss's mother and sister could not be seen this morning, and it is reported they are greatly broken up over the affair.

The marriage, it is said, is the culmination of a secret romance which began some months ago, when the former Miss O'Day met the young millionaire as she was delivering a basket of laundry to his home. Since that time, although he was engaged to Miss van Suydam, Mr. Prentiss has been seeing the young woman continually.

Both Mr. Prentiss and his bride are under en agement to appear at the Capitol to-day, when Cecil B. De Mill's latest Paramount picture production of "Saturday Night" will be the bill. It is hinted in exclusive quarters that they take part in the production, but in what capacity will not be revealed until the picture is shown. Manager Abbey refused to discuss the matter when questioned regarding the matter. He admitted however, that all the facts will be made public before next Saturday night.

WALTER SCANLON,
Who will be at the Grand Saturday, Feb. 18th, Matinee and Evening.

AT THE GRAND.

With the performance of "Stop Thief" in which the popular, Rex Stock Co., open their 24th and final week in Peterbbro' the patrons of this clever company will have a chance to see one of the very best comedies in recent years.

It is entirely different from anything yet attempted by Rex and his Co., and is a guaranteed cure for the blues, as no doubt there will be quite a number feeling that way at the thought of losing this, the most popular Stock Company that has ever played Peterboro' and one which has broken all records for long runs in the city

However we can all look forward to seeing the company again next season for a short run, but to show our appreciation for what Rex has done for the theatregoer here, everybody should try and attend one of these three farewell performances, which will show him that we will be looking forward to his return next year.

The comedy of "Stop Thief" is one of George Cohen big successes, and a typical Rex comedy, and we will all know what that means.

Remember this is the last week of the popular REX STOCK CO., in Peterboro, for over a year; make a special effort to be at the Grand tnight, Tuesday or Wednesday to say "Au revoir".

NEW SCANLAN COMEDY

A play that will appeal to all classes of theatregoers with never a suggestive line or situation, is demanded by Geo. M. Gatts, the producer and manager of Walter Scanlan, the popular singing star, of all playwrights who offer a manuscript intended for his use. This season's offering for his second annual starring tour which comes to the Grand theatre, matinee and night Saturday Feb. 18th., is just that type and is the work of Edward F. Rose; the American dramatist. It is a romantic comedy in three acts with the scenes laid on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean—Galway and New York. The principal scenic feature is a storm at sea. Revolving scenery, wind, rain, waves beating against the shore, with shipwrecked vessel in the offing is a new patented invention of the producer, Mr. Geo. M. Gatts, of course. Mr. Scanlan's new songs, seven in number will be the principal drawing cards the titles are. "Mavourneen", "My Galway Rose", "The Road to My Love", "Judy", "An Irish Song will live as long as life and love shall last" and "Kathleen". An excellent company appears in support of Mr. Scanlan, including: Mr. Chas. W. Dingle, Mr. Bennett. R. Finn, Mr. Pacie Ripple, Mr. Clay Cody, Mr. Albert West, Miss Frederica Going, Miss Olive Meehan and Miss Lyda Kane.

WONDERFUL SCENE FILMED

Those in "Buried Treasure" Reported to be Magnificent

Director George D. Baker, after he had finished making the Cosmopolitan picture, "Buried Treasure", starring Marion Davies, which comes to the Regent Theatre to-day, asserts that the scenes taken for this production in Topango canyon, California, against a backgrounds of peaks, outrank anything of the kind yet done in films.

The setting demanded by the script was a Seventeenth century castle in Spain. Mr. Baker says, that when he and Joseph Urban, the famous scenic artist, came on this particular bit of territory in their quest for a site, they saw its rich possibilities but were shy of its wildness. However, the Urban eye cut its way through the growth of centuries and with the help of three Moorish arches and a balustrade he created his effect.

Among the scenes in the picture, is a farewell betwen Marion Davies, the heroine, and her father, the part played by Anders Randoff. This scene, it is said, is a screen classic.

GOSPEL HALL NOTES.
Mr. Chas. Inglis was heard three times yesterday, first at the Gospel Hall in the morning and Bethany Tabernacle in the afternoon to Christians, then in the Regent Theatre at seven, when he preached the gospel as seldom it is proclaimed. He is a preacher of the Moody type, full of illustration and powerful in denunciation of sin. Tonight he will speak in the Gospel Hall on scenes I have witnessed in condemned cells. Mr. Inglis will return the last of August of August to hold a six weeks' campaign in Toronto. A tent seating fifteen hundred is being provided. It is hoped he may return to Peterborough also.

IS WAR THREATENED IF TREATY IS REJECTED?

Such is Question Between Collins and Lyons on Irish Situation.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Mr. Collins' cabling in reply to a message from Thos. Lyons secretary of the American Association, a Dublin dispatch says. Mr. Lyons asked elucidation of statements made in a previous message from Collins and concluded: "Do you deny that England threaten war if the treaty is rejected. If so can you obtain confirmation from the English Government."
Mr. Collins' reply stated "you know well that the alternative to the treaty sooner or later is reversion to war conditions. That is the issue I want the people to decide. If they decide for war, none of you need doubt where I shall stand. Meanwhile do not torpedo us. I warn you not to assist or countenance a cuop d' etat being planned against the new government, as witness the affair at Cork, where departing British police had their arms seized by De Valera's supporters. The only object of such action can be to destroy the Provisional Government and hamper the evacuation of British forces. I refer you also to Valera's statements of yesterday which make it perfectly clear that we are regarded as greater enemies than the British Government. Plainly do you stand for that or do you not? Let us all be frank and candid and see exactly where different policies are landing us".

Nine Baronesses and 30 Countesses Also Apply for Secretary's Place

GENEVA, Feb. 13. — An indication of the straits in which many European noblewomen find themselves, following the war is given in the experience of the American wife of a Geneva banker who advertised recently in a Munich paper for an educated woman secretary with a good knowledge of languages.
The banker's wife offered a salary of 300 Swiss francs monthly in addition to a comfortable home. Thus far she has received more than 1000 replies from all parts of Germany and Austria.
The applicants include three princesses, nine baronesses and 30 countesses, but the majority are widows or daughters of former high officials. Most of the letters relate pathetic stories and many of the applicants want no salary but a comfortable home.

TRADE OPTIMISM IN AUSTRALIA.

Keynote of Review of Existing Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. — (By Canadian Press.)—Optimism in regard to Australia's commercial future is the keynote of a review of trade conditions in the Commonwealth which has just been received from A. W. Ferris, U. S. Trade Commissioner at Melbourne. While Australia had an adverse trade balance in the first half of 1921. Mr. Ferris predicts that the figures for the second half of the year, when available, will show a favorable balance. The report says in part:
"Few countries, if any, have shown in the past year a more marked recovery in economic conditions than Australia which entered 1921 under clouds so dense that in an early month no less a personage than the Australian chairman of the British-Australian Wool Realization Committee issued a manifesto predicting almost inevitable industrial ruin. The excess of imports over exports during the latter part of 1920 had resulted in so serious a depletion of Australian bank balances abroad that oversea remittances had become all but impossible; wool seemed to have no market with vast accumulations in store; the mining industry was almost defunct; trade in meat, hides, and allied products was at a standstill; overstocks of import merchandise in wholesale hands, especially drygoods and metal products, purchased at high prices, were so large as to threaten the stability of important houses, and bank overdrafts were abnormal.

Resources Great

"But the natural resources of Australia are so great and varied that, except in the rare years of universal drought, one or more industries are almost certain to offset the failure of others. The savior of 1921 was wheat. At the moment when the financial stringency, largely in the element of foreign balances, was at its worst, wheat began to move freely abroad, at good prices, the 1920-21 crop having been exceptionally good (145,000,000 bushels, of which 100,000,000 was surplus), and by March, sales of wheat in London aided by a decrease in imports, had so far restored the financial equilibrium that the banks not only removed most of their restrictions on remittances but began to cease urgent demands for reduction of overdrafts. The heavy flow of imports, on orders six months old or older, continued through March, but at the end of April the effect of the restrictions instituted in about October, 1920, had curbed it, and from that time exports, though still low, exceeded imports.
"While the adverse balance of trade had been 26,200,000 pounds during the last half of 1920, it was only 5,200,000 during the first half of 1921, and it is probable that the last half of 1921 will give a favorable balance of trade to the extent of about 10,000,000 pounds.
"About the time the outgo of wheat began to slacken, trade in wool revived, and both sales and prices increased so rapidly that before November 1 the entire 1920-21 clip had been disposed of at fair average prices, a feat which four months previous had been considered beyond the possibilities. Besides the sale of new wool, the British Australia Wool Realization Association had largely reduced the stock of carryover wool.
"As the year progressed, rain, Australia's greatest requirement, fell everywhere. Agricultural crops flourished beyond recent records and continued luxuriant to harvest time. The wheat crop is likely to reach 150,000,000 bushels. The pastoral districts profit equally by the rain, and rich and abundant feed for sheep is responsible for an increase of probably a pound a head in the yield of fleece, as well as better quality of wool than that of 1920-1921.

Trade Balance

The restoration of the trade balance has so improved the commercial condition that overloaded wholesalers have very materially reduced their stocks, the largest houses have paid off enough of their obligations to the banks to guarantee themselves against forced and disastrous liquidation, and the banks showing a considerable excess of deposits over loans are now able to grant new credits with increasing freedom.
"The picture is not, however, all bathed in sunshine. Australia, though protected by distance from many of the ills which other countries have been exposed and blessed this year exceptionally by nature, has not escaped and cannot escape all the aftermath of war. The price of its exportable wheat, probably 110,000,000 bushels, will possibly be not over half that realized for the 1920-21 crop; its meats have no present market, nor have its metals, and many of its other staple exports are depressed by world conditions over which Australia has no control. Its labor troubles are only beginning, workers so far having shown themselves decidedly indisposed to restoration of competitive conditions in wages and hours, though the cost of living has for months been steadily declining. Its public debt, both Commonwealth and State (aggregating over 3,000,000,000 dollars) has seriously increased during the year, and its financial officials have not yet been able to reduce their projected expenditure to within limits of expected income.
"Still the 'net' of the situation is in Australia's favor. The country can cope with its purely domestic problems, and any improvement in world conditions which will expand the demand for raw products in which the country is so rich will react immediately to its advantage. The outlook, all things considered, is for gradual but steady increase in Australia's domestic and foreign commerce."

MILLION AND MORE SPENT ON RELIEF.

Demands Increasingly Heavy in Alberta.

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 12. — (Canadian Press.)— More than $1,000,000 has already been spent, or will be spent, by the provincial government in relief work, according to Hon. Alex. Ross, minister of public works, and demands for the extension of relief to many districts in the province are becoming increasingly heavy and insistent. Much of the expenditure is for construction work of various kinds being done by the government aside from any share the government may pay of the cost of relief work done by municipalities.
A new problem has to be dealt with in regard to the cost of relief in unorganized territory, which includes several of the large coal camps in Alberta. At present the provincial government has to bear the entire cost of such relief work, but an effort will be made to have the Federal government pay a share of this burden.
A $100,000 has been spent in keeping the schools in certain districts of Southern Alberta where conditions were such that the school districts themselves could not finance them.
More than 500 families in the southern districts of the province have received relief from the department of agriculture, supplies for the first half of January totalling $16,000.

DEATH TOLL IS MOUNTING IN IRELAND

Grim Work Continues in Disturbed Sections of Belfast--A Plot is Disclosed.

FIFTY WOUNDED

BELFAST, Feb. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—Vipers continued their grim work in disturbed sections to-day, and by noon the death toll since Saturday reached eighteen, by the death of two men who fell victims of stray bullets in the street at noon hour. The number of wounded reached a total of fifty.

Shooting broke out again this morning in the North Howard Street area, but no casualties have been reported. Four of the children who were wounded in yesterday's bomb attack in Weaver street, died during the night. Twenty-two persons were wounded by missiles. Deaths since Saturday now total sixteen.

William Waring, caretaker of Orange headquarters on Clifton street, was shot in the neck this morning and is in a critical condition. Shops on North Queen street suspended business to-day.

NEAR STATE OF WAR.

LONDON, Feb. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Michael Collins' dramatic disclosure of an alleged Republican plot to overthrow the Provisional Government, sudden and unexpained suspension of British military evacuation, and dangerous tension between North and South have combined to produce a sensational situation in Ireland. The outcome no one here ventures to forecast more definitely than by speculating on dreaded possibilites, but despatches show that position on the frontier is not far removed from a state of war.

AWAIT UNEXPECTED IN TAYLOR CASE.

District Attorney Admits No Clue to Slayer of Movie Director.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14. — Canadian Press. — The investigation of the slaying of William Desmond Taylor, the motion picture director, reached a stage on Monday described by the officials as "waiting for the unexpected."

It is admitted that no progress has been made toward establishing who fired the shot which killed the director in his home on February 1.

The only action taken at the District Attorney's office, where the inquiry has been centralized, was the interviewing late to-day of a young woman who called with a request that she might see some of the investigators. She left about 15 minutes later, having been taken to the office of District Attorney Woolwine. She declined to give her name.

Persons who saw her said that she was no one connected with the motion picture industry.

The District Attorney said to-day that he had checked up on countless clues which had been brought to his attention but without definite results.

SWEET SIXTEEN MARRIED 72-YEAR-OLD SPANIARD

Eight Persons Wounded When Charivari of Villagers Was Resented.

VIGO, Spain, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Eight persons were wounded today, two of them seriously, as a result of a protest by the villagers of Bora against the marriage of seventy-year-old Juan Tenorio Cortegosa, with a 16-year-old girl. The villagers serenaded Cortegosa with kitchen utensils, whereupon the bridegroom, with his relatives and servants attacked the protesters with sticks. To this the villagers replied with revolvers, and knives. Cortegosa and a brother of the bride were seriously wounded.

THREATEN TO LYNCH JUDGE

Ku Klux Klan Parade the Streets with County Attorney in Their Midst.

OKMULGEE, Okla., Feb. 14. M Petitions requesting that a new grand jury be called to replace one discharged by Superior Judge H. R. Christopher on the ground that it was illegally drawn, and delve into the affairs of a defunct bank of Okmulgee, were being checked by officials here to determine whether they carried the signatures of the required number of legal voters.

The petitions were filed after a mass meeting at which th action of Judge Christopher in discharging the grand jury was denounced and his immediate resignation demanded. The meeting followed a demonstration in superior court where spectators applauded an attack upon the decision by James Hepburn, county attorney, and some spectators shouted "Take him out and hang him," referring to the judge.

Ku Klux Klan Figures.

Hepburn was silent and declined to comment upon a demonstration when 300 Ku Klux Klansmen paraded through the streets with him in their midst. A large banner warning officials to do their duty or leave was borne in the procession after which six of the hooded figures conducted Mr. Hepburn to a street corner, motioned the huge crowd to gather closely and then directed the county attorney to make an address. Hepburn told the crowd that all the laws must be enforced and deplored the court room incidents.

The arrival of George R. Short, attorney general, sent here by Governor Robertson to investigate the banking situation, and a meeting of the local bar association to-night to discuss Judge Christopher's action were other elements which added to the air of expectancy pervading this little oil town to-day.

Judge is Praised.

Gov. Robertson in a statement issued in Oklahoma City praised Judge Christopher for dissolving the grand jury.

"The jury,' said he, "was more concerned in an attempt to ruin certain public men who differ politically from a majority of the members of the jury, and in an attempt to immunize others who were liable to criminal prosecutions in connection with recent bank failures in that county, than it was in straightening out of the tangled affairs of the failed banks in a manner that would protect the interests of the depositors."

ANOTHER SHIP LOST TO NEWFOUNDLAND.

Schooner Abandoned at Sea Was Crippled By a Storm.

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., Feb. 14. — Canadian Press. — Adding one more to the long list of losses to the Newfoundland fleet, the schoner Norma Strong was reported to-day abandoned at sea. Her crew landed safely at the Azores.

The vessel, which had crossed the Atlantic with a cargo of fish, was returning from Cadiz with salt when a storm crippled her. The schooner, Czarina, another unit of the Newfoundland fleet, was also reported to be dismantled in mid-ocean, and making for Bermuda.

The coastal steamer Prospero, caught in the ice in Notre Dame Bay during a storm several weeks ago, is still fast in the ice. In order to escape from the vessel the stewards and several other members of the crew picked their way over the ice to the shore, a distance of 20 miles, and followed the coast to St. John's.

DEPRESSING CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND

Mr. G. A. Gillespie Has Returned From a Business Trip to England and France--Election Likely

BUSINESS IS DULL

That Europe's chaotic business conditions are traceable to a great extent to national and political differences is the conviction of Mr. G. A. Gillespie, president and managing director of the Peterborough Milk Products Co., who yesterday returned from four weeks spent in England and in France. The situation, he declared, was not any rosier than press despatches would lead one to believe, but if misunderstandings between the countries could be wiped out, the exchange situation would right itself, in his opinion, and in time business would again emerge into the sunlight.

Mr. Gillespie found conditions in England and in France much the same, generally sneaking. France needs goods more than England, but has no money with which to buy them. The warehouses in the Old Country are already full, so the market there is very dull. The only glimmer of hope business men in both countries hold out is in the Genoa Conference settling once and for all international differences and leave the way open for unhampered trade and commerce.

In the business world Mr. Gillespie said disarmament has received approval, and public opinion favors drastic reductions in naval expenditure. There is a misunderstanding with France that is not helping to induce better trade relations, he said, and feeling on both sides is bitter in some quarters. Germany, from what Mr. Gillespie could learn, is in as desperate business straits as the other countries. She is attempting to live within herself, and is not succeeding. Unless one has definite business, it is impossible to cross the Rhine, Mr. Gillespie declared. Germany does not want transient visitors, and a bitter enmity against the French nation is not concealed, according to talk in France.

Few Travelling.

Mr. Gillespie spent three weeks in England and one week in France. The depressing conditions are reflected in the slim theatre crowds and empty tables in the restaurants, Mr. Gillespie stated, and a considerable falling off in the hotel business was noticed since his last trip one year ago. Not many people are travelling, and crowded railway coaches and steamships are the exception. The same effects of trade depression were noticeable in France but to a lesser degree, he said. Parisian theatres and restaurants are not doing the business they were. In both England and France waiters lament a great falling off in "tips."

Mr. Gillespie had an adventurous trip home on the White Star liner Baltic. The boat was several days overdue, on account of rough seas, the passage taking twelve days. Unusually rough weather is being experienced this winter, mariners stated, although the crossing in January, Mr. Gillespie said, was made in calm weather. In going to England he had a passage in the palatial Olympic.

Mild Weather.

While the ocean behaved badly, the weather was quite balmy, and in England it was quite mild, although there had been some sharp weather and severe fogs. During his stay in the Old Country, Mr. Gillespie obtained a half-hour's interview with Sir Thomas Lipton. When Mr. Gillespie referred to a motto he had hung behind his desk, "There is no play like work," on which his business success is possibly based, he insisted on presenting the President of the Peterborough Milk Products with one. The motto is particularly valued by Mr. Gillespie, and will be hung in his office.

From his observances while overseas, Mr. Gillespie believed a general election would take place soon in the Old Country. The Lloyd George administration has lost support, although its head is no less a popular idol. The English people are earnestly praying for an early final settlemnet of the Irish question, and peace is the only desire of all classes. While Unionism is not what it was, Socialism is regarded as dangerous.

Life seems to be made up of ardent desires and vain regrets.

'V.-V' Love Nest Was Bare; He Forget to Feather It

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—Being a novice in matrimony, Anastase Andrievitch Vonsiatskoy-Vonsiatsky believed all love nests came ready feathered whereas, in fact, you have to feather 'em yourself.

Owing to this misconception, the young Russian nobleman, soldier, cafe dancer and chemist has had to take his bride, formerly Mrs. Marian Ream Stephens, heiress to millions, away from the cottage he bought for their home in Ridley Park, near here, and find quarters in the Hotel Normandie. There they are staying until the men from the stores bring in some chairs and tables and such trifles to make their home more home-like.

And six days after their marriage the famous couple are still being pursued by squads of photographers and curious flappers, ranging in age from 16 to 60. Their honeymoon is still a flight from crowds, a series of escapes through servants' entrances of hotels.

The waiter who served their breakfast in the Normandie said they were so alarmed at his knock that when he entered he observed Mrs. "V. V" hiding behind the bed and couldn't see Mr. "V. V" at all until a clothes closet opened and the young man stepped out, explaining that they weren't sure but that a photographer was hiding in the hall, ready to blow a flash-bomb.

And, adding to their annoyance, came a report that during their overnight absence from the love cottage a thief smashed a window and entered. All he took was the key to the back door and the shine off the fresh-varnished floors, there being nothing else to steal.

RUM SEIZED UNLAWFULLY

Woman Charges Police Broke Down Doors, Drank Case of Whisky and Stole Cigars.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Colonel Herbert G. Catrow, for six weeks Assistant Federal Prohibition Director for this State, under Ralph A. Day, the Director, was a volunteer witness before the Federal Grand Jury conducting a "John Doe" inquiry into the issuing of four permits from Director Day's office on December 24 last, for the withdrawal of 1,000 cases of whisky by a drug concern. The liquor was withdrawn from the warehouse of the Hill and Hill Distillery Company, which had offices in the building at 49 West Twenty-seventh Street, which housed prohibition headuarters at that time.

The split between Director Day and his assistant, Colonel Catrow, occurred soon after the discovery by one of Chief Yellowley's general agents that the whisky had been withdrawn. This agent was offered 100 cases of the liquor, it is understood, at an attractive price.

A few days later Director Day issued a statement that Colonel Catrow had resigned because his work of reorganizing the department had been completed. Colonel Catrow declared that he had not resigned and told of the issuance of the permits for the 1,000 cases of whisky. He added that Director Day was present at the time.

Director Day is alleged to have made some statement that Colonel Catrow considered reflected upon his character and he instituted a suit for $100,000 for slander. The suit, Director Day said yesterday, has only a "nuisance value."

It was learned that Director Day appeared as a volunteer witness before the Grand Jury Thursday afternoon, to tell what he knew concerning the four withdrawal permits.

Court Orders Liquor Returned.

On the ground that a search warrant for the seizure of liquor on the premises occupied by Sebastian Jannotta, at 2,051 Pitkin Avenue, Brooklyn, was not taken by the police. Judge J. Grattan MacMahon, in the Kings County Court yesterday, issued an order directing the return of the property. The raid took place on April 11, 1921.

In an affidavit, Mrs. Margaret Lopardo, a widow, daughter of Jannotta, alleged that on the day of the raid she returned from work and found seven or eight policemen in her father's place. She stated that they had broken holes in the floor and battered down doors.

"These officers," alleged Mrs. Lopardo, "disposed of a full case of whisky, composed of twelve quart bottles. They were all of them more or less intoxicated. They compelled my father to drink whisky until they got him drunk. They compelled my mother to serve them eatables.

"They opened the cigar case and took out boxes of cigars and every person that came in or stopped they offered free cigars to and said there was no charge for anything that day and everything was free. It was an outrageous affair."

Jannott, in a separate affidavit, corroborated the charges of his daughter. He stated that he was 52 years old and had been a citizen of this country for twenty-six years.

One thousand cases of whisky seized from Vincent Delacio by E. C. Yellowley, when he was Acting Director, were returned to the owner in an order signed Thursday by Federal Judge Mack.

Indict Policeman For Extortion.

It was reported that the Bronx Grand Jury had returned an indictment against a former member of the staff of Police Inspector Dominick Henry of the Sixth Inspection District, charging extortion. Before returning the indictment, the Grand Jury, it is understood, heard the testimony by Otto Hartman, a saloon keeper of 166th Street and Teller Avenue, and his bartender Daniel Kelley. It was understood that the patrolman has not yet been arrested.

Federal Judge Hand denied motions to restrain Collector of Customs Aldrich and Federal Prohibition Director Day from taking any action concerning 4,186 cases of imported whisky and wines worth $250,000, seized on January 25 last.

HEALTH BOARD ISSUE DECREE

Beauty Cultivators Subject to New Regulations --A Radical Step.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.— Beauty cultivators, manicures, barbers and hair-dresser- will be compelled to take out permits from the Health Department here after and to comply with drastic regulations, it was announced here by Frank J. Monaghan, Deputy Health Commissioner.

Beauty shops are regulated in minute detail. Not more than one client may be painted, stencilled enamelled or etched by the same set of appliances. The beauty shop artists who paint portraits on faces are compelled to wear a prescribed uniform and to comply with many other regulations. Each set of apparatus by which a complexion is assembled or taken down may be used but once, and then discarded.

"This is the first time", said Dr. Monaghan, "that such a radical step has been taken by the Health Department of any city The opportunities for transmitting diseases by the instruments used in barber shops and similar establishments is recognized in the medical profession as a subject that requires official supervision by the public health authorities.

"All brushes, combs, razors clippers, scissors and all massage and scalp appliances must be thoroughly cleaned and sterilized after each separate use. Individual towels must be provided for each customer and when these towels are laundered they should be washed in water of at least 200 degrees temperatur. Head rests of all reclining chairs must be covered with a clean towel or clean paper. Stick astringents, powder puffs, sponges and neck dusters are prohibited. One piece of soap must not be used for more than one person and individual finger bowls and shaving cups must be provided."

Chief Inspector Walsh said that the proprietors of these places would have given a reasonable time in which to make application for permits, and that before a permit was granted the department would make a thorough investigation. He said that in some instances it had been found that some of the largest barber shops in the city were not complying with the present regulations.

FRUSTRATED KIDNAPPERS IN RICHMOND, QUE.

RICHMOND, Que., February 14 (Canadian Press). — A bold attempt to kidnap Mr. Gruenwald, who is living with his nephew, Mr. Paul R. Krasel, Upper Melbourne, upset the calm and quiet of the village last week. Mr. Krasel was in Montreal, and Mrs. Krasel was summoned to appear there in connection with the estate of Mr. Gruenwald. During their absence two men, who refused to give their names, appeared and demanded the person of Mr. Gruenwald. The presence of mind of one of the neighbours frustrated the attempt, which is one of the most barefaced things that has ever happened in this district.

A PETERBORO GIRL HEARD IN THE CASE

Husband Sues Toronto Man for Loss of Wife's Affections--Gets Judgment.

UNUSUAL CASE

TORONTO, Feb. 14.— A kind of law action very seldom tried in Toronto courts was heard by Mr. Justice Riddell and a jury in the Assize Court yesterday. This was a case in which a husband sued for damages for the alienation of his wife's affections.

The plaintiff was Miltos Marangos, a Greek Cook, who accused Horace S. Harold, a grocer, of stealing the affections of his wife, Mamie, a Canadian girl. He claimed damages of $10,000.

After hearing the evidence the jury found that the defendant was guilty of alienation, and that the plaintiff had suffered damages to the extent of $2,000. On receiving the verdict Mr. Justice Riddell expressed the opinion that it was a reasonable one, and he directed judgment to be entered for that amount.

On the witness stand, Marangos stated that he had married his wife in Peterborough in 1912 and had at first lived happily with her.

"But last February," he said, "my missus started going out in a car with this man Harold." He added that on several occasions he had seen his wife in company with the defendant.

Under cross-examination by T. Herbert Lennox, K.C., Marangos stated that last August he had learned this man's name, occupation and address but had made no efforts to go to see him although later he had taken the case up in the juvenile court.

Mother's Evidence.

The aged mother of Mrs. Marangos stated that her daughter and her son-in-law had at first lived together on the best of terms. But last summer Harold started going with her daughter. On one occasion he had come to the apartment and Mrs. Marangos had asked her mother to mind one of the young children while she went out with Harold. This the witness had declined to do, but despite the fact her daughter had gone out. Witness added that on another occasion she had warned Harold off the property. Despite the trouble which had arisen, she stated that her daughter was still very fond of her children.

The old lady then broke down, and dabbing at her eyes, started weeping quietly. "There, there," said the learned judge, leaning down from the bench and patting her on the shoulder in a fatherly manner. "This must all have been a great trouble and worry for you."

When finally the witness pulled herself together and the cross-examination proceeded, the girl's mother stated that she had only seen Harold twice although her daughter had often been absent from her home for several hours perhaps two or three times a week.

Harold a Married Man.

The defendant in the case, Horace S. Harold, on being called to the stand, stated that he was a married man but was separated from his wife. His business was that of conducting a grocery store.

Questioned by Mr. Lennox he said that he had not seen Mrs. Marangos since last August. He added that his auto had never been out of the garage since last October. The first time he had seen Mrs. Marangos was on one occasion when he was visiting one of his brothers who lived in the same building on Queen street as did the Marangos. The only occasion, on which Mrs. Marangos had ever been in his auto was one day during the street car strike when he was running a jitney service.

Judge Riddell: "Did she pay you for the trip?" "No, she was only taking a ride."

He denied that Mrs. Marangos had been with him on the day when her husband had thought he saw her in

GERMAN POLICE DOGS TO HELP "RUM HOUNDS"

Prohibition Director Introduces Keener Sniffing Faculties Into the Game.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Use of sharp-nosed German police dogs as liquor sleuths to run down moonshiners, was recommended today to Commissioner Haynes by Emmett H. McClenahan, Federal Prohibition Director of Colorado.

"With such a dog", Mr. McClenahan said, "Stills may be scented half a mile away."

STARDOM? RATHER BE A TEACHER

MADELINE HART

ANN HARBOR, Mich. Feb. 14.—Madeline Hart of St. Louis, and a junior at the University of Michigan, has had her fling at dancing to fame on Broadway, and now—

She's back in college and away from stagedom and stardom for keeps.

"I like the stage," says Madeline, "but I am never going back I'd like to spend my life teaching."

At the end of her first college year Miss Hart went to New York. After working as a stenographer, in a candy shop, and as cashier, she attended a dramatic art school. This led to a job with "East is West", a drama, and later to a place in the Russian ballet in "Chu Chin Chow".

Then, after touring the United States and Canada, she returned to college.

"Stage life is fun —and hard work," says Miss Hart. "I enjoyed it, but I'm through."

THE AFFILIATED BUREAU RELIEF

Twenty-six Local Organizations Interested in the New Movement -- Will Extend Work.

A meeting of the Affiliated Bureau of Relief for the City of Peterborough was held last night in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms. Mr. W. F. Morris, elected president at the last meeting, occupied the chair.

The secretary reported that so far, some twenty-six local organizations interested in relief work had become affiliated with the Bureau. A proposal made at a former meeting to approach the City Council with a request for financial assistance in carrying on the work of the Bureau was, after consideration, deferred for the present. It was decided to ask each affiliated organization to contribute ten dollars towards the upkeep of the Bureau, before petitioning the City Council for assistance. Contributions may be sent to the treasurer, Mr. C. S. Cummer, at the Merchants' Bank. It was pointed out that the proposed sum is not to be regarded as a tax upon any organization, lest any should, because of it, be deterred from co-operating with the Bureau.

Further Business.

The election of an honorary secretary was referred back to the nominating committee. The services of Miss Elizabeth Chandler have been secured as official secretary. All affiliated organizations are urged to report all relief efforts to Miss Chandler at the Chamber of Commerce. It is only to the extent to which every organization in the city carrying on relief co-operates through the secretary of the Bureau that the object for which this Bureau exists can be effectively carried out. It can be of untold assistance in the relief work of the city if taken advantage of fully by all concerned.

Relief Work Extension.

The Bureau wishes it further to be known that if there are any cases of need in the city not being adequately ministered to, either by the city or by any relief society, application should be made to Miss Chandler, whose duty it is to endeavor to meet these needs by distributing them, if necessary, over various affiliated organizations. All citizens who are really interested in extending help to the less fortunate ones who are at this time suffering from unemployment and economic depression are asked to take an active interest in the work of the Bureau and help to make it a permanent asset in the life of the city.

AN ADDRESS TO KIWANIS CLUB TODAY

Mr. J. Wearing Was the Chief Speaker at Today's Luncheon -- Plea for Unity.

KIWANIS NEWS

National unity and a national ideal ever before the people are necessary if Canada is to progress, Joseph Wearing told the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon to-day. A house divided against itself cannot stand, he said. "The ancient maxim, united we stand, divided we fall, is as true to-day as it ever was.

Mr. Wearing outlined some of the discordant notes in Canada's national life. He named division among the provinces, racial, religious, educational differences, conflict between city and country, between capital and labor, all influences that have disrupted countries in the past. Ancient Greece could not survive because of inter-city jealousy. Rome went down because people were not united in thought. Canada stands in a position to-day, he said, when the national life must be co-ordinated and the people have a national ideal.

Plead For Education.

Mr. Wearing pleaded for education, the giving of "real" knowledge to the people, a knowledge of things as they are not as they seem to be. He pleaded for fraternalism induced by clubs such as Kiwanis. Without fraternalism there couldn't be co-operation, and without co-operation progress could not take place. He made a strong plea for nationalism. Plato long ago taught that an ideal was necessary for individuals or countries. Germany had an ideal, but it was overswept by ambition.

Brief messages of encouragement were brought by two visiting Kiwanians to-day; "Jim" Meadows, of Montreal, and G. E. Waffles, of Ottawa. Norman Barclay reported that the formation of a Lindsay club will likely be completed to-morrow, and W. L. Phillips was urged to attend the meeting with Kiwanian Barclay. It was decided to complete arrangements with the Rotarians for a game of hockey. The middle period will be played with brooms and a football. No more than six substitutes will be allowed. C. R. Widdifield and Robert Neill were instructed to draw up the Kiwanians' plan of action.

Alec Dick presided at the luncheon; Edgar Burnham was "booster" of the day. Walter Stocker suggested that the noon luncheon be withdrawn next week in favor of a "ladies" night. Supper will be served and a theatre party take place, following. His suggestion met with approval and was adopted.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"
(Cyril McNeile)

Relentlessly he felt himself being forced towards the deadly liquid he had prepared for Drummond, and as the irony of the thing struck him, the sweat broke out on his forehead and he cursed aloud. At last he backed into the edge of the bath and his struggles redoubled. But still there was no mercy on the soldier's face, and he felt himself being forced farthther and farther over the liquid until he was only held from falling into it by Drummond's grip on his throat.

Then, just before the grip relaxed and he went under, the soldier spoke once:

"Henry Lakington," he said, "the retribution is just."

Drummond sprang back, and the liquid closed over the wretched man's head. But only for a second. With a dreadful cry, Lakington leapt out, and even Drummond felt a momentary qualm of pity. For the criminal's clothes were already burnt through to the skin, and his face—or what was let of it—was a shining copper colour. Mad with agony, he dashed to the door, and flung it open. The four men outside, aghast at the spectacle, recoiled and let him through. And the kindly mercy which Lakington had never shown to any one in his life was given to him at the last.

Blindly he groped his way up the stairs, and as Drummond got to the door the end came. Someone must have put in gear the machinery which worked on the fifth step, or perhaps it was automatic. For suddenly a heavy steel weight revolving on an arm whizzed out from the wall and struck Lakington behind the neck. Without a sound he fell forward, and the weight, unchecked, clanged sullenly home. And thus did the invention of which he was proudest break the inventor's own neck. Truly, the retribution was just.

"That only leaves Peterson," remarked the American, coming into the hall at that moment, and lighting a cigar.

"That only leaves Peterson," agreed Drummond. "And the girl," he added as an afterthought.

CHAPTER XII

In Which the Last Round Takes Place

It was during the next hour or two that the full value of Mr. Jerome K. Green as an acquisition to the party became apparent. Certain other preparations in honour of Peterson's arrival were duly carried out, and then arose the question of the safe in which the all-important ledger was kept.

"There it is," said Drummond, pointing to a heavy steel door flush with the wall, on the opposite side of the room to the big one containing Lakington's ill-gotten treasure. "And it doesn't seem to me that you're going to open that one by pressing any buttons in the wall."

"Then, Captain," drawled the American, "I guess we'll open it otherwise. It's sure plumb easy. I've been getting gay with some of the household effects, and this bar of soap sort of caught my eye."

From his pocket he produced some ordinary yellow soap, and the others glanced at him curiously.

"I'll just give you a little demonstration," he continued, "of how our swell cracksmen over the water open safes when the owners have been so tactless as to remove the keys."

Dexterously he proceeded to seal up every crack in the safe door with the soap, leaving a small gap at the top unsealed. Then round that gap he built what was to all intents and purposes a soap dam.

"If any of you boys," he remarked to the intent group around him, "think of taking this up as a means of livelihood, be careful of this stuff." From another pocket he produced an india-rubber bottle. "Don't drop it on the floor if you want to be measured for your coffin. There'll just be a boot and some bits to bury."

The group faded away, and the American laughed.

"Might I ask what it is?" murmured Hugh politely from the neighbourhood of the door.

"Sure thing, Captain," returned the detective, carefully pouring some of the liquid into the soap dam. "This is what I told you I'd got—gelignite: or, as the boys call it, the oil. It runs right round the cracks of the door inside the soap." He added a little more, and carefully replaced the stopper in the bottle. "Now a detonator and a bit of fuse, and I guess we'll leave the room."

'JOE' CANNON ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Long Service Congressman Will Have Spent 46 Years in Congress Next March.

HAS BECOME FEEBLE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Having served longer than any man ever elected to the United States Congress, Representative Joseph G. Cannon, Illinois, announced yesterday that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself next fall.

Mr. Cannon is approaching his eighty-sixth milestone. If his life is spared until the end of his term on March 4, 1923, he will have rounded out 46 years of service in the House. He broke the record for actual service more than a year ago and since that time, as he himself has explained, he "has been running along on velvet."

There were tears in the eyes of many of his colleagues when formal announcement of "Uncle Joe's" intention to retire was made on the floor by Rep. Walsh, Republican, Massachusetts, described by the veteran legislator, as "one of my buddies." While Mr. Walsh was speaking, Uncle Joe, sitting apart from his friends, was crouched in a seat, a big slouch hat and an overcoat protecting him from the cold.

Believing always in brevity, Mr. Cannon's statement that he was soon to conclude his public service, was packed into one typewritten line of eleven words.

While "Uncle Joe" still appears as vigorous as ten years ago, he is more feeble, his eyes more dim and he seldom is seen as of old, biting contantly on the end of a cigar.

SAILOR ADRIFT IN LIFE-BOAT SOMEWHERE ON THE ATLANTIC

British Seaman Was Swept Overboard in a Gale Six Days Ago — Storm and Darkness Ended Attempts to Rescue Him.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.— (Canadian Press.)— Somewhere on the Atlantic—about 500 miles from New York— if his luck has held—John Brickner, a British seasman, is bobing about in a life-boat, waiting out his sixth night in the hope of rescue.

The story of his loss in a high gale and of a heart-breaking game of hide and seek, his little bark played with his would-be rescuers, was brought to port to-day by Captain Walter Beckwith, of the steamship Gaffney.

The storm broke on the morning of Febraury 8, Captain Beckwith said, with a 110-mile wind, which lashed the sea into a fury. Brickner was sent with another seaman to make fast the liefboats. Swinging on the out-turned davits, Brickner dropped into one of the boats to make fast a line, when a huge wave swept the boat away.

Captain Beckwith quickly turned the Gaffney about and began a struggle to get a line to the lifeboat, missing time after time by a few feet.

The boat was lost once in a rain squall, only to be discovered and lost again. Nightfall put an end to the search and the Gaffney steamed on to port, first broadcasting a radio message asking all ships to look out for the lost seaman.

The lifeboat was stocked with food and water and Brickner was warmly clad, so that Captain Beckwith figures he has a fair chance of rescue ig his little boat weathers the gale.

TREATY THE ONLY ARRANGEMENT TO AVOID COERCION OF ULSTER

Arthur Griffith Says De Valera Himself Assented To That Undertaking Before the Treaty Was Signed.

Replies to Sunday Speech.

DUBLIN, Feb. 14. — (Canadian Press.)—Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann, in a statement last night, replying to various assertions in Eamon De Valera's speech of Sunday, declares that with respect to partition, De Valera himself gave an undertaking not to coerce Ulster, and that the arrangement in the treaty was the only one that could be made without coercion Mr. De Valera was in full possession of it before the signing of the treaty, Mr. Griffith adds, and made no objection.

On the question of the treaty itself Mr. Griffith quotes Mr. De Valera's statement that Sunday's meeting was to give the lie to the assertion that the Irish people of their own free will would accept the treaty and says there is only one adequate way whereby the people can show clearly whether they are for or against the treaty.

"The people will be given that opportunity at the earliest possible moment by an election" the statement continues. "They will decide and we shall abide by their decision."

Mr. Griffith's statement which is set out in parallel columns with Mr. De Valera's assertions, also deals with the question of the oath, Imperial forces in Irish ports, and financial contributions.

ARGENTINA THESE DAYS IS LAND OF PROMISE

BEUNOS AIRES, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press)—The United States may be the "land of promise" for European immigrants but it is not the only land in the Western Hemisphere where promises of riches for the humble who labor have been fulfilled. A local newspaper has just published a list of immigrants or descendants of immigrants from Italy numbering 111 whose combined fortunes gained in Argentina are estimated to exceed 1,000,000,000 pesos, or $424,500,00 in American money. The list just published in connection with the forthcoming inauguration of a 5,000,000 peso clubhouse which the Italian colony of Buenos Aires has erected.

Italians in Argentina are prominent in all branches of activity but to a large extent in industrial enterprises, some of the most important of which are controlled by them.

STRIKE OF 50,000 TEXTILE WORKERS IN NEW ENGLAND

Protest Against Wage Cut of 20 Per Cent. and Restoration of 54-Hour Week.

BOSTON, February 14 (Canadian Press). — Cotton mill operatives in New Hampshire and Rhode Island, with few exceptions, were on strike on Monday in protest against wage reductions averaging 20 per cent. will the restoration of the 54-hour week. There were no disturbances in either State.

Many of the New Hampshire mills suspended operation before noon when it was seen that the plants could not be run with the workers who reported.

The number of employees thrown out of work by the almost general strike in New Hampshire was estimated at between 25,000 and 30,000. In Rhode Island the list of persons affected by strikes was brought to more than 20,000 with the closing of three departments of the Jenckes Spinning Company's plant at Pawtucket, necessitated by defections to the ranks of the strikers.

The situation in Rhode Island marked time to-day, with the State Guardsmen who have been ordered to be in readiness for possible duty still in their armouries.

In New Hampshire, the great Amoskeag Mill, with its 15,000 hands, which is said to be the largest cotton mill in the world, closed when officials decided that the plant was not justified in operating with the reduced force that reported for work. The Stark Mill, with 1,500 employees, took similar action.

The Nashua and Jackson mills at Nashua closed their doors after only a handful of the 4,000 employees had appeared. Mills at Exeter, Newmarket, and Somersworth, employing about 3,500, also shut down.

In Lowell, Mass., the Bay State Cotton Mills operated with reduced forces, and the Hamilton Mills were closed in accordance with the employers' previous announcement. These plants, employing 2,600, were the only ones in that city to reduce wages.

P. T. Barnum often lectured on temperance.

PEACE DOVE MISSES THE GREEN ISLE

Disorders in North and South Continue—Belfast Reports Ten Dead — Collins Says People to Decide For Treaty or War.

PERILOUS SITUATION.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press Despatch) —The Irish situation, since the raids over the Ulster border, has steadily become worse, and no secret is made of the grave alarm with which it is viewed in official circles in London. Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the Colonies, declared in the House of Commons this afternoon that the shooting of the Ulster special constables at Clones had greatly aggravated the situation.

The Evening Standard asserts that Ireland is on the brink of civil war and quotes a member of the Government as saying that while the Government hesitates to do anything which the Sinn Feiners could interpret as provocative, swift military preparations have already been made to prevent an army invasion of Fermanagh and Tyrone.

A SIGNIFICANT ORDER

In the light of developments of the last few days much significance is attached to the suspension to-day of the evacuation of British troops from Southern Irish ports. The Irish Office explains that the suspension was ordered pending a decision regarding the extent of reinforcements to be sent to Ulster. Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, announced to-night that the Ulster garrison of British troops was to be increased ten battalions, the previous number to fourteen.

The week end rioting in Belfast was continued yesterday, the death roll from Saturday being twelve killed and twenty or more wounded. The carfew was re-imposed to-night. The shooting affrays in Belfast during the past twenty four hours occurred over a widely extended area.

The gunmen have kept well under cover, and the police and soldiers patrolling in armed cars are having difficulty in locating them.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, telegraphed the British Government to-night asking what action "other than dispatching messages to Dublin," the Government was taking or had taken to secure the return of the kidnapped Loyalists.

COLLINS STATES HIS POSITION

Michael Collins, head of the provisional government in a message to the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic says that a coup d'etat is being planned against the provisional government, and warns the associations of assisting in any attempt to destroy the new government. Mr. Collins informed the association that the alternative to the treaty is renewal of warfare, and declared that the provisional government wanted the people themselves to decide the issue, adding that if they decided for war there need not be any doubt as to where he would stand.

POLITICAL PRISONERS RELEASED

In conformity with the decision to release Irish political prisoners in England, the Government liberated seventeen this afternoon, the release of the others to follow shortly. Hilarious demonstrations were held at the railway station to-day when those released boarded the train. They had been serving terms varying from three to ten years penal servitude, most of them having been found in possession of arms in Scotland. They sang "The Soldier's Song," as the train departed

A COMPLAINT FROM FRONTENAC.

The Council of Frontenac County has called official attention by means of a resolution, which has been endorsed by other counties, to the necessity of a change in the Jails and Public Charities Act, or possibly in the Ontario Temperance Act, as most of the trouble complained of is caused by the operations of the latter measure. The complaint of the municipalities is briefly that under the Temperance Act many men are fined $200 or more with the alternative of three months' imprisonment. It often happens that the convicted man is not for the moment prepared to pay his fine and he goes to the County Jail. The expense of his keep there, of course, falling upon the county in which he may have been convicted. At the end of a month, perhaps, the fine is paid and the Government keeps the $200, while the county is out of pocket to the extent of a month's board. The Frontenac Council and other county governments which have passed similiar resolutions can see no reason why the counties should be merely used as collectors of fines without receiving anything in return. Accordingly, the Ontario Government will be asked to change the regulations so that the counties shall be paid a portion of the fines paid by men after serving a portion of their sentence in jail, or else that in such cases the cost of maintaining the prisoner shall be met by the Government. The point is well taken, but it is not wise to expect much relief from Queen's Park. There are half a dozen other instances in which municipalities have to pay more than their share of expenditures over which they have no control, and the matter brought forward by the Frontenac Council is not the most serious case of its kind.

THEY WOULD BE WELCOME.

The new High Commissioner for Canada in London, Mr. P. C. Larkin, has announced his intention of endeavouring to bring about on as large a scale as possible the immigration into this country of British farmers and farm labourers. If he succeeds in that determination he will have done a great deal for Canada, for nothing better could happen than the coming of thousands of Britishers willing to go on the land, and especially to locate along the lines of railway in the West, where they would increase production and traffic and thus help to solve the railway problem. The question of immigration is one that the new Government is expected to consider seriously. More people are needed in Canada if our resources are to be developed and if our railways are to be made to pay. But we cannot afford to pick our immigrants haphazardly. The bars cannot be thrown down so that every European who wants to try his fortune in a new country can pour in. Quality rather than quantity should be the aim, for we are in a position where we can afford to make a selection. Thousands of Britishers are ready to come to Canada, but for the present only those who are prepared to engage in farming should be encouraged to come. There is no place for city workers just now, with every industrial centre visited by unemployment — their time will come later. But in the meantime, the High Commissioner will have the support of Canadians in his endeavour to bring British farmers to the Dominion.

UNEMPLOYMENT DEMONSTRATIONS.

The police of Halifax having forbidden the unemployed of that city to organize a parade as a demonstration showing the seriousness of the industrial situation, some of the workless sent an appeal to His Excellency the Governor-General, who turned over the telegram to the Government. In reply, Hon. Jas. Murdock, Minister of Labour, sent a wire to Halifax in which he remarked: "Surely it would answer no good purpose to indulge in an unemployment parade, as the municipal authorities of your city and the Provincial authorities must be fully aware of your necessities." Most people will be inclined to agree with the Minister of Labour. What could possibly be gained by a demonstration of the kind proposed, even though there seems little reason why the police should have refused permission for the parade? The situation in Halifax, as in every other centre in regard to unemployment, is well known, and municipal, Provincial and Federal authorities are doing everything in their power to grapple with the problem and afford relief to those who are in distress. Parades and demonstrations are unnecessary and meaningless—they usually attract the most unworthy among the unemployed, the men whose record as workers even in busy times is not good, and other more dangerous individuals, who welcome the opportunity to show their defiance of "capitalists." The deserving among those out of work are too busy endeavouring to find employment to parade the streets with Socialistic banners, and such parades are rarely representative and usually not worth bothering about.

TO ELIMINATE VERBOSITY.

It is announced that by a curtailment of the discussion on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, the Drury Government hopes to inaugurate a shortening of the session of the Legislature, which opened today. If the U.F.O. administration succeeds in making good that promise, it will have earned the gratitude of the Province. Sessions have gone from bad to worse in so far as verbosity and time-wasting have been concerned. The debate on the address has furnished an opportunity for leaders and back-benchers alike to discuss Provincial affairs from all angles and at length beyond all justification. Weeks have been given up to this endless rambling discussion that should have been devoted to important business, and the result has always been the same. The end of the session has invariably found much legislation crowded into the last few days, when with everybody in mad haste to get home the most momentous business is jammed through with little chance for discussion or consideration. If the Government is sincere in its decision to keep its share of the debate down to a minimum, it will relieve itself of the responsibility of prolonging the proceedings of the House, and the public will expect the Liberal and Conservative groups to adopt the same attitude. There is no sound reason why the opening debate should be unduly prolonged. Nothing is gained by many days of discussion, except that it allows the members an opportunity to "let off steam," and it seems expensive business to allow the affairs of the Province to be tied up while members with no ideas to present or little that is worth hearing to say take up the time of the Legislature. If Premier Drury succeeds in effecting an improvement it will be an achievement greatly to the credit of the U.F.O. Government, which has had two sessions in which to learn the ropes, and should be prepared to bring about a reform by this time.

THE PROBLEM OF THE IMMIGRANT.

In sentencing [illegible] to death for the murder of a fellow-countryman, Mr. Justice Riddell, in the Assize Court in Toronto on Friday, made some references to the problem of the foreigner in Canada that will be echoed by all those who have occasion to study the facts.

"It is a very great source of regret to me that this splendid country of ours is being overrun with criminals from foreign countries," said Justice Riddell, "and apparently we have no way of preventing this. Half of the crime that has to be investigated, at great expense to the country, is created by men from other countries, who come ostensibly to better their condition, and instead of obeying the laws of this country, set out to violate them. It is unfortunate for the sake of honest men who come here that others give way to crime as this mad has done."

Mr. Justice Riddell has touched upon a very real problem, and as he points out, there seems no remedy in sight. The present restrictions on immigration which bar those who have not $250.00 in cash and a ticket to their destination, is serving to keep out many English-speaking immigrants, but is not so successful in barring other foreigners, who are being assisted to come into Canada by organisations of their fellow-countrymen already located here. The duty of educating the newcomers would seem to logically lie with their countrymen who have been here long enough to understand British laws and to appreciate the fact that no matter where they come from, immigrants will have a better chance to succeed if they will forget the laws and customs of the land of their birth and adapt themselves to the conditions they find here. They should be told early that shooting and stabbing have but one ending in Canada for the guilty parties, and that a tragic one, for as Mr. Justice Riddell put it the other day, "our Courts prosecute, our juries convice, and our executive allows the law to take its corse."

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A man named Barnum is likely to be the Conservative candidate in East Elgin for the Legislature. He should have a pretty good show.

Changing the name to the Irish Free State has evidently not taken the "ire" out of Ireland.

That is a strange story about the London man who has been stopping girls on the street and measuring their skirts. But why should he use a yard stick when a foot rule would be long enough?

Most people are willing to admit that income tax payers make poor valentines.

Snow-plow contractors should be given a gentle prod by the city authorities. In some sections of the city there was not a sign of a snow-plow on Sunday night.

LITERARY GEMS.

WHO KILLED COCK ROBIN?

It would probably go hard with the birds if their case were left to be decided upon argument alone. But robins are their own best advocates. They come in the spring—vandals that they are—and start a deeply planned campaign to cultivate everybody's friendship. The deep woods knows them not; they never shulk in the bushes, nor flee the presence of man. Instead they choose the lawn for a hunting ground, build their nests even on porches and window-sills, and never let the sun go down without a song delivered from the most conspicuous perch on the place. The robin's cheerfulness is irresistible; his neighborliness compelling. It is absolutely impossible not to like him when he offers such convincing proofs every day that he likes men.—Detroit Free Press.

A BELATED VALENTINE.

(BY CAROLYN WELLS)

Good-natured Enoch Satterlee had a good-natured wife;
No quarrels ever marred the even tenor of their life.
They jogged along serenely in a calm and placid way,
And all the neighbors quite agreed a model pair were they.

Almira wasn't much on style, but gave him three square meals;
She let him smoke his pipe in peace and darned his toes and heels;
And Enoch never thought to rise when she came in the room—
Unless indeed she shooed him out with duster, mop and broom.

And as to little compliments about her looks or dress,
He never thought of those at all—and she thought even less.
Had he been asked he would have said, "Oh, well, I like her ways."
And "He's a good provider" would have been her meed of praise.
All this was well enough, of course; but as the years went by
The pair began to drift apart and couldn't just say why.
They loved each other; but, you see, it never had occurred
To either of them that love pines for lack of spoken word.

One day as Enoch went downtown, by luck he chanced to pass
Absorbed in their own love affairs, a laughing lad and lass;
They read something together, and they smiled at every line;
Old Enoch craned his neck to see; it was a valentine!

"By gum!" he said. "By jumpin' jinks! I wonder what she'd say
If I should send Almira one? I will—this very day!"
He hurried to the village store and bought the finest one,
And sent it to his wife by post—then waited for the fun.

He watched Almira while she read the tender missive through;
The tears fell from her shining eyes and—his were filling too;
And as he took her in his arms she flushed a lovely pink,
And said: "This valentine has brought all that life lacked, I think."

Voice Of The People

TO RESCUE MEN FROM SINFUL LIFE

Last week there appeared in the first column, of the front page of the Examiner, the glaring head lines—To Rescue Girls from Sinful Life.

The appeal was from the Salvation Army to the city, asking for a grant of one thousand dollars, to help carry on this work.

On behalf of the ratepayers of the city, I feel we have a right to know the cause of this deplorable condition. Is it due to impure air, bad water, or did the falls come from a hole in the board-walk? Don't misunderstand me; I don't wish to disparage the work of the Salvation Army, far from it, but I don't see why so much partiality should be shown.

If they had asked the city for a grant of one hundred thousand to assist in reforming the men it would be more to the point. We might never rise again, 'tis true, but it would almost be worth it.

PRINCE OF WALES SAVED BY GOOD HORSEMANSHIP

Narrowly Escaped Injury in Polo Game—Expect "Hartal" at Agra.

LONDON, Feb. 14. — (Canadian Press)—The Prince of Wales narrowly escaped injury at Gwalior, Central India, last Saturday, when his polo pony reared and fell backwards, says despatch to the London Times today from its correspondent who is with the Prince on his Indian tour. The Prince was knocking the ball about the polo grounds, riding a pony which objected to approaching a dead ball. He tried to urge the animal up to a ball lying in the middle of the field, when the pony reared and fell. The Prince was able to slip out from under his mount only slightly shaken.

As evidence that he was only slightly injured, the Prince, that same afternoon, rode in four races, finishing, respectively, second, third, fourth and unplaced.

The Times correspondent, in another message, filed today just before the arrival of the Prince's entourage at Agra, in the United Provinces, said they expected to find a complete hartal upon their arrival there. Police officers on their way to Agra had told the correspondent that for some days past National Volunteers and Non-Cooperators from Agra had been driving over the country roads, visiting all villages and preaching sedition.

Despite the religious atmosphere when the Pope left after imparting the Apostolic Benediction, his old flock gave him an enthusiastic ovation, crying: "Long live the Pope," "Long live Ratti," "Long live Italy."

HEAVIER DEMAND FOR FLOUR IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Trade in cash grain in the domestic market Monday was somewhat quiet, but feeling in oats was stronger with prices up 1 cents a bushel. The feature of the local flour situation was the much increased demand in the market. Millfeed was firm under a good demand and the same prevailed for rolled oats. A good steady trade continues in baled hay. There is nothing new in the egg situation. Potatoes are in good demand. There is no development in the butter market and trade in cheese was quiet.

Discuss Administration of Tangier at Conference

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Answering a questioner with regard to the British Government's policy on the Tangier question, Cecil B. Harnsworth, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Commons today the British Government had been in communication with the French and Spanish Governments for many months with regard to Tangier, and that it was hoped a tri-partite conference would shortly meet in London to discuss the subject.

The policy of the British Government, he added, remained as in 1912, favoring the placing of Tangier and the adjoining district under some form of international administration.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

SNOW SLIDES SMOTHER RAILWAYS IN COLORADO

Six Engines Behind Big Rotary Plow Battled Four Days.

DURANGO, Colo., February 14 (Canadian Press). — A giant rotary plough, backed by six engines, battling through snow in Cumbres Pass, that towered to a height of more than six feet above the coaches, yesterday broke the way for the first train to reach Durango from the East since last Thursday night.

The blockade was one of the worst of the winter.

The Rio Grande Southern Road is blocked by numerous snow slides between Dolores and Ophir Loop.

Yesterday's train ran out of water for the engine, and was stalled in the heavy snow a few miles from Rico. It was expected the passengers would be removed to-day, and the train pulled back to Dolores.

A snow slide a mile wide is reported at Lizard Head, thousands of tons of snow, logs, and rock blocking the right of way.

Silverton still is isolated.

RUSSIAN SOVIET BECOMES VIRTUOUS.

The Suppression of Secret Police Part of Housecleaning Prior to Genoa Conference.

MOSCOW, Feb. 14. —(Canadian Press.)—The decree announcing the suppression of the cheka, or secret police, which became effective yesterday, is one of the Soviet Government's first steps for putting its house in order for the Genoa economic conference. The next step, according to a staement made in political circles to-day, will probably be an announcement of the release of political prisoners.

Just how far the activities of the notorious cheka are to be limited is yet a question. There has been a noticeable change in Moscow during the past few weeks with regard to the movements of the cheka, but in the provinces the organization is still powerful. Aside from the Red army, the cheka is the only means of maintaining order within Russia, and it is considered necessary for this reason to continue the organization as police.

Last November it was announced that political amnesty was to be granted, but thus far few persons have been released. It is estimated that one-third of the persons now in prison might be turned loose with absolute safety. This also is said to be true a regards the concentration camps.

A Stitch in Time

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears.

There is a whole train of dreadfully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes:—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and lame back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and acting upon his advice I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

The Greatest Medicine in the World, Say Doctors

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, you are constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your Liver is out of order and is not exiting bile into the bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 90 per cent. of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour bile into the intestines, your system is unable to execrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome you cannot expect to have perfect health, and life to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about 15 minutes before each meal, or you may take two at bedtime, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No sedlitz, salts or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-eliminating.

Tanated Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act soon after taking. It has no bad after-effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste poison, making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous and vivacious again.

Tanated Calomel is sold by F. C. Webber, Charlotte street.

CASUALTIES IN BELFAST

BELFAST, Feb. 14.— There was marked activity in Belfast last night on the part of snipers. An unidentified man, picked up wounded, was taken to a hospital, but was found to be dead on his arrival there. Two constables were wounded in North Queen street. It is remarkable that a number of girls are on the casualty list.

The snipers were concealed. They fired into Royal Avenue, the principal thoroughfare of the city and tram cars had to dash past the danger spot.

A bomb was thrown in Weaver street. The number of persons injured was so large that two ambulances were required to convey them to hospitals.

BRITAIN'S CHANCE TO CAPTURE TRADE

Canadian Urges Old Country Manufacturers to Take Advantage of the Fordney Tariff Results.

LONDON, Feb. 14.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — Sir Augustus M. Nanton of Winnipeg, speaking at a Canadian gathering here said that one of Canada's greatest needs was an increase of population. He regretted there was so little mutual trading between Canada and the United Kingdom. Canadian products, he said came to the British Isles in very meagre quantities.

The action of the United States in increasing her tariff against Canada, said Sir Augustus, rendered the time never more opportune for Great Britain to capture Canadian trade.

A suggestion that British manufacturers should establish themselves in Canada with branch plants from which to handle world trade was made by Sir Augustus. These plants he said would give some of Britain's unemployed population work in the healthiest climate and this arrangement would to some extent lighten the drain on British coal.

It was an error, said the speaker to think that emigration would take care of itself. He hoped the governments of both countries would work together to prevent the foreign element in Canada increasing by an undue percentage. Sir Augustus said Canada ought to have adequate representation in London with the tariff there properly houses.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Missionary Night Held at the Epworth League

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 14. — A most interesting and profitable evening was spent last night by the young people of the Epworth League. The meeting was in charge of the Missionary Vice-President, Mr. Phillips, who being unable to be present, Mrs. C. W. Turner occupied the chair. A well-rendered piano solo by Miss Cherrie Turner was much appreciated. Mrs. W. H. Ashton gave a very clear and helpful map talk on China, describing its government, its many languages and the difficulty in reaching Chentgu, West China, where the Canadian Methodist Mission has its central station. Mrs. George W. Hammond followed by a very fine paper on the work of our missionaries in China, emphasizing the need of more workers in China at the present time, 45 workers being most urgently needed, 9 doctors, 16 nurses, 16 educationists, printers and business men, etc.

A pleasing feature of the evening was a missionary dialogue, "Hanging My Sign," by a number of young ladies dressed in appropriate costumes. Miss Leita Chaplin took the part of Dr. Eleanor Smith, recently graduated, who was undecided where to start her practice. Miss Ruth Taylor made a stirring appeal for the need of doctors in China. Miss Beatrice Airhart voiced the call of Japan. Miss Jessie Lisle, a Christian missionary in Africa, appealed on behalf of her country. Miss Catherine Clark brought forth the call from Korea; Miss Frances Dingman, from the Philippines; Miss Myrtle Forde, from India, and Miss Arthena Armstrong, the call from the Mohammedans.

CANADIAN BACON.

TORONTO, February 14 (Canadian Press). — That Canadian bacon on the British market was grading in fifth place in competition with Danish, Irish, and other bacons was stated by H. S. Arkell, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, last night at the annual meeting of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association here. The price was about 20 cents per hundredweight below that of the Danish bacon. The reason, he said, was that Canada must produce select bacon hogs of the best type.

M. Ste. Marie, Compton, Quebec, was president of the Association.

LAKEFIELD WON FROM VISITORS

Bobcaygeon Team Drove Thirty-five Miles for a Game of Hockey.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 14. — The Lakefield Intermediates met the Bobcaygeon hockey team here last evening, and after a rather unexciting game, defeated them by a score of 9-4. The visitors (all good sports) who drove 35 miles to play here last night, were outclassed from the start, and the 130 fans assembled were not treated to any very spectacular plays.

During the first period Lakefield rolled up the first four goals, then Bobcaygeon scored, then the locals, making the total at the end of the first period 5-1 in favor of Lakefield. During the second each side got 2 goals, and during the third, Lakefield scored 2 more, and the visitors 1 goal, the final standing at 9-4 for the home team.

The line up was as follows:

WOMEN SHOULD WEAR CORSETS, SAYS LORENZ.

Prevent Spinal Trouble and Braces Vital Organs.

Dr. Adolf Lorenz appeared as an advocate of corsets for women during his health department clinic in New York.

"Every woman should wear a corset", said the famous surgeon, "Possibly the young girl should be excepted. The corset not only braces vital organs that need bracing, but is a prevention of spinal troubles.

"I do not say that women should squeeze their waists as once they did I am referring to corsets of to-day, designed on common sense lines. The important thing is that the corset should in every instance be a perfect fit.

"I frequently prescribe corsets modeled after casts made of the patients under my observation. I agree with Health Commissioner Copeland in his observation that a corset gives to a woman the sense of being completely dressed and thus contributes to her peace of mind which is beneficial".

SCOTLAND DOESN'T APPROVE EMBARGO.

Scottish Farmers Pride Themselves on Superiority of Their Stock.

LONDON, Feb. 14.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — Despatches from Scotland show that the retention of the cattle embargo is regarded with considerable less favor there than in England. It is asserted that the Scottish farmers have always prided themselves on the superiority of their husbandry over England and the variance in agricultural opinion between the two countries on the embargo is said to reflect their respective standards in agriculture.

It is pointed out that the promoters of the repeal of the embargo have in the past blamed the Irish members of parliament whose voting strength was considered a factor which it was impossible for the government to ignore. Whether this factor will be removed by Ireland's new status seems to be a matter still to be settled.

The association which is conducting the agitation against the embargo has called another meeting for February 20th.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14. Canadian Press. — Eleven war medals of the St. John ambulance brigade overseas were awarded by Lady Byng of Vimy here yesterday; ten of them to nurses who had won them by service in France, and the eleventh by the mother of a nurse who had died in England. Her Excellency in replying to the welcome of Mrs. Henderson on behalf of the Brigade, thanked the brigade for the privilege of distributing the war medals, and said that the nurses overseas had done more for the men than nursing, and their service and usefulness had not ended in caring for the wounded.

$260,000 a Week Montreal's Fire Loss Since January 1st

MONTREAL, February 14 (Canadian Press). — Analysis of losses caused by fire in this city show that approximately $260,000 per week or more than $37,000 a day has been the toll exacted by outbreaks since 1st January. These figures constitute a striking comparison with those of last year when the weekly average was $91,000, or $13,000 a day.

Doctor at 82 Finds Mothers Prefer His Formula to New-Fangled Salts And Coal Tar Remedies for Babies

Judgment of 1892 vindicated by world's approval of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, a simple vegetable compound for constipation—So safe, thousands give it to babes in arms—Now has largest sale in the world.

WHEN a man is in the 83rd year of his age, as I am, there are certain things he has learned that only time can teach him. The basis of treating sickness has not changed since I left Medical College in 1875, nor since I placed on the market the laxative prescription I had used in my practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin.

Then the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of my Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other mild laxative herbs with pepsin.

Recently new medicines have been brought out for constipation that contain calomel, which is mercury, salts of various kinds, minerals, and coal tar. These are all drastic purges, many of them dangerous, and the medical profession is warning the public against them. Certain coal tar products will depress the heart; certain salts give rise to intestinal poisoning, impaction and rupture of the intestines. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

From a recent portrait of DR. W. B. CALDWELL Founder of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin Born Shelbyville, Mo., 1839

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with pills and powders and strong drugs, even if disguised in candy? My remedy, too, costs less than most others, only about a cent a dose. A bottle such as you can find in any drug store, will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the babe in arms because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal.

The formula of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is on the cover of every bottle, and the ingredients have the endorsement of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia.

$10,000 Worth of Syrup Pepsin Free

In remembrance of my 83rd birthday I have set aside the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars to be given away in half-ounce bottles of my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Only one Free Trial bottle to a family. All are constipated now and then, and here is an opportunity for you and others to try Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE. Ask for your free bottle today, simply sending name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 21 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont. Do not postpone this.

MAGNESIA FINE FOR ACID STOMACH

Quickly Neutralizes Acidity. Stops Fermentation, Sweetens the Stomach

Nine people in ten, when food upsets the stomach causing distress, think they have indigestion. In really, they are suffering from "acid stomach.' An excess of acid in the stomach causes gas, heartburn, bloating and sourness.

To have a strong healthy stomach capable of easily and normally digesting three hearty meals a day you simply must keep these stomach acids neutralized and the stomach contents sweet. No artificial digestents necessary. Just ge a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any good drug store and take a teaspoonful of the powder or two tablets in a half glass of water right after eating or whenever the slightest pain is felt. The result is amazing and you will be delighted with the almost instant relief it brings. This famous stomach sweetner combines Magnesia and Bismuth in desirable proportion and is not only splendidly effective but perfectly harmless. Its regular use keeps the stomach sweet strong and healthy all the time.

Bisurated Magnes'a is well known to druggists everywhere and is used annually by more than a half million people who now eat as they please, in reason with no fear of indigestion.

ARE COLLEGE GIRLS EAGER FOR KISSES?

Most of Them Deny It, But Some Smile Knowingly.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—A majority of the co-eds at Columbia and New York Universities today characterized as a libel the published contention of R. L. Ingraham, editor of the University of California "josh paper", the Pelican, that: "College women universally desire to be kissed, and they expect every man who takes them out attempt it."

A majority of Barnard girls also cried out against the charge.

True, a rather negligible minority merely smiled when the matter was called to their attention, refusing to comment either in the affimative or the negative. The male undergraduates too, were stingy in conversation but prodigal in knowing smiles. The overpowering minority of women students, however, registered an emphatic "No." The substance of their hot denial, boiled down, was that the college girl saved her kisses—all of them—for the man who was to be her husband.

"All college girls like to be kissed", wrote Ingram basing his assertion on four years of apparently intensive observation.

"Caveman stuff is regarded with high favor, and college girls are disappointed with the mild and meek type of student."

As to the assertion that the college girl kisses only the man she is to marry, he said

"Yes, but every man a college girl goes out with is a prospect."

MARMORA BLAMES REFEREE HOLMES.

Allege That Penalties Were Too Numerous in Game at Stirling.

(Special to the Examiner.)

STIRLING, Feb. 14.—In the senior Trent Valley hockey series Stirling added another victory to their string last night by defeating Marmora 6 to 2. The visitors brought about 125 supporters with them almost as many as the local spectators. They didn't take kindly to some of the decisions of Charley Holmes of Campbellford who refereed and stated that with another arbiter the result of the game would have been more favorable to Marmora. It was intimated that they would like nothing better than a battle with Marmora on neutral ice, preferably Peterboro, for anything Stirling wishes to mention, and with a referee other than Mr. Holmes.

The ice was fair last night and the game was fast all the way, Stirling led at every quarter, 2-1 at the end of the first period, 4-2 at the second and 6-2 final. The teams were as follows:

Stirling—Goal, Hulin; defence, Whittey and Conley; centre, J. Ackers; right wing, Wallace; left wing, H. Ackers; sub. Forbes.

Stirling's defence appeared at their best this season and the Ackers boys and Wallace made a fast and effective forward line.

GIVE THE NEWSPAPERS ECONOMIC FREEDOM.

STOCKHOLM, February 13 (Associated Press). — Publishers of the most important Russian newspapers have formed a co-operative association or trust, according to information received here. The combine is to control the administration and distribution of the different papers and owners of the papers become stockholders in the trust.

The Communist Party is now contemplating a plan to give the daily newspapers economic freedom while the Government will retail political control.

Any deficit in the yearly budget of these semi-official newspapers will be covered by the Soviet Government, and the Central Executive Committee of the Government will be requested to set aside a permanent fund for the support of the press.

EQUALIZATION OF FREIGHT RATES IN THE EAST AND WEST

Meeting Held in Montreal Yesterday to Consider Matter—To Make Application.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—A meeting was held yesterday afternoon by representatvies of mar time provinces interests with reference to their application to the board of railway commissioners for the restoration of the arbitraries which were in effect on the railways prior to the eastern rates case when these arbitraries were abrogated by decision of the railway board in 1915, and were later accentuated by the percentage increases which have been in effect since that time. The meeting was preparatory to the presentation of the application of the maritime interests in conjunction with the hearing to be held by the railway commission at Ottawa next Wednesday, in connection with the equalization of eastern and western freight rates.

DANGER OF JUST LETTING A COLD RUN ITS COURSE

Public Warned to Beware of a Three Days' Cough and Break It Up Before It's Too Late, by Taking Asprolax, the New Scientific Discovery.

Money Refunded If Asprolax Fails to Bring Relief.

Leading authorities are using every effort to arouse the public to the danger of letting common colds just run their course, for it is now definitely known that many serious lung complications such as pneumonia, grippe, etc., develop from colds that hang on persistently.

Colds are curable and preventable and Asprolax provides the safest, surest and quickest, as well as the most practical, treatment for colds yet discovered.

Asprolax is almost magical in its effect. The first dose usually stops the tendency to sneezing and coughing and relieves the feeling of discomfort, and the second and third doses usually suffice to stop the progress of a cold altogether.

The wonderful efficiency of Asprolax in breaking up a cold is best shown by the fact that all druggists are instructed to refund money where it fails to give satisfactory results.

DISCOVER DIRECTORY OF FAKE BONDED WHISKEY

Dry Agents in Chicago Investigate List of Names Found in Raid.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—What is believed to be a directory of manufacturers of fake bonded whiskey has fallen into the hands of Federal Prohibition Officers, following arrests here on Saturday and yesterday of men charged with counterfeiting revenue stamps and whiskey labels.

The three men arrested are William Dodge, in whose rooms spurious revenue stamps with a face value of $10,000 were found; Christian C. Koebel and Gustave Blanck, an engraver. Dodge and Koebel were arrested on Saturday. Blanck, alleged ringleader, was brought to the jail Monday by a deputy marshal.

Dry agents say the labels are similar to many found on poisonous concoctions sold during the last six months. Chief Dry Agent Stapleton is going over the list of names found in Dodge's rooms and further arrests are probable.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound, and ½ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Special Services in the Presbyterian Church--Pinned Under Load of Logs.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 14.—The services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning and in the Methodist church at night, were taken by Rev. A. E. Snider, of Brantford, in the interests of the Christian Men's Brotherhood Federation. Mr. Snider is an unusually fine speaker, and his discourses proved so interesting and attractive that both churches are anxious to have him lecture here in the near future if his services can be secured.

The lesson at night was from the 10th chapter of Luke, "The Story of the Kind Man," the minister advising his hearers to strike out the word "Samaritan," and substitute "kind," as being the better description. That Mr. Snider has an amazing memory was evidenced by the fact that during the reading of the lesson he did not need to open the Bible at all, merely stating that he had committed to memory the Psalms, and the New Testament while a boy in the Sunday school; and thought he has now been forty-seven years in the ministry and so is no longer a young man, yet this knowledge is still quite fresh in his mind.

The text at night was from Luke 10:33, "And When He Saw Him," the whole sermon being summed up in the one word "saw," since that contained the whole story, moral and all. Many "look" but do not "see," and the secret of success is in "seeing."

When the eye looked upon the man in need who had been the victim of a "hold-up," and was left half dead by the wayside, the heart was touched, he had compassion on him," and then we see the kind man in action, "he went to him, and bound up his wounds," etc. All this is a true picture of what the Christian Men's Brotherhood is trying to do for those in want and suffering.

After commenting upon the new world in which we are living with a new language, new thoughts, new deeds, new dress (the latter not always an improvement because of its lack of quantity), new truths, the speaker made the somewhat surprising statement that we are living in an age of unparalled goodness. "I know," he said, "about profiteers, and bootleggers, and hold-ups, and murders, but these things are news. If I came to your town and led one man to give himself to Christ the newspapers would have no word to say about it, but if I injured one of your children they would not be silent. Does not this prove that goodness is so common that it is not news? " The railways give Mr. Snider a half-fare ticket for an entire year's travelling because of the work in which he is engaged, without any request being sent in for such a privilege, and in the course of twelve months' continual going about up and down the country he could only recollect hearing one man swear, and had not once seen anyone under the influence of liquor.

It is also an age of unparallelled kindness, for there never was a time in the history of the world when people were thinking of each other as they are now. What is the Christian Men's Brotherhood? A federation of every Protestant church in Canada, except the Lutherans, with a view of lining up the men to hold up the hands of their pastors so faithfully and persistently that the latter may count each man in his congregation as a personal friend, and know positively that he can rely upon their assistance for every good word and work. One of its aims is to have every man in the community in the church, and this means thinking, and careful planning; but if the men can be made to feel that they are wanted there we can have them. A personal visit to two different churches was contrasted by the speaker, one a 'building" in Winnipeg that cost $100,000, he wouldn't call it a church because it really was a refrigerator with the minister in cold storage; the other was Spurgeons Tabernacle in London, where, even in the waiting line, people were so warmly welcomed that the unusual announcement was made: "The management of this church are compelled to ask members to remain away during the next three weeks and let outsiders come in."

The time for thinking in this matter has come; Jesus gave the secret when He said: "Go out—and invite them." There is no use in praying about it without, action any more than there would be in the gardner, or the farmer, praying for a crop and doing nothing, because God doesn't work that way. Membership in the Brotherhood does not imply fees, or obligations, nor do they use the word "duty," that belong to the 18th century, but "opportunity" expresses its viewpoint; "how long will I be remembered and why?" It is a business, because Chritianity is a business," and, "My Father worketh, and I work." A man is not a good, shrewd, brainy, business man who is not a Christian, for the way of sin has been condemned, and is a man bright and intelligent who will stay on a condemned road?

His church in Brantford, the speaker stated, is packed with men; how do they do it? Win them by various means, studying the character and circumstances, working and planning patiently, suiting the bait to the kind of fish to be caught. "Others" is the Brotherhood motto, and in conclusion Mr. Snider spoke of the orphan children of Serbia and what is being done to save them from death by starvation. As an object lesson six boys and girls from the congregation were called to the platform and draped in the British flag, "the most expensive dry goods in the world," while Mrs. Sayles sang as a solo," "Into a tent where a gypsy boy lay," all joining in the chorus. The value of one child was emphasized and the fact stated that the Men's Brotherhood has undertaken to feed and clothe 5,000,000 of these starving orphans.

$185 was received in the Presbyterian church in the morning towards this worthy object, this amount being from the two congregations, Garden Hill and Millbrook, and including a personal subscription of $50 from Mr. T. A. Kelly, $85 was subscribed in the evening at the Methodist church, the speaker explaining that by Saturday of this week the money would be buying food in Serbia for the children. Rev. Jos. Wilks returned thanks when the ushers gathered up the signed cards and the money contributed.

Mr. and Mrs. T.H. Aiken, of Fallis Line, spent last week visiting friends in Port Hope, and also Mr. Aiken's brother near Elizabethville.

Messrs. Ross Edmunds, E. C. Richards, N. Janes and J. H. McGill went to Port Hope on Friday evening to see the hockey match between that town and Picton. The score was 3-1 in favor of Port Hope.

Mr. John Newton, of Cavanville, met with a serious accident at noon on Saturday, near the C. P. R. Station. He was driving on a load of logs, in company with Mr. Wm. Davidson, when somehow the sleigh upset, pinning him underneath the load. Mr. B. F. Carley assisted Mr. Davidson in lifting the logs and in extricating Mr. Newton. Dr. Turner was summoned and found no bones broken, but his patient is badly bruised and crushed.

The sale of home-made baking and candy held in Mr. C. Garside's store on Saturday afternoon by the girls of the "Golden Links" Mission Circle was decidedly successful, over $30 being cleared. Those assisting were Misses Lila Pethick and Ella Elson, who had charge of the cake counter; E. Shepherd and M. Skitch, who looked after the candy; Bertha Hatherly, who attended to the sale of bread and buns; Mrs. F. Smith and Mrs. J. McKnight, who were the committee on arrangement, and Mrs. J. L. Byam, the Superintendent of the Circle, who had a general oversight of the afternoon's proceedings.

Vanita Ingram, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Ingram, had to be taken to the hospital here on Friday evening, having been injured while sleigh-riding, with her brothers, on Clarry's Hill. Coming round the corner their 'bus ran under Mr. West's car, which was going up the hill at a good rate of speed. Fortunately, the child's injuries are not as serious as it was at first thought they would prove to be.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Byam entertained the boys belonging to the Trail Rangers at their home on Thursday evening. Eighteen of the boys were present, with their physical director, Mr. Chas. Garside, and a very pleasant time was spent in games, music, etc., ending up with a "marshmallow roast," which was especially enjoyed.

As the humming bird moth works at night it is rarely seen.

LOST 16,145 UMBRELLAS.

PARIS, February 13 (Associated Press). — Parisians or visitors here lost 16,145 umbrellas in the streets and public squares of Paris last year. The losers seem to have treated the matter with a light heart, for only 5,000 were claimed.

Many umbrellas still awaiting claimants at the Prefecture of Police lost property office are of a costly kind, ranging in value from 100 to 500 francs, and are fine examples of the latest craze for Japanese ivory sword handled affairs.

GENEROUS RELIEF SCHEME UNLAWFUL

But It Was Attractive to London Deputation of Unemployed.

LONDON, Feb. 14. Canadian Press Cable.—Sir Alfred Mond, Minister of Health, refused to-day to receive a deputation of the unemployed who wished to urge a grant for relief on a par with the scale recently introduced in the borough of Toplar, which is much higher than the unemployed elsewhere receive.

The procession accompanying the deputation was diverted by the police from Trafalgar Square and went to Hyde Park.

Recently the borough of Toplar introduced a scale of 40 shillings a week for man and wife and six shillings for each child together with a weekly quantity of coal. The borough authorities however temporarily cancelled this scale after receiving a warning from the Minister of Health that the scale was unlawful.

DISOBEDIENCE OF INDIANS DEFERRED.

National Congress Will Decide Later Date of Beginning of Non-Co-operation.

LONDON, Feb. 14. Canadian Press. —A communication issued by the India Office this evening concerning the resolution of the Indian National Congress says the date for the commencement of civil disobedience is to be decided later by a committee of the congress.

A despatch from Bombay reports that the meeting at which the decision to postpone civil disobedience was taken, included a few specially invited Independents, including Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, one of the Non-Cooperationist leaders.

This despatch adds that the view expressed in the resolution deploring the outbreak at Chauri-Chaura was not unexpected, but that the other resolutions go further than had been anticipated and appear to facilitate the holding of the round table conference at which the independents are aiming. It is improbable that the rank and file of the Non-Cooperators will disagree with the decision, although the Kornatik Provincial Conference at Mangalore has just resolved that civil disobedience is the only course open to the country.

The Bombay Chronicle is quoted as saying it considers the decision of the National Congress shows the statesmanship of Mohandas K. Gandhi, head of the Non-Cooperation movement. The movement declares that at Guntur, where a movement for the non-payment of taxes was recently inaugurated, it has already been decided that the time for such action is not yet opportune. All the Non-Cooperation activities in the Gorakphuj district have likewise been suspended.

The strike on the East Indian Railway continues to spread. The trouble has reached the important junction of Mogalserai and freight congestion is threatened. The India Office announces that the men in the workshops at Allahabad have struck, and that the strike has also spread to Agra. At Allahabad 5000 men are involved.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHT

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following symptoms present themselves: nervous headaches, a feeling of depression, fitful, disturbed, restless and unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with frightful dreams, avoidance of crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too, and on the first signs of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown do not wait until your case becomes hopeless; but get a remedy that will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system.

This you will find in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. M. Damgand, Young's Cove Road, N.B., writes: "I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves; had nervous headaches and dizziness, could not sleep at nights, and my appetite was all gone. I was on a nervous breakdown when a neighbor told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This I did, and before I had the second box used I was better and would advise anyone who has nerve trouble to take them."

Price, 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FIBRE OF NATION'S MORALS LOOSENING.

Bonar Law Says Burden of Taxation Brings Train of Evils.

LONDON, Feb. 14. Canadian Press —Right Hon. Bonar Law in acknowledging the freedom of the City of Glasgow on Monday, said that the people in this country and throughout the world were loosening in national moral fibre. The immense burden of taxation, he said, which whatever economics are effected, must remain, tended to prevent employment and was as great an evil in Great Britain as the evil that destroyed the villages in France.

Great Britain would overcome her difficulties added Mr. Law, not through the government, but by the steadfastness of her people.

Numerous interruptions by the unemployed before Mr. Law spoke, resulted in the police removing five men from the hall.

PREVENT STRIKES IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Elaborate Machinery Has Been Devised.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press)—Railway officials of Great Britain hope that at last they have found a means of preventing strikes. Elaborate machinery has just been devised with that end in view.

This includes a series of joint committees and councils leading up to central railway councils for each railroad.

It will work this way. When a dispute arises in one locality it will be referred to a local committee. If the committee fail to agree, the question then may be referred by either side to a central railway council. If this in turn fail, the dispute goes before the council for the whole railroad.

Failure of this council to end the dispute will send it automatically to the Central Wages Board.

The scheme was adopted after long negogiations between managers of the railways and representatives of the three unions of railway men.

Leaders of the unions say this machinery is as elaborate as human ingenuity can devise.

EXPERTS PLAN FUTURE OF A WIRELESS WORLD

Predicts Extensive Use of Wireless Telephone Receivers Within a Year.

NEW YORK Feb. 14.—Visions of a wireless America hearing through the air news national musical comedies and sermons were brought into the realm of reality when final plans were drawn up here for the meeting of radio traffic experts.

All these things will be placed under government regulation in the commission report experts said.

Experts of the departments of agriculture war navy post office and commerce together with several outside radio experts, will make up the gathering which next week is to map the wireless future of America.

Predictions are made that within a year a large proportion of the homes in America will be provided with wireless telephone receiving instruments.

The air now is so cluttered up with the miscellaneous jabberings of amateur wirelsss operators that the government found it necessary to call the conference.

It is planned not only to provide for present conditions, but for a vast enlargement of the wireless capabilities of the nation. Wave lengths will be regulated by the governments, so as to provide clear way for government reports.

The result will be especially pleasing to the farmers, the experts say. Homes many miles from cities can keep in touch with things that are going on throughout the nation. The farmer, installing a wireless receiving device in his home—at the cost of a few dollars—can receive daily government crop reports, weather conditions and news of the world.

President Harding has led the way with the installation of a wireless 'phone in the White House.

An effort will be made to regulate the sale of these small receiving and sending instruments, a high official declared. He said that a separate government bureau in the department of commerce would be enlarged to handle all wireless matters. Permits will be required of all operators.

Watch Your Waist Line

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The very low sashed gown has had an enormous run and probably will extend quite into the summer season. But there is a noticeable tendency in the advance models toward the natural waist line and even rumors of the really raised line.

However the placing of the waist line is really an individual matter. The secret of the thing is in knowing oneself and one's growth.

This lovely Claire model—a graceful combination of chiffon, Italian lace and organdie —is sashed quite at the natural waist line, a thing done with an eye admirably sensitive to line and balance. Another swagger bit which is done with the wide sash is the drape effect at the left—the wide heavy silk of the sash extends below the rather indistinct hem line.

Chiffon is used for the fashioning of the base of the frock. Italian lace, soft and lovely, ripples on either side of a front panel, extends over the shoulders and forms a very plain and very handsome blouse back.

An interesting color note of the gown, which is otherwise black, is the fastening of little bunches of bright rose apples at intervals on the corn-colored organdie panel. The apples are handmade and give the frock a decidedly distinctive touch.

AGITATORS WOULD GOVERN CEYLON.

Low Country Sinhalese Advance Plan.

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Feb. 13. — (Canadian Press). — Following the demand for home rule in India, a body calling itself the National Congress, has put forward a scheme whereby Ceylon would have a chamber of 45 members, of whom 28 would be elected on a territorial basis. Today there is a Legislative Council with 16 elected members, three unofficial members nominated to represent minority interests, four other nominated members who are shortly to be elected members and 16 officials. The unofficial members are nominated by the Governor as President of the Council, but the programme of the National Congress demands the disappearance of the Governor, the appointment of three elected Ministers, and the abolition of any residential qualification for the representative of any district.

The object of the demand, which, it is thought the Government is almost certain to reject, is to enable a certain group of Low Country Sinhalese — the agitators — to run their candidates from Colombo into seats intended to be representative of the very varied provinces of the island. Should the Sinhalese succeed in this they would swamp out the representation of special communities, and would deprive the British Government of power to govern.

Some striking figures just incorporated in a speech by Sir William Manning, the Governor, show the material means whereby the caucus hopes to "run" the country. Of the whole male population of the island, 52 per cent. are illiterate, that is to say, they can neither read nor write nor sign their names in any language whatsoever. And even of those who are called "literate," many prove on trial to write something which could not possibly be held to represent their names. Less than 5 per cent. of the male population are literates so far as the English language is concerned.

This proportion of illiteracy is, as everywhere, the best assistance to the schemes of the so-called National Congress. From Colombo they would send up candidates sworn neither to the Constitution nor to anybody except the caucus (that was done in the present Council also), and these candidates would have every chance of capturing seats against local men by reason of their specious promise to a population not possessed of any ready means of testing their statements.

SPARE TIME JOBS FOR AFTHER

When you put dishes on ice in the ice chest they often slide off and your dinner dessert is spilled.

Avoid this by cutting small circular rubber pads out of any rubber padding and placing these on the ice first. They will hug the ice and prevent a dish put upon them from slipping.

SOLDIER BONUS OPPOSED BY WOMAN IN CONGRESS

Alice M. Robertson Says Veterans of Past Didn't Put Price on Patriotism.

NEW YORK, February 14 (Canadian Press). — Alice M. Robertson, representative in Congress from Oklahoma, declared yesterday in an address to the Women's Republican Club that she was opposed to the soldier bonus.

Soldiers demanding a bonus, she said, lacked the patriotism of the Americans who fought in the revolution, in the Civil and the Spanish-American Wars.

"Those veterans," she said, "didn't put a price on their patriotism."

NEW LEGISLATION.

TORONTO, Feb. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Not a very formidable array of legislation is forecasted in the speech from the Throne at the opening of the Legislature this afternoon. Although the document is about the same length of that of last year, much of the matter is historical and a review of legislation already enacted. Reference is made to the pending Hydro legislation, and a single paragraph deals with the deliberations of the Hydro Radial Commission and Commissioners' report. It tells of researches into fire insurance laws, Mechanics' Act, education and marketing of fruit, and announces that findings will be laid before the House.

WAXING RICH BY FAKE ANTIQUES.

Imitation Business Exceedingly Profitable.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press)—Modern "antiques" are being purchased wholesale in Germany for sale to unwary foreigners and newly rich Teutons who have been prompted to seek objects of real art by the news that a number of princely families have been compelled to market family heirlooms and rare treasures, according to investigations has been so profitable that hundreds of new "antique" stores have been opened, and representatives with choice lists of things "old families" have to part with are encountered at every turn.

One way of attracting the interest of a prospective buyer has become so common it has almost lost its value. The "antique" artist manoeuvers for an introduction and in the course of conversation mentions an old friend who once stood high in the favor of the former Emperor, who must now sell his priceless heirlooms for a mere song to buy his breakfast rolls and sausages.

The man's name, of course, cannot be divulged, he is so proud, and it would be such humiliation. Arrangements may be made, however, to view the antiques in the dwelling of an acquaintance, or they can be transported to the shop of some antique dealer.

This method is more sfuccessful with the newly rich Germans, who appreciate the part pride may play in the situation, than with foreigners especially Americans, who have learned that pride does not often prevent a prince or even a former king from talking business when a few hundred thousand marks are in sight.

Prices for genuine antiques, owing to the keen competition among purchasers, have reached staggering proportions and possessors of these treasurers are marketing now, either under the press of necessity or for business reasons. Some pieces belonging to a former King of Saxony whose heir is said to have disposed of his entire house furnishings, brought as much as 1,000,000 marks each.

HYDRO CONTROVERSY.

HAMILTON, Feb. 14. — Canadian Press. — "This thing must come to an end. I do not know how long government will last. This storm of pro-radialism may sweep us out of power. But as long as the government exists it has a duty to perform, and as the head of that government I will preform that duty. We don't intend to be stampeded into any action which is contrary to the welfare of the public or that of public enterprise."

This declaration was made by Premier Drury last night during an address on the hydro radials to the members of the Canadian Club here. The Premier presented forceful arguments against the proposed lines, and strongly condemned the hydro estimates which in most cases he said had been exceeded.

Salvation Army Bandsman's Testimonial in Favour of Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets

Mr. Russell Reeve, 23 Cornhill St., Chatham, Ont., says:

Gentlemen: Just a few lines to thank you for the wonderful benefit I have received from Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment. For 25 years or more I have suffered from Catarrh of the head, brought on by going under the water too much. I had a very disagreeable discharge from my ear, which was very annoying as well as loathsome. I had tried several different treatments that were recommended to me, but they did not appear to help me. I purchased a box of your Herb Treatment and after using it for a time the discharge had ceased and it has never bothered me for over a year. I am certainly grateful to your agent for ever selling them to me. You can use this letter in any way that you choose for the benefit of others.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are not a "Cure all." It is simply a combination of herbs, roots, barks and juice of fruits that act directly upon the important internal organs, aiding them to perform their functions properly and thus to expel wastes and poisons from the system. In this natural way the body is given a thorough internal cleansing and then the forces of Nature can act vigorously and freely in rebuilding and restoring the affected parts. Try a box and watch the results. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per box at Bond's Drug Store and Warne's Drug Co., Ltd.

LICENSED SHIPPING.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press). — U. Grant Smith, the United States Charge d'Affairs in Hungary, is making representations to the Hungarian Government that the United States Shipping Board's lines should be included among the licensed shipping companies.

Before the war, Hungary exercised a preferential treatment by which almost all emigration traffic was in the hands of the Cunard Line, and attempts to restore this policy have been made since the war.

Frank E. Ferris, of the United States Shipping Board, who was here some days ago, had a long discussion on the subject with members of the Government, and it is expected that equal treatment will be secured for the United States lines in the near future.

HAD IN POSSESSION PELTS OUT OF SEASON

Two Brothers Were Heavily Fined This Morning

Two brothers, Solomon and Louis Bernbun, Jewish transient fur dealers, who claimed no particular place as their home were fined $300 in Police Court to-day for infractions of the Game and Fisheries Act. R. W. Carson, inspector of Game and Fisheries, arrested one of the brothers on Friday last on the train between Peterboro and Lindsay, and the other at the station here. The inspector's suspicions were aroused when he saw Louis hauling a bag from the coach to the baggage car. He followed Bernbun into the car and demanded him to open the bag. In it were the pelts of four beavers eight foxes and nine weasles. These were confiscated as being not tagged. Louis was arrested and the other brother taken into custody here.

Solomon Bernbun, who was arrested here was found with 74 muskrat skins in his possession. He was charged with illegally having these out of season and fined $200 on this score. The skins were seized making the total lot of furs now held by the department from this case worth some $300. He was fined $50 on a second charge of having 74 unprimed muskrat skins in his possession.

There was only the one charge of transporting furs not properly tagged against Louis Bernbun and he was fined $50. Through their solicitor, W. F. Huycke, accused pleaded guilty to all charges and arrangements were made to pay the fines rather than take the jail sentences offered as alternatives. Cost in the case were $18.

THEN AND NOW.

B. Franklin framed a set of rules
Explaining how to save,
A code of maxims for the schools
He very wisely gave—
Told how each copper cent would grow
At compound interest, you know.

He glorified the ways of thrift
Through frugal plans each day—
Showed how to skimp and patch and sift,
Loose coins to lay away,
Providing for the years of age
By youthful prudence, grave and sage.

Whose would follow his advice
Vain pastimes must eschew,
And hesitantly ponder twice
Ere buying raiment new—
Forego frivolities which tend
To lead one recklessly to spend.

Alack! he preached in good old times,
Not for the present age,
When guileful men are moved to crimes
By folks who dollars save.
E'en misers from their treasures part
Where banditry's become an art.

Market News

NEW YORK, February 14 (Canadian Press). — Speculative favourites made spirited gains at the open of to-day's stock market. Accumulation of buying orders over double holiday prompted further urgent covering of short contracts. Gulf States Steel made an initial gain of 2 1-2 points. Mexican Petroleum rose 2 points, and Baldwin Locomotive was 1 point higher. Studebaker, American Canned Corn Products, and several of the junior rails also strengthened. Improved conditions abroad were indicated by the brisker recovery in sterling exchange from Saturdayq's shop reaction.

Gossip during the morning dealt mainly with the possibility of a Government Bond issue instead of a special tax for the proposed soldiers' bonus. Seneca Copper was the one weak feature of the forenoon, declining 4 1-4 points on selling attributed to failure of a stock exchange firm. Mexican Petroleum assumed bullish leadership before noon, rising 2 points, with 1 point gains for California Petroleum and General Asphalt. Gulf States Steel cancelled half its rise, but Crucible and other independent steels were bought in anticipation of merger announcements during the day. Trading in rails was nominal, Southern Railway showing heaviness.

Call money opened at 5 per cent., time funds ranging from 4 3-4 to 5 per cent.

Selected stocks were marked up rapidly in the early afternoon, especially shares which are ordinarily not prominent in the dealings. Otis Elevator improved 7 points and American Ice common and preferred, Laclede Gas, Associated Dry Goods, Iron Products and Famous Players 1 to 3 1-2. Representative issues were well sustained and the market showed increasing breadth.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, February 14 (Canadian Press). — Opening wheat quotations here varied from 3 7-8c to 6 1-2c higher, with May 1.37 to 1.39 1-2 and July 1.22 to 1.23. These figures proved to be the topmost reached in the early trading inasmuch as sales to obtain profits broadened out, and for at least the time being checked any further gain.

Corn and oats mounted in value with wheat, though to a much less degree, the receipts of corn here today being unusually large and offsetting to a noticeable extent the influence of wheat price advance.

After opening 5-8c to 2 1-4c higher, May 59 3-4 to 60 3-8, the corn market gained a little more and then receded somewhat.

Oats started 3-8 to 7-8 higher, May 41 and later reacted a bit.

Wheat priced jumped as much as 6 1-2 cents a bushel to-day at the opening of the Wheat Board. The reason was the sensational advance in Liverpool and other foreign centres while the United States exchanges were closed yesterday.

A QUIET MARKET.

MONTREAL, February 14 (Canadian Press). — During the first half hour this morning absolutely nothing of interest occurred on the local stock exchange, only a few of the principal leaders putting in an appearance, and these without exception were unchanged.
